Vista Annexation Agreement Reached

The machinery of annexation of Arlington Vista subdivision to Arlington Heights was put into gear Monday by the village board, though a poll of area residents' acceptance of the proposal is still incomplete.

The board's finance committee, which has been working with officers of the Arlington Vista Homeowners' Assn. to find generally agreeable annexation terms, reported at Monday's regular board meeting that agreement had been reached.

A detailed report, approved unanimously by the board, outlined a lease-purchase plan for a private water utility system serving the area—the primary factor involved in discussions.

APPROVAL came without discussion, and Village Atty. Jack Siegel was directed to prepare necessary documents in consultation with the homeowners' attorney for submission to the board "as soon as appropriate."

These documents would include an annexation petition, and a pre-annexation agreement spelling out conditions of the utility purchase and other special considerations.

William Harris, developer of the subdivision and owner of the private utility system, was also to be notified of the village's intent to exercise an option for purchase of the utility at a cost of $125,000 as soon as an annexation petition is filed.

James L. Coughlin, president of the Vista homeowners' group, said that, though a poll of residents' opinion is still in progress, he expects favorable results.

THE BOARD'S action and Coughlin's statement came immediately prior to announcement by directors of the Prospect Heights Improvement Association that they would favor annexation of their much larger unincorporated area to Mount Prospect rather than to Arlington Heights.

Arlington Vista, located at the northeast corner of Palatine and Buffalo Grove roads, is adjacent to Prospect Heights and lies within the Prospect Heights elementary school district.

But Vista discussions with Arlington Heights were prompted by developer Harris' agreement to sell his utility to the village at the time he was negotiating for sewer connections to his subdivision.

Since then, the village has agreed that it should pay 54 per cent of the cost of the system, since that amount of the well capacity is above the needs of Vista residents.

THE REMAINDER would be charged to residents as a flat fee of $4.53 per month over a seven-year period. Water use charges of 40 cents per thousand gallons would be added to this figure.

At the end of the seven-year period, the system would be merged with the village's and residents would begin paying the standard village rate.

In addition to utility purchase arrangements, the finance committee report included agreement to install streetlights in the subdivision at village expense.

The agreement is similar in all respects other than cost figures to one which caused a bitter dispute in Arlington Gardens subdivision in the south area of the village, but not a single Arlington Vista resident was present when the committee report was approved.

THE VILLAGE did not assume any percentage of the Arlington Gardens utility cost, since the water system there was judged barely adequate to serve the needs of that one area.

Vista president Coughlin said a draft of a proposed pre-annexation agreement would be circulated with or before an annexation petition in his area, but added that he did not anticipate difficulties in completing the annexation process.

The subdivision contains about 125 homes.

Meet Tonight on School Candidates

The Arlington Heights District 25 School Nominating Committee will meet tonight (Thursday) to take the first major step toward selecting candidates for two school board positions open in April election.

Of the two board members whose terms expire in 1965, President Victor Myer has announced that he will seek a second term, while Harold Sortor has said he will not be a candidate again "under any circumstances."

But candidates are not to be chosen at tonight's meeting, scheduled for 7:45 p. m. in the South Junior High School cafeteria. Instead, names of prospects will be turned over to an eight-man screening committee.

Under the community caucus system, delegates from 45 local organizations, including homeowners', civic and other "nonpolitical" groups, will select four members of the screening committee. The other four members will be chosen by the general committee chairman, Clayton Sauers.

SAUERS SAID the names of at least seven or eight potential candidates, including incumbent Myer, will then be turned over to the screening committee for an interview process which will lead to their recommendation of two candidates for the April slate.

At the first school caucus meeting, Jan. 7, approximately 70 delegates of a possible 90 (two from each organization) heard Noble Puffer, Cook County superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Marian Malcolmson, a member of the District 25 board, speak on the importance of board membership and advantages of the caucus system.

Delegates were charged with contacting residents of the village to come up with potentially qualified candidates expressing an interest in board membership.

Though the caucus system does not rule out opposition of its candidates in the annual school board elections, these candidates have been traditionally assured of victory for the past several years.

THE SCREENING committee's choice of a slate has also traditionally taken primary importance, though others may be nominated in the final general committee meeting, this year set tentatively for Feb. 18.

However, Sauers said that date may be changed since it would be in conflict with the last Arlington Heights Caucus meeting which produces a slate of candidates for municipal offices.

Sauers said that between this week and the final meeting of his organization, all potential candidates whose names have been put forth by delegates will be interviewed by the screening committee on qualifications, educational philosophies, and reasons for seeking the school board office.

School board members serve without compensation through a term of three years. Two of the six board posts in District 25 expire every year.

The board president is chosen by the board from its own membership immediately after each election.

Open Occupancy Is Panel Topic

Local Realtors will present their views on open occupancy in a panel session Tuesday, Jan. 26, sponsored by the Arlington Heights Community Council (Commco).

The discussion, which is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Pioneer Park fieldhouse, 500 S. Fernandez, will be the third in a series of informational meetings on human relations sponsored by the council.

Two of the Realtors on the panel will be M. Edward Smith and Robert Walters. A third member has yet to be selected. Don Sweeney, past president of Commco, will act as moderator.

Discussion is to center on open occupancy as it relates to Arlington Heights, with "Equal Opportunity" industry surrounding the village. Realtors will also be asked to discuss their roles in the education of local citizens, and the propriety of such activity.

THE AUDIENCE will have an opportunity to submit written questions for answer at the end of the evening.

Arlington Heights village officials, in conjunction with a policy statement against establishment of an official human relations commission, last year requested the Community Council to act as a volunteer information agency in the field.

Other meetings in the Commco series have been devoted to discussion by those involved in human relations outside the community.

THE CRANE finished a job that time had started as the original Arlington Seating Co. building was torn down at the beginning of this week to make way for automobile storage for Nicholas M. Lattof, present owner of the property. A 50-year landmark in Arlington Heights at the corner of Northwest Highway and Foundry Road, the building was originally an iron works. A later addition to the seating company will remain to the east of the Lattof property, and is now being used by an electronics firm.

Caucus Short of Aspirants For Village Elective Posts

The Arlington Heights Caucus, an organization eminently successful since its origin in seeking candidates for municipal offices, is still searching for prospects in this year's race as the deadline approaches.

A selection committee within the general Caucus organization is charged with coming up with two recommendations for each open poition — this year including the village president, village clerk and four trustees.

Andrew Lofquist, chairman of the selection group, reported this week that he had sent out 51 questionnaires to persons mentioned as prospective candidates. Through Tuesday, he had received 17 responses.

But of these replies he said eight had expressed no interest in running. The remainder of nine persons includes Village Pres. John G. Woods, seeking a second term, and Trustee John White, on the board by appointment, seeking his first elective term.

Village Clerk Alberta Foerster and the remaining three trustees whose terms expire have all indicated they do not intend to seek re-election.

AS OF Tuesday, five of the potential candidates had been interviewed, including Woods and White, according to chairman Lofquist. He said three more were scheduled to be interviewed yesterday (Wednesday) evening.

Lofquist said his group is still seeking more potential candidates, and added that no persons had yet expressed an interest in opposing Woods for the president's spot.

Deadline for the 22-man election group to come up with its list of 12 recommendations is Feb. 11, but Lofquist said no possibility would be discarded if a name were submitted on that date and the interviewing process had to begin then.

Recommendations must be presented for consideration by village residents at a Feb. 18 general Caucus meeting to be held in the Arlington High School boys' gym. The first general meeting, at which Caucus officers and members of the selection committee were chosen, unexpectedly overflowed the Miner Junior High School cafeteria.

FROM THE selection committee's recommendations, or from floor nominations, the residents will choose a slate of six persons to enter the April municipal election.

Stated purpose of the Caucus, a chartered organization, is to "select the most qualified candidates for village office, regardless of political affiliation or interest."

Lofquist has urged any citizen who may feel the desire or qualification to seek a village office at this time to contact him by writing 910 N. Kennicott, or calling CL 3-5365.

"All applicants will be given serious and equal consideration," he said.

Other committee chairmen working toward the Feb. 18 meeting are Paul Knott, program committee; Robert Lane, finance committee; and Carl Pasquale, publicity committee.

Costs Revised for Park Land Purchases

New cost figures on the Arlington Heights Park District's proposed land acquisition program which will be subject to a referendum Jan. 30 indicate residents may expect a tax boost of 19 cents per $1,000 assessed valuation if the issue is approved.

The figures are based on exclusion of a 100-acre golf course site from the present plans, and also on 30 per cent federal participation in financing the acquisitions.

Now included in the referendum proposal are eight sites, totaling 68 acres. They represent a minority of the district's overall plan to acquire 207 acres to serve the mature community; but several other plots are expected to come through developers' donations and the golf course site would have to be financed now by a separate bond issue.

THE COST FIGURE which will be used in the referendum is $465,000, but Park Supt. Thomas Thornton explained that federal assistance would mean that $118,500 of these bonds would not have to be issued—thus leaving a net cost of $346,500 to district residents.

The district's total assessed valuation last year was $115 million, and Thornton has estimated that at least $15 million would be added this year.

The 19 cent figure per $1,000 assessed valuation is based on $346,500 worth of bonds at an interest rate of 3.5 per cent, to be retired over the next 20 years, and upon the new projected valuation of $130 million.

That figure, Thornton said, would rise to 25 cents without federal participation for which an application is now being prepared.

COST OF THE land to be acquired, he said, would average about $7,000 per acre, while postponement of the acquisition would almost surely mean an increase in cost.

Sites included in the referendum would provide three more community parks and five neighborhood parks for the district, but funds for their development would have to come from another referendum.

Mt. Prospect Hook-Up Seen

Arlington Heights was rejected by the board of managers of the Prospect Heights Improvement Assn. (PHIA) yesterday (Wednesday) in their consideration of neighboring villages with which annexation should be considered.

The choice announced by board member Bill Valiant in a formal report at the organization's regular monthly meeting was Mount Prospect.

Previous considerations had narrowed the field to the two adjacent villages, excluding Wheeling and Buffalo Grove to the north.

The board's decision climaxed more than a year of study to determine which village would have more to offer the approximately 5,000 residents of the unincorporated community of 2,000 homes.

Valiant stated that the board, after evaluating all of the factors involved in the study, felt that either community was "well above average."

"HOWEVER two important comparisons, namely property and sales tax revenues, were the overriding considerations which caused the board to reach its conclusion favoring Mount Prospect."

Valiant said a five-year comparison of percentages of increase in both property tax revenues and sales tax revenues had weighed heavily in the board's evaluation.

A 590 per cent rise in sales tax collections in Mount Prospect over the period was quoted. Anticipated future increases from both growing sales at Randhurst and a soon-to-be-developed resort complex at Old Orchard Country Club were cited also.

The recommendations of the board will be taken to the PHIA membership for approval by means of a post card survey. The mailed reply will also determine reaction in specific areas of the unincorporated community.

FOR THE PAST year, members of the Arlington Heights village board and village department heads have met with PHIA board members to explain nearly every facet of the village operation.

The meetings, and similar sessions in Mount Prospect, stemmed from a PHIA resolution last spring charging that group's board to "gather information and investigate the matter of annexation to Mount Prospect or Arlington Heights, and as a result, present to the membership a recommendation."

Arlington Heights officials, during the course of the investigations, had repeatedly indicated they were neither wooing nor attempting to discourage annexation to their village, but felt the community should be incorporated in some manner.

VALIANT, speaking for the entire PHIA executive committee, expressed appreciation to representatives of both Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights for their "wholehearted cooperation in assisting us in this endeavor."

He continued, "The study disclosed that Prospect Heights is fortunate that the communities under consideration are progressive, desirable towns in which to reside. Their governmental, education and cultural programs reflect dynamic leadership and civic responsibility."

Chamber Plans Retailers Meet

Fifty Arlington Heights retailers are expected to make plans for their 1965 promotion program at a luncheon meeting Tuesday in Arlington House Restaurant.

Luncheon is scheduled for 12:15 p. m. with the program to be directed by Chamber of Commerce executive manager Chuck Alft and John Bowen, retail chairman. Dismissal is slated for 1:30 p. m.

Rag Collection Launched For Sister City in Peru

Collections are under way this week in the Arlington Heights Inter-American Friendship Committee's Raggedy Ann Rag Drive to aid the people of Comas, Peru.

The opening day of the drive, Jan. 15, the last of 5,000 collection bags were given to local Girl Scouts who, along with Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts, are distributing them throughout the community.

The special donation bags and other containers full of rags have already begun pouring in at drive headquarters, the Gieseke Store, Davis Street and Evergreen Ave.

HOURS FOR THE collection depot are 3 to 5 p.m. weekdays, Fridays from 3 to 9 p.m., and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. During these hours, Raggedy Ann herself will be on hand to take donations.

Collected rags, which the committee hopes will total a full trailer-truck load by the drive deadline Jan. 30, will be purchased by the School Enterprises Co. of Columbus, Ohio.

All funds collected are slated for the continuing aid program for the 120,000 residents of Arlington Heights' adopted sister-city, Comas.

THE DRIVE WAS planned so that local residents, without any financial contribution, could continue their assistance which has already sent food, clothing, medical supplies, sewing machines, and a dump truck to the poor Inca "suburb" of Lima.

Drive leaders have already anticipated good response, and ordered 5,000 more special collection bags to again be distributed by volunteer Scouts. (A

Schools to Request Separate Roof Bids

A new bidding process which separates roofing from general contracting will probably be used for future construction in the Arlington Heights elementary school district.

The decision, which comes just in time to include building plans under consideration in a Feb. 20 referendum, was based on a recommendation by architect William Ganster. His firm, Ganster and Hennighausen, has designed several of the district's schools and is working on the present program.

GANSTER, at the last regular school board meeting, agreed with a previously retained roofing expert that there was good reason to doubt the quality of roofing installations on at least three of the district's schools.

He said the normal architect's job supervision did not include roofing, since manufacturers of roofing materials assumed all control of, supervision over, and responsibility for proper application.

But sections will now be cut out of several roofs in the district when weather conditions permit, and construction methods and materials will both be examined, since the roofs have failed well within their life expectation.

Ganster recommended to the school board that bids for roof construction be taken separately, rather than as a part of the general contractor's bid. A similar process is followed now with plumbing, heating and electrical work.

IN ADDITION, the roofing manufacturer's guarantee and supervision would be removed, and a two-year guarantee required from the roofer. This is the maximum allowed by the Chicago Roofing Contractors' Assn.

Ganster said this would allow use of a selected list of bidders, who in turn would use better roofing materials than had gone into past buildings.

All construction under the new system would be subject to the architect's control and supervision. (A

Bungled Burglary Is Probed

Arlington Heights police are investigating the apparently bungling burglary of the Arlington House Restaurant, 948 E. Northwest Hwy., in which a totaling machine was apparently mistaken for a cash register and only two half-full bottles of liquor were taken.

Entry was gained by breaking the lower section of a glass front door, according to the police report, sometime Monday night. Keys on the totaling machine were punched, but a nearby cash register was left untouched.

Recreation Eyed for Handicapped

Creation of a sheltered recreational program for mentally handicapped children in the Arlington Heights Park District is under consideration in the light of a recent workshop attended by district Recreation Supervisor Demmaree Sunkel and 23 other persons from a four state area.

The seven day workshop, sponsored by the Joseph P. Kennedy Foundation, was conducted at the Little Grassy Facilities, a resident camp designed for physically and mentally handicapped children, near Carbondale on the Southern Illinois University campus.

Plans at present are to establish a summer program which will involve teenage volunteers in three sessions of a two-week day camp. The day camp would be conducted similar to any recreation program sponsored by the park district.

Swimming instructions, arts and crafts, special events, cookouts and general recreational activities would be stressed in the program, designed to offer an opportunity for personal growth and personality development of the handicapped child.

Intensive courses of study at the workshop dealing in the areas of training volunteers, specialized instruction, playground procedures, and planning and developing activities will be used as a background for planning the 1965 summer program.

According to Park Supt. Thomas Thornton, the district's goal is to eventually establish a year-round program. (A

Two Youths Charged With Having Liquor

Two Arlington Heights youths were charged with possession of alcohol Monday after one of them was stopped by police for a minor traffic violation.

Francis M. Baines, 17, of 312 N. Dwyer, the driver of the car, and a passenger, James Patrick Brady Jr., 17, of 619 W. Rockwell, were charged after the car was searched and a bottle of scotch was found in the trunk, according to the report.

THE TWO THEN told officers that the liquor had been sold to them by two adults in the Arlington High School parking lot the previous Friday.

Both youths were freed on bond, and are scheduled to appear in court Feb. 4.

Park Exhibits Hauled Away

Destruction of exhibits being used by officials of the Arlington Heights Park District to promote a coming land acquisition referendum caused tempers to flare last week.

Taking the role of villain in the eyes of Park Supt. Thomas Thornton was Ronald Bradley, Elk Grove Township road commissioner, who insisted this week that the whole thing was just a "mixup that shouldn't have happened."

But Thornton tells another story. He contends that following a meeting of the Forest View Homeowners' Association at the Elk Grove Township Hall, during which park officials explained the referendum issue, Bradley had the exhibits destroyed because they were "political and shouldn't have been allowed in the building."

Bradley, on the other hand, said that "The stuff was set outside and it just got taken away wth the garbage." He termed it "partially an oversight."

THE EXHIBITS were a large map showing proposed park sites to be acquired by referendum or donation, a large poster of newspaper clippings on the referendum and need for recreational land, and a chart showing the estimated cost of the land acquisition.

Bradley, at first contact, referred all questions on specifics of the incident to the township attorney, Frank Hines. But Hines referred the same questions back to the road commissioner on the ground that he could only speak second-hand.

The road commissioner, who is charged with cleanup of the town hall, but not with control over its use, said there shouldn't have been anything in the hall telling people how to vote.

BUT HE denied that this was the reason the articles had been thrown out when left overnight. Hines had said that, in his opinion, use of the building by park officials meeting with residents of the area was proper, and not political in the general sense.

Thornton claimed that Bradley had softened his views on the situation only when threatened with some action to recapture the cost of the exhibits.

In response to the allegation, Bradley commented, "I was in favor of the park issue (coming to a vote Jan. 30), but he (Thornton) may be changing my mind."

New Pontiac Facilities To Open Soon

New sales and service facilities for Morton Pontiac, Arlington Heights, will be opened the first week of February, Mr. Morton announced this week.

He said the new building, at 666 E. Northwest Hwy., consolidates both the showroom and a modernized service department under one roof, and gives the firm approximately five times the space previously available in a split operation.

Morton announced that a grand opening for the quarter million dollar facilities is to be later in February. (A

Burglary Suspect Is Arrested

Search for John Melvin Barr, a Chicago resident wanted on a warrant for an Arlington Heights burglary last March, ended this week with notification that he had been arrested in Riverside and charged with a similar offense.

Barr was linked with the Arlington Heights residential burglary when a pawn ticket bearing his name and a Chicago address was found in discarded clothing at the scene.

Riverside police notified the Arlington Heights department that Barr was being held on $10,000 bond for appearance in Oak Park court Jan. 29.

Teachers to Class, Students Vacation

Students will have a day of vacation next Monday while their teachers go to school.

Some 1,600 elemetary and high school teachers of Wheeling and Elk Grove Townships will spend the day in a series of workshops and discussions.

The format is a departure from the lecture-type program usually planned for the mid-winter teachers' institute.

Another change will be the division of the teachers into many subject-area groups. Meetings will be held at seven junior high schools in the two townships—Jack London in Wheeling, Miner and Thomas in Arlington Heights, Dempster and Grove in Elk Grove, and Lincoln and Central in Mount Prospect.

The meetings will open with a general discussion on the subject area for teachers of all grade levels. Later in the morning sessions, teachers will meet in small owrking sessions divided by grade level.

AT NOON the general subject-area meetings will adjourn and teachers will reconvene in the individual school districts during the afternoon.

Robert E. Spotswood, principal of Central Junior High School in Mount Prospect, is chairman of the institute program committee. Mount Prospect School District 54 is sponsoring the teachers institutes during the 1964-65 school year. Next year the programs will be planned by Arlington Heights District 25.

Spotswood stated there would be recorders present at the institute sessions. Reports of each working program will be prepared and distributed to teachers and administrators of the various shcool districts.

Recorder Lists Realty Actions

Twelve sales each in Arlington Heights, in Wheeling and in the unincorporated parts of Wheeling Township made up the bulk of the report of the latest monthly listing of real estate transfers in the area.

County Recorder Sidney R. Olsen also listed three sales each in Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights and one in Buffalo Grove.

Parks Slate Classes in Self Defense

In recent weeks a new interest has been shown in the self defense classes at the Arlington Heights Park District, prompting the district to schedule a second series of classes, to begin Jan. 28 at Recreation Park fieldhouse.

Instructions will be given to sixth through eighth graders at 7 p.m. For high school students and adults, classes will be held from 8:30 to 10 p.m.

THE COURSE WILL consist of 10 lessons at a fee of $4. Richard Jankiewicz, who has a first degree black belt rating will conduct the sessions.

Interested persons may enroll by calling the park district office, CL 3-0620.

2 Punished for School Vandalism

A new approach to the punishment and rehabilitation of youthful vandals has been taken at Forest View High School in cooperation with Arlington Heights police.

Two senior students at the school admitted under questioning that they had participated in acts of vandalism at the school on two separate occasions.

The first vandalism involved throwing bricks through windows at the north side of the school. The second, and more serious, was the shooting of all of the outside hanging light fixtures at the front of the building and seven windows behind the lights.

WITH THE cooperation of parents of both boys, several discipline measures were adopted by the school after conferring with police. The discipline includes:

—Suspensions of one week during final examination reviews, with a return for the day of finals;

—Restitution in the amount of $453.12 each for the more than $900 damage involved in the vandalism;

—School probation with understanding that should they be involved in either truancy or misbehavior they will be expected to withdraw; and

—Three days of manual labor without pay under the direction of the head custodian during the school Easter vacation.

BY PRESSING CHARGES the school might have received restitution, but the youths probably would have been given probation as first offenders by the court. In addition, there would have been an official arrest and conviction record which would follow the youths throughout their lives.

The discipline approach taken by the school probably provides more stringent punishment at this time, but will leave the boys with "clean records," a school official pointed out.

To Speak at New Garden Course

Carl Klehm of Arlington Heights Road in Elk Grove Village, will be one of the featured speakers at a new adult education gardening course to be given, beginning Feb. 3, in the little theatre of Prospect High School. Klehm will speak on "Flowering Trees and Shrubs" and on the care of evergreens.

The gardening course will consist of 10 different Wednesday evening sessions each of which will begin at 7:30 p.m. Anyone interested in attending the sessions should contact Mr. and Mrs. John M. Wins Toastmaster Cup on Fourth Try Bob Lanz, 224 Jefferson Road, Hoffman Estates, walked off with the winner's cup with a satire on modern merchandising, "Nickeled and Dimed to Death," at the Jan. 13 meeting of Arlington Heights Toastmasters Club.

This was Lanz' fourth speaking appearance before the group and his first winning effort.

In a session devoted to extemporaneous replies to topics posed by Dr. Henry Neumann, 315 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, a newly received member, Jim Jordan of 515 E. Lincoln St., Mount Prospect, gave the best account, members agreed.

IN ADDITION TO Jordan, the club also initiated Billy McMinn, 2505 Sigwalt, Rolling Meadows, and Al Schmidt, 506 N. Elmhurst, Mount Prospect.

Toastmasters meet every second and fourth Wednesday of each month in the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Building. Meetings begin at 8 p.m., and visitors are encouraged to attend.

214 Baccalaureate Probable; Clergymen Meet With Board

Graduating students of Arlington, Prospect and Forest View High Schools apparently will have a baccalaureate service as part of their graduating program.

Just who will actually sponsor the program still appears to be up in the air.

The issue of baccalaureate services arose last October when the school board of District 214 voted to eliminate the services.

The original decision followed the recommendation of the school administration and was based on advice from a legal investigation of the American Association of School Administrators (AASA).

The AASA investigation called baccalaureate programs "religious services, subject to (court) challenge as such" in light of recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions on religious practices in public schools.

LATEST EFFORTS to resolve the ensuing controversy came last week with a meeting of school officials with clergymen of the area and the report of a petition with about 400 signatures asking for reinstatement of the service.

Mrs. A. C. Peters of the Arlington Heights Woman's Club appeared at the school board meeting on behalf of the group but did not submit the petitions. Mrs. Peters called the baccalaureate an "old established custom" and stressed the feelings of a majority of area residents should not be ignored.

"If this is something that a small minority group has done then the school board should not pay attention," she said.

Board President John Haas told Mrs. Peters that in addition to the information on the legality of baccalaureate from the AASA, he had also considered the attendance at the previous baccalaureate.

"LAST YEAR for the first time attendance at baccalaureate was put on a voluntary basis but notice of this was not stressed at two schools," Haas noted. At the one school where the most notice was given, Haas said, "attendance was quite low."

Dr. Frank Smith, board member, told Mrs. Peters there had been no pressure from minority groups. Haas emphasized that in considering legal grounds it would not make a difference if the minority or majority opinion were involved.

A "general consensus" on several major points resulted from the meeting of clergymen with school board members and administrators, according to Rev. John DiGangi of South Church Community Baptist, Mount Prospect. Rev. DiGangi acted as leader of the clergymen's group.

THE POINTS of agreement by the clergyman included:

—There could be a baccalaureate;

—Services could be held in the high schools with attendance on a voluntary basis; and —There could be a common service for the three major faiths.

Still at issue, he said, was actual sponsorship of the baccalaureate, with the clergymen themselves divided on the point.

Some felt the school should continue sponsorship, but others felt the school should not be involved with a religious service.

Some of the clergy felt strongly enough on the topic that they felt the offer of the school to provide facilities without charge should not be taken, but that the sponsoring church groups should pay the normal minimal rental.

THE MEETING resulted in the understanding that school officials would again review their action eliminating the baccalaureate and notify the ministerial groups of their decision.

Rev. DiGangi indicated there appeared to be a general feeling that a baccalaureate service would be sponsored by the churches if the board did not reverse its action.

Attending the meeting for the Wheeling Ministerial Association were Rev. George M. Ekstrom of the Community Presbyterian Church and Rev. Clifford Branson of the Evangelical Free Church. Rev. Harry L. Evans of the Arlington Heights Evangelical Free Church represented the Arlington Heights Ministerial Association, as chairman.

Present also were the three ministers of the church-school committee of the Mount Prospect Pastors Council on Community Affairs. The members are Rev. Waldemar E. Bartell of the Lutheran Church of Martha and Mary, Rev. Donald F. Keith of Community Presbyterian Church, Rev. Philip L. Ramsey of St. Mark Lutheran Church and Rev. DiGangi.

REV. DONALD J. Fenske of St. Raymond Catholic Church, Mount Prospect, and Rabbi Hillel Gamoran of Beth Tikvah Temple, Hoffman Estates, also attended the meeting.

Five of the seven District 214 school board members were on hand for the daytime meeting. They were T. Earl Thompson and Hal Armstrong of Mount Prospect, Mrs. Leah Cummins of Elk Grove Village, Haas of Prospect Heights and Smith of Arlington Heights.

In-Service Course Offered

The adult evening school of High School District 214 again will offer an in-service couse in the humanities, primarily designed for teachers. The course, offered for the first time last semester, was well attended by elementary teachers and lay people as well as high school personnel.

By completing the class, both district teachers and teachers from other districts received professional growth credit on their salary schedules.

The lecture-discussion series included such topics as "The Tragic Fugures of Oedipus and Hamlet," "Japan's History Reflected in Its Art," and "Styles in Music." New topics of similar interest and caliber will be presented this semester, including "How to Read a Poem," "Huckleberry Finn," "Renaissance Music," and "Macbeth."

THE TUITION FEE of $18 includes $8 for books and materials which become the property of the registrant. The class will meet at Prospect High School Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30.

Registration for the course, which begins Feb. 4, will be at Arlington High School Jan. 25, Prospect High School Jan. 26, Forest View High School Jan. 27, and Wheeling High School Jan. 28, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Registration also may be made by mail. For further information call CL 3-1700.

Teachers to Class, Students Vacation

Students will have a day of vacation next Monday while their teachers go to school.

Some 1,600 elemetary and high school teachers of Wheeling and Elk Grove Townships will spend the day in a series of workshops and discussions.

The format is a departure from the lecture-type program usually planned for the mid-winter teachers' institute.

Another change will be the division of the teachers into many subject-area groups. Meetings will be held at seven junior high schools in the two townships—Jack London in Wheeling, Miner and Thomas in Arlington Heights, Dempster and Grove in Elk Grove, and Lincoln and Central in Mount Prospect.

The meetings will open with a general discussion on the subject area for teachers of all grade levels. Later in the morning sessions, teachers will meet in small owrking sessions divided by grade level.

AT NOON the general subject-area meetings will adjourn and teachers will reconvene in the individual school districts during the afternoon.

Robert E. Spotswood, principal of Central Junior High School in Mount Prospect, is chairman of the institute program committee. Mount Prospect School District 54 is sponsoring the teachers institutes during the 1964-65 school year. Next year the programs will be planned by Arlington Heights District 25.

Spotswood stated there would be recorders present at the institute sessions. Reports of each working program will be prepared and distributed to teachers and administrators of the various shcool districts.

2 Punished for School Vandalism

A new approach to the punishment and rehabilitation of youthful vandals has been taken at Forest View High School in cooperation with Arlington Heights police.

Two senior students at the school admitted under questioning that they had participated in acts of vandalism at the school on two separate occasions.

The first vandalism involved throwing bricks through windows at the north side of the school. The second, and more serious, was the shooting of all of the outside hanging light fixtures at the front of the building and seven windows behind the lights.

WITH THE cooperation of parents of both boys, several discipline measures were adopted by the school after conferring with police. The discipline includes:

—Suspensions of one week during final examination reviews, with a return for the day of finals;

—Restitution in the amount of $453.12 each for the more than $900 damage involved in the vandalism;

—School probation with understanding that should they be involved in either truancy or misbehavior they will be expected to withdraw; and

—Three days of manual labor without pay under the direction of the head custodian during the school Easter vacation.

BY PRESSING CHARGES the school might have received restitution, but the youths probably would have been given probation as first offenders by the court. In addition, there would have been an official arrest and conviction record which would follow the youths throughout their lives.

The discipline approach taken by the school probably provides more stringent punishment at this time, but will leave the boys with "clean records," a school official pointed out.

Special Education Institute Monday

An institute program for special education teachers and administrators in Palatine, Schaumburg, Wheeling and Elk Grove Township schools will be held Monday afternoon, Jan. 25, at Prospect Heights West School meeting room.

The institute is slated during the regular afternoon individual school district workshops. Teachers from the 10 school districts in the four townships will participate in high school area institutes in the morning.

Vocational training and rehabilitation is the theme of the special education program. The afternoon session will be sponsored jointly by the Illinois Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR) and the Northwest Organization (NSSEO).

THE NSSEO is a joint operaton of the public elementary and high schools in the four townships. Included in its program are classes for students who are blind, perceptually handicapped, partially seeing, and mentally handicapped, and pupils with impaired hearing. ,

Speakers at the insitute will be Vita Caleca, deputy director of program and staff development, and Arthur Yates, coordinator of special eucation and DVR programs, both of the DVR. Also speaking will be a vocational counselor for the NSSEO from the DVR.

Toppics cover three major areas: "Should rehabilitation be part of the educational program?", "Should employability be an educatonal goal?", and "Why should there be cooperative programs between DVR and special education?"

THE PROGRAM was jointly planned by a committee representing the 10 school districts of NSSEO.

Included in the special institute will be school nurses, psychologists, social workers, spetional counselors, administrators and DVR personnel from various areas of Illinois.

Trip-Tips

Wayne Griffin

"If I get down the road five miles and can't make it, will you send someone to get me back?" That was my question to Reg Anderson of the Bay Roc Hotel in Montego Bay, Jamaica.

The occasion was the start of my first experience in driving a car on the "wrong" side of the road. Jamaica, like a few other countries, uses the left-hand rule in driving. It's quite an experience. The steering wheel is on the right side. The shift gear on the wheel shaft is the same, but when you automatically look up and to the right for the rear-view mirror, it isn't there. It's just opposite.

I played my first trip cautiously and drove the sixty miles from Montego Bay to Ocho Rios without incident. I drove slowly on the good, all-weather highway, but slowed down to a crawl everytime I encountered one of the many natives walking along the route.

In four days of driving, visiting all the major hotels in both Ocho Rios and Montego Bay I soon became accustomed to right-hand driving. You must try it sometime, it's fun.

About three years ago I had a "left and right" experience as a pedestrian. First I was in Scotland which is left-hand drive. Then to Norway which is right-hand, then to Sweden which is left-hand, and finally to Denmark which is right hand. At the end of three weeks I didn't know which way to look before crossing a street.

If you're thinking of a trip to Scandinavia, or Jamaica, drop in and let's talk about it. We have all the information on hotels and tours at 104 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights. Or call CL 5-7010.

Rumsfeld to Discuss Ouster of Halleck

Cong. Donald Rumsfeld of the 13th District, one of the Republican rebels who helped oust Charles Halleck of Indiana as House minority leader, will discuss the event with Joe Foss of WBBM today (Thursday) on "Current," from 12:15 to 12:55 p.m.

Listeners are invited to call MO 4-8660 and talk directly to Rumsfeld, asking questions directly of Rumsfeld.

In addition to discussing the strategy employed in electing the new minority leader, Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, Rumsfeld will also talk about the Presidential Inauguration and give his predictions about legislation coming before the 89th Congress.

The Illinois congressman was cited last week by the Capitol Hill newspaper, Roll Call, for his participation in Ford's election.

In an article on the Ford-Halleck struggle, the newspaper stated: "It occurred to us that one of the least publicized feats of the Halleck-Ford minority fight was the behind-the-scenes work of Rep. Donald Rumsfeld. We understand Rumsfeld was quite persuasive in his talks with the younger members of the party whose votes turned the tide, but his effort, at least publicly, seems to have gone unrecognized."

RUMSFELD HAS been elected president of the 88th Club, an organization within the House composed of Republican members first elected in November 1962 to serve in the 88th Congress.

Indicating his pleasure at receiving the honor, he said he anticipates an active and productive year for the group. Robert Taft Jr. served as first president of the 88th Club in 1963.

Rumsfeld represents Barrington, Elk Grove, Evanston, Hanover, New Trier, Niles, Northfield, Palatine, Schaumburg and Wheeling Townships, plus Chicago's 50th Ward.

Rare Book Service Offered by Shop

The Arlington Book Shop, 123 E. Davis, Arlington Heights, announced this week that it is now able to act as an agency for purchase and sale of rare books, autographs, manuscripts.

Through a newly formed association with the Heritage Book Shop of Long Grove, the Arlington Book Shop will also provide free search service for hard to find books.

Another addition to the book shop's services, made possible by its association with the Heritage Shop, is fine and leather binding.

THE BUYING Bulletin is available at Arlington Book Shop to those interested in selling fine and rare books. It describes exactly which categories of books are wanted.

The search service is limited to hard to find books and does not include books that are not scarce or rare or that can be found at second hand stores.

Arlington Book Shop is operated by Mrs. H. W. Foy and Mrs. Norman Ziegler. The Heritage Book Shop is owned by Joseph Camardo, and consultant is Van Allen Bradley, author of "Gold in Your Attic" and a syndicated column in the Chicago Daily News.

'Klondike Derby'

300 Scouts to Join For Outing Saturday

If you see a group of Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows men keeping a wary eye on the thermometer while listening to the latest weather forecasts, chances are they are Boy Scout leaders planning this Saturday's big winter outing," "Klondike Derby."

More than 300 boys from the 16 troops in the two communities will gather at 8:30 a.m. in the Deer Grove Forest Preserve for the all-day event sponsored by the Sauk Woods District of the Northwest Suburban Boy Scout Council.

Highlight of the outing will be racing of home-made sledges by patrols from each troop. Constructed from discarded Christmas tree trunks and rope lashing, these vehicles will be judged on how well they survive a boy-propelled trip over a prescribed course.

IN ADDITION to the sledge races, the scouts will compete in compass, lashing and fire-by-friction problems.

Directing the day's program is Jack Medley, 2003 Hawk Court, Rolling Meadows, district activities chairman. Assisting him are Don E. Traver, 1705 E. Campbell; Louis H. Nye Jr., 503 S. Waterman; Val Namovicz, 1471 N. Wilke; and Otis Johnson, 833 N. Forrest, all of Arlington Heights; and John Thompson, 2504 Sigwalt; Joseph Murowski, 2704 Fremont; and Alvin Weber, 4203 Owl Drive, all of Rolling Meadows.

Charlie Spur and his Barrington Red Cross emergency unit will again provide stand-by ambulance service in conjunction with the district's health and safety committee.

NYE IS general chairman of the district and will head its supervisory group at the "Klondike Derby." He will be assisted by Stewar M. Grant, 701 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, district commissioner, and Jack M. Starke, district executive from the council headquarters at 2500 Dempster St., Des Plaines.

Special Education Institute Monday

An institute program for special education teachers and administrators in Palatine, Schaumburg, Wheeling and Elk Grove Township schools will be held Monday afternoon, Jan. 25, at Prospect Heights West School meeting room.

The institute is slated during the regular afternoon individual school district workshops. Teachers from the 10 school districts in the four townships will participate in high school area institutes in the morning.

Vocational training and rehabilitation is the theme of the special education program. The afternoon session will be sponsored jointly by the Illinois Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR) and the Northwest Organization (NSSEO).

THE NSSEO is a joint operaton of the public elementary and high schools in the four townships. Included in its program are classes for students who are blind, perceptually handicapped, partially seeing, and mentally handicapped, and pupils with impaired hearing. ,

Speakers at the insitute will be Vita Caleca, deputy director of program and staff development, and Arthur Yates, coordinator of special eucation and DVR programs, both of the DVR. Also speaking will be a vocational counselor for the NSSEO from the DVR.

Toppics cover three major areas: "Should rehabilitation be part of the educational program?", "Should employability be an educatonal goal?", and "Why should there be cooperative programs between DVR and special education?"

THE PROGRAM was jointly planned by a committee representing the 10 school districts of NSSEO.

Included in the special institute will be school nurses, psychologists, social workers, spetional counselors, administrators and DVR personnel from various areas of Illinois.

Trip-Tips

"If I get down the road five miles and can't make it, will you send someone to get me back?" That was my question to Reg Anderson of the Bay Roc Hotel in Montego Bay, Jamaica.

Wayne Griffin

The occasion was the start of my first experience in driving a car on the "wrong" side of the road. Jamaica, like a few other countries, uses the left-hand rule in driving. It's quite an experience. The steering wheel is on the right side. The shift gear on the wheel shaft is the same, but when you automatically look up and to the right for the rear-view mirror, it isn't there. It's just opposite.

I played my first trip cautiously and drove the sixty miles from Montego Bay to Ocho Rios without incident. I drove slowly on the good, all-weather highway, but slowed down to a crawl everytime I encountered one of the many natives walking along the route.

In four days of driving, visiting all the major hotels in both Ocho Rios and Montego Bay I soon became accustomed to right-hand driving. You must try it sometime, it's fun.

About three years ago I had a "left and right" experience as a pedestrian. First I was in Scotland which is left-hand drive. Then to Norway which is right-hand, then to Sweden which is left-hand, and finally to Denmark which is right hand. At the end of three weeks I didn't know which way to look before crossing a street.

If you're thinking of a trip to Scandinavia, or Jamaica, drop in and let's talk about it. We have all the information on hotels and tours at 104 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights. Or call CL 5-7010.

Bond Sales Fall Below 1963 Total

Cook County sales of series E and H United States savings bonds last year were $219,403,723, or six per cent below total sales for 1963.

In the state of Illinois annual sales were $350,729,628, according to Arnold J. Rauen, state director of the Treasury's savings bonds division. This represents 98.7 per cent of the assigned quota of $355,500,000 for the year.

Sales in the state were 5.1 per cent below the 1963 total and represent 7.6 per cent of national sales which were $4,609,000,000.

At the end of the calendar year total holdings of series E and H bonds were $48,366,000,000, an all-time high.

Rare Book Service Offered by Shop

The Arlington Book Shop, 123 E. Davis, Arlington Heights, announced this week that it is now able to act as an agency for purchase and sale of rare books, autographs, manuscripts.

Through a newly formed association with the Heritage Book Shop of Long Grove, the Arlington Book Shop will also provide free search service for hard to find books.

Another addition to the book shop's services, made possible by its association with the Heritage Shop, is fine and leather binding.

THE BUYING Bulletin is available at Arlington Book Shop to those interested in selling fine and rare books. It describes exactly which categories of books are wanted.

The search service is limited to hard to find books and does not include books that are not scarce or rare or that can be found at second hand stores.

Arlington Book Shop is operated by Mrs. H. W. Foy and Mrs. Norman Ziegler. The Heritage Book Shop is owned by Joseph Camardo, and consultant is Van Allen Bradley, author of "Gold in Your Attic" and a syndicated column in the Chicago Daily News.

Rumsfeld to Discuss Ouster of Halleck

Cong. Donald Rumsfeld of the 13th District, one of the Republican rebels who helped oust Charles Halleck of Indiana as House minority leader, will discuss the event with Joe Foss of WBBM today (Thursday) on "Current," from 12:15 to 12:55 p.m.

Listeners are invited to call MO 4-8660 and talk directly to Rumsfeld, asking questions directly of Rumsfeld.

In addition to discussing the strategy employed in electing the new minority leader, Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, Rumsfeld will also talk about the Presidential Inauguration and give his predictions about legislation coming before the 89th Congress.

The Illinois congressman was cited last week by the Capitol Hill newspaper, Roll Call, for his participation in Ford's election.

In an article on the Ford-Halleck struggle, the newspaper stated: "It occurred to us that one of the least publicized feats of the Halleck-Ford minority fight was the behind-the-scenes work of Rep. Donald Rumsfeld. We understand Rumsfeld was quite persuasive in his talks with the younger members of the party whose votes turned the tide, but his effort, at least publicly, seems to have gone unrecognized."

RUMSFELD HAS been elected president of the 88th Club, an organization within the House composed of Republican members first elected in November 1962 to serve in the 88th Congress.

Indicating his pleasure at receiving the honor, he said he anticipates an active and productive year for the group. Robert Taft Jr. served as first president of the 88th Club in 1963.

Rumsfeld represents Barrington, Elk Grove, Evanston, Hanover, New Trier, Niles, Northfield, Palatine, Schaumburg and Wheeling Townships, plus Chicago's 50th Ward.

Social Tidbits Fall with Snow and Temperatures

Sidelights Of Arlington Heights

Arlington Heights, Scarsdale & Estates, Stonegate

Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298 Elsie Jedd, CL 3-5982

Falling snow with temperatures to match kept local sociability in a state of suspended animation over the weekend, prolonging the post holiday lull. Barely sustaining the news are scattered reports of birthday celebrations, a few reluctantly returning vacationers, and here 'n' there a visiting out-of-towner. Theoretically, there will be more items in next week's Sidelights — there could hardly be fewer!

The G. W. Williams family, 633 N. Highland, last week welcomed long-time friends and almost-Christmas visitors, Mr. and Mrs. David Hibbs, who were en route to their home in Toronto, Canada from Long Beach, Calif. A holiday visit here had been planned but business demands kept the Hibbses in their temporary California home town until after the first of the year. Besides helping to enliven the January scene for their hosts, the Hibbs' stay here served to condition them for their return to Canadian climate.

Jody Wotruba was 7 years old Saturday and celebrated with a "sandwich supper" party in her home, 912 N. Belmont. Twelve local friends giggled and jiggled their ways through the game session, Dagwood creations and the happy birthday song.

Saturday was also birthday party day in the Leander Gatewood home, 1303 N. Walnut, where nine neighborhood friends helped Laura celebrate being 4 with games 'n' prizes and cake 'n' ice cream.

THE GEORGE Sandys, 515 S. Chestnut, celebrated the Jan. 10 birthday of their daughter, Mrs. Don Harris, during a weekend stay in her East Moline home. Mrs. Harris' husband, a Navy "Seabee," is in Okinawa, and the Sandys' trip downstate put much-needed "happy" in the birthday event.

Mrs. A. J. Hult of Park Ridge joined her son, Robert, and his family, 409 N. Dwyer, in the recent dinner-out celebration of his Jan. 7 birthday.

Another recent dinner-out date to celebrate the birthday of the man of the house was M. R. Kephart's. The rest of the family at 801 S. Evergreen, minus collegiate Mirrell Jr., wished Dad the best last Tuesday, then dashed home to get birthday greetings off to Mirrell, a Jan. 15 celebrant. Having a birthday in the midst of semester-exam-cram season, however, is a frustrating situation.

Fattening a bridge club kitty for an annual night-on-the-town occasion resulted this year in dinner at the Empire Room in Chicago for six local couples. Phyllis Diller was the main feature of the evening's floor show Saturday night, and laughing with her on the subjects of husbands and housewifery were the Carl Benruds, William Plambecks, Paul Weinrichs, Neal Hawkinses, Ralph Raymonds and Henry Wists.

TH E DONALD Armstrongs same home Thursday to 907 S. Dunton, leaving Pompano Beach just in time to retain warm memories of their 2-week vacation and avoid being hit by Florida's falling temperature. They motored both ways on a no-hurry schedule and had eight fine days in the Sunshine State.

Coinciding with the Armstrongs' Florida stay were the vacations of other Arlington Heighters, the James Cunningham family and Mr. and Mrs. Jan Behrens. They all went their independent ways sometimes, but also enjoyed some "let's get together" occasions.

The Cunninghams returned Friday to 1916 Spruce Terrace after one week of traveling that was mostly business-dictated, then had a 2-week vacation stay in Pompano Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Behrens, also traveling by car, returned to 817 N. Belmont Monday evening, having eluded the Florida cold wave by about half a day. They report meeting the sudden chill in Atlanta and being fairly well conditioned for the local climate by the time they reached home. Their 10 days in Pompano Beach were warm and wonderful.

A VISITOR in the Kenneth Auer home last week was the host's cousin, Warren Claussen of Orinda, Calif., here briefly en route to the west coast from a business trip in Minneapolis. Other "Auerly" reports from 202 Stratford include the latest on the Auer daughters, Carol and Merry Lee. Merry Lee has just received her diploma from the American School of Beauty Culture in Chicago, and Carol, a freshman at Colorado State University, last week "went active" in Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

New arrivals on the 200 block of Stratford currently getting acquainted with the Auers and other neighbors are Mr. and Mrs. Redmond Dwyer and children, who moved here last week from Chicago.

The George Gandseys, 501 S. Belmont, returned Friday from a week's visit in Trenton, N. J., with Gandsey's sister and her family, the John P. Coffins. With them was the senior Mrs. Gandsey of Virginia, Minn., who had been visiting here and is now enjoying a stay with another daughter in Batavia.

A welcome-to-the-neighborhood coffee in the home of Mrs. Charles Clemins last Wednesday morning introduced newcomer Mrs. L. J. Charland to 12 fellow homemakers of the 1000 block on Mayfair. The Charlands moved here from Philadelphia early in December, but the compunded confusion of transplanting a household and combatting the noliday rush delayed their getting acquainted until recently. Wednesday's relaxed, no-hurry coffee session was just right for the getting-to-know-you process.

MRS. WILLIAM J. Pailey, 702 S. Belmont, enjoyed last week in Pompano Beach and Fort Lauderdale, returning Sunday evening with her husband, who joined her in the Sunshine State Thursday. They pondered the theory that Pailey brought midwest weather with him when Florida's temperature began skidding Friday, and celebrated Mrs. Pailey's birthday Saturday.

Hostess at a luncheon and birthday celebration for Mrs. Pailey Monday was Mrs. Orville Colianni, 844 S. Burton, fellow member of a group of local women who meet together socially, and sometimes sympathetically, whenever one of them has a birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Miller, 1301 Woodford, last week received word from their Coe College coed, Susan, that she was pledged to Alpha Xi Delta sorority — and, of course, that she was studying hard for coming semester exams.

Marshall Snoddy of Greenwood, S. C., was an overnight guest last week in the home of his uncle and aunt, the Harold Kings, 350 S. Burton. He had been in the area attending a convention and enjoyed the King hospitality before returning to the south.

Friends and neighbors of James L. Andrew, 224 S. Illinois Drive, will be sorry to learn of the death of his father, James M. Andrew of Findlay, Ohio, who died Jan. 10 in Northwest Community Hospital at the age of 74. Sympathies are extended to the family.

Neighbors and friends of the Edward Scheffners, 642 N. Dryden, were sorry to learn of the death last week of Mrs. Scheffner's mother, Mrs. Storme, in Miami, Fla. She was fatally injured in an automobile accident. A frequent visitor here and well-known to local friends of the Scheffners, Mrs. Storme made her winter home in Miami.

Mrs. Scheffner left for Florida immediately upon being notified of the accident and was with her mother when she died. A memorial service was held in Miami and interment was in Mrs. Storme's home town, Marion, Ill. (A

Russell Daughtry, son of the Wallace Daughtrys, 715 W. Elm, was given a family party Jan. 6 to celebrate his 12th birthday. His cake had trick candles, which relighted when he blew them out.

Laurie Wagher, daughter of George and Carol Wagher, 911 N. Princeton, was guest of honor at a birthday dinner Jan. 17 to celebrate her fourth birthday. Guests were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hanson of Rolling Meadows and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wagher of Chicago, and an aunt, Margaret Waldshmidt and family of Rolling Meadows.

Pam Jenkins, daughter of Doug and Jean Jenkins, 808 N. Patton, underwent a tonsillectomy Jan. 20 in Northwest Community Hospital.

Irving Johnson, 814 N. Princeton, who for three weeks has been recuperating from an infection which hospitalized him for a time, returned to work on Monday.

HOUSEGUEST of Loren and Althea Korte, 821 N. Harvard, for five days was her sister, Miss Kordla Bartz of San Francisco. She left Jan. 14.

Sympathy is extended to Robert Lill and his family, 832 N. Kennicott, upon the death of his father Jan. 14.

Houseguests of LaVonne and Carroll Kuhlman, 919 N. Kaspar, from Jan. 9 to 13 were former neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ashton of Burnsville, Minn. Jim and Delores Ashton were frequent visitors during that time.

Houseguests of Michael and Karen Schafer, 712 N. Fernandez, from Jan. 13 to 17 were Barb and Rollie Maine of St. Paul.

Michael and his brother, Joe, celebrated their birthdays together last week with a family party. Present were Joe's wife, Sue, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Schafer of Des Plaines, their parents.

Stan Mensching, 804 N. Kaspar, spent Friday and the weekend with friends from Palatine on a camping and ice fishing outing at Pleasant Lake near Elkhorn, Wis.

LAVERNE and Robert Buechner, 1012 N. Fernandez, met Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bresious in Chicago Jan. 9 to celebrate the Bresiouses' anniversary. They had dinner at Trader Vic's and attended the movie "Goldfinger."

Sympathy goes to Joan Wojtkiewicz, 920 N. Ridge, upon the recent death of her uncle, Mr. Walter Gastram, a former resident of Arlington Heights.

William and Rita Burns, 721 N. Patton, hosted two birthday parties recently. One was Jan. 1 for 10-year-old Billy and the other was Jan. 11 for Pat. He was 9.

Four-year-old Robert Fisher was in the spotlight the evening of Jan. 17 when 20 relatives came to have cake and wish him a happy birthday. Robert, whose birthday is Jan. 18, is the son of the Charles Fishers, 1010 N. Race.

Jimmy Wojtkiewicz, son of George and Joan Wojtkiewicz, 920 N. Ridge, was guest of honor at his birthday pparty Jan. 1 for 22 relatives. Included was an aunt, Irene Wolf of Whittier, Calif.

HOME FROM a recent vacation are Hazel and Graham Morgan, 1010 N. Harvard. Hazel spent a week in Denver, visiting her daughter and family, Kathy and Carl Gruner and their sons. Graham joined her and they then spent two weeks in the home of the G. Wakefield Morgans in Poway Valley, Calif. Their son, Wakefield, an aeronautical engineer for a West Coast firm, was recently promoted to the rank of major in the U. S. Marine Reserve.

Gloria Ringel celebrated her birthday Jan. 11 with dinner at the Embers with husband, Jim, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Berg of Glenview followed by an evening of bridge at the Ringel home, 722 N. Ridge.

Kitty and Jay Shaffer, 917 N. Harvard, entertained the George Krilcics, George Lurtzes, Nick Ekstrands, the Roy Splitts, Marian Janis and former neighbors, the Gordon Johnsons of Mount Prospect for dinner and an evening of dancing Jan. 16.

Social Tidbits Fall with Snow and Temperatures

Sidelights
Of Arlington Heights

Arlington Heights, Scarsdale & Estates, Stonegate
Dorothy Meyer, CL 3-2298 Elsie Jedd, CL 3-5982

Falling snow with temperatures to match kept local sociability in a state of suspended animation over the weekend, prolonging the post holiday lull. Barely sustaining the news are scattered reports of birthday celebrations, a few reluctantly returning vacationers, and here 'n' there a visiting out-of-towner. Theoretically, there will be more items in next week's Sidelights — there could hardly be fewer!

The G. W. Williams family, 633 N. Highland, last week welcomed long-time friends and almost-Christmas visitors, Mr. and Mrs. David Hibbs, who were en route to their home in Toronto, Canada from Long Beach, Calif. A holiday visit here had been planned but business demands kept the Hibbses in their temporary California home town until after the first of the year. Besides helping to enliven the January scene for their hosts, the Hibbs' stay here served to condition them for their return to Canadian climate.

Jody Wotruba was 7 years old Saturday and celebrated with a "sandwich supper" party in her home, 912 N. Belmont. Twelve local friends giggled and jiggled their ways through the game session, Dagwood creations and the happy birthday song.

Saturday was also birthday party day in the Leander Gatewood home, 1303 N. Walnut, where nine neighborhood friends helped Laura celebrate being 4 with games 'n' prizes and cake 'n' ice cream.

THE GEORGE Sandys, 515 S. Chestnut, celebrated the Jan. 10 birthday of their daughter, Mrs. Don Harris, during a weekend stay in her East Moline home. Mrs. Harris' husband, a Navy "Seabee," is in Okinawa, and the Sandys' trip downstate put much-needed "happy" in the birthday event.

Mrs. A. J. Hult of Park Ridge joined her son, Robert, and his family, 409 N. Dwyer, in the recent dinner-out celebration of his Jan. 7 birthday.

Another recent dinner-out date to celebrate the birthday of the man of the house was M. R. Kephart's. The rest of the family at 801 S. Evergreen, minus collegiate Mirrell Jr., wished Dad the best last Tuesday, then dashed home to get birthday greetings off to Mirrell, a Jan. 15 celebrant. Having a birthday in the midst of semester-exam-cram season, however, is a frustrating situation.

Fattening a bridge club kitty for an annual night-on-the-town occasion resulted this year in dinner at the Empire Room in Chicago for six local couples. Phyllis Diller was the main feature of the evening's floor show Saturday night, and laughing with her on the subjects of husbands and housewifery were the Carl Benruds, William Plambecks, Paul Weinrichs, Neal Hawkinses, Ralph Raymonds and Henry Wists.

TH E DONALD Armstrongs same home Thursday to 907 S. Dunton, leaving Pompano Beach just in time to retain warm memories of their 2-week vacation and avoid being hit by Florida's falling temperature. They motored both ways on a no-hurry schedule and had eight fine days in the Sunshine State.

Coinciding with the Armstrongs' Florida stay were the vacations of other Arlington Heighters, the James Cunningham family and Mr. and Mrs. Jan Behrens. They all went their independent ways sometimes, but also enjoyed some "let's get together" occasions.

The Cunninghams returned Friday to 1916 Spruce Terrace after one week of traveling that was mostly business-dictated, then had a 2-week vacation stay in Pompano Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Behrens, also traveling by car, returned to 817 N. Belmont Monday evening, having eluded the Florida cold wave by about half a day. They report meeting the sudden chill in Atlanta and being fairly well conditioned for the local climate by the time they reached home. Their 10 days in Pompano Beach were warm and wonderful.

A VISITOR in the Kenneth Auer home last week was the host's cousin, Warren Claussen of Orinda, Calif., here briefly en route to the west coast from a business trip in Minneapolis. Other "Auerly" reports from 202 Stratford include the latest on the Auer daughters, Carol and Merry Lee. Merry Lee has just received her diploma from the American School of Beauty Culture in Chicago, and Carol, a freshman at Colorado State University, last week "went active" in Gamma Phi Beta sorority.

New arrivals on the 200 block of Stratford currently getting acquainted with the Auers and other neighbors are Mr. and Mrs. Redmond Dwyer and children, who moved here last week from Chicago.

The George Gandseys, 501 S. Belmont, returned Friday from a week's visit in Trenton, N. J., with Gandsey's sister and her family, the John P. Coffins. With them was the senior Mrs. Gandsey of Virginia, Minn., who had been visiting here and is now enjoying a stay with another daughter in Batavia.

A welcome-to-the-neighborhood coffee in the home of Mrs. Charles Clemins last Wednesday morning introduced newcomer Mrs. L. J. Charland to 12 fellow homemakers of the 1000 block on Mayfair. The Charlands moved here from Philadelphia early in December, but the compunded confusion of transplanting a household and combatting the noliday rush delayed their getting acquainted until recently. Wednesday's relaxed, no-hurry coffee session was just right for the getting-to-know-you process.

MRS. WILLIAM J. Pailey, 702 S. Belmont, enjoyed last week in Pompano Beach and Fort Lauderdale, returning Sunday evening with her husband, who joined her in the Sunshine State Thursday. They pondered the theory that Pailey brought midwest weather with him when Florida's temperature began skidding Friday, and celebrated Mrs. Pailey's birthday Saturday.

Hostess at a luncheon and birthday celebration for Mrs. Pailey Monday was Mrs. Orville Colianni, 844 S. Burton, fellow member of a group of local women who meet together socially, and sometimes sympathetically, whenever one of them has a birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Miller, 1301 Woodford, last week received word from their Coe College coed, Susan, that she was pledged to Alpha Xi Delta sorority — and, of course, that she was studying hard for coming semester exams.

Marshall Snoddy of Greenwood, S. C., was an overnight guest last week in the home of his uncle and aunt, the Harold Kings, 350 S. Burton. He had been in the area attending a convention and enjoyed the King hospitality before returning to the south.

Friends and neighbors of James L. Andrew, 224 S. Illinois Drive, will be sorry to learn of the death of his father, James M. Andrew of Findlay, Ohio, who died Jan. 10 in Northwest Community Hospital at the age of 74. Sympathies are extended to the family.

Neighbors and friends of the Edward Scheffners, 642 N. Dryden, were sorry to learn of the death last week of Mrs. Scheffner's mother, Mrs. Storme, in Miami, Fla. She was fatally injured in an automobile accident. A frequent visitor here and well-known to local friends of the Scheffners, Mrs. Storme made her winter home in Miami.

Mrs. Scheffner left for Florida immediately upon being notified of the accident and was with her mother when she died. A memorial service was held in Miami and interment was in Mrs. Storme's home town, Marion, Ill. (A

FROM RIDGE PARK

Russell Daughtry, son of the Wallace Daughtrys, 715 W. Elm, was given a family party Jan. 6 to celebrate his 12th birthday. His cake had trick candles, which relighted when he blew them out.

Laurie Wagher, daughter of George and Carol Wagher, 911 N. Princeton, was guest of honor at a birthday dinner Jan. 17 to celebrate her fourth birthday. Guests were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hanson of Rolling Meadows and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wagher of Chicago, and an aunt, Margaret Waldshmidt and family of Rolling Meadows.

Pam Jenkins, daughter of Doug and Jean Jenkins, 808 N. Patton, underwent a tonsillectomy Jan. 20 in Northwest Community Hospital.

Irving Johnson, 814 N. Princeton, who for three weeks has been recuperating from an infection which hospitalized him for a time, returned to work on Monday.

HOUSEGUEST of Loren and Althea Korte, 821 N. Harvard, for five days was her sister, Miss Kordla Bartz of San Francisco. She left Jan. 14.

Sympathy is extended to Robert Lill and his family, 832 N. Kennicott, upon the death of his father Jan. 14.

Houseguests of LaVonne and Carroll Kuhlman, 919 N. Kaspar, from Jan. 9 to 13 were former neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ashton of Burnsville, Minn. Jim and Delores Ashton were frequent visitors during that time.

Houseguests of Michael and Karen Schafer, 712 N. Fernandez, from Jan. 13 to 17 were Barb and Rollie Maine of St. Paul.

Michael and his brother, Joe, celebrated their birthdays together last week with a family party. Present were Joe's wife, Sue, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Schafer of Des Plaines, their parents.

Stan Mensching, 804 N. Kaspar, spent Friday and the weekend with friends from Palatine on a camping and ice fishing outing at Pleasant Lake near Elkhorn, Wis.

LAVERNE and Robert Buechner, 1012 N. Fernandez, met Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bresious in Chicago Jan. 9 to celebrate the Bresiouses' anniversary. They had dinner at Trader Vic's and attended the movie "Goldfinger."

Sympathy goes to Joan Wojtkiewicz, 920 N. Ridge, upon the recent death of her uncle, Mr. Walter Gastram, a former resident of Arlington Heights.

William and Rita Burns, 721 N. Patton, hosted two birthday parties recently. One was Jan. 1 for 10-year-old Billy and the other was Jan. 11 for Pat. He was 9.

Four-year-old Robert Fisher was in the spotlight the evening of Jan. 17 when 20 relatives came to have cake and wish him a happy birthday. Robert, whose birthday is Jan. 18, is the son of the Charles Fishers, 1010 N. Race.

Jimmy Wojtkiewicz, son of George and Joan Wojtkiewicz, 920 N. Ridge, was guest of honor at his birthday pparty Jan. 1 for 22 relatives. Included was an aunt, Irene Wolf of Whittier, Calif.

HOME FROM a recent vacation are Hazel and Graham Morgan, 1010 N. Harvard. Hazel spent a week in Denver, visiting her daughter and family, Kathy and Carl Gruner and their sons. Graham joined her and they then spent two weeks in the home of the G. Wakefield Morgans in Poway Valley, Calif. Their son, Wakefield, an aeronautical engineer for a West Coast firm, was recently promoted to the rank of major in the U. S. Marine Reserve.

Gloria Ringel celebrated her birthday Jan. 11 with dinner at the Embers with husband, Jim, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Berg of Glenview followed by an evening of bridge at the Ringel home, 722 N. Ridge.

Kitty and Jay Shaffer, 917 N. Harvard, entertained the George Krilcics, George Lurtzes, Nick Ekstrands, the Roy Splitts, Marian Janis and former neighbors, the Gordon Johnsons of Mount Prospect for dinner and an evening of dancing Jan. 16.

FROM SHERWOOD

Rick Palmer, son of Doris and Carl Palmer, 1023 W. Burgoyne, invited four boy friends for a party and the movies to celebrate his sixth birthday Jan. 8. Karen, a student nurse at St. Luke Hospital, was home for a family dinner to celebrate that special 21st birthday Jan. 18.

A promotion to petty officer second class became official Jan. 16 for Donald House, son of Gayla and Donald House, 1120 N. Harvard. An error had been made in this column in a previous announcement. Don is stationed in Bermuda. (A

Dr. Detweiler to Head Hospital Medical Staff

Officers for 1965 were elected by the medical staff of Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, at the annual staff meeting last week.

Heading the list of physicians elected is Dr. John A. Detweiler, Arlington Heights internist. Dr. Detweiler will serve as staff president and chairman of the executive committee.

Named vice president is Dr. E. J. Jacobs (obstetrician-gynecologist) of Arlington Heights and Elk Grove Village. Dr. Keith G. Wurtz (general surgeon) of Arlington Heights is the new secretary. Treasurer for 1965 is Dr. Werner F. Cryns (pediatrician) of Mount Prospect.

THE EXECUTIVE committee, composed of officers and department chairmen, includes Dr. Karl Siedentop, chief of surgery; Dr. Ivan Vazquez, chief of internal medicine; Dr. Pola Piotrowski, chief of pediatrics; Dr. Richard E. Howell, chief of obstetrics-gynecology; and Dr. Ronald Hudec, chief of general practice.

Retiring president Dr. Constantine S. Soter, hospital radiologist, addressed the assembled doctors. He told the staff they could be proud of the hospital accomplishments during the "short span of five years" of hospital operation.

"We enjoy a good reputation as a hospital," he said. "Other physicians who visit Northwest Community Hospital tell us that we have a good name in the medical community."

A STATISTICAL report given by the retiring secretary, Dr. Jacobs, indicated that 1964 ended with an active staff of 98 physicians and six dentists. Of the physicians 38 per cent were members of the college or academy in their particular field of practice. Among the specialists' group, 47 per cent of the physicians are board certified, a national recognition of training and skill.

The new officers of the medical staff will assume their duties following the annual meeting of the hospital's board of trustees on Jan. 25.

57 Students Enroll In Reading Clinic

An initial enrollment of 57 students was announced by the newly-opened Northwest Reading Clinic.

The clinic, a private testing and consulting educational group, is located at St. Theresa School, Palatine.

Many of the first group of students come from Catholic schools in Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect.

Purpose of the clinic, according to Dr. Conrad E. Mazeski, is the diagnosis of reading difficulties, planning of remedial procedures and continuous follow - up through elementary school for the successful bringing of each child to his proper reading level.

The three clinic directors are John Bassler, John P. Mercer and Dr. Mazeski. Bassler is a former clinician at the University of Wisconsin Reading Clinic and former director of Palatine High School reading laboratory. At present he is director of the gifted-child reading program of Elmhurst School District 3. He is a lecturer on reading problems.

Mercer is a reading teacher and principal at Parkside School, Roselle. He has specialized in guidance work and has taught in grades four through college level. He has participated in various reading programs as teacher, tutor and consultant.

Dr. Mazeski is chairman for screening of school children for the Illinois Optometric Association. He is also co-chairman for the developmental vision committee of the association and past president of the Chicago Optometric Society. He has specialized in children's vision and has acted as school consultant for non-achieving children. He currently is a lecturer and consultant on reading difficulties.

The 10 week clinic included in the $60 program fee will provide individual and group testing including intelligence tests, oral and silent reading tests, laterality surveys, visual perception, phonic and other tests.

The testing will take about five weeks of the 10 week clinics.

Written diagnostic reports to schools and parents will be prepared on individual children at the clinic. These reports will recommend outside care for dental or neurological conditions or similar problems, Dr. Mazeski explained.

Children will be placed in small groups of three to five for individualized programs in diagnosing difficulties and beginning remedial instruction according to Dr. Mazeski. Also included in the clinic program are parent conferences according to the announcement of the clinic to Catholic parents.

Dr. Mazeski noted that cost of a reading clinic was too much for any individual school system. Because of this, he indicated, the clinic will be geared to offer consultation with school systems for individual students.

The second clinic session, due to start sometime in April, will be open to all students in the northwest and west suburban areas.

Alan B. Campbell, administrator of Northwest Community Hospital, has been elected chairman of the National Joint Council of the American Hospital Association and American Association of Nurse Anesthetists.

The council serves as an advisory board to both organizations by recommending solutions to problems that may occur in any of the 50 states.

Members of the council include three hospital administrators representing broad areas of the United States and the immediate past president, president and president-elect of the American Association of Nurse Anesthetists.

SERVING IN ex-officio capacities are executive officers of the two organizations and physicians representing the American Society of Anesthesiologists and the American College of Surgeons.

Campbell, appointed to the council in 1963 by Dr. Edwin L. Crosby, executive director of the American Hospital Association, served as vice-chairman in 1964.

Area Girls Seek Junior Miss Title

The finals of the Illinois' Junior Miss contest will be held this weekend in Oak Park.

Among the 31 contestants seeking the winner's crown are Carol Chenoweth, 106 Kenilworth in Prospect Heights, Kathleen Dunn, 34 Woodcrest Ave. in Elk Grove, Lynda Sargol, 1770 Lee Court in Palatine and Nona Sue Thomas of Arlington Heights.

These and the other finalists were determined through community pageants in which the emphasis was placed on scholastic achievement, mental alertness, poise, youth fitness, appearance and creative or performing ability.

To the title winner will go a college scholarship, a wardrobe of sports attire, a movie taking outfit, a beauty kit and a trip to Mobile, Ala., where the Illinois' Junior Miss will compete for additional scholarships and prizes with the girls from 49 other states.

The Oak Park-River Forest Jaycees will host the pageant which embraces rehearsal, choreography and preliminary judging Friday and the contest finals at 8:00 p.m. Saturday in the Oak Park-River Forest High School auditorium.

More than 9,000 girls from 232 high schools participated in the preliminary stages of the competition.

Sanitary District Studies Underground Water Storage

A study of the possibilities of underground storage of water to assist in flood control and the maintenance of water reserves for periods of drought has been undertaken by the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago.

President Frank W. Chesrow of the Sanitary District board, speaking before the Wilmette Rotary Club last week, disclosed that the trustees, Supt. Vinton W. Bacon and engineers of the district had recommended the undertaking of preliminary surveys of the feasibility of locating suitable underground facilities similar to those used for the storage of gas.

"We realize that there are a great many problems involved, but if preliminary investigations indicate the feasibility of establishing such facilities, we shall proceed with a pilot project," President Chesrow said.

"We must first determine the costs that are involved and the value of such facilities if they are practicable from an engineering point of view. Furthermore, we must determine how such reservoirs might fit into our long-range planning for the District."

"IF UNDERGROUND storage is possible, the building of such reservoirs would assist us in the solving of many problems. For one thing, the disposal of surface drainage becomes increasingly difficult every year as additional land, which would normally absorb moisture, is utilized for building sites, roadways, parking lots and the like. This removal of absorbent earth surface results in the overflow presently through the opening of our floodgates.

"But once we allow the water to escape, it is gone forever. When we are faced with days of drought, such water, which might be used to a good advantage, is no longer available.

"If we could find underground caves suitable to our use, water accumulated during periods of heavy precipitation could be pumped to the surface and used to lift the levels of canals for which we are responsible, the flushing of sewers, and it is conceivable that such reserves could play an important role in fire protection, the lifting of rapidly receding water levels in certain areas, and even possible uses for limited irrigation purposes when necessary."

Chesrow, in commenting on the proposed underground storage facilities, noted that the District already is making plans for extensive surface storage reservoirs.

Some of these might take the form of man-made lakes for recreational facilities of such public areas as the forest preserves. Others could be built on land owned by the Sanitary District or even on land owned by municipalities where such facilities could be connected with the Sanitary District system, he pointed out.

THE RE-USE OF water for industrial purposes likewise is being studied by the District for future consideration, he added.

"There are areas throughout the world, including the United States, where treated water is being re-used by people who do not enjoy the tremendous blessing of fresh water which we have at our front door. To these people, the re-use of water is a necessity and means survival. I do not see this practice being adopted in the immediate future, but I feel that we must give serious consideration to it eventually if we continue to deplete our fresh water sources."

He noted that there could be no question about the desirability of using such water for industrial purposes such as air-cooling, reservoirs for the use of fire departments in cases of emergency and the like.

Dr. Detweiler to Head Hospital Medical Staff

Officers for 1965 were elected by the medical staff of Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, at the annual staff meeting last week.

Heading the list of physicians elected is Dr. John A. Detweiler, Arlington Heights internist. Dr. Detweiler will serve as staff president and chairman of the executive committee.

Named vice president is Dr. E. J. Jacobs (obstetrician-gynecologist) of Arlington Heights and Elk Grove Village. Dr. Keith G. Wurtz (general surgeon) of Arlington Heights is the new secretary. Treasurer for 1965 is Dr. Werner F. Cryns (pediatrician) of Mount Prospect.

THE EXECUTIVE committee, composed of officers and department chairmen, includes Dr. Karl Siedentop, chief of surgery; Dr. Ivan Vazquez, chief of internal medicine; Dr. Pola Piotrowski, chief of pediatrics; Dr. Richard E. Howell, chief of obstetrics-gynecology; and Dr. Ronald Hudec, chief of general practice.

Retiring president Dr. Constantine S. Soter, hospital radiologist, addressed the assembled doctors. He told the staff they could be proud of the hospital accomplishments during the "short span of five years" of hospital operation.

"We enjoy a good reputation as a hospital," he said. "Other physicians who visit Northwest Community Hospital tell us that we have a good name in the medical community."

A STATISTICAL report given by the retiring secretary, Dr. Jacobs, indicated that 1964 ended with an active staff of 98 physicians and six dentists. Of the physicians 38 per cent were members of the college or academy in their particular field of practice. Among the specialists' group, 47 per cent of the physicians are board certified, a national recognition of training and skill.

The new officers of the medical staff will assume their duties following the annual meeting of the hospital's board of trustees on Jan. 25.

57 Students Enroll In Reading Clinic

An initial enrollment of 57 students was announced by the newly-opened Northwest Reading Clinic.

The clinic, a private testing and consulting educational group, is located at St. Theresa School, Palatine.

Many of the first group of students come from Catholic schools in Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect.

Purpose of the clinic, according to Dr. Conrad E. Mazeski, is the diagnosis of reading difficulties, planning of remedial procedures and continuous follow - up through elementary school for the successful bringing of each child to his proper reading level.

The three clinic directors are John Bassler, John P. Mercer and Dr. Mazeski. Bassler is a former clinician at the University of Wisconsin Reading Clinic and former director of Palatine High School reading laboratory. At present he is director of the gifted-child reading program of Elmhurst School District 3. He is a lecturer on reading problems.

Mercer is a reading teacher and principal at Parkside School, Roselle. He has specialized in guidance work and has taught in grades four through college level. He has participated in various reading programs as teacher, tutor and consultant.

Dr. Mazeski is chairman for screening of school children for the Illinois Optometric Association. He is also co-chairman for the developmental vision committee of the association and past president of the Chicago Optometric Society. He has specialized in children's vision and has acted as school consultant for non-achieving children. He currently is a lecturer and consultant on reading difficulties.

The 10 week clinic included in the $60 program fee will provide individual and group testing including intelligence tests, oral and silent reading tests, laterality surveys, visual perception, phonic and other tests.

The testing will take about five weeks of the 10 week clinics.

Written diagnostic reports to schools and parents will be prepared on individual children at the clinic. These reports will recommend outside care for dental or neurological conditions or similar problems, Dr. Mazeski explained.

Children will be placed in small groups of three to five for individualized programs in diagnosing difficulties and beginning remedial instruction according to Dr. Mazeski. Also included in the clinic program are parent conferences according to the announcement of the clinic to Catholic parents.

Dr. Mazeski noted that cost of a reading clinic was too much for any individual school system. Because of this, he indicated, the clinic will be geared to offer consultation with school systems for individual students.

The second clinic session, due to start sometime in April, will be open to all students in the northwest and west suburban areas.

THOMAS JUNIOR HIGH

Dr. Richard J. Mueller, Northern Illinois University School of Education, will be the guest speaker at the 8:15 p.m. Thomas Junior High School PTA meeting Tuesday, Jan. 26. The topic will be "School Dropouts." Dr. Mueller will give a film presentation to help parents recognize potential "dropouts" and often prevent their occurrence. "Dropouts" is a comparatively new national problem; however it does occur here in our own community. School District 214 reported 143 "dropouts" in the school year 1963-64—12 were in the above average group, 62 were average students, 52 were in the "slow" group, and 17 were remedial students—thus constituting 1.9 per cent of the student body. Dr. Mueller has recently completed a study of "dropouts" and seeks to help parents of Junior High School age children become aware of this potential problem.

Immediately following the guest speaker, Robert Campbell, Assistant Superintendent of School District 25, will give a slide presentation of the Feb. 20, 1965 school bond referendum.

All PTA members and interested persons are invited to the 8:15 p.m. meeting, which will be held in the school cafeteria.

SOUTH JUNIOR HIGH

The first PTA meeting of the New Year will be held Tuesday, Jan. 26. Teachers and students will demonstrate activities such as boy's cooking and dramatics. Parents are urged to attend this meeting to see their youngsters working with their teachers.

The movie, "The Buccaneer," an American historical film, will be shown Thursday, Feb. 11, at 3:30 and 7:30 p.m. This is the second ways and means project movie of the school year. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

KENSINGTON

"Dumbo," the Walt Disney cartoon-movie about the circus elephant with the over-sized ears, will be shown at Kensington School Monday, Jan. 25. As there is no school on that day, children are invited to attend the movie which will be shown at 10 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. in the Kensington Multi-Purpose Room.

The first floor corridor and the Kensington Multi-Purpose Room are alive with color and design as the artistic efforts of the Kensington children are on display. Parents are invited to come and browse through the "art gallery" and enjoy the work of the young "Renoirs," "Matisses" and "Picassos." The Art Fair will continue through Jan. 29.

WILSON-PATTON

The January meeting of the Wilson Patton PTA was held January 19, at 8 p.m., and was the first PTA meeting of this school year to be held in the Patton School Multi-purpose Room. Two presentations were made during the evening. Sgt. Maurice English of the Arlington Heights Police Department spoke on "Current Problems in Juvenile Delinquency" and suggested some effective ways to help stem the current growth pattern in offenses involving juveniles. Sgt. English, a veteran of 7½ years on the local force, is in the plain clothes division and is concerned primarily with local juvenile problems.

SGT. ENGLISH

In addition there was a brief slide presentation about the forthcoming school referendum. The proposals to build new schools, to enlarge certain of the present schools, and to realign current school boundaries will affect the majority of students in both Wilson and Patton schools.

This month's meeting of Wilson-Patton PTA was well attended and afforded members and interested guests the opportunity to become better informed on the forthcoming school bond issue.

Saturday, Jan. 23, has been selected for the Wilson-Patton PTA Fun Fair to be held in the Wilson Multi-Purpose Room from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Plans include something for everyone in the family. There will be fairy tale color cartoons for the younger set, baked goods for the older set, and for the young at heart of all ages, games and unique treats along the indoor Midway. Prizes may include goldfish complete with bowls. Popcorn, soft drinks, and hot dogs sold along the Midway will add to the carnival atmosphere.

The Fun Fair is the major revenue producing activity of this PTA and with the forthcoming book sale for summer reading fun will provide the funds by which so many of the activities of this organization can be realized. (A

Arlington Greens

A board meeting of the Arlington Greens Community Association will be held in the A. J. Tomaso home, 635 E. Clarendon Ave. Thursday, Jan. 28, beginning at 8 p.m.

Selection of a nominating committee will be one of the items on the agenda. All residents are invited to participate.

Women's bridge members gathered in the Tomaso home on East Clarendon Avenue last Thursday evening for their January meeting. High scorers for the month were Ann McLean, 5,190; Joy Hauskey, 4,290 and Lynne Lundell, 3,780. At the half-way mark in their season, Joy Hauskey's score of 14,060 leads, followed by Ann McLean at 12,050 and Jean Waffle in third with 11,390.

LAST WEEKEND terminated a more than 12-year residence in the Greens for the Harry Gerrards of 1165 N. Hickory Ave. The family's new home is in Palatine.

A dinner party Sunday observed the 40th wedding anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gentile of South Patton Street. Hosting the affair were the George Kellers of North Douglas Avenue, the couple's daughter and family.

The James Bakers of North Belmont Avenue hosted a get-acquainted party for the Dennis Berggrens last Saturday evening. On hand to meet the newcomers were the Fred Damianos of North Pine Court and the Lawrence Doughertys of Westgate, former Belmont Avenue neighbors.

THE PINE Court Canasta Club's January meeting was hosted by Mrs. Lorna Orcutt Friday, Jan. 8. High scorers for the evening were Bev Weidinger and Dorothy Swoboda.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Phillip of East Clarendon Avenue hosted a supper party Sunday, observing the birthday of her father, N. J. Feller of Chicago. Among the 25 guests were the Les Burton family of Norridge, the Joseph Elbow family of Evanston, the Nick Feller family and the Rev. Richard Feller of Chicago, sons and daughters of the senior Mr. Feller.

Mrs. George Roby of North Beverly Lane hosted members of her dessert-bridge group last Wednesday evening. Guest player Mrs. Marie George joined regulars Peg Schreiner, Martha Mundell, Doris Jennings, Jean Waffle, Emily Coward and Rosemary Baer.

Guests in the Ernest Heeb home on North Hickory Avenue since Jan. 7 are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Garst of Marks, Miss. With some sightseeing in the area for diversion, the couple's main reason for the post-holiday visit is getting acquainted with granddaughter, Katherine Frances. A plane trip back south Thursday will end their two-week stay.

Barbara and George Kempsell spent New Year's Eve in Dallas visiting George's parents. They returned Jan. 6. They reported it seemed strange to see people having cook outs on New Year's and that it was good to be back, especially in time to celebrate Barbara's birthday with their friends. On Jan. 15 they invited the Ken Wendts, Bert Elands, Dennis Albers, Gene Potas, Lou Leonarduzzis, and the Richard Boldts to their home at 414 W. Cypress for birthday cake and coffee. On Jan. 16, they went to the Rustic Manor in Gurnee with the Ken Wendts and the Bert Elands, also in celebration of Barbara's birthday.

Another birthday party in the area was that of Daryl Craynon, son of Elaine and John Craynon of 1264 S. Walnut, who was 6 Jan. 5, and had a birthday party for Kirk and Perry Birkenheier, Lyle Graf, Nancy Jacobs, Linda Garrity, Mike Cusack and Brian Wienecke.

The New Year was welcomed at Pat and John Garrity's house, 1116 S. Walnut, with a party for Jerry and Joanne McGill, Kathy and John Pawulan, and Pat and Jerry Kirk, of Des Plaines. Presently Pat and John are enjoying having Mrs. George Stackhouse, Pat's mother from New Albany, Ind., visiting them.

KAY AND JOHN Borucki, 406 W. Cypress, were the guests of John's parents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Borucki of Evanston, on Jan. 16 at the Knights of Columbus dinner dance held at the Orrington Hotel in Evanston.

Elli Langhammer, 1189 S. Chestnut, and Carol Cusack, 1219 S. Mitchell, met with her bridge club members on Jan. 8 at the home of Jewel Brand in Rogers Park.

Elaine and John Craynon played in the Scotch Doubles bowling sponsored by Bruning at Striking Lanes on Jan. 16.

A baby shower for Jean Birkenheier was given by Terry Seaborg, 1280 S. Walnut, on Jan. 17.

Another shower in the neighborhood was given by Elaine Rudnicki and Mary Ann Ambrose at Elaine's home, 1119 S. Mitchell, on Jan. 13 for Carol Leonard. The guests included Ruth Bjerkness, Pat Birkenheier, Diane McMahon, Carol Cusack, Dottie Bauer and Carol Poole, all of the Gardens.

Get well wishes are extended to Carl Bjerkness, 1114 S. Mitchell, who is home recovering from surgery in St. Anne Hospital. Also to Dick Engmann, 1145 S. Walnut, who was seriously ill in Northwest Hospital last week. He is reported to be doing well now.

Mary Ann Ambrose hosted a coffee last week for Boots Potas, Peggy Leonarduzzi, Kay Borucki, Charlene Eland, Joan Albers and Nan Wendt of the Gardens. (A

Friends and neighbors of the Al Zmrzlys, 521 S. Forrest, have been greatly concerned for their son, Rob, who has been in Holy Family Hospital for many weeks. Rob has been off the critical list since the early part of last week, but his parents report that he is still seriously ill and showing no improvement.

Blood donations are needed to replace transfusions which Rob received, and anyone wishing to give blood for Rob's account may do so at any accredited hospital.

Best wishes of the area residents are with Alex Borland, formerly of 2023 E. Grove. He is now making his home with his daughter and her family in Barrington.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Novy, 408 S. Phelps, shared their Jan. 15 wedding anniversary celebration with their children, Robert and Roberta. Friday evening the family enjoyed dinner at Old Orchard Country Club. As an added feature of the celebration, they attended a polo game Saturday evening at the Armory in Chicago. The Novys were married 16 years.

NANCY BUTKUS' party for her first birthday Saturday, complete with cake and ice cream, was enjoyed by her brothers and sister, Steven, Scott and Susan, as well as her cousins, Jay and Leslie Pinney of Arlington Heights. Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Butkus, 429 S. Phelps.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Rip Van Sky, 1915 E. Grove, who celebrated their 19th wedding anniversary Jan. 15.

Another area couple to be congratulated are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schmidt, who were married 13 years Jan. 13. They plan a belated celebration.

Michael McNulty was the center of attention at a gay luncheon last Tuesday in honor of his fourth birthday. Joining him were his parents, Pat and Tom, and brothers Tommy and Danny. The McNultys live at 412 S. Prindle.

Frankie Beem, 7 Jan. 12, was congratulated at a family party that evening at his home, 412 S. Waterman, by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Beem, sister and brother, Maureen and Pat, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rue, and cousins, Elise, Julie and Mario Melchiore of Mount Prospect.

By way of further celebration, the Beem family enjoyed Sunday dinner at Spero's Supper Club.

BOB POST, son of the Robert Posts, 2105 E. Park, chose to mark his 14th birthday Jan. 12 at home. His brothers and sisters, Steve, Jimmy, Laura, Karen and Nancy sang their best wishes to him at dinner.

A belated birthday treat for Ricky Streng, 524 S. Waterman, who was 9 Jan. 14, was a trip to the movies in Chicago on Sunday afternoon with his parents, Frank and Nora, brother, Tom, and sister, Carol. After the show, they enjoyed dinner out.

Sharon Conway and her mother co-hostessed a party Saturday afternoon in honor of Sharon's ninth birthday at the Conway home, 513 S. Prindle. Guests were neighborhood and school friends, Sandy Burke, Cathy Oravetz, Kris and Karen Soukup, Bonnie May, Kim Slusser, Maureen Shawhan, Gail Banks, Lynne Detwiler and Sharon Welton.

SINCE Sunday was Sharon's actual birthday, dinner was in honor of that event. Her parents and brother, Jimmy, were joined by an aunt and cousins, Mrs. Ann Ward and Kathy and Bob of Arlington Heights.

Best wishes for happiness in their new home and success in their new venture go with the Robert Bingel family of 533 S. Phelps, who left Monday for Memphis, where Bob is starting his own distributorship. Joyce reports great regret at leaving Arlington Acres, where they had lived for six years in their first home and enjoyed the friendship of many of their neighbors. (A

Head of Seminary Is Guest Preacher

DR. McKAY

Dr. Arthur R. McKay, president of McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago, will preach Sunday at First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights.

Dr. McKay will give the sermon at all three worship serv-Kay's recent book, "Servants and Stewards."

DR. McKAY has held pastorates at Community Presbyterian Church, Merrick, Long Isices, 8, 9:30 and 11 a.m.

The seminary president also was professor and chairman of the department of philosophy and religion at Russell Sage College, Troy, N. Y., from 1947 to 1952 when he went to Binghamton. For a time in 1950 he served as assistant pastor of St. Cuthbert's Parish Church, Edinburgh, Scotland.

Dr. McKay became president of McCormick Seminary in 1957.

HE IS A FELLOW of the Society for Religion in Higher Education and a member of the American Philosophical Association. He has served on a number of bodies in his own denomination, including chairman of the Council on Theological Education.

He is author of another book, "God's People in God's World." (A

Women Will Dance For Trim Figures

The Arlington Heights Park District will offer a third session of dance classes for women from Feb. 1 to March 22.

The class will incorporate fun and rhythmical routines from modern jazz, soft shoe, and ballet as it helps tone and trim the figure.

Delores Eiler, Arlington Heights dance teacher, will teach the course. She maintains women can dance their way to health, happiness, and a trim figure, all in an atmosphere of fun.

Individual figure problems will be discussed, and exercise suggested. Health habits and diet without strain will play a part in the course.

THE CLASS WILL meet Mondays from 1:30-2:30 p.m. at Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez, and free babysitting service will be furnished. Fee for seven weeks is $7.

For further information or registration, call CL 3-0620, the park district office at Pioneer Park.

THOMAS JUNIOR HIGH

Dr. Richard J. Mueller, Northern Illinois University School of Education, will be the guest speaker at the 8:15 p.m. Thomas Junior High School PTA meeting Tuesday, Jan. 26. The topic will be "School Dropouts." Dr. Mueller will give a film presentation to help parents recognize potential "dropouts" and often prevent their occurrence. "Dropouts" is a comparatively new national problem; however it does occur here in our own community. School District 214 reported 143 "dropouts" in the school year 1963-64—12 were in the above average group, 62 were average students, 52 were in the "slow" group, and 17 were remedial students—thus constituting 1.9 per cent of the student body. Dr. Mueller has recently completed a study of "dropouts" and seeks to help parents of Junior High School age children become aware of this potential problem.

Immediately following the guest speaker, Robert Campbell, Assistant Superintendent of School District 25, will give a slide presentation of the Feb. 20, 1965 school bond referendum.

All PTA members and interested persons are invited to the 8:15 p.m. meeting, which will be held in the school cafeteria.

SOUTH JUNIOR HIGH

The first PTA meeting of the New Year will be held Tuesday, Jan. 26. Teachers and students will demonstrate activities such as boy's cooking and dramatics. Parents are urged to attend this meeting to see their youngsters working with their teachers.

The movie, "The Buccaneer," an American historical film, will be shown Thursday, Feb. 11, at 3:30 and 7:30 p.m. This is the second ways and means project movie of the school year. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

KENSINGTON

"Dumbo," the Walt Disney cartoon-movie about the circus elephant with the over-sized ears, will be shown at Kensington School Monday, Jan. 25. As there is no school on that day, children are invited to attend the movie which will be shown at 10 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. in the Kensington Multi-Purpose Room.

The first floor corridor and the Kensington Multi-Purpose Room are alive with color and design as the artistic efforts of the Kensington children are on display. Parents are invited to come and browse through the "art gallery" and enjoy the work of the young "Renoirs," "Matisses" and "Picassos." The Art Fair will continue through Jan. 29.

WILSON-PATTON

The January meeting of the Wilson Patton PTA was held January 19, at 8 p.m., and was the first PTA meeting of this school year to be held in the Patton School Multi-purpose Room. Two presentations were made during the evening. Sgt. Maurice English of the Arlington Heights Police Department spoke on "Current Problems in Juvenile Delinquency" and suggested some effective ways to help stem the current growth pattern in offenses involving juveniles. Sgt. English, a veteran of 7½ years on the local force, is in the plain clothes division and is concerned primarily with local juvenile problems.

SGT. ENGLISH

In addition there was a brief slide presentation about the forthcoming school referendum. The proposals to build new schools, to enlarge certain of the present schools, and to realign current school boundaries will affect the majority of students in both Wilson and Patton schools.

This month's meeting of Wilson-Patton PTA was well attended and afforded members and interested guests the opportunity to become better informed on the forthcoming school bond issue.

Saturday, Jan. 23, has been selected for the Wilson-Patton PTA Fun Fair to be held in the Wilson Multi-Purpose Room from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Plans include something for everyone in the family. There will be fairy tale color cartoons for the younger set, baked goods for the older set, and for the young at heart of all ages, games and unique treats along the indoor Midway. Prizes may include goldfish complete with bowls. Popcorn, soft drinks, and hot dogs sold along the Midway will add to the carnival atmosphere.

The Fun Fair is the major revenue producing activity of this PTA and with the forthcoming book sale for summer reading fun will provide the funds by which so many of the activities of this organization can be realized. (A

Arlington Greens

A board meeting of the Arlington Greens Community Association will be held in the A. J. Tomaso home, 635 E. Clarendon Ave. Thursday, Jan. 28, beginning at 8 p.m.

Selection of a nominating committee will be one of the items on the agenda. All residents are invited to participate.

Women's bridge members gathered in the Tomaso home on East Clarendon Avenue last Thursday evening for their January meeting. High scorers for the month were Ann McLean, 5,190; Joy Hauskey, 4,290 and Lynne Lundell, 3,780. At the half-way mark in their season, Joy Hauskey's score of 14,060 leads, followed by Ann McLean at 12,050 and Jean Waffle in third with 11,390.

LAST WEEKEND terminated a more than 12-year residence in the Greens for the Harry Gerrards of 1165 N. Hickory Ave. The family's new home is in Palatine.

A dinner party Sunday observed the 40th wedding anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gentile of South Patton Street. Hosting the affair were the George Kellers of North Douglas Avenue, the couple's daughter and family.

The James Bakers of North Belmont Avenue hosted a get-acquainted party for the Dennis Berggrens last Saturday evening. On hand to meet the newcomers were the Fred Damianos of North Pine Court and the Lawrence Doughertys of Westgate, former Belmont Avenue neighbors.

THE PINE Court Canasta Club's January meeting was hosted by Mrs. Lorna Orcutt Friday, Jan. 8. High scorers for the evening were Bev Weidinger and Dorothy Swoboda.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Phillip of East Clarendon Avenue hosted a supper party Sunday, observing the birthday of her father, N. J. Feller of Chicago. Among the 25 guests were the Les Burton family of Norridge, the Joseph Elbow family of Evanston, the Nick Feller family and the Rev. Richard Feller of Chicago, sons and daughters of the senior Mr. Feller.

Mrs. George Roby of North Beverly Lane hosted members of her dessert-bridge group last Wednesday evening. Guest player Mrs. Marie George joined regulars Peg Schreiner, Martha Mundell, Doris Jennings, Jean Waffle, Emily Coward and Rosemary Baer.

Guests in the Ernest Heeb home on North Hickory Avenue since Jan. 7 are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Garst of Marks, Miss. With some sightseeing in the area for diversion, the couple's main reason for the post-holiday visit is getting acquainted with granddaughter, Katherine Frances. A plane trip back south Thursday will end their two-week stay.

Palatine's Health Board Sets a Brisk Pace

Thrives on Work As Others Falter

by TOM EDWARDS
Staff Writer

(First of two articles)

The health board is apt to be a vestigial apendage of the organism of village government.

In fact, a majority of northwest suburbs don't have one, if they ever did. If they do, frequently the village officers aren't even aware of its existence, so inactive have most health boards become.

Many still have health officers, or inspectors, but in most cases the position amounts to a title rather than an activity.

Reason usually given for this situation is that there is nothing for a health board or a health officer to do that is not already being done by the county, state or schools.

But it would be next to impossible to convince the Palatine village government that there is little if any reason for the existence of a health board. Palatine has a flourishing and respected one, and it finds plenty to do, including both continuing projects and new areas of investigation.

"I go all over the state and there is just nothing like it anywhere," Mrs. Majorie Boswell, Palatine's public health director, says of the five-member health board.

OTHER communities which do delve in health problems do so on a limited basis, generally confining their activities to inspecting food handling facilities and supplementing the public school immunization programs against contagious disease.

But there is no pigeon-holing of health in Palatine. Its program covers the gamut of "environmental health," which is defined by its health director as "everything concerned with the world about you."

Where the health department doesn't have specific jurisdiction, there is nothing to prevent it from making recommendations, for speech is still free. And Palatine's has shown a willingness to study anything "even remotely connected with health."

That is not to say that the Palatine Health Board goes about its work belligerently. Rather, the key to Palatine's program for improvement and maintenance of environmental health has been inter-department cooperation. They gang up on health problems. Police officers learn nearly as much about violations of health regulations as they do about crime.

THE HEALTH board doesn't have the responsibility of refuse collection in the village, but it has a responsibility to see that the collection and disposal procedures "are in accord with basic principles of sanitation," Mrs. Boswell gives as an example.

All of the village department heads meet weekly with the village manager following the village board meetings. It is during these meetings that much of the cooperative efforts on health problems as well as others are planned. Besides being efficient, it is a very democratic process, according to Mrs. Boswell.

In order to keep all village officials abreast of its activities, minutes of the health boards meetings, which are held at least every other month, are generally distributed. The health board's meetings are usually attended by several other village officials, including about three members of the village board, from which the health board get its authority and which must give final approval to the health board's recommendations.

ALTHOUGH THERE may be some overlapping of jurisdictions between county, state and local health agencies, Palatine evidently feels that action on a higher level is no excuse for inaction at a lower level.

The Palatine health department supplements and complements the work of other general and specialized health agencies. When it runs into a problem which might better be handled by these agencies, or with their cooperation, it simply notifies the appropriate agency.

But perhaps a more distant agency, or one less aware of the broader ramifications of public health, might not have found or recognized the particular health problem referred to it by the village itself — or perhaps might have discovered it only after it had become headline material.

Whether the vigor and comprehensiveness of the Palatine health program is mainly due to its health board or its hard working health director and inspector, Mrs. Boswell, is like debating the chicken-egg question.

Mrs. Boswell was hired at about the same time the health board was formed seven years ago, and has been working overtime on her part-time paying job ever since.

SHE DIGS INTO anything, and even got the Palatine policemen so self-conscious about their expanding belt lines that the department started an in-service physical fitness program.

Mrs. Boswell inspects restaurants and food stores, like other area health inspectors, but uses the demerit system of checking the village has adopted. (Too many demerits, and a businessman may receive some unwelcome village attention.)

But Mrs. Boswell also makes recommendations like asking the Boy Scouts to start a campaign to erect martin houses in the village to help control mosquitoes via a natural means. (Martins, one of the Swallow family, eat mosquitoes.)

One of the "rescue" programs of the Palatine Health Board was the inoculation of 495 persons who had attended the annual picnic of one of the village's homeowners associations. One of the food handlers had come down with infectious hepatitis.

Nothing is too small or too large for Mrs. Boswell's attention, she feels. "I feel that in this work I can pin down almost anything if I spend the time and energy," she said.

SHE IS PRESENTLY calling the attention of the village to air pollution needs — including hazards from radioactive wastes, which she warns is going to be a future problem.

An air pollution code has been listed by the health director as one of the village's four "immediate needs." She would like to see all open burning, including leaf burning, banned. She recommends mulching as a constructive way of disposing of leaves.

After the U.S. Surgeon General's warnings on smoking last year, she stuck a "health hazard" sign on the cigarette vending machine in the village hall, and it is still there. She wishes that all such machines in the village could be branded the same way.

Recognizing that there are still doubts about the safety of X-rays now in such common use, and that some people are concerned, she said she will soon revise the village's instructions on getting chest X-rays for tuberculosis checkups. People will be informed that skin tests are acceptable substitutes.

PRACTICING WHAT she preaches, Mrs. Boswell has stopped smoking. She plays volleyball and swims, and has her family doing the same. Her husband and three children often go swimming together.

"Mental health and physical well being are based on a balanced diet of work, play and exercise," she said. And when you are healthy, work often becomes play, she added.

"People should learn to take care of themselves," Mrs. Boswell believes. But, "They don't feel that they know how or can learn how," and it is often "ignorance" that keeps people from acting for themselves.

Soon to move from Palatine, she hopes the village board will hire a full-time sanitarian to replace her. She is a registered sanitarian as well as a registered nurse.

Currently president of the Illinois Association of Sanitarians, a group in which women are a small minority, Mrs. Boswell explains that a sanitarian is a new creature, a generalist in the field of environmental health.

A SANITARIAN "fits into all these disciplines," such as knowing air and water pollution, pesticide dangers, food handling, control of disease vectors, etc.

"There should be a close correlation between the concept of city planning, with all of its ramifications, and the field of sanitation," Mrs. Boswell recently wrote in a summary report to her village board on environmental health.

"The field of environmental health is far from static. The rapidly changing environment requires a flexible program...

"As our village and industry grow .... newer environmental hazards appear, including mass pollution of rivers, lakes and streams; detergents in drinking water; the problem of disposing of radioactive wastes; the danger of accidents involving nuclear reactors; millions of automobiles and trucks on the highways, contributing to the pollution of air ... accident rates; new noise hazards ... toxic chemicals being used in industry, including the food industries; and the growth of potential slums."

MAKING A HEALTH inspection is Mrs. Marjorie Boswell, Palatine health director. Sanitation in public facilities and proper trash disposal are two of the better known responsibilities of health departments, but Palatine has considerably broadened its definition and responsibility for "environmental health," although health boards have become practically defunct in many other villages. (A15

Here's Rundown on Area Health Boards

A check of area villages showed that Palatine evidently has the most active health board of any area community, and has also taken the broadest look at the action on "environmental health."

Palatine also has a part-time health inspector, who attempts to make maximum use of health aids available to the village from other governmental sources.

Arlington Heights, although it doesn't have an active health board, has a full-time public health nurse who works mainly in homes and parochial schools, and a part-time health inspector who checks food handlers and barber and beauty shops.

Recently Elk Grove's health board has become more active, with one of its members checking food businesses.

MOUNT PROSPECT, after its original health board became defunct, appointed a new one about 1½ years ago. Preparation of a health ordinance was to have been its first task. Mount Prospect also has a part-time inspector who checks food handlers.

Wheeling has a health board and health officer, but both are largely inactive.

Hoffman Estates has a health inspector, and Rolling Meadows last summer appointed a health board and hired a part-time health inspector. Rolling Meadows is also in the process of preparing a food sanitation ordinance from one proposed by the U.S. Public Health Department.

In DuPage County, health services are centralized in the county health department. Copies of reports of inspections carried out by the county in DuPage's villages are sent to the respective villages.

Annual Hospital Meeting Monday

The annual meeting of the Corporation of Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, will be held Monday, Jan. 25, at 8 p.m. in the hospital cafeteria.

Highlights of the annual meeting will be the election of several trustees.

A. C. BUEHLER, chairman of the hospital board, will give the annual report of hospital operation, financial conditions and improvements. This year special emphasis will be given to the expansion program with construction of areas to double the hospital capacity now underway.

Dr. Constantine Soter, hospital radiologist, will discuss the medical record and achievements of the hospital during the past year. Dr. Soter is the retiring chief of staff. (B10

Fossils Talk

The Des Plaines Valley Geological Society will meet today in the West Park fieldhouse, 651 Wolf Rd., Des Plaines. Guest speaker at the meeting, which begins at 8 p.m., will be Jay Wollin, the Paleontology Chairman of the Midwest Federation, who will speak on the Braidwood fossils and coal balls of Southern Illinois. (B10

NIU Teaching Course Listed

A course for supervisors of student teachers will be offered at Forest View High School, Arlington Heights, next semester by Northern Illinois University extension division.

Prospective NIU extension students should address application inquiries to Director of Extension, NIU, DeKalb. Supervision of Student Teachers (Ed. 593), which offers three semester hours of graduate credit, will begin Tuesday, Feb. 2. (A-15

2 Authors Will Autograph Books

An autographing party for Alice Cromie, author of "A Tour Guide to the Civil War," just published, will be held at the Heritage Book Shop in Long Grove Saturday at 5 p.m.

Robert Cromie, editor of the recently published "Par for the Course," a golfer's anthology, also will be present to sign copies of his book. (B10

Meeting Today Of Engineers

The northwest suburban chapter of the Illinois Society of Professional Engineers will hear Dean Banks of the University of Illinois at its regular meeting today (Thursday) at Old Orchard Country Club, Prospect Heights.

Banks will talk on "Education and the Engineer."

Dinner will be served at 7 p.m. following a 6:30 p.m. fellowship hour. (B10

Organist to Play Concert

Lyon-Healy's "Teacher Showcase" will feature Albert C. Zemke in a free organ concert at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Randhurst's Town Hall, Mount Prospect.

Zemke, currently director of music at Ebenezer Lutheran Church, Chicago, and a teacher at Lyon-Healy in Randhurst, studied at the Westminster School at Princeton, Union Theological Seminary in New York and did graduate work at Julliard School of Music and the University of Indiana.

He also has had private instruction under Dimitri Mitropoulos and has coached voice for Lyric Opera stars. (B10

5 Area YMCA's Slate New Fine Arts School

DR. B. G. GROSS

Northwest School of Fine Arts is a new venture for five area YMCA's who have cooperated in beginning a cultural program in art, ballet, drama, literature and music. Dr. B. G. Gross is director.

Thirty-two academically trained teachers have been engaged to conduct classes, workshops, seminars and private lessons for children, teen-agers and adults, regardless of previous training or experience.

Classes at the five area YMCA's, including Northwest Suburban, Elmhurst, High Ridge, Leaning Tower and Park Ridge, begin the week of Feb. 1. Registration is open now.

"WE HAVE become a nation of viewers and listeners rather than active participants in the arts," says Dr. Gross. "With the increasing number of leisure hours our society affords, creative self-expression is the most compelling need, and we feel that our fine arts program serves this need."

The art department includes a course in fundamentals for children, and a drawing and painting workshop for adults.

Classes in ballet will assist children and adults to develop physical coordination and rhythm.

The drama department will offer a play production course for children and a Little Theater group for adults.

COURSES IN creative writing and two seminars in great books and human relations constitute the literature department. The creative course will assist adults to prepare manuscripts of short stories, playwriting, essays and poems for publication.

The human relations seminar is designed for women who will review current books on the problems related to mother-child and husband-wife relationships.

Seven courses in music will cover the vocal, choral and instrumental aspects of music for all ages, regardless of previous training.

Special Sunday, Week to Honor 'Y'

A pause to honor the YMCA influence on the "spiritual development of our youth" will be made by Chicago and suburban churchgoers on YMCA Sunday, Jan. 24, heralding the start of 'Y' week.

John O. Root, general secretary of the YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago, said nearly 300 churches will honor the YMCA as an important spiritual force. He added that the purpose of YMCA Sunday is to recognize the importance the YMCA places on the spiritual development of American youth.

OVER 55,000 special YMCA Sunday church bulletin covers and inserts will be distributed during services throughout the Chicago area. Staff and lay leaders will be speaking to parishioners on phases of YMCA work with youth.

Among the special events at Northwest Suburban YMCA will be an open-door policy for all to visit and a registration for inaugural of a new fine arts program for those interested.

CHARLES McClellan, executive secretary of Northwest Suburban YMCA, has extended an invitation to area residents to visit the 'Y' and tour the building, on Northwest Highway just east of Mount Prospect Raod.

The YMCA of Metropolitan Chicago is the world's largest association and the largest youth-serving organization in the Chicago area. Northwest Suburban branch has the largest program membership in the nation.

Robert A. Miller Is Top Illinois Scholar

ROBERT A. MILLER

Robert A. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. George U. Miller of 213 S. Windsor Drive, Arlington Heights, is valedictorian of the midyear graduating class at the University of Illinois.

A graduate of Prospect High School where he finished seventh in a class of 200, Miller has a scholastic average at Illinois of 4.918 on the basis of 5 for "A." He is a James Scholar in the university.

Miller is attending the University of Illinois with County and Illinois State Scholarships, both received through competitive examinations. Interested in science since grade school, he is majoring in engineering physics.

HIS PROJECT on high speed electronic flash won its way to the state exhibition of the Illinois State Junior Academy of Science at the university in 1960.

Miller is a radio amateur, station K9KMA; was a member of Radio and Mathematics Clubs at Prospect High and has worked with WPGU, student radio at Illinois, and the annual engineering open house. He is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Tau Beta Pi, Sigma Tau and Phi Eta Sigma, scholarship honor societies.

Miller and the co-salutatorians of the midyear class, Larry M. Peterson of Minooka and Mrs. Judith F. Greenwell of Urbana, will be introduced Sunday at the university's convocation for midyear graduates. He plans to remain in the university for graduate study.

ROLLING MEADOWS

A busy holiday season was enjoyed by Cadette Troop 812, which started as troop members earned $70 from their Christmas cookie sale for their forthcoming trip to Washington, D.C. Dec. 19 the eight girls in the Social Dependability group hosted a Christmas party for Brownie Troop 967 furnishing decorations, refreshments and planning games.

The 12 scouts working on the Active Citizen's challenge went to the new County Building in the Loop where they witnessed the swearing-in ceremonies of 196 new citizens; they then toured City Hall where they observed a counterfeit trial in session. Also enjoying these activities were their leaders Mrs. Leo Larson and Mrs. Victor Schrock.

A grab-bag, refreshments, games and a song fest were staged by the Brownies of Troop 371 at the Christmas party Dec. 17 given by their leaders Mrs. William Bull and Mrs. Robert Reel.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS

Brownie troops are making plans for the following months after having their investitures during the holidays.

Troop 455, which meets at the Prospect Heights Community Church, is planning a tour through the Salerno cookie plant.

Troop 540 is studying ways to be helpful and will be putting to use what they learn on service projects in the near future.

Troop 562 had an investiture of 20 girls Jan. 7 at the Indian Grove School and members are planning to take a tour through Haeger Pottery in Dundee, Jan. 25.

Troop 931, whose meeting place is Euclid School, went to see the play, "Cinderella" at St. Viators High School Jan. 16. During the holidays this troop made Christmas tray favors for the Lutheran Home for the Aged in Arlington Heights. They are planning to make their sit upons at the next meeting so they will have them ready for future use.

Troop 138 has been working on an unusual project. They have made a troop table cloth to be used for troop functions. Made out of white Indian Head material, the scouts put the trefoil and troop number in the center and each member has printed her name on the cloth.

NORTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Service projects are a significant part of good scouting and Christmas would not be complete without special service to others. This year several neighborhood troops combined their efforts. Co-operating with Cadette Troop 59, who started the project, Cadette Troop 453, Junior Troop 293 and Junior Troop 370 made ditty bags from scrap fabrics for Cook County Hospital. Sample toiletries were purchased from the Fuller Brush Co. and donated to the hospital for distribution to needy patients.

Brownies collected yarn which was rolled into balls and used to decorate a Christmas tree at the Mount Prospect Library. The yarn will be shipped to Algeria where it is distributed to children who like to knit.

Three troops representing this community carolled for an hour at the Mount Prospect State Bank Dec. 18. Members of Junior Troop 370, Junior Troop 876 and Cadette Troop 299, and their respective leaders, were directed by Ted Jahnke.

Christmas activities were rounded up for Junior Troop 370 when they met at their leader's home after caroling, Dec. 21 in the neighborhood of their homes. Hot chocolate and donuts were served at the Gafford residence and the girls were each given a small gift by Mrs. J. J. Gafford and Mrs. T. Jahnke. Toys were collected by the girls and wrapped as gifts for the Dixon Children's Home.

SOUTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Fourth and fifth grade girls of Troop 219, under Mrs. R. Locke and Mrs. Roland Miller, are working on their skating badge. They are planning a skating party for their next meeting with marshmallow roasting and hot chocolate.

Three new girls were invested at the last meeting of Troop 629.

Troop 56 made a tour through Maryville last month. They also had a fun-filled day at the Field Museum in Chicago. The troop plans to attend a play later this month.

Troop 534 all went home with guppies as souvenirs of their trip to the Bamboo Aquarium. Arrangements are being made for the girls to visit the Goodman Theatre.

Thirteen girls from Cadette Troop 212 completed their Emergency Preparedness Challenge during the holidays. The girls took complete charge of six pre-schoolers during a simulated emergency. Twelve girls from the same troop completed their Social Dependability Challenge. They completely prepared and served an afternoon buffet with their leaders as guests.

Red Cross Slates First Aid Training

The Red Cross is offering a free training course for first aid instructors to be held at the Mount Prospect Fire Station, 112 E. Northwest Hwy., Mount Prospect. The class will begin Tuesday, Jan. 26, at 7 p.m. and will continue for five 3-hour meetings each week.

Open to all North Cook County area residents holding a current Advanced First Aid certificate, the course will prepare participants to instruct others in first aid techniques.

ROBERT PAHL, Barrington, will be the instructor. He is an engineer and a member of the Red Cross volunteer rescue squad. Mr. Pahl noted, "Organizations such as fire and police departments, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and other groups serving people in all situations will benefit greatly by having members in this class. Graduates of the course will be expert first aid instructors, and can hold classes within their organizations at convenient times and locations."

All Red Cross courses are free, although there is a $1 charge for materials and textbook.

For further information and registration call the North Cook County Regional office of the Red Cross, UN 4-9000.

Variety of Plants

There are about 150,000 different species of seed plants (plants which grow from seeds) including such widely different types as trees, grass, strawberries, roses, violets and daisies.

Pension Form Help Available To Vets, Widows

Veterans and widows receiving pension benefits from the federal government may visit the local Illinois Veterans Commission office in Arlington Heights for aid in completing the annual income questionnaire.

Monthly benefit payments may stop by Jan. 31 if this form is not completed and returned to the Veterans Administration.

Walter Stock is on duty at the office, 111 E. Davis St., Thursday only from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The telephone number of the office is CL 9-0760. (B10

Troop 931, whose meeting place is Euclid School, went to see the play, "Cinderella" at St. Viators High School Jan. 16. During the holidays this troop made Christmas tray favors for the Lutheran Home for the Aged in Arlington Heights. They are planning to make their sit upons at the next meeting so they will have them ready for future use.

Troop 138 has been working on an unusual project. They have made a troop table cloth to be used for troop functions. Made out of white Indian Head material, the scouts put the trefoil and troop number in the center and each member has printed her name on the cloth.

NORTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Service projects are a significant part of good scouting and Christmas would not be complete without special service to others. This year several neighborhood troops combined their efforts. Co-operating with Cadette Troop 59, who started the project, Cadette Troop 453, Junior Troop 293 and Junior Troop 370 made ditty bags from scrap fabrics for Cook County Hospital. Sample toiletries were purchased from the Fuller Brush Co. and donated to the hospital for distribution to needy patients.

Brownies collected yarn which was rolled into balls and used to decorate a Christmas tree at the Mount Prospect Library. The yarn will be shipped to Algeria where it is distributed to children who like to knit.

Three troops representing this community carolled for an hour at the Mount Prospect State Bank Dec. 18. Members of Junior Troop 370, Junior Troop 876 and Cadette Troop 299, and their respective leaders, were directed by Ted Jahnke.

Christmas activities were rounded up for Junior Troop 370 when they met at their leader's home after caroling, Dec. 21 in the neighborhood of their homes. Hot chocolate and donuts were served at the Gafford residence and the girls were each given a small gift by Mrs. J. J. Gafford and Mrs. T. Jahnke. Toys were collected by the girls and wrapped as gifts for the Dixon Children's Home.

SOUTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Fourth and fifth grade girls of Troop 219, under Mrs. R. Locke and Mrs. Roland Miller, are working on their skating badge. They are planning a skating party for their next meeting with marshmallow roasting and hot chocolate.

Three new girls were invested at the last meeting of Troop 629.

Troop 56 made a tour through Maryville last month. They also had a fun-filled day at the Field Museum in Chicago. The troop plans to attend a play later this month.

Troop 534 all went home with guppies as souvenirs of their trip to the Bamboo Aquarium. Arrangements are being made for the girls to visit the Goodman Theatre.

Thirteen girls from Cadette Troop 212 completed their Emergency Preparedness Challenge during the holidays. The girls took complete charge of six pre-schoolers during a simulated emergency. Twelve girls from the same troop completed their Social Dependability Challenge. They completely prepared and served an afternoon buffet with their leaders as guests.

Red Cross Slates First Aid Training

The Red Cross is offering a free training course for first aid instructors to be held at the Mount Prospect Fire Station, 112 E. Northwest Hwy., Mount Prospect. The class will begin Tuesday, Jan. 26, at 7 p.m. and will continue for five 3-hour meetings each week.

Open to all North Cook County area residents holding a current Advanced First Aid certificate, the course will prepare participants to instruct others in first aid techniques.

ROBERT PAHL, Barrington, will be the instructor. He is an engineer and a member of the Red Cross volunteer rescue squad. Mr. Pahl noted, "Organizations such as fire and police departments, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and other groups serving people in all situations will benefit greatly by having members in this class. Graduates of the course will be expert first aid instructors, and can hold classes within their organizations at convenient times and locations."

All Red Cross courses are free, although there is a $1 charge for materials and textbook.

For further information and registration call the North Cook County Regional office of the Red Cross, UN 4-9000.

Variety of Plants

There are about 150,000 different species of seed plants (plants which grow from seeds) including such widely different types as trees, grass, strawberries, roses, violets and daisies.

Pension Form Help Available To Vets, Widows

Veterans and widows receiving pension benefits from the federal government may visit the local Illinois Veterans Commission office in Arlington Heights for aid in completing the annual income questionnaire.

Monthly benefit payments may stop by Jan. 31 if this form is not completed and returned to the Veterans Administration.

Walter Stock is on duty at the office, 111 E. Davis St., Thursday only from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The telephone number of the office is CL 9-0760. (B10

Foreign Teachers To Visit Classes

Three participants in the International Teacher Development Program will visit classes for mentally handicapped children in the northwest suburban area Thursday, Jan. 28.

The visit will be the only one made by the trio of foreign teachers during their visit to the United States.

All of the classes scheduled for visitation are sponsored by the Northwest Suburban Special Education Organization (NSSEO).

The visitors are Mrs. Leena Magumdar from Calcutta, India; Miss Ana Luisa Luengo from Santiago, Chile; and Miss Marie Iltola from Kuopio, Finland.

The trip to schools in Palatine, Wheeling and Elk Grove Townships was arranged by the Illinois Department of Public Instruction in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

INCLUDED IN THE program are classes for pre-primary educable mentally handicapped students in Palatine-Rolling Meadows District 15, primary educable mentally handicapped pupils in River Trail (formerly Feehanville) District 26 and intermediate educatable mentally handicapped children in Wheeling-Buffalo Grove District 21.

Two classes in Elk Grove District 59, are slated for inclusion. These are special rooms for trainable mentally handicapped students at the intermediate level and for junior high level educable mentally handicapped pupils.

A special high school program for educably mentally handicapped students at Wheeling High School will be included in the tour. (B10

Arts Class Enrollment This Week

Registration for the Northwest School of Fine Arts classes, seminars and workshops will be held at each of the five sponsoring YMCA's during all of this week. The fine arts classes in art ballet, drama, literature and music will begin on Feb. 1.

The YMCA sponsors are the Elmhurst, High Ridge, Leaning Tower, Northwest Suburban and Park Ridge groups at which the registration will be held. Also, prospective students or parents may consult with the 32 teachers who will participate in the classes on Sunday, Jan. 31, at 5 p.m. at the Park Ridge YMCA, 1515 W. Touhy Ave., if further information is desired.

The Fine Arts school was started to counteract a recent cultural indictment made by Michael Joseph, an NBC executive, who referred to the Chicago area residents as being a "meat and potatoes" clientele not interested in cultural pursuits. (B10

Erlenborn Busy Adjusting To Ways of 'Capitol Hill'

by BRUCE LADD
Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The furniture is yet to be arranged and the windows are bare, but business is being conducted at a brisk pace in Room 340 of the Cannon Office Building in Washington, D.C.

Room 340 is the U. S. House of Representatives office of freshman Congressman John N. Erlenborn of Elmhurst, elected Erlenborn of Elmhurst, elected Nov. 3 to represent the populous 14th Congressional District (DuPage and Will Counties). Erlenborn, a Republican, defeated Democratic candidate Jerome Ziegler of Naperville.

Seated in a high-back leather swivel chair, the 38-year-old legislator motioned to the walls of his two-room office.

"In the Illinois Legislature," he explained, "the only office a House member had was his desk on the floor of the House. Here, of course, an office and staff are provided. And there are quite a few other differences between serving in the Illinois House and in Congress."

ERLENBORN, A veteran of eight years in the Illinois General Assembly, acknowledged that one of these differences is the greater volume of work in Washington. He cited a heavy daily mail load, casework stemming from constituent problems and inquiries, and a more complicated legislative routine.

"In addition, there's the whole problem of getting adjusted to the way things are done here," he added.

Assisting the new Congressman make the adjustments are office aide Carolyn Sladek, of 441 W. Woodland, Lombard, and two young women who have had past experience on Capitol Hill. One of the staffers formerly worked for Elmer Hoffman of Wheaton, Erlenborn's predecessor in Congress and a power in DuPage County politics.

THE ADJUSTMENT his family is having to make is one of the most difficult, Erlenborn observed. His wife, Dorothy, and their three children, Debra, 11, Paul, 9, and David, 5, are still living in Elmhurst at 429 Prairie Avenue.

"I'm commuting back and forth on weekends," Erlenborn said. "I'll continue this until school is out in June and until I can investigate the housing situation here. It's rough to be so far removed from the family all week, but we'd prefer this to disrupting the school schedule at home."

Having been a lawyer for the past 15 years (firm of Erlenborn, Bauer and Hotte in Elmhurst) as well as an Assistant State's Attorney in DuPage, Erlenborn is interested in being assigned to the House Committee on the Judiciary. He feels he has some experience in this area because he was chairman of the Judiciary Committeee in the Illinois House for two years.

JOHN ERLENBORN

His next preferences for committee assignments are for the Interstate and Foreign Commerce and Interior and Insular Affairs Committees.

EXPRESSING A KEEN interest in the problems of suburbia, Erlenborn said the most pressing problems are likely to be handled by one of the three committees he prefers. He termed the problem of water supply as the most urgent in the Chicago suburbs, also mentioning transportation and air and water pollution.

"I intend to become familiar with what proposals have been made in Congress in the past for solving these problems," he pledged. "Then I plan to examine possible solutions with the assistance of the House legislative research staff. Finally, we'll see what can be done about helping alleviate the problems through legislation."

During his campaign, Erlenborn promised to implement a seven - point program. It included:

Opposition to federal aid to education, opposition to "medicare" legislation, support for tax relief once the federal budget is balanced and spending controlled, endorsement of a gradual reduction and ultimate elimination of foreign aid in favor of a "loan" program, curtailment of government agencies which are competing with private enterprise, opposition to farm price supports and enenforced crop quotas, and opposition to the burgeoning federal bureaucracy.

WELL VERSED IN the mechanics of government, Erlenborn, who served as chairman of the Illinois House Governmental Economy Committee and as cochairman of the Illinois "Economy Bloc," hopes he will be able to give voters in the 14th District a first-hand report on the inefficiencies of the Democratic administration.

One such "inefficiency" concerns the Illinois Public Aid program. While in the Illinois House, Erlenborn authored and introduced a resolution passed by the General Assembly asking Congress to pass legislation calling a halt to federal "interference" in the Illinois Public Aid program. Now he is in a position to act on his own resolution's request.

A 1949 graduate of the Loyola University Law School, Erlenborn was in the U.S. Navy from 1944 to 1946 and practiced law for a year in the Wheaton office of Judge Joseph Sam Perry.

Like most freshman Congressmen, the DuPage County legislator is not wholly appreciative of the seniority system in Congress. Under this system, those with the most years of service behind them are placed in the most influential committee and party posts.

"THERE ARE A lot of things a freshman would like to accomplish right off, but he can't because of his fledgeling status," Erlenborn noted. "The chances of a freshman getting a bill passed, for example, are terrible."

"In the Illinois House, almost all bills get hearings and 90 per cent of them reach the floor for a vote. In Congress, there are many hundreds of bills introduced which never get hearings, and probably only 10 per cent are actually voted on."

Despite "adjustment" handicaps, Erlenborn is anxious to work out a meaningful program for assisting his constituents. To this end, he is opening a district office at 108 N. Main St., Wheaton. It will be manned by his District Administrative Assistant, Joanne Maxwell, who was his campaign manager. Local residents with problems and inquiries may direct them to the district office or to Washington by mail.

WHEN ASKED IF he planned to operate his program any differently than his predecessor (Hoffman), Erlenborn said: "I'm sure there will be some differences, but it's too early to tell what they'll be. No two men operate exactly the same, regardless of their alliances."

In his first vote in Congress, Erlenborn voted "no" on changing the rules of the House to permit an easier flow of legislative proposals. He cited "control of too much power by the Speaker" as his reason for the vote. (A15

College Will Give Placement Exams

Placement examinations will be given Monday, Feb. 8, and Thursday, Feb. 11, for students who plan to enroll in the degree. Oriented program of the Central YMCA Community College, 19 S. LaSalle St., this semester. Registration will also open Feb. 8.

The college offers two degree programs: the associate in arts degree and the associate in business administration. Students are prepared for transfer to senior colleges and universities or for entering a career in industry.

Certificate programs are available in real estate, home building, mortgage banking, secretarial practice and insurance for students who complete only the technical courses in these fields.

THE COLLEGE admits students to the degree-oriented program if they have a certificate of graduation from an accredited high school. Adults over 21 who do not have high school diplomas may be considered for admission to college level work after consultation with the dean of the college and special testing.

The spring semester starts Feb. 15.

For catalogs and information call CE 6-8600.

INSIDE RANDHURST

Family Greets New Members!

By BEVERLY TUTTLE

I hope you didn't spend hours looking for "Inside Randhurst" during the past two weeks, as I was vacationing in warmer lands. But now that the situation is normal again, I can fill you in on "What's New" at Randhurst.

Another new name on Randhurst's list of fine stores is "Gangi—the Store for Men." The name belongs to a beautiful store located in the Apple Arcade next to Brautigam's Florist—Gifts and across from Baskins. It opened several weeks ago and has a wonderful selection of suits, shirts, ties, top coats, hats, sleepwear, sportswear, and toiletries. Congratulations to Mr. Gangi and welcome to the Randhurst Family!

There's still another new name at Randhurst. It's the Bombay Shop located in the Wieboldt's area in front of Baker's and Kinney's Shoe Stores. The little kiosk is a red hexagon and the clerks wait on the customer from the center of the shop. The Bombay Shop carries the most unusual collection of hand engraved brassware in the form of ashtrays, bells, dishes, vases, etc. They also carry lines of silver and Arabasque jewelry, carved woodwork from India, Africa, and the Philippines.

Have you started thinking about your 1964 income tax yet? I realize there is another three months before it is due, but I don't want you to get caught in the Panic Countdown. If you're having difficulty figuring your taxes, need advice, or want someone experienced to help you, an income tax service is temporarily available at Randhurst. It is located on the Bazaar Level, outside Kay Campbell's.

When they said you could purchase anything you wanted at Randhurst, they really meant it. How about a nice new 1965 automobile? Another fine Auto Show is about to take place on Randhurst's mall. The Randhurst Auto Show will present the perfect opportunity for all of us to decide which one of the 50 different models we want to buy or which one we would like to buy. This complete line of 1965 models will be shown January 28 through February 1. We welcome all of you to come over and browse through our giant showroom. We know you will certainly enjoy this show which is brought to you through the cooperation and courtesy of the Northwest Auto Dealers in Cook County. See you under the dome midst the new 1965 models!

On Jan. 30, the 15th annual Mount Prospect Volunteer Fire Department Dance is planned for 8:30 p. m. on the mall. Everyone is invited!

Founders' Day PEO Luncheon Is Saturday

Women from area PEO chapters will be traveling to the Furniture Club of America in Chicago Saturday, Jan. 23, for the annual Founders' Day luncheon sponsored by the Chicago Area Round Table.

Working on decorations for the luncheon is Mrs. H. A. Davenport of Itasca. Speaker for the afternoon will be Alyce Shambaugh, book reviewer, who will speak on "Our PEO Heritage." Musical portion of the program will be by Eugenia Wright Anderson, pianist student of Rudolph Ganz.

PEO was formed by seven girls on the campus of Iowa Wesleyan College at Mount Pleasant, Iowa, in 1869. It has grown to a membership of 146,000 with chapters throughout the United States, Hawaii and Canada.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE RATED?

Not long ago men and women with coronary artery disease, tuberculosis or diabetes were unable to obtain life insurance. Today it is possible for many of these people to be accepted in a special premium classification. Technically speaking they are said to be 'rated' policyowners. For many years Manufacturers Life has contributed leadership in this special field. Today we are well known for our progressive outlook and for the favorable premium rates being offered.

At Manufacturers Life each application for insurance is individually reviewed by experienced, highly qualified medical underwriters. Most applicants are accepted at regular rates; those with special health problems at the lowest possible extra rate.

Whatever your needs you can be sure of progressive life insurance service when you call the Manufacturers Life.

P.S.: "Through the facilities of our Randhurst office we can offer young men an intensive training for profitable careers in life insurance selling. I'd welcome the opportunity to talk to any young man you might recommend and to help him determine his potential for success in this field. I can assure you all enquiries are treated in the strictest confidence."

Erlenborn Busy Adjusting To Ways of 'Capitol Hill'

by BRUCE LADD
Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The furniture is yet to be arranged and the windows are bare, but business is being conducted at a brisk pace in Room 340 of the Cannon Office Building in Washington, D.C.

Room 340 is the U. S. House of Representatives office of freshman Congressman John N. Erlenborn of Elmhurst, elected Erlenborn of Elmhurst, elected Nov. 3 to represent the populous 14th Congressional District (DuPage and Will Counties). Erlenborn, a Republican, defeated Democratic candidate Jerome Ziegler of Naperville.

Seated in a high-back leather swivel chair, the 38-year-old legislator motioned to the walls of his two-room office.

"In the Illinois Legislature," he explained, "the only office a House member had was his desk on the floor of the House. Here, of course, an office and staff are provided. And there are quite a few other differences between serving in the Illinois House and in Congress."

ERLENBORN, A veteran of eight years in the Illinois General Assembly, acknowledged that one of these differences is the greater volume of work in Washington. He cited a heavy daily mail load, casework stemming from constituent problems and inquiries, and a more complicated legislative routine.

"In addition, there's the whole problem of getting adjusted to the way things are done here," he added.

Assisting the new Congressman make the adjustments are office aide Carolyn Sladek, of 441 W. Woodland, Lombard, and two young women who have had past experience on Capitol Hill. One of the staffers formerly worked for Elmer Hoffman of Wheaton, Erlenborn's predecessor in Congress and a power in DuPage County politics.

THE ADJUSTMENT his family is having to make is one of the most difficult, Erlenborn observed. His wife, Dorothy, and their three children, Debra, 11, Paul, 9, and David, 5, are still living in Elmhurst at 429 Prairie Avenue.

"I'm commuting back and forth on weekends," Erlenborn said. "I'll continue this until school is out in June and until I can investigate the housing situation here. It's rough to be so far removed from the family all week, but we'd prefer this to disrupting the school schedule at home."

Having been a lawyer for the past 15 years (firm of Erlenborn, Bauer and Hotte in Elmhurst) as well as an Assistant State's Attorney in DuPage, Erlenborn is interested in being assigned to the House Committee on the Judiciary. He feels he has some experience in this area because he was chairman of the Judiciary Committeee in the Illinois House for two years.

His next preferences for committee assignments are for the Interstate and Foreign Commerce and Interior and Insular Affairs Committees.

JOHN ERLENBORN

EXPRESSING A KEEN interest in the problems of suburbia, Erlenborn said the most pressing problems are likely to be handled by one of the three committees he prefers. He termed the problem of water supply as the most urgent in the Chicago suburbs, also mentioning transportation and air and water pollution.

"I intend to become familiar with what proposals have been made in Congress in the past for solving these problems," he pledged. "Then I plan to examine possible solutions with the assistance of the House legislative research staff. Finally, we'll see what can be done about helping alleviate the problems through legislation."

During his campaign, Erlenborn promised to implement a seven - point program. It included:

Opposition to federal aid to education, opposition to "medicare" legislation, support for tax relief once the federal budget is balanced and spending controlled, endorsement of a gradual reduction and ultimate elimination of foreign aid in favor of a "loan" program, curtailment of government agencies which are competing with private enterprise, opposition to farm price supports and enenforced crop quotas, and opposition to the burgeoning federal bureaucracy.

WELL VERSED IN the mechanics of government, Erlenborn, who served as chairman of the Illinois House Governmental Economy Committee and as cochairman of the Illinois "Economy Bloc," hopes he will be able to give voters in the 14th District a first-hand report on the inefficiencies of the Democratic administration.

One such "inefficiency" concerns the Illinois Public Aid program. While in the Illinois House, Erlenborn authored and introduced a resolution passed by the General Assembly asking Congress to pass legislation calling a halt to federal "interference" in the Illinois Public Aid program. Now he is in a position to act on his own resolution's request.

A 1949 graduate of the Loyola University Law School, Erlenborn was in the U.S. Navy from 1944 to 1946 and practiced law for a year in the Wheaton office of Judge Joseph Sam Perry.

Like most freshman Congressmen, the DuPage County legislator is not wholly appreciative of the seniority system in Congress. Under this system, those with the most years of service behind them are placed in the most influential committee and party posts.

"THERE ARE A lot of things a freshman would like to accomplish right off, but he can't because of his fledgeling status," Erlenborn noted. "The chances of a freshman getting a bill passed, for example, are terrible."

"In the Illinois House, almost all bills get hearings and 90 per cent of them reach the floor for a vote. In Congress, there are many hundreds of bills introduced which never get hearings, and probably only 10 per cent are actually voted on."

Despite "adjustment" handicaps, Erlenborn is anxious to work out a meaningful program for assisting his constituents. To this end, he is opening a district office at 108 N. Main St., Wheaton. It will be manned by his District Administrative Assistant, Joanne Maxwell, who was his campaign manager. Local residents with problems and inquiries may direct them to the district office or to Washington by mail.

WHEN ASKED IF he planned to operate his program any differently than his predecessor (Hoffman), Erlenborn said: "I'm sure there will be some differences, but it's too early to tell what they'll be. No two men operate exactly the same, regardless of their alliances."

In his first vote in Congress, Erlenborn voted "no" on changing the rules of the House to permit an easier flow of legislative proposals. He cited "control of too much power by the Speaker" as his reason for the vote. (A15

College Will Give Placement Exams

Placement examinations will be given Monday, Feb. 8, and Thursday, Feb. 11, for students who plan to enroll in the degree. Oriented program of the Central YMCA Community College, 19 S. LaSalle St., this semester. Registration will also open Feb. 8.

The college offers two degree programs: the associate in arts degree and the associate in business administration. Students are prepared for transfer to senior colleges and universities or for entering a career in industry.

Certificate programs are available in real estate, home building, mortgage banking, secretarial practice and insurance for students who complete only the technical courses in these fields.

THE COLLEGE admits students to the degree-oriented program if they have a certificate of graduation from an accredited high school. Adults over 21 who do not have high school diplomas may be considered for admission to college level work after consultation with the dean of the college and special testing.

The spring semester starts Feb. 15.

For catalogs and information call CE 6-8600.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN TO BE RATED?

Not long ago men and women with coronary artery disease, tuberculosis or diabetes were unable to obtain life insurance. Today it is possible for many of these people to be accepted in a special premium classification. Technically speaking they are said to be 'rated' policyowners. For many years Manufacturers Life has contributed leadership in this special field. Today we are well known for our progressive outlook and for the favorable premium rates being offered.

At Manufacturers Life each application for insurance is individually reviewed by experienced, highly qualified medical underwriters. Most applicants are accepted at regular rates; those with special health problems at the lowest possible extra rate.

Whatever your needs you can be sure of progressive life insurance service when you call the Manufacturers Life.

P.S.: "Through the facilities of our Randhurst office we can offer young men an intensive training for profitable careers in life insurance selling. I'd welcome the opportunity to talk to any young man you might recommend and to help him determine his potential for success in this field. I can assure you all enquiries are treated in the strictest confidence."

INSIDE RANDHURST

Family Greets New Members!

By BEVERLY TUTTLE

I hope you didn't spend hours looking for "Inside Randhurst" during the past two weeks, as I was vacationing in warmer lands. But now that the situation is normal again, I can fill you in on "What's New" at Randhurst.

Another new name on Randhurst's list of fine stores is "Gangi—the Store for Men." The name belongs to a beautiful store located in the Apple Arcade next to Brautigam's Florist—Gifts and across from Baskins. It opened several weeks ago and has a wonderful selection of suits, shirts, ties, top coats, hats, sleepwear, sportswear, and toiletries. Congratulations to Mr. Gangi and welcome to the Randhurst Family!

There's still another new name at Randhurst. It's the Bombay Shop located in the Wieboldt's area in front of Baker's and Kinney's Shoe Stores. The little kiosk is a red hexagon and the clerks wait on the customer from the center of the shop. The Bombay Shop carries the most unusual collection of hand engraved brassware in the form of ashtrays, bells, dishes, vases, etc. They also carry lines of silver and Arabasque jewelry, carved woodwork from India, Africa, and the Philippines.

Have you started thinking about your 1964 income tax yet? I realize there is another three months before it is due, but I don't want you to get caught in the Panic Countdown. If you're having difficulty figuring your taxes, need advice, or want someone experienced to help you, an income tax service is temporarily available at Randhurst. It is located on the Bazaar Level, outside Kay Campbell's.

When they said you could purchase anything you wanted at Randhurst, they really meant it. How about a nice new 1965 automobile? Another fine Auto Show is about to take place on Randhurst's mall. The Randhurst Auto Show will present the perfect opportunity for all of us to decide which one of the 50 different models we want to buy or which one we would like to buy. This complete line of 1965 models will be shown January 28 through February 1. We welcome all of you to come over and browse through our giant showroom. We know you will certainly enjoy this show which is brought to you through the cooperation and courtesy of the Northwest Auto Dealers in Cook County. See you under the dome midst the new 1965 models!

On Jan. 30, the 15th annual Mount Prospect Volunteer Fire Department Dance is planned for 8:30 p. m. on the mall. Everyone is invited!

Founders' Day PEO Luncheon Is Saturday

Women from area PEO chapters will be traveling to the Furniture Club of America in Chicago Saturday, Jan. 23, for the annual Founders' Day luncheon sponsored by the Chicago Area Round Table.

Working on decorations for the luncheon is Mrs. H. A. Davenport of Itasca. Speaker for the afternoon will be Alyce Shambaugh, book reviewer, who will speak on "Our PEO Heritage." Musical portion of the program will be by Eugenia Wright Anderson, pianist student of Rudolph Ganz.

PEO was formed by seven girls on the campus of Iowa Wesleyan College at Mount Pleasant, Iowa, in 1869. It has grown to a membership of 146,000 with chapters throughout the United States, Hawaii and Canada.

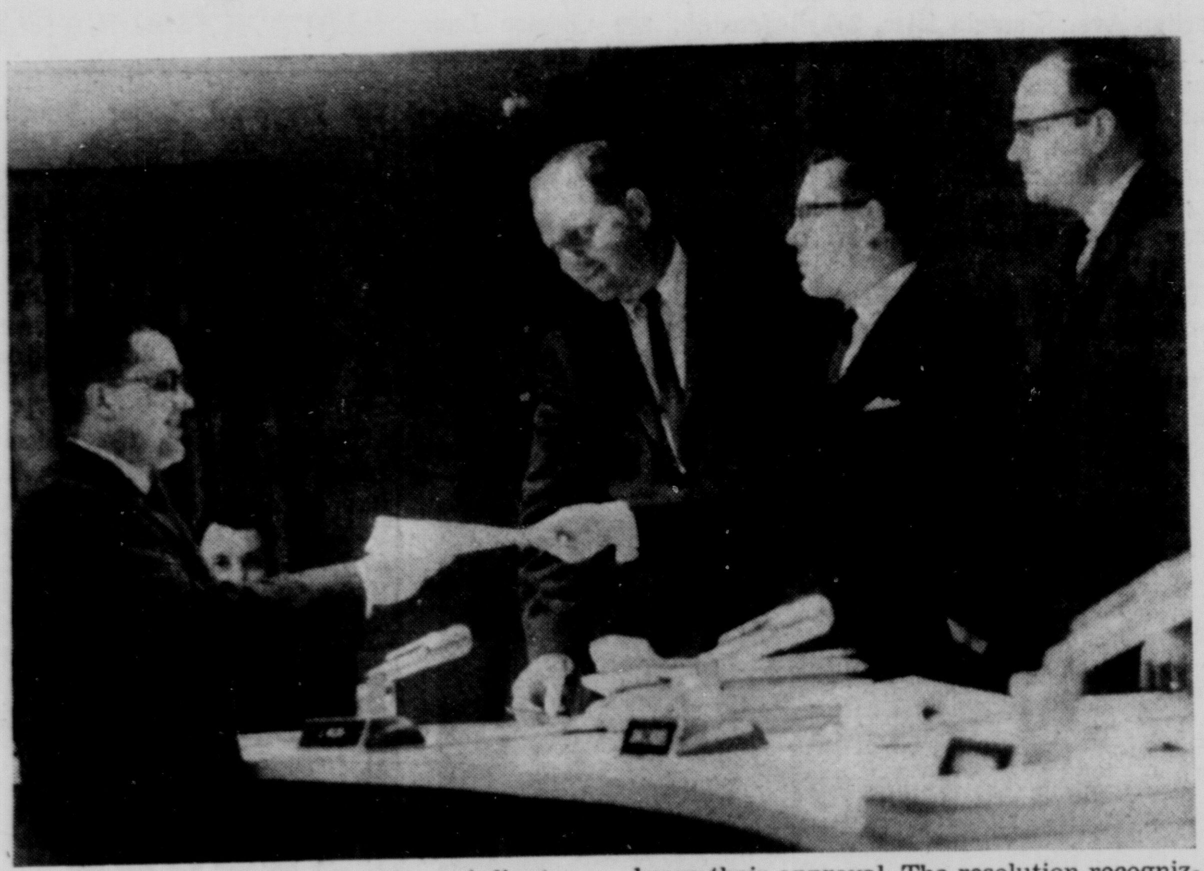
Jaycee Chapter President Tells Group's Aspirations



RESOLUTION COMMENDING Arlington Heights Jaycees for their work in the community is presented to Gerald Beauvais, Junior Chamber president, by Village Pres. John G. Woods as trustees Jack Walsh and Bud Beacham, both former members of the group, beam their approval. The resolution recognized several projects and achievements, and was passed unanimously along with a proclamation of Jaycee Week, this week, in the village to coincide with national observance. (A

"The basic purpose of the organization is to promote leadership training through community projects," explained Arlington Heights Junior Chamber of Commerce President Gerald Beauvais.

Beauvais offered the explanation of the local service club's purpose during a discussion of the club this week.

The local club and others throughout the nation are this week celebrating the 45th birthday of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in United States.

Formed in 1952, the Arlington Heights Jaycee chapter has been active in a number of civic projects including a study which paved the way for what is now Northwest Community Hospital.

"I THING MANY people think we just play poker and drink," said Beauvais, who was installed as president of the chapter in July, 1964.

The Jaycees were a prime mover in last year's oral polio program, with many other Jaycee chapters in the northwest area.

Membership in the local chapter has increased during the past year, and taken some changes, the president reported.

"Our goal is 100 active members by July," he explained. Membership has risen from 55 last July to a present level of 75. Many were gained through a smoker held this fall and the bulk of the rest from a business canvass—which is a continuing project.

BEAUVAIS explained that the complexion of the membership has changed in that not all members now live in Arlington Heights.

"We have made an attempt to interest people who work in the community—not just those which live here and work in the city—to become a part of our programs," he stated.

Membership is open to those men in the community between 21 and 35, who want to work to make it a better place in which to live and work.

The local Jaycee chapter has helped support the Clearbrook School for Retarded Children for three years, and also supports the Northwest Mental Health Clinic. These are only two of the project undertaken on a regular basis by the chapter, he pointed out.

IN FEBRUARY, the chapter will honor a resident for his outstanding service to the community. The Distinguished Service Award in the past has been presented to such persons as Stuart Paddock, of Paddock Publications, and Eugene Schlickman, to name two of the eight winners since 1956.

Bon Appetite and the Sand Box Drive raise the bulk of the money the club uses for charity purposes.

Election of officers for the coming year will be in May, with the officers being installed July 1.

Also lending a great deal of support to the Jaycee chapter are the Jaycee Wives. The women not only lend a helping hand to the men, but provide the feminine touch so often necessary, Beauvais said.

"Anyone interested in joining should make himself known to a Jaycee or write to Box 1, Arlington Heights," he concluded.

HE 7-4555

All members of Forest View Improvement Association are requested to attend a special meeting Tuesday, Jan. 26 at 8 p.m. in Forest View Elementary School.

For the Howard Koepke family, S. Belmont, it was a special treat taking acre of Pam, 2½, and her father, George Koepke, for three days while they were waiting for new brother, Steven Douglas, born Jan. 6, and his mother to come home.

Mrs. G. A. Bruening, mother of Virginia Palmer, Council Trails, arrived Wednesday from St. Louis to spend the next few weeks.

Wednesday evening the Robert Hansens, W. Golf Road, were guests of Marian's sister and brother-in-law, the Paul Brummels, on their farm in Naperville to celebrate Mr. Hansen's birthday.

Saturday afternoon guests of the Hansens were Mrs. Bert Hansen of Rolling Meadows and her mother, Mrs. Anna Huber, who is visiting here from Vienna. Mrs. Joline Schroeter, W. Algonquin Road, also was along.

MR. AND Mrs. Ernest Paus, S. Arlington Heights Road, spent the weekend at the Wagon Wheel at Rockton.

It was also a treat for the Paus children, Pam, David and Danny, who spent the weekend with their grandmother, Mrs. A. Mangelsdorf of Chicago.

The Wade Backeys, S. Busse Road, had a New Year's Eve party for 12 couples, including the Chris Hilgemans.

Get-well wishes go to Charles Chappelear, principal at Dempster Junior High.

Birthday greetings this week go to Samuel Wilson, Mike Smalenberger, Barbara Treder, David Rabe and Sarah Samlenberger. Anniversary greetings go to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Aldrich.

LAKE BRIARWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lord and Ricky, E. Briarwood Drive, returned last Friday from Cleveland where they attended the 5-day masonry and concrete convention. Vivian and Ricky also visited the Art Museum and Library.

ELK RIDGE VILLA

Susan Mallian, 1202 Robert Drive, celebrated her 10th birthday Saturday with a party for Jackie Nelson, Judy Richardson, Kathy Vercelli and Kim Walscheid.

Delores Vercelli, Birch Drive, is back at school after three weeks' absence, part of the time spent in Holy Family Hospital and the rest recuperating at home.

COLONIAL HEIGHTS

The Tom Buttons, Hatlen Avenue, have returned from a 3-week vacation wth Hilda's parents, the W. H. Registers of Columbus, Ga., and in Florida where they spent a week camping at Key Marathon. They also visited Tom's aunt and family, the Jim Goggins, in Fort Lauderdale before returning to Columbus to pick up Eric who had been left with his grandmother. (AME

Steering Group to Give Human Relations Report

A steering committee formed at the direction of Arlington Heights citizens attending an invitational human relations meeting Nov. 17, will give its report Friday, Jan. 29, at 8 p.m. at Hasbrook Park Fieldhouse.

The committee was charged with recommending action by some 60 Arlington Heights residents who attended the meeting and urged establishment of an official village commission on human relations.

Chairman of the steering committee, which has held numerous meetings since its selection, is Stanford Gass, 19 N. Dryden.

Other members of the steering committee include Mrs. Charles Baker, C. William Carlson, Mrs. Russell Gardner, Phillip C. Gorman, Mrs. Norbert Hruby, Harold Klingner, Rev. Donald Jones, Rev. Richard McCarthy, Richard Mueller, John Ortman, Nicholas Shuman, Mrs. R. J. Schlott and Mrs. George Sully.

MRS. GARDNER IS president of the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters, which hosted the Nov. 17 invitational meeting.

Rev. Jones will be moderator of the meeting at which the steering committee will make its report. He was also moderator of the earlier meeting, held in the Christian Church where he is pastor.

A human relations commission is one established by a village or other local governmental body to work in the area of human relations.

Typically, a human relations commission is established through an ordinance assigning powers that are only consultatory and advisory, as are those of a plan commission. Commission members advise the village board in the area of human relations. (A

Bowlers Prepare for Paddock Tourney

Sports

BY BOB FRISK

KICKIN' IT AROUND

WHEN CHARLEY GRANDT hangs up his uniform next March at St. Viator High School, he may rank as the fourth best scorer in the history of Paddock area basketball.

The talented 6-foot-4 Lion ace, who is just 18 points shy of the career mark at St. Viator, needs 198 markers during the remainder of the campaign to pass Chuck Close in the fourth slot on the all-time list.

Close, who prepped at Arlington High, bagged 856 in three varsity campaigns. Grandt has 659 right now with at least 11 more games ahead in the next two months. That means Chuck would have to average 18 points per game to pass Close. It's not impossible although his current average is 16.6.

While Grandt, who has a single game high of 29, is a good bet to pass Close, he has no chance of catching Ron Kozlicki of Palatine, the No. 1 scorer of all time in the Paddock Publications area. For that matter Grandt would have to throw in points at a pretty snappy pace to even move past the third place performer in the scoring totals.

Kozlicki is firmly settled in the No. 1 position with 1,558 points in three years of varsity basketball. Two other former Palatine stars follow the 6-foot-7 stickout who now plays for Northwestern. John Seehausen is second with 934 and Paul Schrage ranks third with 922. Seehausen played with Kozlicki at Palatine, but Scrage was a product of the early 1950's.

CHUCK GRANDT

To get past Seehausen or Schrage St. Viator's Grandt would have to average around 25 points per game for the remainder of his season year. Chuck's a good one but it's unlikely he'll carry that big an average through the closing weeks of the 1964-65 campaign.

George Pomey and George Bork, two boys you may have heard of before, are fifth and sixth right now in the all-time list. Pomey, a starter at Michigan, fired in 787 points in two varsity seasons at Prospect, and Bork, more noted for his exploits in football although still a fine basketball player, registered 783.

The advantage of playing three or more varsity seasons shows in the all-time scoring list. Kozlicki, Seehausen, Schrage, and Close, the top four scorers, were three-year performers with the varsity. Grandt scored 101 varsity points as a sophomore at St. Viator.

Pomey played two varsity seasons at Prospect. He was a regular with the Grant High varsity as a soph so undoubtedly would have shattered that school's scoring records if he hadn't transferred. Bork was a varsity regular for two years at Arlington.

The only sophomores playing full-time at area high schools right now are Steve Allen and Dave Lockwood at Arlington and Scott Bischoff at Wheeling. Tommy Lundstedt is a key reserve at Prospect.

Kozlicki, Close, and Pomey hold the career scoring records at their respective schools. If and when, most likely when, Grandt tosses in his 18th point this weekend in the Lions' Chicagoland doubleheader, he will pass Jim Murray as St. Viator's top scorer in history. Murray, a guard, totaled 659 points in two varsity seasons with a high of 331 last winter.

Joe Mueiler has the career mark at Forest View. Mueller bagged 397 as a junior and 285 as a junior for 682 points in his two varsity campaigns.

The "career" records at Wheeling will be determined this year when the Wildcats bring down the curtain on their first season of varsity competition.

Plan Five Nights Of Skating Races

The Mount Prospect Park District and the Mount Prospect Speed Skating Club will cosponsor Friday evening "Skating Races" for boys and girls ages 6 through 13.

The races will be held at 6 p.m., at Lions Park Skating Rink on five consecutive Friday evenings beginning January 29. Registration forms are available at Lions, Meadows and High Ridge Knolls Skating Rinks. Registration can also be completed prior to the races.

Ribbons will be awarded. The races will consist of one sprint lap which is one-eighth of a mile.

Classification of skaters will be Bantam 7 and under; Ponies ages 8 and 9; Midgets age 10 and 11; and Juveniles ages 12 and 13.

Any type of skate will be allowed. Speed Skating Association members will not be allowed to participate. The races are open to amateurs only.

FV Frosh Split

Forest View's frosh cagers gained a split in action last Saturday against Glenbrook North.

The freshmen A squad lost 68-48 and are now 2-6 for the year while the B quintet won 58-30 to move their record to 4-3.

Next games for the frosh Falcons is Saturday morning at 9:30 a.m. at home against Maine West.

Forest View Battles Leader Friday in Mid-Suburban Tilt

by MICHAEL HESS

Do you think David ever said, "I'm going to beat Goliath?" No? Well perhaps he didn't.

Do you think Ken Arneson ever said, "We're going to beat Maine West?" No? Well he did.

Forest View's coach Arneson made that statement about tomorrow night's battle between his Falcons and Maine's Warriors. Though it may seem incredible, Arneson made his prediction and he had the arguments to back it up.

When reminded that Maine has never lost in 15 Mid-Suburban League engagements, Arneson commented, "We're just starting to jell now and this would be a good time for Maine to lose." Since a loss would mean that the MW contingent would fall into a tie with Forest View this time would be especially good, for the Falcons.

WHEN TOLD of the Warriors' mighty offense, which has averaged over 28 points more per game than opponents, the FV head man fired back, "We have better balance than they do. They get scoring from only two or three players while we have five who can score."

TIME

Junior varsity preliminary at 7:00 p.m.

Varsity game at 8:00 p.m.

COACHES

Forest View — Ken Arneson.

Maine East — Gaston Freeman.

The two players Arneson refers to are center Jim Smith and forward Stoney Jackson who total almost 36 points between them in each game. Can they be stopped? "I think our defense is strong enough to slow them up," stated Arneson. "We won't shut them out but they won't get thirty."

Maine also possesses an excellent defense which has shut off opponents with only 37 points a game. What about that? "Our defense is better than theirs," said the Forest View coach. The Falcons have held other clubs to 45 points a game and only kept two enemies under 40.

THE ONLY doubt the FV director had concerning the outcome against Maine was about controlling the boards. "If they were going to beat us, they'd have to do it rebounding." Having stated his single question concerning the coming battle, Arneson turned from the Warriors to a consideration of his own forces.

He started with junior center Jim Baumgardt. "Baumgardt is

The team champs each receive a large traveling trophy which they exchange for the plaques just prior to the next tournament. Morton Pontiac won the men's meet and Lauterburg & Oehler ruled the women's festivities last winter. The traveling trophies are on display at Thunderbird Bowl and Elk Grove Bowl, sites of the 1965 tournaments. Left to right, Michael Hess, Sports Editor Bob Frisk, and Tom Tully. (Staff photo)

Cardinal Five Home Twice Over Weekend

by BOB FRISK

For a school that has finished in the first division only two times in 13 years of West Suburban Conference basketball Arlington High should be feeling pretty good these days.

Coach Ted Wissen's Cardinals concluded the first half of league play last weekend with a 4-3 record, and they swing into the second half schedule with a fourth place position in the West Suburban hardwood action.

Lean years have been the rule rather than the exception in basketball for Arlington since the early 1950's, and the 1964-65 quintet would like nothing better than to achieve the school's highest West Suburban finish in history.

THE 1958-59 entry, coached by Frank Bohac, posted an 8-6 record for third place in the conference and Norm Patberg's 1961-62 Cardinals were 8-6 and fourth. Eight victories are the most an Arlington team has ever recorded in one season of West Suburban play.

Wissen's Cardinals, standing 6-7 for the season, will be shooting for their fifth West Suburban win Friday night with a home bout against a formidable Riverside-Brookfield five. Arlington will entertain Barrington of the North Suburban Conference Saturday in a non-conference engagement.

Arlington is only one game behind Riverside and York in the battle for second place behind unbeaten LaGrange. The Lions swept to seven straight wins in first half competition.

RIVERSIDE comes to town after giving LaGrange fits in a league game last Saturday night. The Bulldogs held a 32-30 lead after three quarters and finally succumbed 48-46.

Jim O'Toole (6-2) and Fred Flick (6-0) are Riverside's top scorers in West Suburban play with 94 points in seven games. Phil Lange, a 5-foot-10 guard, is next in line with 84. You wouldn't get many arguments if you called Lange and Flick

Thunderbird To Host Men

100 Teams, 500 Bowlers Vie for Trophies, Cash

The bowling spotlight in the Northwest Suburban area focuses on Thunderbird Bowl in Mount Prospect Saturday and Sunday as Paddock Publications stages its 14th Annual Inter-League Handicap tournament for men.

One hundred teams and 500 bowlers will vie for honors at the Mount Prospect establishment with the first squad rolling at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

There will be only one session Saturday with four following on Sunday at 1:00, 3:25, 5:50, and 8:15 p.m.

ENTRIES have been processed, bowling and prize fees have been paid, scorekeepers hired, and the lanes are all set for the big tournament this weekend with hundreds of fans expected to be on hand to watch the competition.

The tournament will climax competition since the first week in September when members of every men's league in the area had the opportunity to enter the tourney, providing their team was in first place as of Dec. 26, 1964.

The bowlers will be shooting for the large traveling trophy, five individual trophies, and an estimated $750 in team prizes. There's a $10 award for high single team game (actual).

UNOFFICIAL results of the tournament will be posted immediately following its conclusion. There results will be published in detail in the paper, but no prize money will be paid for about three weeks, pending verification of averages and checking of scores.

Last year Morton Pontiac of the Paddock Classic Traveling League swept to the top prize in the men's competition with a 3064 series, just 102 pins shy of the meet record.

Morton headed runnerup Colt Restaurant and Lounge by 48 pins in the battle for the coveted team prize.

THE CLASSIC League teams have been turning in some solid performances in recent years, and Concourse Sports Chalet, representing the Paddock league this winter, will be a team to watch in the weekend action.

Concourse will bring a 933 average and 138 handicap into the tournament, and they'll roll in the 8:15 p.m. shift Sunday.

Largest handicap will be carried by Wheeling Bowl with a 579. They go off at 1:00 p.m. Sunday with a 723 average.

THE TOP TEAM total ever registered in the Paddock men's meet was a 3166 by Highland Motors of the Paddock Classic in 1963. The lowest for a champion, with handicap, was the 2899 posted by Len & Sev's IGA in 1954.

Dave Catherwood holds the tourney series mark with a booming 701 scratch in 1963. Walter Behm, bowling for Inland Decorators in the 1964 meet, achieved the top single game in history with a 279.

Bob Paddock, vice-president and promotion director of Paddock Publications, will be in charge of the men's competition. He will be assisted by Irv Kehe and George Kusch.

Thunderbird Bowl is located on Rand Road in Mount Prospect, approximately one-half mile south of Randhurst.

Scorekeepers

Scorekeepers have been assigned for Paddock Publications men's bowling tournament. They are:

Wilma Strehlow, Harriet Rahn, Marian Phillips, Iva Crowcroft, Espar Oja, Gloria Wille, Pamela Magnuson, Lee Magnuson, Rosella Huntley, Mickey Currati, Laura Skoog, Jane Jorgensen, Mae Zimmanek, Vern Sowinski, Art Jorgensen, and Don Wille.

By State Association

Wrestling Sites, Entries Listed

Sites and entries for the district and sectional wrestling tournaments were announced this week by the Illinois High School Association.

Twenty-eight district meets will be held on February 11-13 with sectional competition February 18-20.

Four districts are subsidiary to each of the seven sectional centers and winners of the first two places in each weight classification will advance to sectional competition on February 18-20. First and second place wrestlers in the sectionals will advance to the state finals.

ARLINGTON, Forest View, Prospect, Conant, Palatine, and Wheeling will join Maine West and Maine East in the Forest View district with the finalists advancing to the Palatine Sectional.

Also feeding into the Palatine meet will be the Elgin (Larkin) District which includes Paddock area entries Larkin, Elgin (H.S.), and Lake Park.

Fenton will vie for spots at Northlake (West Leyden) with St. Patrick, York, Elmwood Park, East Leyden, Ridgewood, West Leyden, and Maine South with the winners also advancing to Palatine.

The Palatine Sectional field will be rounded out by the Rockford (Guilford) winners.

Willowbrook High School is set for the LaGrange (Lyons) District with the host school, St. Mel, Proviso West, Proviso East, Oak Park, Holy Cross, and Riverside-Brookfield. Winners there will advance to the Oak Lawn (Comm.) Sectional.

Falcons' Gymnasts Even Mark at 3-3

After losing their first three dual meets, the varsity gymnasts of Forest View have done a complete about face and, last Saturday, they won their third straight meet.

The varsity Falcons knocked off Glenbrook North 80½ to 51½ to even their record while, on the frosh-soph level, FV was registering a split by beating Glenbrook 71-60 and being downed by Arlington 84-48.

Against Glenbrook the varsity gym men were paced by Garth Freeman and Dick Antti. Freeman took firsts on the horizontal bar and parallel bars in addition to a fifth on the trampoline and a sixth in tumbling to rack up 17 points. A total of 17½ points were scored by Antti with seconds on the rings and side horse, a third in tumbling and a third place tie on the parallel bars.

Others taking top honors in their events for the varsity, coached by Gay Hughes were Dave Hippensteel on the trampoline, John Medley on the side horse and Jeff Weaver on the rings. Weaver's 145 rating was the highest of the meet.

For the frosh-sophs, coached by Hal Sprehe, the individual winners against Glenbrook were Barry Gustafson with firsts on the horizontal bar and parallel bars, Bill Glab on the trampoline, Mike Damore on the side horse and Pat Murphy in tumbling. Patterson took the only first in the Arlington meet by winning on the parallel bars.

The lower level gym men are now 4-3 for the season.

Next meets for the Forest View gymnasts are this Saturday at 2:00 p.m. when they host Niles North and next Tuesday when they travel to West Leyden.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

BY BOB FRISK

WHEN CHARLEY GRANDT hangs up his uniform next March at St. Viator High School, he may rank as the fourth best scorer in the history of Paddock area basketball.

The talented 6-foot-4 Lion ace, who is just 18 points shy of the career mark at St. Viator, needs 198 markers during the remainder of the campaign to pass Chuck Close in the fourth slot on the all-time list.

Close, who prepped at Arlington High, bagged 856 in three varsity campaigns. Grandt has 659 right now with at least 11 more games ahead in the next two months. That means Chuck would have to average 18 points per game to pass Close. It's not impossible although his current average is 16.6.

While Grandt, who has a single game high of 29, is a good bet to pass Close, he has no chance of catching Ron Kozlicki of Palatine, the No. 1 scorer of all time in the Paddock Publications area. For that matter Grandt would have to throw in points at a pretty snappy pace to even move past the third place performer in the scoring totals.

CHUCK GRANDT

Kozlicki is firmly settled in the No. 1 position with 1,558 points in three years of varsity basketball. Two other former Palatine stars follow the 6-foot-7 stickout who now plays for Northwestern. John Seehausen is second with 934 and Paul Schrage ranks third with 922. Seehausen played with Kozlicki at Palatine, but Scrage was a product of the early 1950's.

To get past Seehausen or Schrage St. Viator's Grandt would have to average around 25 points per game for the remainder of his season year. Chuck's a good one but it's unlikely he'll carry that big an average through the closing weeks of the 1964-65 campaign.

George Pomey and George Bork, two boys you may have heard of before, are fifth and sixth right now in the all-time list. Pomey, a starter at Michigan, fired in 787 points in two varsity seasons at Prospect, and Bork, more noted for his exploits in football although still a fine basketball player, registered 783.

The advantage of playing three or more varsity seasons shows in the all-time scoring list. Kozlicki, Seehausen, Schrage, and Close, the top four scorers, were three-year performers with the varsity. Grandt scored 101 varsity points as a sophomore at St. Viator.

Pomey played two varsity seasons at Prospect. He was a regular with the Grant High varsity as a soph so undoubtedly would have shattered that school's scoring records if he hadn't transferred. Bork was a varsity regular for two years at Arlington.

The only sophomores playing full-time at area high schools right now are Steve Allen and Dave Lockwood at Arlington and Scott Bischoff at Wheeling. Tommy Lundstedt is a key reserve at Prospect.

Kozlicki, Close, and Pomey hold the career scoring records at their respective schools. If and when, most likely when, Grandt tosses in his 18th point this weekend in the Lions' Chicagoland doubleheader, he will pass Jim Murray as St. Viator's top scorer in history. Murray, a guard, totaled 659 points in two varsity seasons with a high of 331 last winter.

Joe Mueiler has the career mark at Forest View. Mueller bagged 397 as a junior and 285 as a junior for 682 points in his two varsity campaigns.

The "career" records at Wheeling will be determined this year when the Wildcats bring down the curtain on their first season of varsity competition.

ALL-TIME AREA SCORING LEADERS

1.	Ron Kozlicki (Palatine)	1,558
2.	John Seehausen (Palatine)	934
3.	Paul Schrage (Palatine)	922
4.	Chuck Close (Arlington)	856

FV Frosh Split

Forest View's frosh cagers gained a split in action last Saturday against Glenbrook North.

The freshmen A squad lost 68-48 and are now 2-6 for the year while the B quintet won 58-30 to move their record to 4-3.

Next games for the frosh Falcons is Saturday morning at 9:30 a.m. at home against Maine West.

Forest View Battles Leader Friday in Mid-Suburban Tilt

by MICHAEL HESS

Do you think David ever said, "I'm going to beat Goliath?" No? Well perhaps he didn't.

Do you think Ken Arneson ever said, "We're going to beat Maine West?" No? Well he did.

Forest View's coach Arneson made that statement about tomorrow night's battle between his Falcons and Maine's Warriors. Though it may seem incredible, Arneson made his prediction and he had the arguments to back it up.

When reminded that Maine has never lost in 15 Mid-Suburban League engagements, Arneson commented, "We're just starting to jell now and this would be a good time for Maine to lose." Since a loss would mean that the MW contingent would fall into a tie with Forest View this time would be especially good, for the Falcons.

WHEN TOLD of the Warriors' mighty offense, which has averaged over 28 points more per game than opponents, the FV head man fired back, "We have better balance than they do. They get scoring from only two or three players while we have five who can score."

TIME

COACHES
Forest View — Ken Arneson.
Maine East — Gaston Freeman.

The two players Arneson refers to are center Jim Smith and forward Stoney Jackson who total almost 36 points between them in each game. Can they be stopped? "I think our defense is strong enough to slow them up," stated Arneson. "We won't shut them out but they won't get thirty."

Maine also possesses an excellent defense which has shut off opponents with only 37 points a game. What about that? "Our defense is better than theirs," said the Forest View coach. The Falcons have held other clubs to 45 points a game and only kept two enemies under 40.

THE ONLY doubt the FV director had concerning the outcome against Maine was about controlling the boards. "If they were going to beat us, they'd have to do it rebounding." Having stated his single question concerning the coming battle, Arneson turned from the Warriors to a consideration of his own forces.

He started with junior center Jim Baumgardt. "Baumgardt is

PADDOCK'S SPORTS department displays the two plaques that were presented this week to the team champions in the 1964 Paddock Publications bowling tournaments. The team champs each receive a large traveling trophy which they exchange for the plaques just prior to the next tournament. Morton Pontiac won the men's meet and Lauterburg & Oehler ruled the women's festivities last winter. The traveling trophies are on display at Thunderbird Bowl and Elk Grove Bowl, sites of the 1965 tournaments. Left to right, Michael Hess, Sports Editor Bob Frisk, and Tom Tully. (Staff photo)

Meets R-B, Barrington

Cardinal Five Home Twice Over Weekend

by BOB FRISK

For a school that has finished in the first division only two times in 13 years of West Suburban Conference basketball Arlington High should be feeling pretty good these days.

Coach Ted Wissen's Cardinals concluded the first half of league play last weekend with a 4-3 record, and they swing into the second half schedule with a fourth place position in the West Suburban hardwood action.

Lean years have been the rule rather than the exception in basketball for Arlington since the early 1950's, and the 1964-65 quintet would like nothing better than to achieve the school's highest West Suburban finish in history.

THE 1958-59 entry, coached by Frank Bohac, posted an 8-6 record for third place in the conference and Norm Patberg's 1961-62 Cardinals were 8-6 and fourth. Eight victories are the most an Arlington team has ever recorded in one season of West Suburban play.

Wissen's Cardinals, standing 6-7 for the season, will be shooting for their fifth West Suburban win Friday night with a home bout against a formidable Riverside-Brookfield five. Arlington will entertain Barrington of the North Suburban Conference Saturday in a non-conference engagement.

Arlington is only one game behind Riverside and York in the battle for second place behind unbeaten LaGrange. The Lions swept to seven straight wins in first half competition.

RIVERSIDE comes to town after giving LaGrange fits in a league game last Saturday night. The Bulldogs held a 32-30 lead after three quarters and finally succumbed 48-46.

Jim O'Toole (6-2) and Fred Flick (6-0) are Riverside's top scorers in West Suburban play with 94 points in seven games. Phil Lange, a 5-foot-10 guard, is next in line with 84. You wouldn't get many arguments if you called Lange and Flick

100 Teams, 500 Bowlers Vie for Trophies, Cash

The bowling spotlight in the Northwest Suburban area focuses on Thunderbird Bowl in Mount Prospect Saturday and Sunday as Paddock Publications stages its 14th Annual Inter-League Handicap tournament for men.

One hundred teams and 500 bowlers will vie for honors at the Mount Prospect establishment with the first squad rolling at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

Scorekeepers

Scorekeepers have been assigned for Paddock Publications men's bowling tournament. They are:

Wilma Strehlow, Harriet Rahn, Marian Phillips, Iva Crowcroft, Espar Oja, Gloria Wille, Pamela Magnuson, Lee Magnuson, Rosella Huntley, Mickey Currati, Laura Skoog, Jane Jorgensen, Mae Zimmanek, Vern Sowinski, Art Jorgensen, and Don Wille.

There will be only one session Saturday with four following on Sunday at 1:00, 3:25, 5:50, and 8:15 p.m.

ENTRIES have been processed, bowling and prize fees have been paid, scorekeepers hired, and the lanes are all set for the big tournament this weekend with hundreds of fans expected to be on hand to watch the competition.

The tournament will climax competition since the first week in September when members of every men's league in the area had the opportunity to enter the tourney, providing their team was in first place as of Dec. 26, 1964.

The bowlers will be shooting for the large traveling trophy, five individual trophies, and an estimated $750 in team prizes. There's a $10 award for high single team game (actual).

UNOFFICIAL results of the tournament will be posted immediately following its conclusion. There results will be published in detail in the paper, but no prize money will be paid for about three weeks, pending verification of averages and checking of scores.

Last year Morton Pontiac of the Paddock Classic Traveling League swept to the top prize in the men's competition with a 3064 series, just 102 pins shy of the meet record.

Morton headed runnerup Colt Restaurant and Lounge by 48 pins in the battle for the coveted team prize.

THE CLASSIC League teams have been turning in some solid performances in recent years, and Concourse Sports Chalet, representing the Paddock league this winter, will be a team to watch in the weekend action.

Concourse will bring a 933 average and 138 handicap into the tournament, and they'll roll in the 8:15 p.m. shift Sunday.

Largest handicap will be carried by Wheeling Bowl with a 579. They go off at 1:00 p.m. Sunday with a 723 average.

THE TOP TEAM total ever registered in the Paddock men's meet was a 3166 by Highland Motors of the Paddock Classic in 1963. The lowest for a champion, with handicap, was the 2899 posted by Len & Sev's IGA in 1954.

Dave Catherwood holds the tourney series mark with a booming 701 scratch in 1963. Walter Behm, bowling for Inland Decorators in the 1964 meet, achieved the top single game in history with a 279.

Bob Paddock, vice-president and promotion director of Paddock Publications, will be in charge of the men's competition. He will be assisted by Irv Kehe and George Kusch.

Thunderbird Bowl is located on Rand Road in Mount Prospect, approximately one-half mile south of Randhurst.

By State Association

Wrestling Sites, Entries Listed

Sites and entries for the district and sectional wrestling tournaments were announced this week by the Illinois High School Association.

Twenty-eight district meets will be held on February 11-13 with sectional competition February 18-20.

Four districts are subsidiary to each of the seven sectional centers and winners of the first two places in each weight classification will advance to sectional competition on February 18-20. First and second place wrestlers in the sectionals will advance to the state finals.

ARLINGTON, Forest View, Prospect, Conant, Palatine, and Wheeling will join Maine West and Maine East in the Forest View district with the finalists advancing to the Palatine Sectional.

Also feeding into the Palatine meet will be the Elgin (Larkin) District which includes Paddock area entries Larkin, Elgin (H.S.), and Lake Park.

Fenton will vie for spots at Northlake (West Leyden) with St. Patrick, York, Elmwood Park, East Leyden, Ridgewood, West Leyden, and Maine South with the winners also advancing to Palatine.

The Palatine Sectional field will be rounded out by the Rockford (Guilford) winners.

Willowbrook High School is set for the LaGrange (Lyons) District with the host school, St. Mel, Proviso West, Proviso East, Oak Park, Holy Cross, and Riverside-Brookfield. Winners there will advance to the Oak Lawn (Comm.) Sectional.

Falcons' Gymnasts Even Mark at 3-3

After losing their first three dual meets, the varsity gymnasts of Forest View have done a complete about face and, last Saturday, they won their third straight meet.

The varsity Falcons knocked off Glenbrook North 80½ to 51½ to even their record while, on the frosh-soph level, FV was registering a split by beating Glenbrook 71-60 and being downed by Arlington 84-48.

Against Glenbrook the varsity gym men were paced by Garth Freeman and Dick Antti. Freeman took firsts on the horizontal bar and parallel bars in addition to a fifth on the trampoline and a sixth in tumbling to rack up 17 points. A total of 17½ points were scored by Antti with seconds on the rings and side horse, a third in tumbling and a third place tie on the parallel bars.

Others taking top honors in their events for the varsity, coached by Gay Hughes were Dave Hippensteel on the trampoline, John Medley on the side horse and Jeff Weaver on the rings. Weaver's 145 rating was the highest of the meet.

For the frosh-sophs, coached by Hal Sprehe, the individual winners against Glenbrook were Barry Gustafson with firsts on the horizontal bar and parallel bars, Bill Glab on the trampoline, Mike Damore on the side horse and Pat Murphy in tumbling. Patterson took the only first in the Arlington meet by winning on the parallel bars.

The lower level gym men are now 4-3 for the season.

Next meets for the Forest View gymnasts are this Saturday at 2:00 p.m. when they host Niles North and next Tuesday when they travel to West Leyden.

Cards Home for Two Cage Games

Riverside rocked Arlington in the first meeting between the schools, 67-49, exploding to a 22-6 advantage after one period.

WHILE RIVERSIDE has been having its share of success this year, Barrington's Bronchos, Arlington's opponent Saturday, have suffered through a miserable campaign. Jim Epperson's crew has won only once in 14 contests, an early-season victory over McHenry.

"We've been getting killed on the boards," Epperson admits. "I brought up a sophomore after the holidays in hopes he could help us out in rebounding. Jusits (John), a returning regular, just hasn't been doing the job although he has been scoring some."

The soph Epperson has with the varsity is Bill VanWambeke, a 6-foot-5, 200-pounder.

Rounding out the Bronchos' probable alignment Saturday will be Paul Baker (6-1), Jim Johnson (5-10), and Don Schumaker (5-11).

ARLINGTON football fans will remember Johnson as the quarterback who fired a 52-yard scoring pass in the final 23 seconds to give Barrington a 26-20 victory over the host Cardinals. Baker and Schumaker also played on that Broncho eleven.

Arlington's Wissen plans no changes in his alignment. He admitted the Cards had one of those nights "when everything went wrong" at LaGange but saw some bright spots in the win over Glenbard West.

Bob Conner enjoyed the finest night of his high school career against Glenbard with 31 points, and the lanky senior now stands in a tie for third in the league scoring derby. Bob has 109 for seven league games, a 15.5 average.

With that win over Glenbard last Saturday, Arlington matched its total of victories for the 1963-64 season. The Cards were 6-16 last winter, and they're 6-7 right now.

Falcons Battle Maine's Warriors

learning the moves now. He's getting good position under the basket, his timing has improved, he's following up and rebounding very well and he's strong underneath on both offense and defense. He's the one who will guard Smith."

Then Arneson changed the subject to junior forward Jeff Grismer. "Grismer has done a good job on defense all season long. He's quick, he guards well and he's a very good jumper. He'll be on Jackson."

CONTINUED Arneson, on senior forward Steve Jacobsen: "He'll be guarding the other starting forward." That other forward will either be Chuck Peterson or Ted Wolters. Peterson carries a nine point average while Wolters scores under three points per game.

A problem for the Falcons this season has been the performance of Pat Dunnigan, junior forward who was counted on to be one of the best in the conference. "Pat has come along quite a ways in the last few games," said Arneson. "He has to use his good left hand more but he's driving well. He'll start at guard." At the other guard for FV will be Byron Borgardt.

Opposing the Forest View back court pair will be Maine's starting guards Bill Verber and Don Kinder, who average under five points between them.

LOOKING PAST Maine West for a moment the Falcons' coach had a word to say about Saturday night's date to host Wheeling, coached by Mike Owens. The Wildcats, 0-5 in the league, are paced by the scoring of Mark Newman who has a 71 point total in five M-SL battles. However, Newman won't start against FV. It seems that coach Owens has benched him.

What about Wheeling? Answered Arneson, "They're a weak ball club (I don't think we'll let them score much), but we can't let up against them."

Then, returning to the main business at hand, Arneson repeated his original statement, "We're going to beat Maine West." With that, he concluded.

Can Arneson's prediction be taken seriously? Probably as seriously as David's boast about the giant, but then, remember what happened to Goliath?

Warriors Sweep Wildcats

Powerful Maine West hammered Wheeling at all four levels in Mid-Suburban wrestling at Maine last Friday.

The Warrior varsity disposed of the Cats 45-2, racking up four pins and a forfeit victory along the way. Ron Ploshay, Warrior 103 pounder, had the evening's fastest fall. He stopped Dennis Kneip in :13. Wheeling's only score came at 112 pounds where Karl Meisenheimer managed a 5-5 tie with John Krumpos.

The Maine jayvees earned a 36-6 verdict. Wheeling averted a shutout on decisions by Ray Weidner at 95 and Ted Fraser at 103. The Warriors won the last ten bouts.

The soph meet went to Maine by a 35-11 count. The Wildcats gained two decisions and a pin in this one. Rich Haddock won on a fall at 154 while the decisions went to Phil Reed at 112 and Chris Hodge at 138.

Wheeling came closest in the frosh scramble where Maine copped a 38-16 decision. The Cats got wins from Steve Johnson (112), Tom Russell (133), Ron Goffman (145) and Ron Frediani (heavyweight).

Prospect to Travel Friday; Entertains Titan Five Saturday

by MICHAEL HESS

Warning: Do Not Stub Your Toe!!

That's the sign out for Prospect as a weekend of double activity approaches marking the half-way point in Mid-Suburban League cage action.

The Knights travel to Deerfield tomorrow and return home Saturday to host Glenbrook South in two M-SL contests which should be easy but if stumbled upon, could be disastrous.

At the moment Prospect is 4-1 in conference, 10-2 overall, has won five in a row and has been given an honorable mention in the last two ratings of state teams. Considering that they face only lesser opponents in their next four battles, the future seems rosy for the Knights. BUT . . .!

BUT ONE SLIP, one stumble, one stubbed toe in defeat over any of the coming "easy" matches and Prospect would drop in the league, drop in overall record and disappear from any future state rankings. So, the order of business for the Knights is to dispose of their opponents one at a time starting tomorrow with Deerfield.

The Deerfield Warriors, coached by Lyle Frahm, are a quintet which has had trouble. They're just 2-3 in the Mid-Suburban, only 3-8 overall and they're dominated by juniors who haven't put in a lot of playing time. Frahm's five does have some height and scoring punch, however, and they'll have a home court advantage in tomorrow's contest.

At Deerfield

	Prospect		Deerfield
6- 3	Mader	F	McDermott	6- 0
6- 2	Johnson	F	Lindquist	6- 2
6- 3	MacKay	C	Fuzzey	6- 2
5-11	Kerr	G	Morrison	5- 7
5-11	Phillips	G	Benedict	6-1

TIME
Junior varsity preliminary at 7:00 p.m.
COACHES
Prospect — Warren Collier.
Deerfield — Lyle Frahm.

What are the Warriors' chances against Prospect? Stated Frahm: "It will be a tough game but if we put out a good effort we'll be in it all the way. If not, then we may get beaten badly." Stated Prospect's coach Warren Collier: "They lost a lot from last year, so they're inexperienced. They work from a man to man, press a lot and that might bother us, but we haven't had much trouble stopping teams that run. And they haven't shown too much defense."

PACING THE Warriors' attack are Tom Fuzzey, a junior center with a 12.8 scoring average, and Rusty Benedict, a senior guard with an 8.4 point average. Fuzzey and junior forward John Lindquist are the big men on the boards and pull down around 20 Deerfield rebounds per game. Ken Morrison and Dick McDurmott, both juniors, round out the starting five.

Last Friday those starters bowed 59-56 to the team Prospect plays this Saturday, Glenbrook South.

Over in the Spartans' camp the big problem right now is the illness of Chuck Stewart, senior forward. Stewart has been leveled by pneumonia and his 18 points and 10 rebounds per game will be sorely missed by GS if he can't play this weekend.

"The game with Prospect could be close," said Dave Etienne, Glenbrook's head man. "Having Stewart in there could be the big difference."

TOPPING THE TITANS is 6-5 junior Mike Reeves, the top scorer in the M-SL with 113 points in his five league games. "Reeves is a good offensive player," said coach Collier, "but if we play the kind of ball we're capable of we'll stand a good chance."

That "kind of ball" Prospect's capable of was demonstrated last Friday when Collier's quintet knocked off Niles North 60-35. "I thought we played real good ball," said Collier. "We hit 12 of 16 shots in the first half and fifty-four per cent for the whole game. We were effective on defense and only had one turnover in the first twenty minutes of play."

Last year the Knights defeated Deerfield 67-49 and 68-60 while getting by Glenbrook South 52-45 and 48-40. This year?

"If we play the game we did against Niles," concluded Collier, "we'll win both games." The Knights will have to play well; they'll have to win both. After all, a stub of the toe could ruin everything.

Village Shell Wins 7th Game

The Village Shell entry ran its unbeaten string to seven games in recent action in the Elk Grove Men's basketball league.

The Shell team downed the Bills 64-36 with Tom Kowalski pouring in 17 points. Bill Duchay had 10 for the losers.

Bob Schmidt and Don Tabeka combined for 48 points as the Bullets downed the Saints, 61-39. Don Turschmann had 17 in a losing cause.

Spruce Inn whipped the Zephyrs, 62-33, as Ben Stogis tossed in 18 markers.

All games are played in the Grove Junior High School gymnasium.

Tenth Win For Sophs Of Prospect

Number ten was easy!!

The sophomore cagers of Prospect took their tenth straight victory of the season last Saturday by smothering Niles North 75-37.

Leading the winning sophs, who were never behind and never in truble, were Al Shers, who tallied 30 points, and Dave Kingman, who registered 18. Shers has now scored 191 points in the Knights' 10 games and Kingman has totaled 115.

The unbeaten sophomores, coached by John MacDougal, will be seeking win number eleven when they travel to Deerfield this Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

Grandt Nears School Record; Lions Face League Doubleheader

by BOB FRISK

Now that they don't have to worry about catching the Chicagoland's classy leaders again for a few more weeks St. Viator's varsity basketball Lions can settle down and try to climb back into the first division of the league scramble.

Coach Larry Nomellini's outfit, saddled with a three-game losing streak after dropping decisions to touted St. Patrick and DeLaSalle last weekend, will attempt to initiate that climb Friday evening with a road game at St. Joseph.

The Arlington Heights crew, standing 8-6 for the season and 1-3 in Chicagoland firing, will return home Saturday to entertain Holy Cross.

ALTHOUGH the season is still young, DeLaSalle and St. Pat's have already established a two-game lead in the Chicagoland.

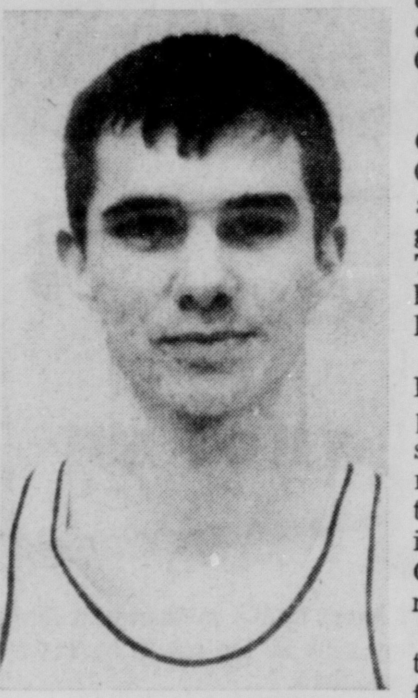
At St. Joseph

	St. Viator		St. Joseph
6- 6	Pomplun	F	Desmond	6- 2
6- 3	Dumke	F	Graziano	5-10
6- 4	Grandt	C	Miller	6- 4
6- 1	Erfort	G	Kerstein	5-10
	OPEN	G	Olsen	5-10

TIME
Preliminary game, 6:30 p.m., Friday.

They should both bring handsome 5-0 league standards into a battle at St. Patrick Saturday night.

The jockeying for position behind the Shamrocks and Meteors has been interesting with only one game separating the third place outfit from the seventh. St. Mel is the only team without a win after two weeks of league competition.



CHUCK GRANDT

Although St. Viator is tied with Holy Cross for sixth place right now, two vicotries over the weekend could push the Lions as high as third.

LEADING St. Viator in its bid to move up in the standings is 6-foot-4 senior Chuck Grandt, the second best scorer in the Chicagoland league who is only 18 points away from a school scoring record.

Grandt will bring 642 career points as a varsity player into Friday's game with St. Joseph. He needs only 18 this weekend to eclipse the mark of 659 set by guard Jim Murray.

One of the highlights of Friday's bout at St. Joseph will be the duel between Grandt and the host's Tommy Miller, a 6-foot-4 junior who currently owns a slim three-point lead over the st. Viator center in the Chicagoland scoring race.

ALTHOUGH MILLER is the Chargers' top scorer, coach Pat Callahan also has been getting some help on the attack from guards Don Olsen (5-10) and Tommy Kerstein (5-10). Olsen has been good for 38 points in league play and Kerstein 42.

John Graziano (5-10) and Dennis Desmond (6-2) will probably round out the St. Joseph alignment Friday. Desmond didn't score in the first two league games but chipped in with seven against St. George and six against St. Ignatius.

When Holy Cross comes to town Saturday, they'll feature a former St. Viator player in the starting lineup. Joe Sanchez, a 5-foot-10 junior who spent his first two years with the Lions, is a regular in the backcourt for the Crusaders and their top scorer in Chicagoland play.

SANCHEZ AND runningmate Don Storino (6-0) have both drilled 44 points in the league action. Frank Petritis, a 6-0 forward who was all-league as a junior, hasn't had to carry the entire scoring load for Holy Cross but still owns 42 points in four Chicagoland contests.

Jim Stuercke, a 6-foot-2 junior, has 39 in league outings as further proof of the fine balance displayed by the Crusaders.

There may be a new look in the Lion alignment Friday with one of the guard slots listed as "open." Nomellini indicated that his choice of a starting five would be dictated by the drills during the week.

Glenbrook Star 'Doubtful'

Cats Host Titans, Meet FV On Road

by TOM TULLY

There is a suspicion that after last week's 83-25 defeat at the hands of Maine West, the Mid-Suburban league has declared Wheeling worthy of foreign aid.

Mike Owens' Wildcats, freshly imbued with the knowledge that they play the game a little differently at Maine West, may get some breaks this weekend. Friday night's opponent might come to town without one of its stars and Saturday's foe may be making a rapid descent from the heavenly bodies.

Wheeling's basketball blessings look like this. Tomorrow evening Glenbrook South pays a visit. Titan veteran, Chuck Stewart, owner of an 18 point average and collector of more than ten rebounds per game, is not expected to see action. The 6-4 forward has a touch of pneumonia and is ticketed for a reserve role at best. With Prospect on the Titan docket for Saturday evening, coach Dave Etienne is not likely to show his ace unless a showdown is forced.

ON SATURDAY evening, the Cats board the bus for Forest View. The Falcons have no physical ailments, but may be interesting clients for a psychologist by the time they entertain the Cats.

Ken Arneson's team is the surprise quintet of the area. The Falcons have won nine of twelve, including a 4-1 reading in the MSC. Their 62-42 win over Glenbrook North last week was their most impressive outing of the season.

Tomorrow night while the Cats are entertaining Glenbrook, Forest View, will be trading buckets with Maine West. A win gives them the share of the league lead and Arneson will have no trouble getting them ready for that one. If the Falcons win the big one, Wheeling would probably do well to skip Saturday's date in favor of a movie. If not, the Falcons may have the mental hangover that underdogs search for.

But regardless of illness and Friday night games, Owens' Wildcats will be hardpressed to come up with a victory over the weekend. In Glenbrook, they meet a club that looks better than its 5-6 record. Even without Stewart, the Titans present a big problem for the Cat defense. Most troublesome is 6-5 junior center Mike Reeves. Reeves, a transfer from Minnesota, has a 17 point average for the season and leads the Mid-Suburban with 123 points in five games.

REEVES WILL probably be joined by Terry Wodder and John Harris, a pair of 6-2 forwards, and Ken Howenstine (5-10) and Steve Gray (5-11), a junior duo in the backcourt.

Forest View will show Wheeling good size, good defense and balanced scoring. Steve Jacobsen (6-5), Jim Baumgardt (6-4) and Pat Dunnigan (6-3) are all taller than Wheeling's biggest starter.

At Wheeling

	Glenbrook S. (5-6)		Wheeling (1-10)
6- 2	Wodder	F	Gibbon	6- 1
6- 2	Harris	F	Ferguson	6- 1
6- 5	Reeves	C	Whit'gton	6- 1
5-11	Gray	G	Foster	5- 8
5-10	How'nstine	G	Kerr	5-11

TIME: Preliminary game, 7 p.m.
COACHES: Glenbrook South, Dave Etienne; Wheeling, Mike Owens.

At Forest View

	Wheeling (1-10)		Forest Vw' (9-3)
6- 1	Gibbon	F	Jacobsen	6- 5
6- 1	Ferguson	F	Grismer	6- 1
6- 1	Whit'gton	C	Baumg'dt	6- 4
5- 8	Foster	G	Borgardt	6-11
5-11	Kerr	G	Dunnigan	6- 3

TIME: Preliminary game, 7 p.m.
COACHES: Wheeling, Mike Owens; Forest View, Ken Arneson.

The Cats, who have had their troubles in the scoring department, are not likely to enjoy a Falcon defense that has held eight opponents to less than 50 points and two to fewer than 40.

Braumgardt, one of four juniors in the Falcon lineup, is the leading scorer on the club with a twelve point average, but forward Jeff Grismer is setting the pace in conference competition with 66 points.

These two, along with Dunnigan, Jacobsen and Byron Borgard will answer the call Saturday evening.

Owens is still tinkering with the Wildcat starting unit. This week, junior John Ferguson gets a start and Mark Newman and Scott Bischoff, the team's leading scorers, go to the bench. Ferguson will take the floor with Al Gibbon, Jim Whittington, Ken Foster and Jerry Kerr.

Cards Win Two On Soph Mats

Arlington's sophomore wrestlers posted two impressive victories over the weekend.

The Cardinals blistered Antioch on Friday, 45-2, and came back for a 24-19 win over highly regarded LaGrange Saturday.

Antioch didn't score until the heavyweight division when it posted a deadlock. The Cards fashioned five pins en route to the one-sided victory.

In Saturday's West Suburban Conference outing with LaGrange the Cards pulled in front to stay at 133 pounds when Jones posted a pin at 4:18. That gave Merritt Paxton's outfit a 13-10 lead and they held on for the decision.

Whitnell won at 95 pounds 5-3, and Mills triumphed, 3-1, at 112 for the Cards' first six points. After Bakas was involved in a 3-3 deadlock at 120 LaGrange took a 10-8 lead. Jones then came through with his pin.

Other winners for the Cardinals were Somers at 138 pounds, Sims at 145, and Barkulis at 165. Sims flattened his opponent in 1:38.

the best backcourt combo in the division.

Riverside rocked Arlington in the first meeting between the schools, 67-49, exploding to a 22-6 advantage after one period.

WHILE RIVERSIDE has been having its share of success this year, Barrington's Bronchos, Arlington's opponent Saturday, have suffered through a miserable campaign. Jim Epperson's crew has won only once in 14 contests, an early-season victory over McHenry.

"We've been getting killed on the boards," Epperson admits. "I brought up a sophomore after the holidays in hopes he could help us out in rebounding. Jusits (John), a returning regular, just hasn't been doing the job although he has been scoring some."

The soph Epperson has with the varsity is Bill VanWambeke, a 6-foot-5, 200-pounder.

Rounding out the Bronchos' probable alignment Saturday will be Paul Baker (6-1), Jim Johnson (5-10), and Don Schumaker (5-11).

ARLINGTON football fans will remember Johnson as the quarterback who fired a 52-yard scoring pass in the final 23 seconds to give Barrington a 26-20 victory over the host Cardinals. Baker and Schumaker also played on that Broncho eleven.

At Arlington

	Arlington		Riverside
6- 5	Connor	F	Klecka	6- 3
6- 0	Lockwood	F	O'Toole	6- 2
6- 7	Lloyd	C	Buresh	6- 6
6- 2	Allen	G	Flick	6- 0
5-10	Frase	G	Lange	5-10

Time

Preliminary game, 7 p.m., Friday.

Arlington's Wissen plans no changes in his alignment. He admitted the Cards had one of those nights "when everything went wrong" at LaGange but saw some bright spots in the win over Glenbard West.

Bob Conner enjoyed the finest night of his high school career against Glenbard with 31 points, and the lanky senior now stands in a tie for third in the league scoring derby. Bob has 109 for seven league games, a 15.5 average.

With that win over Glenbard last Saturday, Arlington matched its total of victories for the 1963-64 season. The Cards were 6-16 last winter, and they're 6-7 right now.

Falcons Battle Maine's Warriors

learning the moves now. He's getting good position under the basket, his timing has improved, he's following up and rebounding very well and he's strong underneath on both offense and defense. He's the one who will guard Smith."

Then Arneson changed the subject to junior forward Jeff Grismer. "Grismer has done a good job on defense all season long. He's quick, he guards well and he's a very good jumper. He'll be on Jackson."

CONTINUED Arneson, on senior forward Steve Jacobsen: "He'll be guarding the other starting forward." That other forward will either be Chuck Peterson or Ted Wolters. Peterson carries a nine point average while Wolters scores under three points per game.

A problem for the Falcons this season has been the performance of Pat Dunnigan, junior forward who was counted on to be one of the best in the conference. "Pat has come along quite a ways in the last few games," said Arneson. "He has to use his good left hand more but he's driving well. He'll start at guard." At the other guard for FV will be Byron Borgardt.

Opposing the Forest View back court pair will be Maine's starting guards Bill Verber and Don Kinder, who average under five points between them.

LOOKING PAST Maine West for a moment the Falcons' coach had a word to say about Saturday night's date to host Wheeling, coached by Mike Owens. The Wildcats, 0-5 in the league, are paced by the scoring of Mark Newman who has a 71 point total in five M-SL battles. However, Newman won't start against FV. It seems that coach Owens has benched him.

What about Wheeling? Answered Arneson, "They're a weak ball club (I don't think we'll let them score much), but we can't let up against them."

Then, returning to the main business at hand, Arneson repeated his original statement, "We're going to beat Maine West." With that, he concluded.

Can Arneson's prediction be taken seriously? Probably as seriously as David's boast about the giant, but then, remember what happened to Goliath?

Warriors Sweep Wildcats

Powerful Maine West hammered Wheeling at all four levels in Mid-Suburban wrestling at Maine last Friday.

The Warrior varsity disposed of the Cats 45-2, racking up four pins and a forfeit victory along the way. Ron Ploshay, Warrior 103 pounder, had the evening's fastest fall. He stopped Dennis Kneip in :13. Wheeling's only score came at 112 pounds where Karl Meisenheimer managed a 5-5 tie with John Krumpos.

The Maine jayvees earned a 36-6 verdict. Wheeling averted a shutout on decisions by Ray Weidner at 95 and Ted Fraser at 103. The Warriors won the last ten bouts.

The soph meet went to Maine by a 35-11 count. The Wildcats gained two decisions and a pin in this one. Rich Haddock won on a fall at 154 while the decisions went to Phil Reed at 112 and Chris Hodge at 138.

Wheeling came closest in the frosh scramble where Maine copped a 38-16 decision. The Cats got wins from Steve Johnson (112), Tom Russell (133), Ron Goffman (145) and Ron Frediani (heavyweight).

Prospect to Travel Friday; Entertains Titan Five Saturday

by MICHAEL HESS

Warning: Do Not Stub Your Toe!!

That's the sign out for Prospect as a weekend of double activity approaches marking the half-way point in Mid-Suburban League cage action.

The Knights travel to Deerfield tomorrow and return home Saturday to host Glenbrook South in two M-SL contests which should be easy but if stumbled upon, could be disastrous.

At the moment Prospect is 4-1 in conference, 10-2 overall, has won five in a row and has been given an honorable mention in the last two ratings of state teams. Considering that they face only lesser opponents in their next four battles, the future seems rosy for the Knights. BUT . . .!

BUT ONE SLIP, one stumble, one stubbed toe in defeat over any of the coming "easy" matches and Prospect would drop in the league, drop in overall record and disappear from any future state rankings. So, the order of business for the Knights is to dispose of their opponents one at a time starting tomorrow with Deerfield.

The Deerfield Warriors, coached by Lyle Frahm, are a quintet which has had trouble. They're just 2-3 in the Mid-Suburban, only 3-8 overall and they're dominated by juniors who haven't put in a lot of playing time. Frahm's five does have some height and scoring punch, however, and they'll have a home court advantage in tomorrow's contest.

At Deerfield

	Prospect		Deerfield
6- 3	Mader	F	McDermott	6- 0
6- 2	Johnson	F	Lindquist	6- 2
6- 3	MacKay	C	Fuzzey	6- 2
5-11	Kerr	G	Morrison	5- 7
5-11	Phillips	G	Benedict	6-1

TIME

Junior varsity preliminary at 7:00 p.m.

COACHES

Prospect — Warren Collier.
Deerfield — Lyle Frahm.

What are the Warriors' chances against Prospect? Stated Frahm: "It will be a tough game but if we put out a good effort we'll be in it all the way. If not, then we may get beaten badly." Stated Prospect's coach Warren Collier: "They lost a lot from last year, so they're inexperienced. They work from a man to man, press a lot and that might bother us, but we haven't had much trouble stopping teams that run. And they haven't shown too much defense."

PACING THE Warriors' attack are Tom Fuzzey, a junior center with a 12.8 scoring average, and Rusty Benedict, a senior guard with an 8.4 point average. Fuzzey and junior forward John Lindquist are the big men on the boards and pull down around 20 Deerfield rebounds per game. Ken Morrison and Dick McDurmott, both juniors, round out the starting five.

Last Friday those starters bowed 59-56 to the team Prospect plays this Saturday, Glenbrook South.

Over in the Spartans' camp the big problem right now is the illness of Chuck Stewart, senior forward. Stewart has been leveled by pneumonia and his 18 points and 10 rebounds per game will be sorely missed by GS if he can't play this weekend.

"The game with Prospect could be close," said Dave Etienne, Glenbrook's head man. "Having Stewart in there could be the big difference."

TOPPING THE TITANS is 6-5 junior Mike Reeves, the top scorer in the M-SL with 113 points in his five league games. "Reeves is a good offensive player," said coach Collier, "but if we play the kind of ball we're capable of we'll stand a good chance."

That "kind of ball" Prospect's capable of was demonstrated last Friday when Collier's quintet knocked off Niles North 60-35. "I thought we played real good ball," said Collier. "We hit 12 of 16 shots in the first half and fifty-four per cent for the whole game. We were effective on defense and only had one turnover in the first twenty minutes of play."

Last year the Knights defeated Deerfield 67-49 and 68-60 while getting by Glenbrook South 52-45 and 48-40. This year?

"If we play the game we did against Niles," concluded Collier, "we'll win both games." The Knights will have to play well; they'll have to win both. After all, a stub of the toe could ruin everything.

Village Shell Wins 7th Game

The Village Shell entry ran its unbeaten string to seven games in recent action in the Elk Grove Men's basketball league.

The Shell team downed the Bills 64-36 with Tom Kowalski pouring in 17 points. Bill Duchay had 10 for the losers.

Bob Schmidt and Don Tabeka combined for 48 points as the Bullets downed the Saints, 61-39. Don Turschmann had 17 in a losing cause.

Spruce Inn whipped the Zephyrs, 62-33, as Ben Stogis tossed in 18 markers.

All games are played in the Grove Junior High School gymnasium.

Cards Win Two On Soph Mats

Arlington's sophomore wrestlers posted two impressive victories over the weekend.

The Cardinals blistered Antioch on Friday, 45-2, and came back for a 24-19 win over highly regarded LaGrange Saturday.

Antioch didn't score until the heavyweight division when it posted a deadlock. The Cards fashioned five pins en route to the one-sided victory.

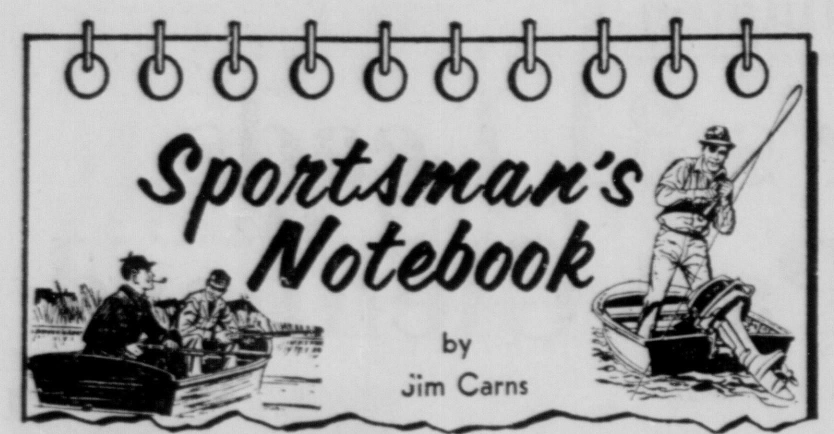
In Saturday's West Suburban Conference outing with LaGrange the Cards pulled in front to stay at 133 pounds when Jones posted a pin at 4:18. That gave Merritt Paxton's outfit a 13-10 lead and they held on for the decision.

Whitnell won at 95 pounds 5-3, and Mills triumphed, 3-1, at 112 for the Cards' first six points. After Bakas was involved in a 3-3 deadlock at 120 LaGrange took a 10-8 lead. Jones then came through with his pin.

Other winners for the Cardinals were Somers at 138 pounds, Sims at 145, and Barkulis at 165. Sims flattened his opponent in 1:38.



Sportsman's Notebook

by

Jim Carns

A TEMPORARY SETBACK has been suffered by at least one member of the Paddock Publications sports staff—a part-timer who writes an outdoor column. It seems rabbit season is about over; he can't afford to go south; and to finish off the unfortunate series he just can't get ready for ice fishing.

Now the surroundings aren't working against him. He lives in Lake Zurich, adjacent to a tolerable lake and close to many others which draw fishermen from miles around.

He fishes from spring to late fall, has been known to drive a thousand miles in pursuit of anything from a crappie to a sauger, and doesn't even mind sitting hours on a mud bank waiting for a catfish to smell out his stink bait.

But sitting over a small hole in the ice, wondering if fish could possibly get as cold as he is, upsets him.

Perhaps he is not the "Compleat Angler," but he can't remember that Walton said anything about ice, or saws, or drills, or jigs, or flags.

He recalls distinctly that much of the pleasure of fishing in several warm seasons past has involved a long, limber rod and the tension of knowing that he had gone a long way toward evening the odds in what could have been a lopsided struggle.

He would prefer to kid himself that cold is not a factor, and reasons aloud for anyone within earshot that he has spent some pretty cold days on a stand for deer or trying to kick up a nonexistent rabbit.

But in the next breath he admits that excitement is one thing which warms the blood, and anticipation of either a deer or a rabbit is a bit more exciting for him than waiting with pocketed hands for a flag to raise.

Many attackers, including his conscience, then shout, "Don't knock it if you haven't tried it." To this he offers no rebuttal—only a barely audible resolution to do that very thing this year and get it over with.

Then he thinks to himself, "I'll go out on that infernal frozen waste and step into one of those infernal fishing holes, and that will be an end to it."

Well, what can you say to a guy like this? You can tell him, of course, to drive out onto the ice. Then if he makes it to a fishing area he will have his carbon monoxide to keep him warm; and if he doesn't make it, he will go down in style.

The resolution is made, even though this incomplete angler will probably cringe at its appearance in the unforgetting medium of print.

Next weekend he will probably think to himself how much better it would be to sit home and clean his guns, or oil his tackle, or even labor over the apparatus necessary to create a set of arrows.

He will certainly think of spring, and the first day—no matter how bleak—he can take off to a trout stream with a quarter-ounce rod and 100 yards of three-pound test line.

No matter how frustrating and depressing the image of a parka-clad and icicle-encrusted stool-sitter on Lake Marie, it still seems only temporary.

And he is couched in the firm belief that he must try it only once to deal sufficiently with his conscience and all objectors, and then go back to preparing for greater pursuits.

Cards Stop New Trier

A long layoff didn't hamper Arlington High School's gymnastics teams.

The varsity and frosh-soph Cardinals came back after being idle for almost one month and recorded impressive victories over LaGrange and New Trier last weekend.

Arlington's varsity routed LaGrange, 94-38, and then handed New Trier its first loss of the season, 74-58. The Cardinal sophs topped the Cubs 91-41 and New Trier 67-65.

"THAT WIN over New Trier was our best victory to date," Cardinal boss Tom Walthouse enthused. "We're beginning to roll, and I just hope the boys can keep it up. We're looking forward to meeting an undefeated Evanston team on Saturday, Jan. 30."

Jim Johannesen, a standout all season, scored 17 points with a first on the parallel bars, second in tumbling, and second on the high bar. He had a 166 routine on the parallel bars.

Gary Holveck gave Arlington its other first with a 159 routine on the trampoline.

Bert Schmitt picked up eight points for the winners with a fourth on the high bar and second on the parallel bars.

There were no details available on the varsity meet with LaGrange.

IN FROSH-SOPH competition Tom Dunn sparkled as the Cardinals rolled to a 91-41 win over LaGrange. He scored 25 points with firsts on the high bar, parallel bars, and rings and third on the side horse.

Dave Johnson and Bill Morrisett were the pace-setters as Arlington's sophs handed New Trier its first loss of the season. Johnson posted firsts on the parallel bars and rings and a third on the trampoline for 18 points. Morrisett had a first on the tramp and second in tumbling.

Arlington will host Glenbard West this Friday, Jan. 22, at 4 p.m.

Lions' Frosh Triumph, 38-27

St. Viator's frosh Lions rolled past DeLaSalle last week, 38-27, with a balanced attack.

Pat Zeller paced the scoring with 11 points. Bill Reising contributed 10, Tim Moore nine, and Bill Yeager seven.

The young Lions held a 17-15 lead at halftime and pulled in front 28-21 after three quarters.

Score by quarters:

Prospect Wins, 60-35

Viking Stall Fails To Halt Knight Five

by MARV PRELLBERG, Jr.

Prospect High's varsity basketball team continued its winning ways last Friday night with a 60-35 home court victory over Niles North.

The Knights took advantage of Niles North's keep-away type of tactics to build up a 14-0 lead, and then ran away with the game when Coach Babe Baptist's Niles five switched to a regular free-scoring pattern of offense.

For the fans who arrived after the opening tip-off, there was no necessity to rush for their seats in fear of missing some lively action.

THE OPENING tip went to Niles North, and the Vikings immediately went into a pass-and-cut drill that continued until 4:47 was left in the first quarter. At that point a back-court infraction forced them to give up the ball.

Prospect failed to capitalize on this ball-handling error, and the Vikings continued their sure-shot strategy. With a little over one minute remaining in the first quarter, a sum total of three field goal attempts had been tried, one by Prospect and two by Niles North.

With approximately one minute left in the opening quarter the Knights obtained possession of the ball, and, when Prospect's Steve Johnson hit on a short jump shot, only 52 seconds remained in this period. When the eighth minute of the quarter ticked off the clock, that two pointer was the scoring story for the first quarter.

FROM THAT point on Prospect began to capitalize on the Viking errors, until midway in the second quarter the Knights had a 14-0 lead.

The keep-away tactics of tne Niles North five had back-fired, and the Vikings now had to play catch up basketball. They were no more successful in this effort than in their original tactics, and, when the first half ended, Johnson nad notched his sixth field goal, and Prospect had a commanding 25-6 lead.

Coach Warren Collier's Knights couldn't match their 75 per cent field goal shooting average of the first half, but still managed to pad their lead in the final two quarters.

PROSPECT increased its lead to 34-6 in the opening minutes of the third frame, and Coach Collier commenced sending in a host of substitutes. The third period ended with Prospect leading 43-19.

The fourth quarter was highlighted by Knight guard Wayne Kuklinski going on a scoring spree that netted him 14 points, as the Knights coasted to the 60-35 Mid-Suburban league win.

In spite of sitting out half of the third quarter and all of the fourth period, Johnson led the victors with 17 points.

Knight Wrestlers Remain Undefeated

A change and a trio of old reliables kept the varsity wrestlers of Prospect unbeaten by pacing a win last Friday against Niles North. The final tally was 31-16.

In winning, the Knights' matmen moved their season record to 6-0. Leading in the important victory were Roy Harnish, in for the first time at 112 pounds, and three boys who do almost nothing but win for Prospect: Bill Becker, George Freeland and Mark Pasdiora.

Harnish decisioned his opponent 8-0 following an opening pin for the Knights by Mike Mohr (95) and a Prospect defeat at 103. Then, after another loss which tied the meet at 8-8, Becker (127) took his bout 5-3. It was Bill's ninth triumph in 10 matches. At 133 John Haight grabbed a decision for the eventual winners and the meet score was 14-8.

At that point Freeland (138) scored a pin, making him 11-1 for the season, and Rick Bertoglio (145) followed with a decision win to put the meet tally at 22-8. The last four matches were split.

Niles took the honors at 154 and 180 but Bob Davis won at 165 for Prospect and Pasdiora remained undefeated through 11 bouts this year by pinning his opponent in the heavyweight class.

By taking their meet with Niles, the Knights, coached by Dick Mudge, remained in a first place MidSuburban League tie with Deerfield. But that tie will be broken tomorrow when Prospect hosts Deerfield at 7:00 p.m. in a contest which could decide the conference champ.

Pomey Sparkles For Wolverines In 90-68 Win

Prospect High School graduate George Pomey turned in another strong performance for the University of Michigan basketball powerhouse Saturday as the Wolverines rocked host Northwestern, 90-68.

Pomey started at one guard, scored 11 points, and pulled down five rebounds.

Dick Kinneman of Prospect, who coached Pomey in high school, saw the game and said "George looked real good. He directed the team and turned in a tremendous game on defense."

Kinneman saw Pomey, a forward in high school, work at guard two years ago and feels that he has made impressive strides at the backcourt position. "I think he'll be a regular starter for them now," Dick said.

Michigan will be seen on television Saturday afternoon in a Big Ten game against Purdue.

Rip Glenbrook North

Easy Win Welcome For Falcon Cagers

by MICHAEL HESS

Palpitations, ulcers, hoarse voices, ringing ears and dark thoughts — those were the ailments.

Superb defense, stinging offense, good shooting, big margin and bigger victory — those were the cures and Forest View was a perfect doctor.

During recent weeks coach Ken Arneson and the Falcons' fans had suffered through six contests in which the combined scoring difference was only 19 points. General agitation had been the rule. But last Friday the FV quintet blasted Glenbrook North by 20 points, 62-42, and there was never a moment's worry for anyone, anyone that is except the losing Spartans.

ONLY A smattering of spectators were on hand as the contest opened. Perhaps the strain of past encounters had been so much that many were unwilling to brave the snow and cold just to witness another heart-stopping, ulcer-producing battle. However, it soon became evident that what would take place held nothing but restful enjoyment for anyone who favored Forest View.

The Falcons started the game by running up their biggest point out-put in any first quarter this year. With forward Jeff Grismer and guard Byron Borgardt leading the way the score was 15-5 after the opening eight minutes. Also during that period, a brilliant FV defense stopped Glenbrook without a single field goal.

When the Spartans finally did get a bucket, ninety seconds into period number two, they closed the gap quickly. Forest View stayed on top mainly through the scoring of forward Steve Jacobsen but a pair of last minute Glenbrook baskets made the intermission score 25-22.

IF THE closeness of the tally bothered anyone at that point all doubts disappeared as soon as the second half began. Paced by the markers of center Jim Baumgardt and reserve Bob O'Keefe the Falcons raced away thrugh the rest of the game.

Baumgardt put in 12 points in the final quarter to build a game leading total of 17, his best night since the season opener way back on Nov. 20. O'Keefe entered midway in the third period, bit four out of five from the floor andended with nine points. Their efforts helped the winners set another season record with a 24 point last quarter.

JIM BAUMGARDT

That last period splurge sewed up the victory and as the game ended GN coach Will Rademacher threw in the towel by throwing in his subs. Forest View had its one-sided triumph.

THE COMPLETE dominance of the FV forces is indicated by the game's final figures: The Falcons maintained a shooting percentage of over 45 from the floor and they sank 70 per cent of their foul attempts. The Spartans counted just 23 per cent from the floor and 59 per cent at the charity stripe.

The rebounding margin was 47-27 in favor of the hosts. Baumgardt was the best off the boards on either team. He took down 17 rebounds while Pat Dunnigan had 10 and Jacobsen six. In addition, a sparkling defense slowed the Glenbrook big men to a crawl.

The visitor's Jim Holder and Bryan Erler, who had averaged over 25 points between them in previous games, sank only one field goal, tallied only six points and were given only eight shots in the entire game. Doug Schuemann was the highest man for the losers with 13 points which came mainly on his 9 for 9 foul shot mark.

"Once the game started I was not worried," said a pleased coach Arneson. "We had confidence, we got the lead, we stayed in front and they didn't bother us at all." A report like that would certainly vanish the palpitations, ulcers, etc.

The way Forest View played was a perfect cure for any complaint.

St. Viator Posts Four Tank Wins

St. Viator's swimmers enjoyed a profitable week with four victories — two each on a varsity and frosh-soph level.

Coach Charles Mondi's varsity Lions routed East Leyden, 60-35, and St. George of Evanston, 70-25.

Tom Hansen's sophomores turned back East Leyden, 78-17, and St. George 84-11.

In the varsity action against Leyden the Lions picked up seven first as they turned in a 25-point decision.

Ren Tague and Jim Spears were double winners. Tague had a :24.2 clocking in the 50 freestyle and 55 second standard in the 100 free. Spears ruled the 200 individual medley (2:29) and 100 breastroke (1:09.8).

Bob Nichols gave St. Viator another first with a fine performance in diving.

The Lions triumphed in both relays. Tim Wallace, Mike Shanley, Joe Herrity, and Kevin Shea worked on the 200 medley team (1:55.2) and Hugh Zito, Shea, Bill Christianson, and Jim Cronin were on the 200 freestyle unit (1:42).

St. Viator swept to ten firsts in the easy win over St. George with eight different boys wrapping up individual victories.

POSTING WINS for Mondi's outfit were Tague in the 200 free with a school record of 2:07.5, Tom Pilat in the 200 individual medley (2:34.2), Chantry in diving, Spears in the 100 fly (1:11.7), Shea in the 100 free (:58.5), Wallace in the 100 backstroke (1:08.5), and Shanley in the 100 breastroke (1:17.7).

Once again St. Viator topped both relays. Wallace, Spears, Herrity, and John Massey worked in the 200 medley event (1:59.2) and Zito, Shea, Christianson, and Tague were on the 200 freestyle (1:40.4).

Both frosh-soph meets belonged to St. Viator with Hansen's powerhouse coasting to two easy wins.

INDIVIDUAL winners against East Leyden were Bill Richardson, George Steiner, Tom O'Gara, John McNamara, Tom Lehrke, John Lyons, and Mike Madden. O'Gara won both the 50 backstroke and 100 individual medley.

Against St. George the Lions who emerged victorious were Richardson, Lehrke, Fred Schmidt, Sophie, Lyons, Gary Gern, Bill Saigh, and Rick Kalinowski. Richardson, who won two events, set a school record in the 300 free with a 3:47.2 clocking.

The Lions also set a school mark in the 200 freestyle relay with Lehrke, Bob Brown, O'Gara, and Jim Cronin posting a 1:45.4 effort.

Knight JV's Top Pirates

Prospect defeated Palatine 27-19 in junior varsity wrestling at Palatine last Saturday.

Knight winners included Bill Kalvog, Paul Colianni, Fred Fassnacht, Nick Rutigliano, John Jantac, Mike Faklaris and Kim Schier.

Paltine victors were Mike Lewis, Mike Benham, Bill Kalvog, Jeff Clarkson, Bill Barker and Howard Tuttle. The Pirates had a 19-3 lead, but Prospect won the last five bouts, clinching the decision with pins by Faklaris and Schier.

Leyden Frosh Top Pirates

East Leyden broke up a tight game with 24 points in the fourth quarter to defeat Palatine 58-41 in a Des Plaines Valley freshman contest at the William Fremd gym last Friday.

The Eagles held a 26-24 halftime lead and a 34-29 edge after three periods, but stormed away in the final session. Dave Freeman led all scorers with 17 points. Haberland had eleven for East Leyden.

Prospect Swimmers Lose Two

The swimmers of Prospect suffered two one sided defeats at the hands of Niles North last Friday. The Knights varsity lost 73-19 as the frosh-soph tankmen were beaten 64-31.

Only individual winner for the varsity, now 1-6 for the year, was Barry Timcoe in diving. Seconds were captured by Hugh Wesler in the 100 yard butterfly, Bob Krysiak in the 100 backstroke and Jim Lutsch in the 100 breaststroke.

For the frosh-sophs there were four firsts taken. Al Schmitt won the honors in the 100 freestyle event and Tom Braakman took his specialty, the 50 breaststroke. The triumph was Braakman's sixth in six meets. The 200 individual medley and 200 yard freestyle relay teams also won at the lower level.

The next meet for the Knights swimmers, coached by Don Barrett and Chuck Sandine, will be Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at the opponent's pool, against unbeaten Deerfield.

Knight Wrestlers Remain Undefeated

A change and a trio of old reliables kept the varsity wrestlers of Prospect unbeaten by pacing a win last Friday against Niles North. The final tally was 31-16.

In winning, the Knights' matmen moved their season record to 6-0. Leading in the important victory were Roy Harnish, in for the first time at 112 pounds, and three boys who do almost nothing but win for Prospect: Bill Becker, George Freeland and Mark Pasdiora.

Harnish decisioned his opponent 8-0 following an opening pin for the Knights by Mike Mohr (95) and a Prospect defeat at 103. Then, after another loss which tied the meet at 8-8, Becker (127) took his bout 5-3. It was Bill's ninth triumph in 10 matches. At 133 John Haight grabbed a decision for the eventual winners and the meet score was 14-8.

At that point Freeland (138) scored a pin, making him 11-1 for the season, and Rick Bertoglio (145) followed with a decision win to put the meet tally at 22-8. The last four matches were split.

Niles took the honors at 154 and 180 but Bob Davis won at 165 for Prospect and Pasdiora remained undefeated through 11 bouts this year by pinning his opponent in the heavyweight class.

By taking their meet with Niles, the Knights, coached by Dick Mudge, remained in a first place MidSuburban League tie with Deerfield. But that tie will be broken tomorrow when Prospect hosts Deerfield at 7:00 p.m. in a contest which could decide the conference champ.

Pomey Sparkles For Wolverines In 90-68 Win

Prospect High School graduate George Pomey turned in another strong performance for the University of Michigan basketball powerhouse Saturday as the Wolverines rocked host Northwestern, 90-68.

Pomey started at one guard, scored 11 points, and pulled down five rebounds.

Dick Kinneman of Prospect, who coached Pomey in high school, saw the game and said "George looked real good. He directed the team and turned in a tremendous game on defense."

Kinneman saw Pomey, a forward in high school, work at guard two years ago and feels that he has made impressive strides at the backcourt position. "I think he'll be a regular starter for them now," Dick said.

Michigan will be seen on television Saturday afternoon in a Big Ten game against Purdue.

Rip Glenbrook North

Easy Win Welcome For Falcon Cagers

by MICHAEL HESS

Palpitations, ulcers, hoarse voices, ringing ears and dark thoughts — those were the ailments.

Superb defense, stinging offense, good shooting, big margin and bigger victory — those were the cures and Forest View was a perfect doctor.

During recent weeks coach Ken Arneson and the Falcons' fans had suffered through six contests in which the combined scoring difference was only 19 points. General agitation had been the rule. But last Friday the FV quintet blasted Glenbrook North by 20 points, 62-42, and there was never a moment's worry for anyone, anyone that is except the losing Spartans.

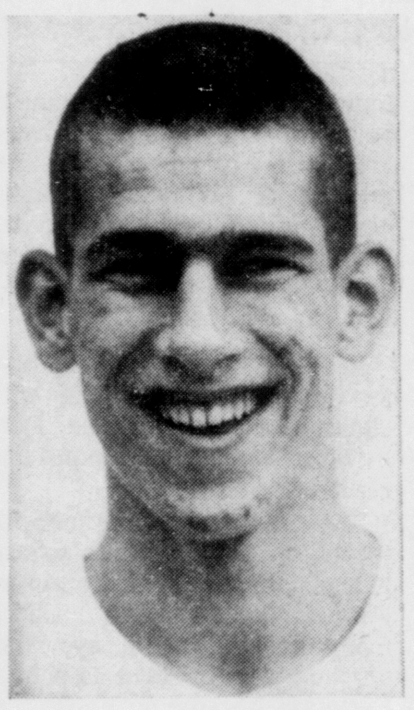
ONLY A smattering of spectators were on hand as the contest opened. Perhaps the strain of past encounters had been so much that many were unwilling to brave the snow and cold just to witness another heart-stopping, ulcer-producing battle. However, it soon became evident that what would take place held nothing but restful enjoyment for anyone who favored Forest View.

The Falcons started the game by running up their biggest point out-put in any first quarter this year. With forward Jeff Grismer and guard Byron Borgardt leading the way the score was 15-5 after the opening eight minutes. Also during that period, a brilliant FV defense stopped Glenbrook without a single field goal.

When the Spartans finally did get a bucket, ninety seconds into period number two, they closed the gap quickly. Forest View stayed on top mainly through the scoring of forward Steve Jacobsen but a pair of last minute Glenbrook baskets made the intermission score 25-22.

IF THE closeness of the tally bothered anyone at that point all doubts disappeared as soon as the second half began. Paced by the markers of center Jim Baumgardt and reserve Bob O'Keefe the Falcons raced away thrugh the rest of the game.

Baumgardt put in 12 points in the final quarter to build a game leading total of 17, his best night since the season opener way back on Nov. 20. O'Keefe entered midway in the third period, bit four out of five from the floor andended with nine points. Their efforts helped the winners set another season record with a 24 point last quarter.



JIM BAUMGARDT

That last period splurge sewed up the victory and as the game ended GN coach Will Rademacher threw in the towel by throwing in his subs. Forest View had its one-sided triumph.

THE COMPLETE dominance of the FV forces is indicated by the game's final figures: The Falcons maintained a shooting percentage of over 45 from the floor and they sank 70 per cent of their foul attempts. The Spartans counted just 23 per cent from the floor and 59 per cent at the charity stripe.

The rebounding margin was 47-27 in favor of the hosts. Baumgardt was the best off the boards on either team. He took down 17 rebounds while Pat Dunnigan had 10 and Jacobsen six. In addition, a sparkling defense slowed the Glenbrook big men to a crawl.

The visitor's Jim Holder and Bryan Erler, who had averaged over 25 points between them in previous games, sank only one field goal, tallied only six points and were given only eight shots in the entire game. Doug Schuemann was the highest man for the losers with 13 points which came mainly on his 9 for 9 foul shot mark.

"Once the game started I was not worried," said a pleased coach Arneson. "We had confidence, we got the lead, we stayed in front and they didn't bother us at all." A report like that would certainly vanish the palpitations, ulcers, etc.

The way Forest View played was a perfect cure for any complaint.

Prospect Swimmers Lose Two

The swimmers of Prospect suffered two one sided defeats at the hands of Niles North last Friday. The Knights varsity lost 73-19 as the frosh-soph tankmen were beaten 64-31.

Only individual winner for the varsity, now 1-6 for the year, was Barry Timcoe in diving. Seconds were captured by Hugh Wesler in the 100 yard butterfly, Bob Krysiak in the 100 backstroke and Jim Lutsch in the 100 breaststroke.

For the frosh-sophs there were four firsts taken. Al Schmitt won the honors in the 100 freestyle event and Tom Braakman took his specialty, the 50 breaststroke. The triumph was Braakman's sixth in six meets. The 200 individual medley and 200 yard freestyle relay teams also won at the lower level.

The next meet for the Knights swimmers, coached by Don Barrett and Chuck Sandine, will be Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at the opponent's pool, against unbeaten Deerfield.

St. Viator Posts Four Tank Wins

St. Viator's swimmers enjoyed a profitable week with four victories — two each on a varsity and frosh-soph level.

Coach Charles Mondi's varsity Lions routed East Leyden, 60-35, and St. George of Evanston, 70-25.

Tom Hansen's sophomores turned back East Leyden, 78-17, and St. George 84-11.

In the varsity action against Leyden the Lions picked up seven first as they turned in a 25-point decision.

Ren Tague and Jim Spears were double winners. Tague had a :24.2 clocking in the 50 freestyle and 55 second standard in the 100 free. Spears ruled the 200 individual medley (2:29) and 100 breastroke (1:09.8).

Bob Nichols gave St. Viator another first with a fine performance in diving.

The Lions triumphed in both relays. Tim Wallace, Mike Shanley, Joe Herrity, and Kevin Shea worked on the 200 medley team (1:55.2) and Hugh Zito, Shea, Bill Christianson, and Jim Cronin were on the 200 freestyle unit (1:42).

St. Viator swept to ten firsts in the easy win over St. George with eight different boys wrapping up individual victories.

POSTING WINS for Mondi's outfit were Tague in the 200 free with a school record of 2:07.5, Tom Pilat in the 200 individual medley (2:34.2), Chantry in diving, Spears in the 100 fly (1:11.7), Shea in the 100 free (:58.5), Wallace in the 100 backstroke (1:08.5), and Shanley in the 100 breastroke (1:17.7).

Once again St. Viator topped both relays. Wallace, Spears, Herrity, and John Massey worked in the 200 medley event (1:59.2) and Zito, Shea, Christianson, and Tague were on the 200 freestyle (1:40.4).

Both frosh-soph meets belonged to St. Viator with Hansen's powerhouse coasting to two easy wins.

INDIVIDUAL winners against East Leyden were Bill Richardson, George Steiner, Tom O'Gara, John McNamara, Tom Lehrke, John Lyons, and Mike Madden. O'Gara won both the 50 backstroke and 100 individual medley.

Against St. George the Lions who emerged victorious were Richardson, Lehrke, Fred Schmidt, Sophie, Lyons, Gary Gern, Bill Saigh, and Rick Kalinowski. Richardson, who won two events, set a school record in the 300 free with a 3:47.2 clocking.

The Lions also set a school mark in the 200 freestyle relay with Lehrke, Bob Brown, O'Gara, and Jim Cronin posting a 1:45.4 effort.

Knight JV's Top Pirates

Prospect defeated Palatine 27-19 in junior varsity wrestling at Palatine last Saturday.

Knight winners included Bill Kalvog, Paul Colianni, Fred Fassnacht, Nick Rutigliano, John Jantac, Mike Faklaris and Kim Schier.

Paltine victors were Mike Lewis, Mike Benham, Bill Kalvog, Jeff Clarkson, Bill Barker and Howard Tuttle. The Pirates had a 19-3 lead, but Prospect won the last five bouts, clinching the decision with pins by Faklaris and Schier.

Leyden Frosh Top Pirates

East Leyden broke up a tight game with 24 points in the fourth quarter to defeat Palatine 58-41 in a Des Plaines Valley freshman contest at the William Fremd gym last Friday.

The Eagles held a 26-24 halftime lead and a 34-29 edge after three periods, but stormed away in the final session. Dave Freeman led all scorers with 17 points. Haberland had eleven for East Leyden.

Maine Rips Cats 83-25 In MSC Rout

by TOM TULLY

Future suburban high schools, considering the possibility of tackling a varsity schedule without seniors, would do well to examine the results of the Mid-Suburban game played at Wheeling High School last Friday evening.

The game matched Maine West, probably the league's best, against the host Cats, the conferences's poorest team. A rout, under the circumstances is not surprising, but if possible, the 83-25 score does not accurately describe the difference between the two squads.

It does not, because it was accomplished on a night when the Warriors, not even shooting well, managed to roll up 30 straight points and hold leads of 33-2, 52-5 and finally 56-7 when the shock troops took over for good two and a half minutes into the third period.

THE TYPE of offensive rebounding found only in a mismatch such as this one, and varied defenses that had the Cats gasping to get a shot, let alone a bucket, were the main factors in the rout.

The outside shooting of the Warriors was unimpressive, but also unimportant because the first effort was little more than a setup in a volleyball game. When an errant Warrior shot came off the ring, Jim Smith, Stoney Jackson or Chuck Peterson guided it back through on the second or third effort.

Defensively Maine employed a press and a 1-2-2 zone for the most part and did so with devastating success. Wheeling's offensive efforts in the first two and a half quarters were so futile that Cat coach Mike Owens was finally prompted to urge his boys to "just get a shot off."

The fans, and a surprising number turned out in view of the weather, had to look no further than the towering Smith for all the answers. The only thing that kept Smitty from scoring every time he shot was that occasionally he missed. His tour of duty was less than 19 minutes. In this relatively brief period he notched 30 points and all of his twelve fielders came on either layups or rebounds. When the 6-6 senior sat down he had a personal 30-7 lead on the Wildcats.

JACKSON was next in line for Gaston Freeman's club with eleven counters. Peterson, Hendrickson and Paul Moehling had eight each.

The only encouraging note for Wheeling was the fine second half shooting of John Ferguson. Ferguson, a 6-1 junior transfer from Thornton of Harvey, came off the bench to score 14 points. Ferguson became so productive at one point late in the third quarter, that Owens had the other Cats clear the right side of the floor enabling him to go one-on-one with his defender.

In the preliminary game, the Warriors chalked up a 59-27 verdict. Mueller led the Maine jayvees with 22, followed by Fritz with 16. Horst Schneeweis had nine for Wheeling.

Card Sophs Gain Basketball Split

Arlington's sophomore basketball team went down to defeat Friday night at the hands of a rough, tough LaGrange five but came back strong to topple Glenbard Saturday night.

The locals lost 75-57 to the highly regarded Cub quintet and must have come away knowing LaGrange is going to be the team to beat for the next few years in the W. S. C. basketball race.

The Cubs coupled an impressive fast break with effective rebounding to gain a 10 point lead at the end of the first quarter. They went on to outscore the young Cardinals in every period except the last, scoring 16 points or better in each stanza.

TERRY TOWNLEY and Jim Swanezy with 18 and 17 points respectively tried to lead Bob Baker's boys back into contention after their slow start but just couldn't match the hot shooting of the LaGrange five.

Alan Botkin led the young Lions with 20 points and Wendell Mackey and J. D. Culea collected 17 and 16 respectively.

The Cardinals turned the tables Saturday night at home as they got the early lead and were never headed. Townley copped scoring honors again with 17 points while Jim Donchess collected 15.

TOWNLEY turned in two impressive nights at the free throw line. He hit on 10-of-12 Friday and 11-of-12 Saturday for a weekend total of 21-24.

Bob Belanger was high for the Bards with 14 points.

The young Cardinals host Riverside-Brookfield Friday night and then encounter Barrington at home Saturday night in a non-conference game.

Knight Jayvees Still Unbeaten

Prospect continued undefeated in Mid-Suburban Junior Varsity basketball action by downing Niles North last Friday night 47-31 in a preliminary contest on the Prospect court.

J. D. Thorne's nine field goals and three free throws paced the Knight attack. Prospect outscored the Vikings in every quarter but the fourth.

St. Viator Falls Twice

Leaders Show Power In Tripping Lions

by BOB FRISK

St. Viator is convinced — if any convincing was needed. St. Patrick and DeLaSalle deserve their lofty positions in the Chicagoland Prep League basketball race.

The Lions had the awesome task of catching the Shamrocks and Meteors on successive nights last weekend and by 9 p.m. Saturday they had slipped into a tie for sixth place in the Chicagoland chase.

St. Pat's rocked the Lions Friday night, 75-57, and DeLaSalle emerged with a 64-47 victory Saturday.

THE SHAMROCKS never trailed in their 18-point conquest. They jumped off to a 7-1 lead in the first two minutes and had a 43-29 cushion at halftime. The Lions staged a mild threat late in the first period but couldn't catch the hosts.

DeLaSalle had a more difficult time. With Charley Grandt turning in a brilliant effort the host Lions held a 15-14 lead after one segment and although falling behind remained within striking distance at the break.

St. Pat's and DeLaSalle now show identical 4-0 records in the varsity action. They'll square off Saturday night at St. Patrick.

COACH MAX Kurland's Shamrocks, a 65-53 conqueror of St. Viator in an earlier meeting, struck early and fast Friday. Joe Burke, the 6-foot-6 junior center, had a three-point play in the opening seconds and two minutes later the Shamrocks were on their way with a 7-1 lead.

St. Pat's held an 18-10 lead with 1:51 remaining in the first quarter when the Lions created some disturbance. Grandt banked one in and added a free throw for a three-point play to cut the margin to five.

Jerry Shea hit from underneath for the hosts, but John Erfort matched that with a layup at 1:03. In the next sixty seconds the Shamrocks ran off five straight points with Burke collecting another three-pointer and Bill MacManaman connecting from the side.

WITH THAT 25-15 lead to work with St. Pat's proceeded to turn back every Lion advance. The Shambrocks carried a 57-40 lead into the final eight minutes.

The winners had four boys in double figures with Burke high with 16. Grandt topped St. Viator with 15 although Chuck had some tough luck on his shots and also experienced his worst night of the season at the line with a 5-for-12 effort. Paul Pomplun and Paul Dumke had 14 each.

For one period Sturday night St. Viator gave the touted DeLaSalle five fits with Grandt the pace-setter once again. Chuck has had some fine nights before, but he was magnificent as the Lions traded points with the rangy Meteors and carried a one-point margin into the second quarter.

GRANDT HAD 11 points in that first quarter. He hit an eight-footer from out front, layup, and crowd-pleasing tip-in and tossed in five free throws to keep the Lions in the game.

Chuck continued his impressive work in the second quarter, collecting six more points, but he couldn't get the job done himself. DeLaSalle's size began to pay off and Jerry Tokars' club pushed ahead, 35-26, at the intermission.

The third quarter also belonged to the visitors as they bottled up Grandt (he didn't score and rarely saw the basketball) and moved in front, 48-35. St. Viator closed to within ten, 53-43, with 3:05 left, but Grandt departed on five fouls and the Meteors outscored the hosts 11-4 in the closing minutes.

Grandt's 22 topped both clubs. Pomplun chipped in with 12 for the Lions.

Sevira Brown, the 6-foot-5 junior guard who looks better with each outing, drilled 19 for the Meteors. Dave Gilmore tossed in 18.

Forest View Swimmers Lose

Forest View's swimmers lost on both levels in a dual meet with Glenbrook North held last Friday. The Falcons' varsity sank before the Spartans 72-23 and the frosh-soph tankmen went under 60-35.

The varsity did manage to capture two firsts in its meet and both were taken by John Buczek. Buczek was a double winner with triumphs in the 200 yard individual medley and 100 yard butterfly.

Seconds for the upper level swimmers were scored by Bill Reising in the 50 freestyle, Mike Bodozian in the 100 backstroke and Daryle Oberg in the 400 freestyle.

"Glenbrook was tough again this year," reflected varsity coach Keith North after the meet. His team is now winless through seven matches this season.

For the frosh-sophs, coached by Bob Adams, the lone first went to Ray Baur in the 100 individual medley while John Beaston, in the 150 and 300 freestyles, Harold Abrahmson, in the 50 and 100 freestyles, and Leroy Stevens, in the 50 backstroke, all came in second. Two wins and five losses is now the frosh-soph mark.

The Forest View swimmers have their next meets tomorrow at 4:30 at Maine West and next Tuesday at 4:30 at West

Lions Top Arlington

Conner's 31 Leads Cards Past Glenbard

by FRED BOEDEKER

BOB CONNER

It wasn't just idle gossip the Arlington Cardinals were hearing last week about those Lions of LaGrange.

Coach Art Sandusky's highly regarded outfit proved that with a sound 72-55 victory over Ted Wissen's Cards last Friday night.

Arlington did rebound Saturday to gain a split for the weekend with an impressive victory of its own over Glenbard 63-52 at home.

THERE WAS a clear cut difference in the Cardinal team of Friday and the one of Saturday night—it was Bob Conner.

Conner, Arlington's leading scorer for the season, picked up three quick fouls in the first quarter against LaGrange and spent the whole second quarter on the bench as the Lions raced out to a 35-26 lead.

The 6'5" senior started the second half but picked up his fourth foul early in that period and played conservatively until midway in the fourth quarter when he committed his fifth personal.

CHUCK LLOYD, the Cards' 6'7" center, and guard Mike Frase turned in fine offenseive performances in Conner's absence with 18 and 11 points respectively, but it just wasn't enough to halt LaGrange's rampaging Lions.

Sandusky's boys are now 11-2 for the season and lead the W.S.C. by two full games with an impressive 7-0 record.

LaGrange's 6'2" forward, Dennis DePaola, who leads the conference scoring race, led the Lions offensively with 21 points on seven baskets and 7-of-9 charity tosses. The box score reveals one big difference in the two teams, as it shows the Lions making good on 24 of 31 free throws while the Cards only managed 19-36.

SATURDAY night Wissen's Cards entertained Glenbard and Conner's full time presence made a different ball club of the local boys.

The lanky forward made good on 11 of 14 shots from the field and nine of 13 from the four line for an impressive total of 31 points. Conner scored Arlington's first nine points—points that gave them a 9-3 lead they were never to lose. Conner's 31 points put him in third place in the Conference scoring race at the midway mark of the season.

Arlington clearly outplayed a Glenbard team that turned the ball over 19 times via mistakes.

High scorers for the Bards were 6'5" center Jon Hawkinson and sharp shooting guard Todd Faulkner with 21 and 15 points respectively.

BESIDES CONNER, Lloyd and sophomore guard Steve Allen contributed 10 points each to the Cardinal offense.

The Redbirds are now settled in fourth place in the West Suburban Conference with a 4-3 record. They hope to improve this mark with a victory next Friday night when Riverside Brookfield comes to town. The Bulldogs are tied for second place in the conference race with York with identical 5 and 2 records, just a game ahead of the Cards.

On Saturday night Arlington will play host to neighboring Barrington in a non-conference game.

Prospect Gym Team For 8th Straight

The Prospect gymnastics teams used top flight individual performances by Pat Kivland and Bruce Boult to remain undefeated following matches held last Saturday against Niles North.

Kivland led the Knights' varsity to its eighth straight win 84½ to 47½ and Boult was the front runner in the frosh-sophs' 74-58 triumph. Both ran up 19 points of their squads' totals.

Prospect Gym Team for 8th

For his points Kivland took firsts on the parallel bar and in tumbling plus a third on the horizontal bar. Boult managed a win in the trampoline event, a fourth on the horizontal bar, a third on the parallel bars and a second in tumbling.

Others who captured top honors for the varsity, coached by Rick Farris, were Don Sabey on the side horse, Todd Olson on the horizontal bar, Paul Swanson on the rings and Rick Carr on the trampoline. For Carr the triumph was his seventh in eight dual meets.

Rounding out the field of coach Fred Gaines' frosh-soph winners were Jim Anderson on the side horse, Bob DeStafanis on the rings and Mike Coughlin in tumbling. The lower level Prospect squad is also 8-0 for the year.

The Knights' gymnasts will try to extend their streaks to ten in a row when they host Barrington tomorrow night at 7:00 p.m. and Wheeling on Saturday at 2:00 p.m.

Warriors Nudge Wildcats In Gym

Maine West rode 1-2 superiority on the side horse, the horizontal bar and the parallel bars to a 69½-62½ victory over Wheeling in a Mid-Suburban gymnastics meet at Maine last Friday.

Bach and Alfini topped the side horse field for the Warriors, while Bluhn and Braun dominated the horizontal bar and Dettner and Kennett paced the parallel bars.

The Warriors also took a first in tumbling where Keller beat the Wildcats' Jerry Fontecchio for top honors. Fontecchio was the Cats top scorer when he added seven points for a first on the trampoline.

Jim Bowker claimed the Cats other individual victory when he nullified a 2-3 Maine finish on the rings.

The loss leaves Wheeling with a 4-5 record for the season.

Bob Johnson scored 19 points to pace the Wheeling sophs to their ninth win without a loss. Johnson took first on the trampoline and tumbling mats and finished second on the horizontal bar. Other Wildcat winners were Ovesky on the parallel bars and Hudson on rings.

Card Frosh Gain Split

Arlington's freshman Cardinals emerged with a split in the latest week of basketball competition.

Arlington rocked Maine East on Saturday in 'A' action, 46-34, but dropped a 43-41 decision to Notre Dame Monday.

John Theroux tossed in 24 points for Tom Pitchford's outfit against Maine East. That was the single game high by an Arlington freshman this winter.

Dave McGuffey collected 11 points and Theroux 10 against Notre Dame. Arlington had the lead until the final three minutes against the Dons.

Jim Slim Gym Winner

When Jim Curzi of Michigan State defeated Glenn Gallis of Iowa for the gymnastics all-around title last year, Curzi won by the slim total of only two points, 516.75 to 514.75.

Victories For Knights Cagers

The Prospect freshman basketball teams lifted their combined records to 12-1 with a pair of triumphs over Niles North last Saturday.

The frosh A squad, coached by Earl Benoche, remained undefeated through seven contests by winning 51-35 while the B's, directed by Hank Szymanski, used a 50-25 triumph to move their record to 5-1.

Both squads travel to Deerfield on Saturday at 9:30 a.m. for their next games.

Maine Rips Cats 83-25 In MSC Rout

by TOM TULLY

Future suburban high schools, considering the possibility of tackling a varsity schedule without seniors, would do well to examine the results of the Mid-Suburban game played at Wheeling High School last Friday evening.

The game matched Maine West, probably the league's best, against the host Cats, the conferences's poorest team. A rout, under the circumstances is not surprising, but if possible, the 83-25 score does not accurately describe the difference between the two squads.

It does not, because it was accomplished on a night when the Warriors, not even shooting well, managed to roll up 30 straight points and hold leads of 33-2, 52-5 and finally 56-7 when the shock troops took over for good two and a half minutes into the third period.

THE TYPE of offensive rebounding found only in a mismatch such as this one, and varied defenses that had the Cats gasping to get a shot, let alone a bucket, were the main factors in the rout.

The outside shooting of the Warriors was unimpressive, but also unimportant because the first effort was little more than a setup in a volleyball game. When an errant Warrior shot came off the ring, Jim Smith, Stoney Jackson or Chuck Peterson guided it back through on the second or third effort.

Defensively Maine employed a press and a 1-2-2 zone for the most part and did so with devastating success. Wheeling's offensive efforts in the first two and a half quarters were so futile that Cat coach Mike Owens was finally prompted to urge his boys to "just get a shot off."

The fans, and a surprising number turned out in view of the weather, had to look no further than the towering Smith for all the answers. The only thing that kept Smitty from scoring every time he shot was that occasionally he missed. His tour of duty was less than 19 minutes. In this relatively brief period he notched 30 points and all of his twelve fielders came on either layups or rebounds. When the 6-6 senior sat down he had a personal 30-7 lead on the Wildcats.

JACKSON was next in line for Gaston Freeman's club with eleven counters. Peterson, Hendrickson and Paul Moehling had eight each.

The only encouraging note for Wheeling was the fine second half shooting of John Ferguson. Ferguson, a 6-1 junior transfer from Thornton of Harvey, came off the bench to score 14 points. Ferguson became so productive at one point late in the third quarter, that Owens had the other Cats clear the right side of the floor enabling him to go one-on-one with his defender.

In the preliminary game, the Warriors chalked up a 59-27 verdict. Mueller led the Maine jayvees with 22, followed by Fritz with 16. Horst Schneeweis had nine for Wheeling.

Card Sophs Gain Basketball Split

Arlington's sophomore basketball team went down to defeat Friday night at the hands of a rough, tough LaGrange five but came back strong to topple Glenbard Saturday night.

The locals lost 75-57 to the highly regarded Cub quintet and must have come away knowing LaGrange is going to be the team to beat for the next few years in the W. S. C. basketball race.

The Cubs coupled an impressive fast break with effective rebounding to gain a 10 point lead at the end of the first quarter. They went on to outscore the young Cardinals in every period except the last, scoring 16 points or better in each stanza.

TERRY TOWNLEY and Jim Swanezy with 18 and 17 points respectively tried to lead Bob Baker's boys back into contention after their slow start but just couldn't match the hot shooting of the LaGrange five.

Alan Botkin led the young Lions with 20 points and Wendell Mackey and J. D. Culea collected 17 and 16 respectively.

The Cardinals turned the tables Saturday night at home as they got the early lead and were never headed. Townley copped scoring honors again with 17 points while Jim Donchess collected 15.

TOWNLEY turned in two impressive nights at the free throw line. He hit on 10-of-12 Friday and 11-of-12 Saturday for a weekend total of 21-24.

Bob Belanger was high for the Bards with 14 points.

The young Cardinals host Riverside-Brookfield Friday night and then encounter Barrington at home Saturday night in a non-conference game.

Knight Jayvees Still Unbeaten

Prospect continued undefeated in Mid-Suburban Junior Varsity basketball action by downing Niles North last Friday night 47-31 in a preliminary contest on the Prospect court.

J. D. Thorne's nine field goals and three free throws paced the Knight attack. Prospect outscored the Vikings in every quarter but the fourth.

St. Viator Falls Twice

Leaders Show Power In Tripping Lions

by BOB FRISK

St. Viator is convinced — if any convincing was needed. St. Patrick and DeLaSalle deserve their lofty positions in the Chicagoland Prep League basketball race.

The Lions had the awesome task of catching the Shamrocks and Meteors on successive nights last weekend and by 9 p.m. Saturday they had slipped into a tie for sixth place in the Chicagoland chase.

St. Pat's rocked the Lions Friday night, 75-57, and DeLaSalle emerged with a 64-47 victory Saturday.

THE SHAMROCKS never trailed in their 18-point conquest. They jumped off tc a 7-1 lead in the first two minutes and had a 43-29 cushion at halftime. The Lions staged a mild threat late in the first period but couldn't catch the hosts.

DeLaSalle had a more difficult time. With Charley Grandt turning in a brilliant effort the host Lions held a 15-14 lead after one segment and although falling behind remained within striking distance at the break.

St. Pat's and DeLaSalle now show identical 4-0 records in the varsity action. They'll square off Saturday night at St. Patrick.

COACH MAX Kurland's Shamrocks, a 65-53 conqueror of St. Viator in an earlier meeting, struck early and fast Friday. Joe Burke, the 6-foot-6 junior center, had a three-point play in the opening seconds and two minutes later the Shamrocks were on their way with a 7-1 lead.

St. Pat's held an 18-10 lead with 1:51 remaining in the first quarter when the Lions created some disturbance. Grandt banked one in and added a free throw for a three-point play to cut the margin to five.

Jerry Shea hit from underneath for the hosts, but John Erfort matched that with a layup at 1:03. In the next sixty seconds the Shamrocks ran off five straight points with Burke collecting another three-pointer and Bill MacManaman connecting from the side.

WITH THAT 25-15 lead to work with St. Pat's proceeded to turn back every Lion advance. The Shambrocks carried a 57-40 lead into the final eight minutes.

The winners had four boys in double figures with Burke high with 16. Grandt topped St. Viator with 15 although Chuck had some tough luck on his shots and also experienced his worst night of the season at the line with a 5-for-12 effort. Paul Pomplun and Paul Dumke had 14 each.

For one period Sturday night St. Viator gave the touted DeLaSalle five fits with Grandt the pace-setter once again. Chuck has had some fine nights before, but he was magnificent as the Lions traded points with the rangy Meteors and carried a one-point margin into the second quarter.

GRANDT HAD 11 points in that first quarter. He hit an eight-footer from out front, layup, and crowd-pleasing tip-in and tossed in five free throws to keep the Lions in the game.

Chuck continued his impressive work in the second quarter, collecting six more points, but he couldn't get the job done himself. DeLaSalle's size began to pay off and Jerry Tokars' club pushed ahead, 35-26, at the intermission.

The third quarter also belonged to the visitors as they bottled up Grandt (he didn't score and rarely saw the basketball) and moved in front, 48-35. St. Viator closed to within ten, 53-43, with 3:05 left, but Grandt departed on five fouls and the Meteors outscored the hosts 11-4 in the closing minutes.

Grandt's 22 topped both clubs. Pomplun chipped in with 12 for the Lions.

Sevira Brown, the 6-foot-5 junior guard who looks better with each outing, drilled 19 for the Meteors. Dave Gilmore tossed in 18.

Forest View Swimmers Lose

Forest View's swimmers lost on both levels in a dual meet with Glenbrook North held last Friday. The Falcons' varsity sank before the Spartans 72-23 and the frosh-soph tankmen went under 60-35.

The varsity did manage to capture two firsts in its meet and both were taken by John Buczek. Buczek was a double winner with triumphs in the 200 yard individual medlely and 100 yard butterfly.

Seconds for the upper level swimmers were scored by Bill Reising in the 50 freestyle, Mike Bodozian in the 100 backstroke and Daryle Oberg in the 400 freestyle.

"Glenbrook was tough again this year," reflected varsity coach Keith North after the meet. His team is now winless through seven matches this season.

For the frosh-sophs, coached by Bob Adams, the lone first went to Ray Baur in the 100 individual medley while John Beaston, in the 150 and 300 freestyles, Harold Abrahmson, in the 50 and 100 freestyles, and Leroy Stevens, in the 50 backstroke, all came in second. Two wins and five losses is now the frosh-soph mark.

The Forest View swimmers have their next meets tomorrow at 4:30 at Maine West and next Tuesday at 4:30 at West

Lions Top Arlington

Conner's 31 Leads Cards Past Glenbard

by FRED BOEDEKER

It wasn't just idle gossip the Arlington Cardinals were hearing last week about those Lions of LaGrange.

Coach Art Sandusky's highly regarded outfit proved that with a sound 72-55 victory over Ted Wissen's Cards last Friday night.

Arlington did rebound Saturday to gain a split for the weekend with an impressive victory of its own over Glenbard 63-52 at home.

THERE WAS a clear cut difference in the Cardinal team of Friday and the one of Saturday night—it was Bob Conner.

Conner, Arlington's leading scorer for the season, picked up three quick fouls in the first quarter against LaGrange and spent the whole second quarter on the bench as the Lions raced out to a 35-26 lead.

The 6'5" senior started the second half but picked up his fourth foul early in that period and played conservatively until midway in the fourth quarter when he committed his fifth personal.

CHUCK LLOYD, the Cards' 6'7" center, and guard Mike Frase turned in fine offenseive performances in Conner's absence with 18 and 11 points respectively, but it just wasn't enough to halt LaGrange's rampaging Lions.

Sandusky's boys are now 11-2 for the season and lead the W.S.C. by two full games with an impressive 7-0 record.

LaGrange's 6'2" forward, Dennis DePaola, who leads the conference scoring race, led the Lions offensively with 21 points on seven baskets and 7-of-9 charity tosses. The box score reveals one big difference in the two teams, as it shows the Lions making good on 24 of 31 free throws while the Cards only managed 19-36.

SATURDAY night Wissen's Cards entertained Glenbard and Conner's full time presence made a different ball club of the local boys.

The lanky forward made good on 11 of 14 shots from the field and nine of 13 from the four line for an impressive total of 31 points. Conner scored Arlington's first nine points—points that gave them a 9-3 lead they were never to lose. Conner's 31 points put him in third place in the Conference scoring race at the midway mark of the season.

Arlington clearly outplayed a Glenbard team that turned the ball over 19 times via mistakes.

High scorers for the Bards were 6'5" center Jon Hawkinson and sharp shooting guard Todd Faulkner with 21 and 15 points respectively.

BESIDES CONNER, Lloyd and sophomore guard Steve Allen contributed 10 points each to the Cardinal offense.

The Redbirds are now settled in fourth place in the West Suburban Conference with a 4-3 record. They hope to improve this mark with a victory next Friday night when Riverside Brookfield comes to town. The Bulldogs are tied for second place in the conference race with York with identical 5 and 2 records, just a game ahead of the Cards.

On Saturday night Arlington will play host to neighboring Barrington in a non-conference game.

Prospect Gym Team For 8th Straight

The Prospect gymnastics teams used top flight individual performances by Pat Kivland and Bruce Boult to remain undefeated following matches held last Saturday against Niles North.

Kivland led the Knights' varsity to its eighth straight win 84½ to 47½ and Boult was the front runner in the frosh-sophs' Prospect Gym Team for 8th 74-58 triumph. Both ran up 19 points of their squads' totals.

For his points Kivland took firsts on the parallel bar and in tumbling plus a third on the horizontal bar. Boult managed a win in the trampoline event, a fourth on the horizontal bar, a third on the parallel bars and a second in tumbling.

Warriors Nudge Wildcats In Gym

Maine West rode 1-2 superiority on the side horse, the horizontal bar and the parallel bars to a 69½-62½ victory over Wheeling in a Mid-Suburban gymnastics meet at Maine last Friday.

Bach and Alfini topped the side horse field for the Warriors, while Bluhn and Braun dominated the horizontal bar and Dettner and Kennett paced the parallel bars.

The Warriors also took a first in tumbling where Keller beat the Wildcats' Jerry Fontecchio for top honors. Fontecchio was the Cats top scorer when he added seven points for a first on the trampoline.

Jim Bowker claimed the Cats other individual victory when he nullified a 2-3 Maine finish on the rings.

The loss leaves Wheeling with a 4-5 record for the season.

Bob Johnson scored 19 points to pace the Wheeling sophs to their ninth win without a loss. Johnson took first on the trampoline and tumbling mats and finished second on the horizontal bar. Other Wildcat winners were Ovesky on the parallel bars and Hudson on rings.

Card Frosh Gain Split

Arlington's freshman Cardinals emerged with a split in the latest week of basketball competition.

Arlington rocked Maine East on Saturday in 'A' action, 46-34, but dropped a 43-41 decision to Notre Dame Monday.

Niles Tankers Head Locals

Niles West's varsity swimmers took a triangular from Arlington and Wheeling last week.

The hosts dumped Arlington, 60-35, and Wheeling, 75-19. Arlington did manage to pull out a 77-16 victory over Wheeling on a varsity level.

In the frosh-soph meet Niles tripped the Cardinals by an identical 60-35 count, and Arlington bumped Wheeling, 81-13.

POSTING FIRSTS for John Gardner's varsity Cards were Dick Tucker in the 50 freestyle with a :23.9 clocking, Greg Inman in the backstroke (1:02.65), Paul Michaels in the breaststroke (1:15.5), and Greg Stafford in the middle distance (2:06.1) and distance freestyle (4:49.7).

Jon Hittman gave Wheeling its only first with an impressive 1:06.7 clocking in the butterfly event.

Individual seconds for Arlington were turned in by Bill Sayre in the breaststroke and Don Johns in the distance freestyle.

Arlington came through with three firsts in the frosh-soph action.

LOWELL CHRISTY posted a :32.1 effort in the backstroke, and Paul Hembd registered a :28.3 in the butterfly. Arlington also won the medley relay with a team of Christy, Jim Philo, Hembd, and Dick Robinson.

Robinson was second in the 100 freestyle with a 1:00 time. Bill Elsner gained a runnerup berth in the 50 freestyle, and John Erickson was second in the individual medley. Mike Brown posted a second in diving.

Abboreno Pin Gives Wildcats Tie With Fenton

Frank Abboreno came through with a clutch pin in the heavyweight bout to give Wheeling a 25-25 tie with Fenton in a non-conference dual meet at Wheeling last Saturday. The Wildcats never led but the meet was deadlocked six times. The dual matched Art Kraft's Cats with the team he coached last season.

The meet started the same way it finished as Jim Luebking of Fenton and Rick Basch of Wheeling wrestled to a scoreless tie.

The Bisons took the lead at 103 pounds when George Giltner beat Dennis Kneip 4-3. Karl Meisenheimer evened it for the Wildcats with a 14-3 decision over Aguilar at 112. The score remained deadlocked after a 112 pound match that saw Wheeling's Thad Mikols and Bob Guido of Fenton wrestle to a draw.

THE BISONS went on top 12-7 when Tom Swan pinned Dick Ritter in 1:32 at 127. Al Eisenstein evened it for the Cats when he stopped Simek in 5:36. Dick Camp's squad regained the lead when Fred Swanson pinned Mike Fluegal but lost it when Paul Berwanger stopped Ray Laboda in 2:48 at 145.

Fenton went ahead 22-17 when Dusek pinned Rich Haddock at 154 and moved to a commanding 25-17 edge when Straub topped Joe Goffman 4-1 at 165.

Ted Armstrong brought the Cats within five when he blanked Olson 8-0 at 180 and Abboreno created the final deadlock when he stopped Crawford ten seconds before the end of their heavyweight bout.

The Wheeling jayvees erased a 20-10 deficit to trip the Bisons 26-20. Ray Pace started the rally with a pin at 154. Mike Henry won on a forfeit and Ryan Sarti and Steve Bacon copped decisions.

Knight Matmen Defeat Pirates

Prospect broke up a tight non-conference match with victories in the last three bouts to defeat Palatine 26-16 on the Pirate mats last Saturday. It was the Knights first victory over Palatine in a varsity meet.

The Knights jumped off to a 3-0 lead when Mike Mohr blanked Brad Molinari 5-0. Palatine tied it on George Smith's 9-4 win over Bob McMillan.

Prospect went up 6-3 on Roy Harnish's 11-3 verdict over Henry Hernandez at 112, but the Pirates took an 8-6 edge when Jim Bailey pinned Sid White in 4:41 of their match at 120.

The Knights went back on top with Bill Becker's 2-1 win over Gordie Hughes at 127. Palatine took the lead at 11-9 on Karl Lowry's 3-0 win over John Haight.

Prospect won the next two. George Freeland topped Don Willie 6-2 and Rick Bertoglio beat Larry Logan 4-0 to give the Knights a 15-12 lead.

Palatine went on top for the last time when unbeaten Seth Norton pinned Doug White in 1:45 of the 154 pound go.

After that, it was all Prospect. Bob Davis beat Bob Salinas 11-1, Earl Smith blanked Demitris Gerakeris 5-0 and unbeaten Mark Pasdiori pinned Paul Dolik in 5:51.

Sophs Triumph

Forest View's sophomore matmen captured a 41-11 victory from Glenbrook North last Saturday to move their season record to 5-2 overall and 3-1 in conference.

George Taylor (120) and George Bergau (138) took decisions for the Falcons and Phil Reder (heavyweight) registered the winners only pin while six matches went to FV on forfeits.

JV Falcons Lose 51-40

Glenbrook North defeated the Forest View JV squad 51-40 last Friday and the margin of difference came at the foul line.

The Spartans took an early lead in the game and held it as the Falcons tried to fight back. But whenever FV got close, Glenbrook would simply step to the foul line and pull away.

At the four minute mark in the final quarter the margin between the two quintets was close for the last time at 38-36. Then the visitors popped in six straight foul shots and sewed up the victory. Though the hosting Falcons outscored their opponents 32-28 from the floor, the Forest View club went down under the Spartans 23-8 edge at the charity stripe.

Pacing the lost FV cause were Bob Erlander with nine points and Jim Buckholz with eight. Glenbrook North had three men in double figures topped by center Terry Laughlin who hit 10 of 15 free throws to put his game high total at 16.

The Falcons' junior varsity, coached by Bob Rees, is now 5-4 for the season and travels to Maine West tomorrow at 7:00 p.m. for their next game.

Old Men Win Forfeit

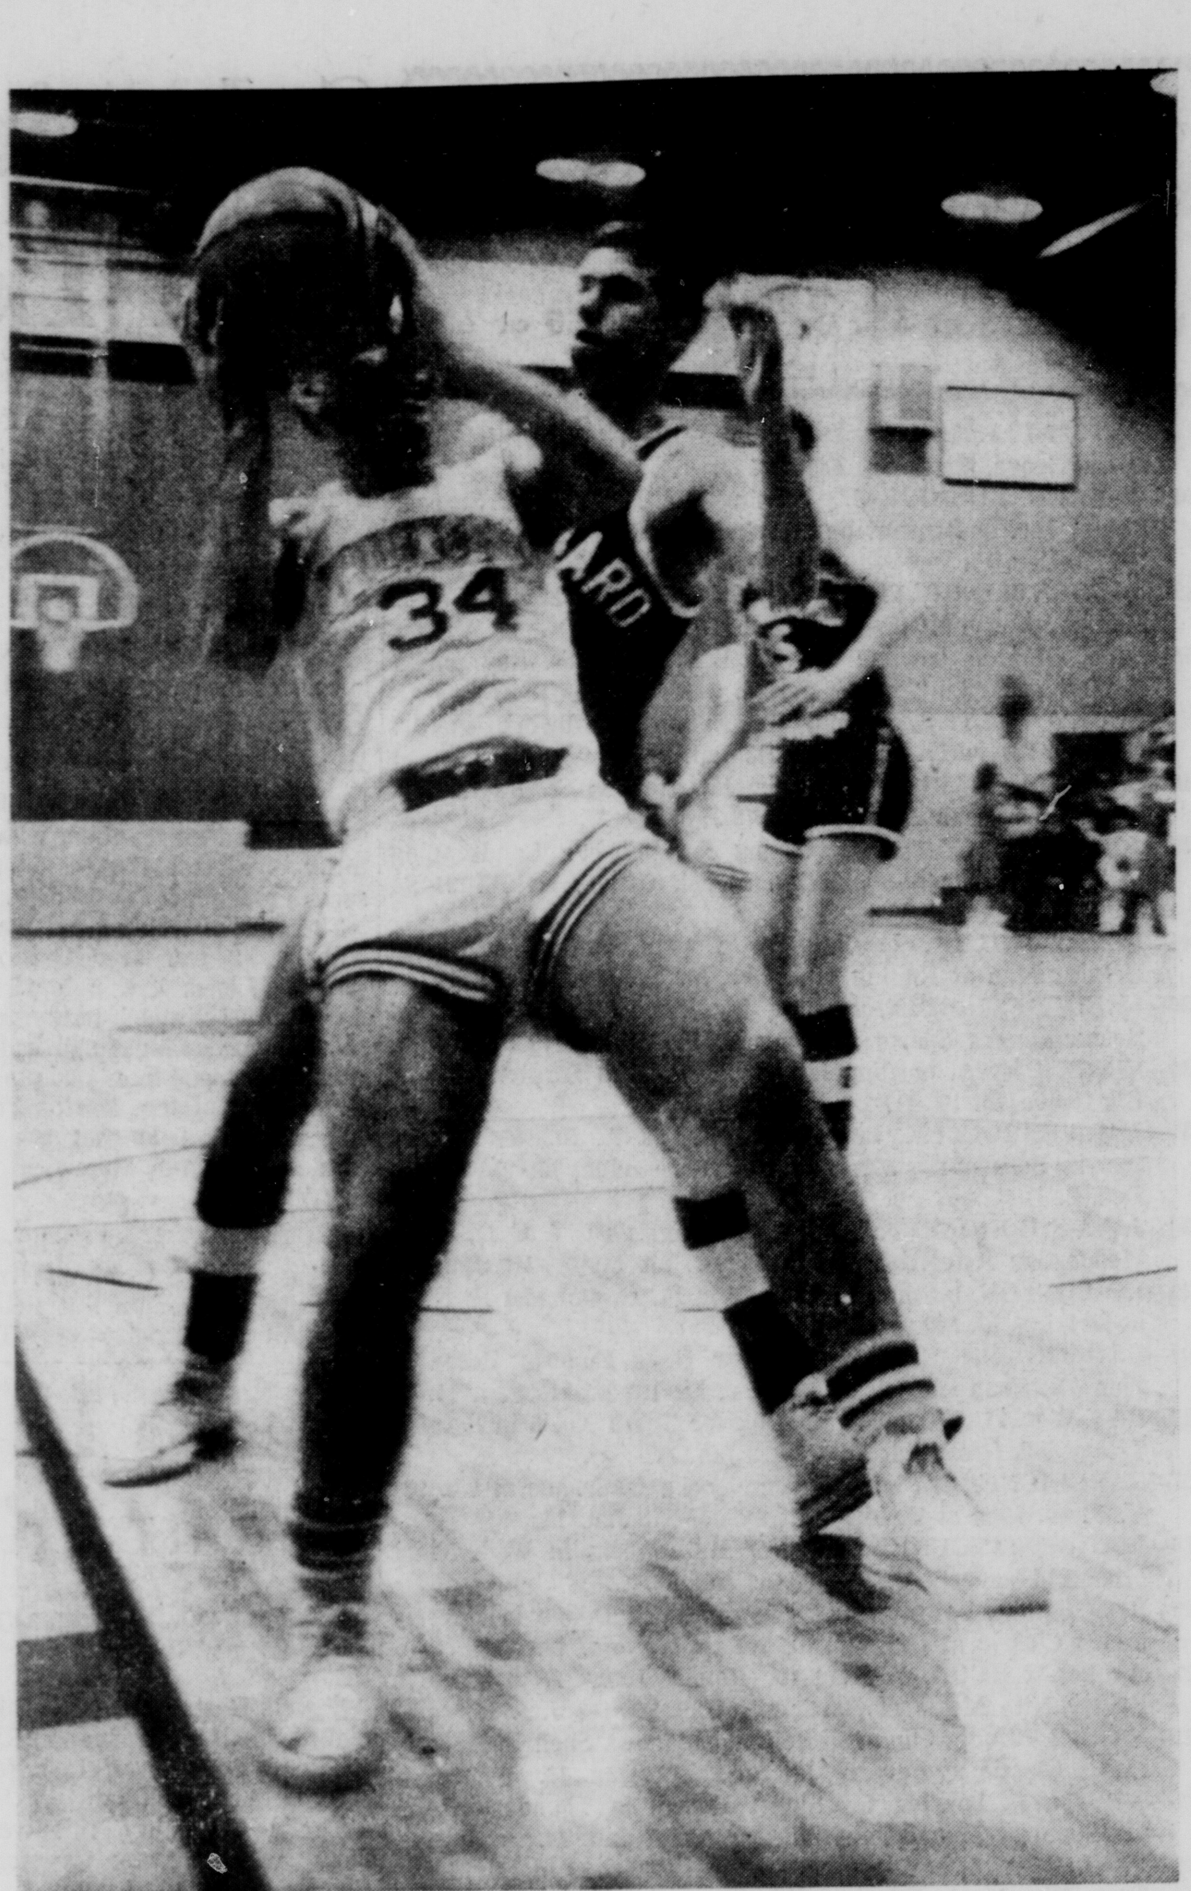
The Old Men continued their unbeaten string to hold undisputed first place in the Arlington Heights Park District Wednesday men's volleyball league.

The leaders were awarded a forfeit win over the Servers, while Hobby Lobby, only one game out, scored at random against the Stags to chalk up a 51-23 victory.

The Greens held on to a five point half-time lead to gain a 35-31 decision over the Brewers.

Still Tied

The Colts and Spikers continued to battle for first place honors as the Strats dropped a game behind in the Arlington Heights Park District Thursday men's volleyball league.



ARLINGTON GUARD Mike Frase (34) controls the basketball here in action during the Cardinals' 63-54 conquest of visiting Glenbard West last Saturday evening. Frase, who had 11 points in a 72-55 loss to LaGrange Friday, chipped in with six against the Hilltoppers. With the victory Arlington moved past Glenbard into fourth place in the West Suburban standings. (Staff Photo)

Records Continue To Fall; Girls' Team Wins Again

They have been rewriting the Northwest Girls YMCA Swim team records for the last seven weeks and last Saturday was no exception as Roger Tobin's girls set five team records, five pool records and Wheaton set three pool records.

The host, Northwest YMCA, rolled over Wheaton 238 to 74 to take a 7th straight victory.

Connie Foster, seventh grader in Mount Prospect, broke the prep 50 yard freestyle pool record to set new time of 28.9 and a new pool record in the 50 yard breaststroke in 38.6. She also holds the 100 yard freestyle and the 100 yard individual medley records.

Elizabeth Tobin whipped off a 37.9 clocking in the Junior 50 yard breaststroke for a pool and team mark and Andee Farmer set a pool and team record in the intermediate 100 yard backstroke in 1:18.3 and in the 100 yard freestyle in 1:06.7 and tying her 50 free record in 29.8.

CATHY ROWE, Arlington Heights, 8th grader at Miner Jr. High, set a new pool and team record of 29.2 in capturing the 50 yard junior freestyle event and placed 1st in the 50 yard butterfly.

The Intermediate 200 yard medley relay team of Mickey Hibbs, Palatine; Pam Evans, Arlington Heights; Karen Sheldon, Elmhurst; and Kathy Feely, Palatine, posted a 2:30.2 to break the team record.

Individual winners in the Cadets were Jan Lesniak, Prospect Heights, in the 25 yard backstroke and Marcia Burthe 100 yard breaststroke.

Midget Andy Sue Hibbs, Palatine, picked up two firsts in 100 yard Individual Medley and 25 yard Breastroke and Kathy Wood, Mount Prospect, in the 50 yard freestyle.

Prep girls, Ruth Ann Gabler, Arlington Heights, placed 1st in the 100 yard individual medley and Sue Ivison in the 100 yard freestyle.

Jeanne Pollard, junior from Mount Prospect, took 1st in the 200 Individual Medley; Jackie Nesvig, Palatine, took 1st in the 100 yard freestyle; and Pat Wollerman, Arlington Heights, took 1st in the 50 yard backstroke.

Intermediate Kathy Feely was first in the 200 yard freestyle and Pam Evans 1st in the 100 yard breastroke.

Nine relay teams placed 1st out of the 10 entered in different divisions.

Frosh String 3

Forest View's freshmen scored a 37-15 wrestling victory over Glenbrook North in action last Saturday for their third triumph in a row.

Winning their bouts for the Falcons were Terry Lingen (95), Brian Wolff (103), Steve Stolnack (112), Jerry Loconsole (120), Cliff Gaylor (127), Steve Henrich (133), Spencer Dreischarf (165) and Bruce Spada (heavyweight).

The frosh, coached by Dave Theesfeld, are now 4-1-1 for the year and will host Maine West at 7 p.m. tomorrow and travel to Lake Park Saturday at 2 p.m. in their next meets.

Cardinals' JV Squad Wins, 69-52

Arlington's junior-varsity Cardinals coasted to a 69-52 victory over Notre Dame Monday afternoon.

Coach Al Allen's outfit jumped out to a 15-7 lead after one period and held a comfortable 32-13 cushion at the intermission.

Allen cleared the bench with each of the 11 boys seeing considerable action.

John Blomquist was high for the winners with six baskets and four free throws for 16 points. Jim Bressler sparked the Cardinal zone press in the second quarter and picked up five baskets and one free throw in that stanza.

Score by quarters:

Arlington	15	17	17	20—69

Junior Varsity Wins and Loses

The junior varsity matmen of Forest View won one and lost one in meet action last weekend. The Falcons' JV squad were defeated 23-2 by Glenbrook North on Friday but then bounced back to whip Niles East on Saturday 27 to 19.

Against Glenbrook the Forest View points came on the wins of Steve DeHaven (103), Larry McKisic (120), Ray Vitha (145), Ray Roth (180) and John Bantner (heavyweight). The same five wrestlers plus Best (138) and Ron McKisic (112) gathered in the victories against Niles.

Maine West will be the next Forest View opponent tomorrow at 7 p.m. at home while Niles West will offer the competition at 10 a.m. Saturday morning, also at home.

On Varsity Mats

Cards Rout Antioch, Fall To LaGrange

Antioch was no problem but the bout with LaGrange was a different story as Arlington's varsity wrestlers posted a split in weekend mat competition.

Coach Julius Fliehler's Cardinals routed Antioch in a non-conference match, 32-5, but dropped a 23-14 victory to the powerful Lions of LaGrange.

The Cards were scheduled to journey to Riverside-Brookfield yesterday (Wednesday) with a home meet Saturday afternoon against Hinsdale.

ARLINGTON MOVED out to a 12-0 lead after four bouts in the win over Antioch and never trailed. The only points Antioch picked up were a tie at 127 and decision at 165.

Reliable Ray Herda got things rolling for the Cards with a 9-0 win at 95 pounds and Tom McCarthy (103), Scott Brown (112), and Ken Neal (120) followed with victories. Brown and Neal coasted but McCarthy was pressed before pulling out a 2-1 thriller.

After Antioch's John Sheppard tied Arlington's Bruce Conti at 127, Doug Duss gave the Cards three more points with a 7-2 win at 133. Chip Douglas (138), Don Lindmark (145), and Kirk Wolter (154) were next in line to post victories with the trio racking up consecutive shutouts.

ANTIOCH was back on the board at 165 when Ipsen decisioned Charley Hood, 4-3, but the Cards concluded the scoring on a 1-0 win by Ron Thompson (180) and 11-6 win by Mark Frase at heavyweight.

Arlington took a 3-0 lead at 95 pounds thanks to Herda's 4-1 victory but fell behind at 112 and never regained the advantage.

Neal pulled Fliehler's outfit back into a deadlock at 120 with a 5-3 win before the Lions reeled off two straight victories.

Douglas scored six points in the concluding period with two predicaments and a reversal and posted an 8-6 victory at 138, and Lindmark came through with a 1-1 tie at 145. The Cards were only three points down with four bouts remaining, but LaGrange put the decision out of reach with three straight victories.

Frase gave Arlington its final points with an impressive 4-1 win in the heavyweight bracket.

Falcons' Matmen Suffer Two Losses

A double defeat was dealt to Forest View's varsity wrestlers in meets last weekend with Glenbrook North and Niles East.

The Falcons bowed 25-17 to Glenbrook last Friday and then went down to Niles 27-16 on Saturday. As a result of the action the FV record was left at 1-6-1.

Omar Aviles, with two wins at 103 pounds, was the big man for Forest View. He registered 2-0 and 4-2 decisions to run his personal record this year to 10 wins against only one loss in 11 matches. Aviles has four pinning victories to his credit.

Another top man in the Falcons' effort was Mickey Colovos. Colovos scored two quick pins in his bouts, picking up ten points for FV and moving his individual mark to eight wins, a single loss and one tie. He also has four pins.

The only other double winner for the losers was Dean Jacobsen at 127 pounds. He racked up 5-0 and 8-0 decisions and now is 5-1 for the season.

Against Glenbrook, Randy Haydel (120) and Larry Gebhardt (145) each came out on top for the Falcons. The other weekend match win was by Tom Bohac (95) who gained a 4-2 judgement in the Niles meet.

The Forest View varsity, coached by Hal Henson, will host Maine West tomorrow at 7:00 p.m. and travel to Lake Park at 2:00 p.m. Saturday for its next two meets.

Arlington Sinclair Is First

Arlington Park Sinclair took over undisputed first place in the Arlington Heights Park District Sportsman's basketball league with close decision over Sellergren Sports.

Sellergren Sports led after the third quarter 47-44, but couldn't hold off a 21 point surge by Arlington Park Sinclair in the final period. Sinclair took the contest 65-62.

Arlington Oiler got dumped by the off and on Pure Oil squad 52-50.

The Old Pros won two out of three falls against the Lions and posted a score of 65-53.

Prospect JV Wrestlers Win

Prospect's JV wrestler scored a 40-6 decision over Niles North last Friday to make their season's record five victories and one defeat.

Picking up decisions for the triumphant Knights were Bruce Croon (120). Jim Herod (127) and Mike Faklaris (10). Registering pins for the winners were Bill Kalvog (112), Bruce Sumner (133), Paul Colianni (138), John Jantac (165) and Kim Schier (heavyweight).

The junior-varsity Prospect matmen have their next meet tomorrow, at 7:00 p.m., when they host Deerfield.

Prospect Frosh

Prospect's freshmen wrestlers came from behind to down Niles North 34-9 last Friday and even their season mark at 3-3.

The frosh Knights, coached by Boyd Saum, were down 9-3 when they made their move. Ron Richardson (127), Pat Murphy (133), Mike Sanders (165), Jeff Schneider (180) and Mark Kitzing (heavyweight) all scored pins while Bob Link (138), Jerry Storing (145) and Don Burkhardt (154) were gaining decisions to take the meet for Prospect.

The winning frosh next host Deerfield Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

Curry, Anderson Lead Mat Win

Vince Curry and Roger Anderson continued their winning ways to pace the soph wrestlers of Prospect to a 27-17 triumph over Niles North.

Curry (138) and Anderson (154) both remained undefeated and took their sixth bouts of the year to help pull the sophomore record to 4-2. Also posting wins for the Knights were Dick Gewartowski (95), Jim Robinson (103), Mike Ruthowski (133), Dan Spera (180) and Dave Basquez (heavyweight).

The sophs, coached by Dave Ziemek, host Deerfield Saturday morning at 9:30 a.m. in their next meet.

Forest View's Sophs Win 61-36

A 61-36 basketball victory over Glenbrook North last Saturday gave the sophs of Forest View their sixth win in nine games.

Pacing the Falcons, who shot 33 per cent from the floor and 57 per cent at the charity stripe, were Bill Ford with 14 points, Doug Jones with 13 points and Ted Lambert with 11 points. Howard Brasch was the top man off the boards for FV as he pulled down 11 rebounds.

The final tally against Glenbrook gave the triumphant soph a 49.7 to 35.5 average scoring margin in all their contests to date.

Forest View's sophomores, coached by Bob Steingraber, travel to Maine West for their next battle this Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

Niles Tankers Head Locals

Niles West's varsity swimmers took a triangular from Arlington and Wheeling last week.

The hosts dumped Arlington, 60-35, and Wheeling, 75-19. Arlington did manage to pull out a 77-16 victory over Wheeling on a varsity level.

In the frosh-soph meet Niles tripped the Cardinals by an identical 60-35 count, and Arlington bumped Wheeling, 81-13.

POSTING FIRSTS for John Gardner's varsity Cards were Dick Tucker in the 50 freestyle with a :23.9 clocking, Greg Inman in the backstroke (1:02.65), Paul Michaels in the breaststroke (1:15.5), and Greg Stafford in the middle distance (2:06.1) and distance freestyle (4:49.7).

Jon Hittman gave Wheeling its only first with an impressive 1:06.7 clocking in the butterfly event.

Individual seconds for Arlington were turned in by Bill Sayre in the breaststroke and Don Johns in the distance freestyle.

Arlington came through with three firsts in the frosh - soph action.

LOWELL CHRISTY posted a :32.1 effort in the backstroke, and Paul Hembd registered a :28.3 in the butterfly. Arlington also won the medley relay with a team of Christy, Jim Philo, Hembd, and Dick Robinson.

Robinson was second in the 100 freestyle with a 1:00 time. Bill Elsner gained a runnerup berth in the 50 freestyle, and John Erickson was second in the individual medley. Mike Brown posted a second in diving.

Abboreno Pin Gives Wildcats Tie With Fenton

Frank Abboreno came through with a clutch pin in the heavyweight bout to give Wheeling a 25-25 tie with Fenton in a non-conference dual meet at Wheeling last Saturday. The Wildcats never led but the meet was deadlocked six times. The dual matched Art Kraft's Cats with the team he coached last season.

The meet started the same way it finished as Jim Luebking of Fenton and Rick Basch of Wheeling wrestled to a scoreless tie.

The Bisons took the lead at 103 pounds when George Giltner beat Dennis Kneip 4-3. Karl Meisenheimer evened it for the Wildcats with a 14-3 decision over Aguilar at 112. The score remained deadlocked after a 112 pound match that saw Wheeling's Thad Mikols and Bob Guido of Fenton wrestle to a draw.

THE BISONS went on top 12-7 when Tom Swan pinned Dick Ritter in 1:32 at 127. Al Eisenstein evened it for the Cats when he stopped Simek in 5:36. Dick Camp's squad regained the lead when Fred Swanson pinned Mike Fluegal but lost it when Paul Berwanger stopped Ray Laboda in 2:48 at 145.

Fenton went ahead 22-17 when Dusek pinned Rich Haddock at 154 and moved to a commanding 25-17 edge when Straub topped Joe Goffman 4-1 at 165.

Ted Armstrong brought the Cats within five when he blanked Olson 8-0 at 180 and Abboreno created the final deadlock when he stopped Crawford ten seconds before the end of their heavyweight bout.

The Wheeling jayvees erased a 20-10 deficit to trip the Bisons 26-20. Ray Pace started the rally with a pin at 154. Mike Henry won on a forfeit and Ryan Sarti and Steve Bacon copped decisions.

Knight Matmen Defeat Pirates

Prospect broke up a tight non-conference match with victories in the last three bouts to defeat Palatine 26-16 on the Pirate mats last Saturday. It was the Knights first victory over Palatine in a varsity meet.

The Knights jumped off to a 3-0 lead when Mike Mohr blanked Brad Molinari 5-0. Palatine tied it on George Smith's 9-4 win over Bob McMillan.

Prospect went up 6-3 on Roy Harnish's 11-3 verdict over Henry Hernandez at 112, but the Pirates took an 8-6 edge when Jim Bailey pinned Sid White in 4:41 of their match at 120.

The Knights went back on top with Bill Becker's 2-1 win over Gordie Hughes at 127. Palatine took the lead at 11-9 on Karl Lowry's 3-0 win over John Haight.

Prospect won the next two. George Freeland topped Don Willie 6-2 and Rick Bertoglio beat Larry Logan 4-0 to give the Knights a 15-12 lead.

Palatine went on top for the last time when unbeaten Seth Norton pinned Doug White in 1:45 of the 154 pound go.

After that, it was all Prospect. Bob Davis beat Bob Salinas 11-1, Earl Smith blanked Demitris Gerakeris 5-0 and unbeaten Mark Pasdiori pinned Paul Dolik in 5:51.

Sophs Triumph

Forest View's sophomore matmen captured a 41-11 victory from Glenbrook North last Saturday to move their season record to 5-2 overall and 3-1 in conference.

George Taylor (120) and George Bergau (138) took decisions for the Falcons and Phil Reder (heavyweight) registered the winners only pin while six matches went to FV on forfeits.

JV Falcons Lose 51-40

Glenbrook North defeated the Forest View JV squad 51-40 last Friday and the margin of difference came at the foul line.

The Spartans took an early lead in the game and held it as the Falcons tried to fight back. But whenever FV got close, Glenbrook would simply step to the foul line and pull away.

At the four minute mark in the final quarter the margin between the two quintets was close for the last time at 38-36. Then the visitors popped in six straight foul shots and sewed up the victory. Though the hosting Falcons outscored their opponents 32-28 from the floor, the Forest View club went down under the Spartans 23-8 edge at the charity stripe.

Pacing the lost FV cause were Bob Erlander with nine points and Jim Buckholz with eight. Glenbrook North had three men in double figures topped by center Terry Laughlin who hit 10 of 15 free throws to put his game high total at 16.

The Falcons' junior varsity, coached by Bob Rees, is now 5-4 for the season and travels to Maine West tomorrow at 7:00 p.m. for their next game.

Old Men Win Forfeit

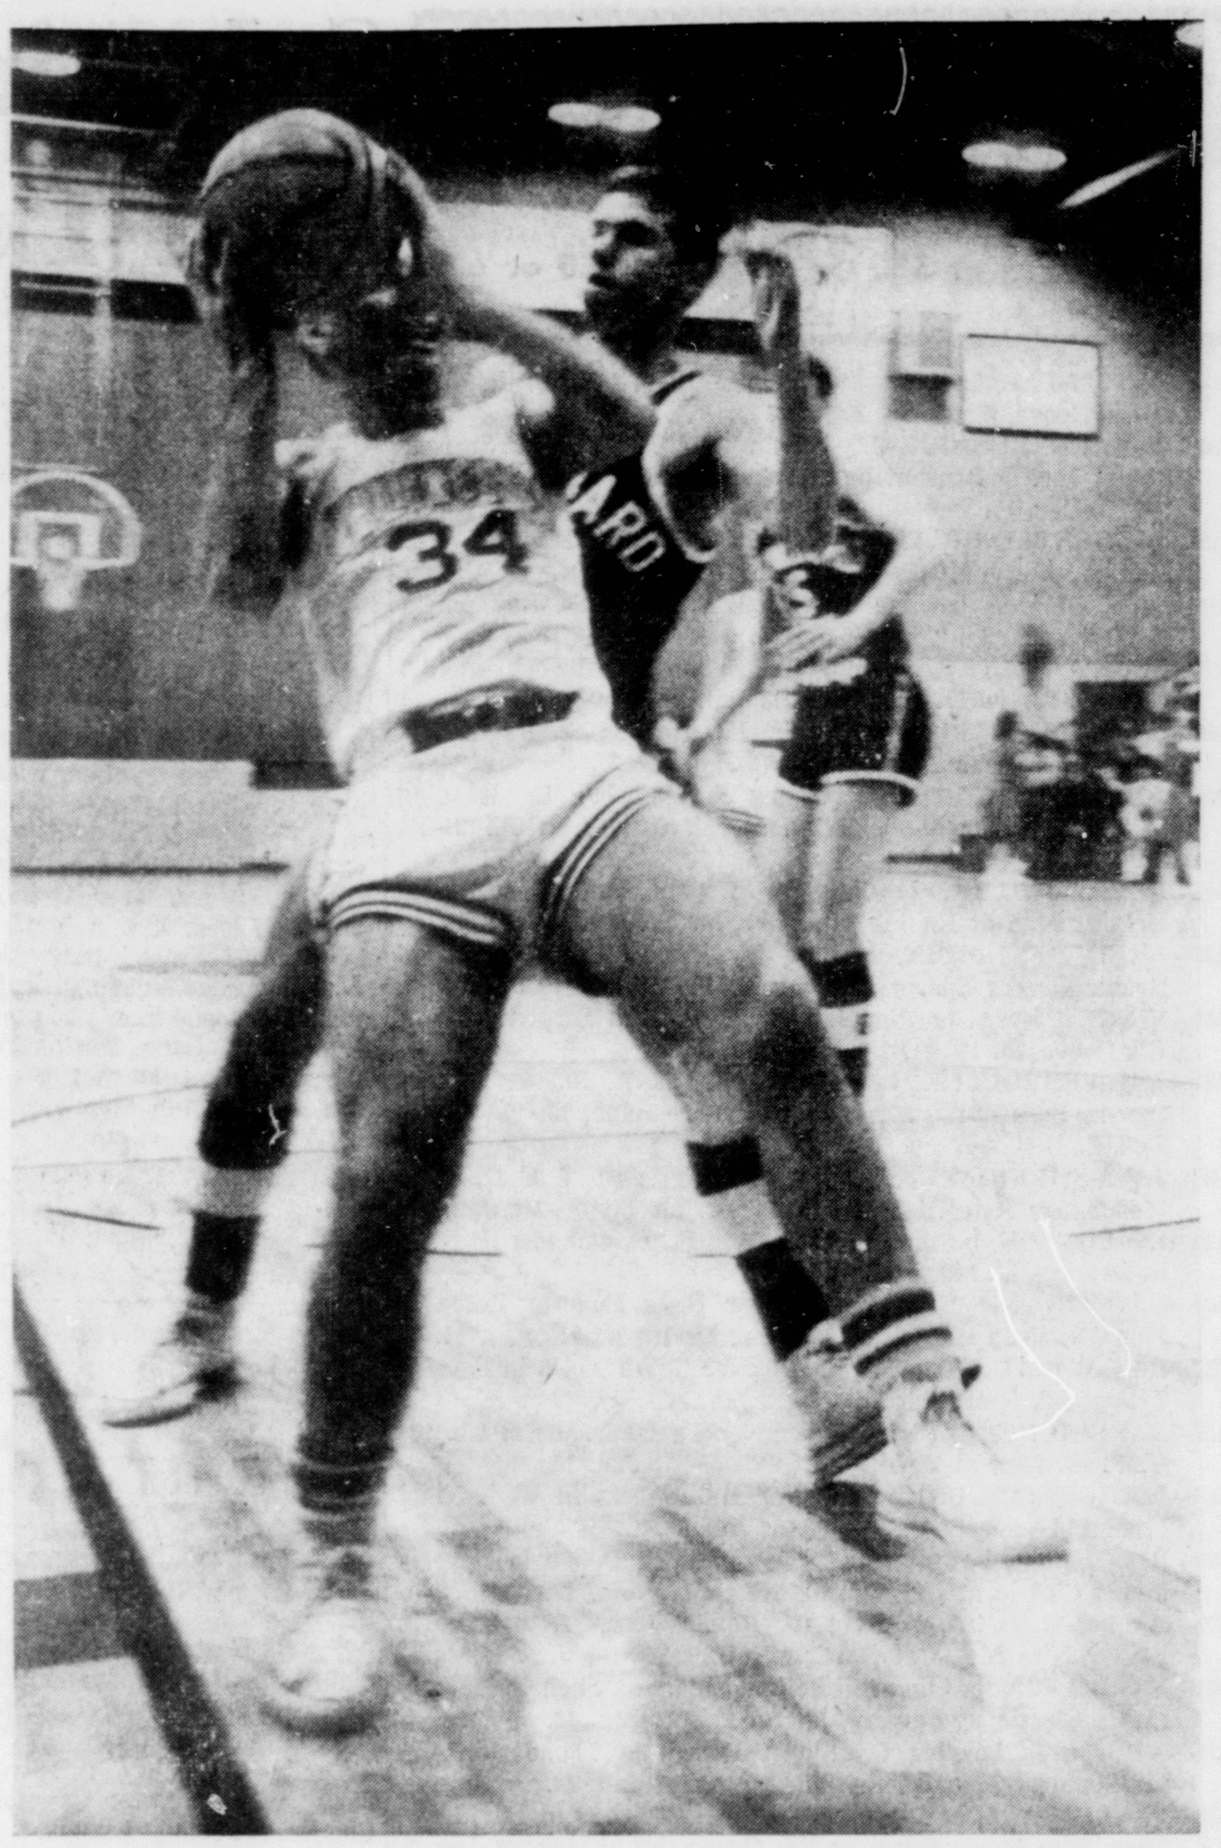
The Old Men continued their unbeaten string to hold undisputed first place in the Arlington Heights Park District Wednesday men's volleyball league.

The leaders were awarded a forfeit win over the Servers, while Hobby Lobby, only one game out, scored at random against the Stags to chalk up a 51-23 victory.

The Greens held on to a five point half-time lead to gain a 35-31 decision over the Brewers.

Still Tied

The Colts and Spikers continued to battle for first place honors as the Strats dropped a game behind in the Arlington Heights Park District Thursday men's volleyball league.



ARLINGTON GUARD Mike Frase (34) controls the basketball here in action during the Cardinals' 63-54 conquest of visiting Glenbard West last Saturday evening. Frase, who had 11 points in a 72-55 loss to LaGrange Friday, chipped in with six against the Hilltoppers. With the victory Arlington moved past Glenbard into fourth place in the West Suburban standings. (Staff Photo)

Records Continue To Fall; Girls' Team Wins Again

They have been rewriting the Northwest Girls YMCA Swim team records for the last seven weeks and last Saturday was no exception as Roger Tobin's girls set five team records, five pool records and Wheaton set three pool records.

The host, Northwest YMCA, rolled over Wheaton 238 to 74 to take a 7th straight victory.

Connie Foster, seventh grader in Mount Prospect, broke the prep 50 yard freestyle pool record to set new time of 28.9 and a new pool record in the 50 yard breaststroke in 38.6. She also holds the 100 yard freestyle and the 100 yard individual medley records.

Elizabeth Tobin whipped off a 37.9 clocking in the Junior 50 yard breaststroke for a pool and team mark and Andee Farmer set a pool and team record in the intermediate 100 yard backstroke in 1:18.3 and in the 100 yard freestyle in 1:06.7 and tying her 50 free record in 29.8.

CATHY ROWE, Arlington Heights, 8th grader at Miner Jr. High, set a new pool and team record of 29.2 in capturing the 50 yard junior freestyle event and placed 1st in the 50 yard butterfly.

The Intermediate 200 yard medley relay team of Mickey Hibbs, Palatine; Pam Evans, Arlington Heights; Karen Sheldon, Elmhurst; and Kathy Feely, Palatine, posted a 2:30.2 to break the team record.

Individual winners in the Cadets were Jan Lesniak, Prospect Heights, in the 25 yard backstroke and Marcia Bur- the 100 yard breaststroke.

Midget Andy Sue Hibbs, Palatine, picked up two firsts in 100 yard Individual Medley and 25 yard Breastroke and Kathy Wood, Mount Prospect, in the 50 yard freestyle.

Prep girls, Ruth Ann Gabler, Arlington Heights, placed 1st in the 100 yard individual medley and Sue Ivison in the 100 yard freestyle.

Jeanne Pollard, junior from Mount Prospect, took 1st in the 200 Individual Medley; Jackie Nesvig, Palatine, took 1st in the 100 yard freestyle; and Pat Wollerman, Arlington Heights, took 1st in the 50 yard backstroke.

Intermediate Kathy Feely was first in the 200 yard freestyle and Pam Evans 1st in the 100 yard breastroke.

Nine relay teams placed 1st out of the 10 entered in different divisions.

Frosh String 3

Forest View's freshmen scored a 37-15 wrestling victory over Glenbrook North in action last Saturday for their third triumph in a row.

Winning their bouts for the Falcons were Terry Lingen (95), Brian Wolff (103), Steve Stolnack (112), Jerry Loconsole (120), Cliff Gaylor (127), Steve Henrich (133), Spencer Dreischarf (165) and Bruce Spada (heavyweight).

The frosh, coached by Dave Theesfeld, are now 4-1-1 for the year and will host Maine West at 7 p.m. tomorrow and travel to Lake Park Saturday at 2 p.m. in their next meets.

Cardinals' JV Squad Wins, 69-52

Arlington's junior-varsity Cardinals coasted to a 69-52 victory over Notre Dame Monday afternoon.

Coach Al Allen's outfit jumped out to a 15-7 lead after one period and held a comfortable 32-13 cushion at the intermission.

Allen cleared the bench with each of the 11 boys seeing considerable action.

John Blomquist was high for the winners with six baskets and four free throws for 16 points. Jim Bressler sparked the Cardinal zone press in the second quarter and picked up five baskets and one free throw in that stanza.

Score by quarters:

Arlington	15	17	17	20—69
Notre Dame	7	6	19	20—52

Junior Varsity Wins and Loses

The junior varsity matmen of Forest View won one and lost one in meet action last weekend. The Falcons' JV squad were defeated 23-2 by Glenbrook North on Friday but then bounced back to whip Niles East on Saturday 27 to 19.

Against Glenbrook the Forest View points came on the wins of Steve DeHaven (103), Larry McKisic (120), Ray Vitha (145), Ray Roth (180) and John Bantner (heavyweight). The same five wrestlers plus Best (138) and Ron McKisic (112) gathered in the victories against Niles.

Maine West will be the next Forest View opponent tomorrow at 7 p.m. at home while Niles West will offer the competition at 10 a.m. Saturday morning, also at home.

On Varsity Mats

Cards Rout Antioch, Fall To LaGrange

Antioch was no problem but the bout with LaGrange was a different story as Arlington's varsity wrestlers posted a split in weekend mat competition.

Coach Julius Fliehler's Cardinals routed Antioch in a non-conference match, 32-5, but dropped a 23-14 victory to the powerful Lions of LaGrange.

The Cards were scheduled to journey to Riverside-Brookfield yesterday (Wednesday) with a home meet Saturday afternoon against Hinsdale.

ARLINGTON MOVED out to a 12-0 lead after four bouts in the win over Antioch and never trailed. The only points Antioch picked up were a tie at 127 and decision at 165.

Reliable Ray Herda got things rolling for the Cards with a 9-0 win at 95 pounds and Tom McCarthy (103), Scott Brown (112), and Ken Neal (120) followed with victories. Brown and Neal coasted but McCarthy was pressed before pulling out a 2-1 thriller.

After Antioch's John Sheppard tied Arlington's Bruce Conti at 127, Doug Duss gave the Cards three more points with a 7-2 win at 133. Chip Douglas (138), Don Lindmark (145), and Kirk Wolter (154) were next in line to post victories with the trio racking up consecutive shutouts.

ANTIOCH was back on the board at 165 when Ipsen decisioned Charley Hood, 4-3, but the Cards concluded the scoring on a 1-0 win by Ron Thompson (180) and 11-6 win by Mark Frase at heavyweight.

Arlington took a 3-0 lead at 95 pounds thanks to Herda's 4-1 victory but fell behind at 112 and never regained the advantage.

Neal pulled Fliehler's outfit back into a deadlock at 120 with a 5-3 win before the Lions reeled off two straight victories.

Douglas scored six points in the concluding period with two predicaments and a reversal and posted an 8-6 victory at 138, and Lindmark came through with a 1-1 tie at 145. The Cards were only three points down with four bouts remaining, but LaGrange put the decision out of reach with three straight victories.

Frase gave Arlington its final points with an impressive 4-1 win in the heavyweight bracket.

Falcons' Matmen Suffer Two Losses

A double defeat was dealt to Forest View's varsity wrestlers in meets last weekend with Glenbrook North and Niles East.

The Falcons bowed 25-17 to Glenbrook last Friday and then went down to Niles 27-16 on Saturday. As a result of the action the FV record was left at 1-6-1.

Omar Aviles, with two wins at 103 pounds, was the big man for Forest View. He registered 2-0 and 4-2 decisions to run his personal record this year to 10 wins against only one loss in 11 matches. Aviles has four pinning victories to his credit.

Another top man in the Falcons' effort was Mickey Colovos. Colovos scored two quick pins in his bouts, picking up ten points for FV and moving his individual mark to eight wins, a single loss and one tie. He also has four pins.

The only other double winner for the losers was Dean Jacobsen at 127 pounds. He racked up 5-0 and 8-0 decisions and now is 5-1 for the season.

Against Glenbrook, Randy Haydel (120) and Larry Gebhardt (145) each came out on top for the Falcons. The other weekend match win was by Tom Bohac (95) who gained a 4-2 judgement in the Niles meet.

The Forest View varsity, coached by Hal Henson, will host Maine West tomorrow at 7:00 p.m. and travel to Lake Park at 2:00 p.m. Saturday for its next two meets.

Arlington Sinclair Is First

Arlington Park Sinclair took over undisputed first place in the Arlington Heights Park District Sportsman's basketball league with close decision over Sellergren Sports.

Sellergren Sports led after the third quarter 47-44, but couldn't hold off a 21 point surge by Arlington Park Sinclair in the final period. Sinclair took the contest 65-62.

Arlington Oiler got dumped by the off and on Pure Oil squad 52-50.

The Old Pros won two out of three falls against the Lions and posted a score of 65-53.

Prospect JV Wrestlers Win

Prospect's JV wrestler scored a 40-6 decision over Niles North last Friday to make their season's record five victories and one defeat.

Picking up decisions for the triumphant Knights were Bruce Croon (120). Jim Herod (127) and Mike Faklaris (10). Registering pins for the winners were Bill Kalvog (112), Bruce Sumner (133), Paul Colianni (138), John Jantac (165) and Kim Schier (heavyweight).

The junior-varsity Prospect matmen have their next meet tomorrow, at 7:00 p.m., when they host Deerfield.

Prospect Frosh

Prospect's freshmen wrestlers came from behind to down Niles North 34-9 last Friday and even their season mark at 3-3.

The frosh Knights, coached by Boyd Saum, were down 9-3 when they made their move. Ron Richardson (127), Pat Murphy (133), Mike Sanders (165), Jeff Schneider (180) and Mark Kitzing (heavyweight) all scored pins while Bob Link (138), Jerry Storing (145) and Don Burkhardt (154) were gaining decisions to take the meet for Prospect.

The winning frosh next host Deerfield Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

Curry, Anderson Lead Mat Win

Vince Curry and Roger Anderson continued their winning ways to pace the soph wrestlers of Prospect to a 27-17 triumph over Niles North.

Curry (138) and Anderson (154) both remained undefeated and took their sixth bouts of the year to help pull the sophomore record to 4-2. Also posting wins for the Knights were Dick Gewartowski (95), Jim Robinson (103), Mike Ruthowski (133), Dan Spera (180) and Dave Basquez (heavyweight).

The sophs, coached by Dave Ziemek, host Deerfield Saturday morning at 9:30 a.m. in their next meet.

Forest View's Sophs Win 61-36

A 61-36 basketball victory over Glenbrook North last Saturday gave the sophs of Forest View their sixth win in nine games.

Pacing the Falcons, who shot 33 per cent from the floor and 57 per cent at the charity stripe, were Bill Ford with 14 points, Doug Jones with 13 points and Ted Lambert with 11 points. Howard Brasch was the top man off the boards for FV as he pulled down 11 rebounds.

The final tally against Glenbrook gave the triumphant soph a 49.7 to 35.5 average scoring margin in all their contests to date.

Forest View's sophomores, coached by Bob Steingraber, travel to Maine West for their next battle this Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

Schmidt, Pioneers Pad Leads In PCTL

Pioneer Lanes, eliminated from contention on the final Saturday evening of the first round, is apparently intent on making sure that possibility does not exist when the teams enter the second half stretch in March.

The Pioneers, with George Schmidt back in form after an injury, turned in their second successive shutout, this one over the Brass Rail Restaurant on the home lanes. The seven pointer gives the Pioneers a total of 19 — just two shy of perfect for three evening's work — and leaves them with a fairly comfortable edge over second place Bill Cook Buick.

The Buicks took second place with a 5-2 win over Casares. Country Lanes lent a hand by dropping a 5-2 match to the Concourse Sports Chalet and in the bargain dropped into third place. In the final match, Morton Pontiac vaulted from seventh to fifth with a 7-0 whitewash of Jeffery Lanes.

SCHMIDT increased his league leading average to almost four pins over teammate Pat Peterson with a 255-225-180—660. The 660 was the highest series of the evening and the 255 matched Ron Stiel's effort for game honors. Schmidt had help from Don Jacobs who finished with a strong 237 for a 639 series.

Bill Cook won big in the opener, lost big in the second and won the third by 13 pins, giving the Buicks a 17 pin edge in total pins. Al Jordan carded a 578 for the winners, but match honors went to Casares' Frank Graff. He rolled a 620.

Steil was the villain as far as Country Lanes was concerned. Ron's 633 was the only noteworthy series for the Sports, but it was enough to get them by Country Lanes. Wayne Hahn had a 564 for the losers.

John Miller rolled a 633 to pace the Pontiacs to their easy win over Jeffery on the losers lanes.

Steve's 1st Half Champ; River Rand Cops Three Points

Steve's Restaurant is the official first half champion and River Rand Bowl is off to a fast start in the second half.

That's the story this week from the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League.

Steve's was crowned the first half champion after all the makeup games had been recorded. They held a two-point margin over runnerup Morton Pontiac.

In the second half, however, River Rand has picked up seven points in two nights of competition. They gained three more points Saturday with a conquest of Morton Pontiac.

Marge Lindenberg fashioned a 562 series with games of 198 and 199 in leading River Rand to its win over Morton. Ethel Juenger, who sports a 177 average after 42 games, had a 510.

Ruthmary Baurhyte was high for Morton with a 559 that included a 208 game.

Steve's Restaurant swept four points from Country Lanes as Delores Harris paved the way with a fine 558. Maureen Nydam was high for Country Lanes with a 500.

Bill Cook Buick moved into second place with a 4-0 conquest of Owens Plastics. Kay Clark's 510 and Joanne Christensen's 504 paced Cook, and Emily Honickel had a 484 for Owens.

In makeup games from the first half Morton Pontiac took four points from River Rand and Steve's three from Owens.

The standings:

Split for Weekend

Lion Sophs Rally For 41-40 Victory

St. Viator's sophomore Lions rallied in the fourth period Saturday to nip DeLaSalle by one point and register a split for the weekend in Chicagoland Prep League basketball.

Coach Ed Wasielewski's outfit, a 66-56 victim at St. Patrick's Friday night, came from five points down in the final seven minutes and pulled out a 41-40 victory over DeLaSalle.

Guard Frank Hogan, a deadly out-shooter, spearheaded the comeback against the Meteors, but it was a free throw by Greg Pollich, his only point of the night, that proved decisive.

HOGAN, WHO had drilled 29 points at St. Pat's the previous night, didn't warm up until the fourth period Saturday, but then he was unstoppable. He drilled six baskets in the final seven minutes and five were long-range items.

Hogan's 17-footer gave the Lions a 38-37 lead and after DeLaSalle counted a free throw Dan Collins slipped in for a lay-up. Pollich's free throw came with 21 seconds remaining and gave the hosts a 41-38 advantage.

Collins was high for the winners with 17 points. Hogan added 14.

At St. Pat's the Lions got off to a slow start and although they staged a rush in the closing period it was too late. The hosts had a 38-25 lead at halftime.

Hogan had a brilliant night for the losers with ten baskets and nine free throws. He had 17 points in the first half. Collins contributed 15.

The Lions will journey to St. Joseph Friday night and entertain Holy Cross Saurday. The locals now stand 3-1 in Chicagoland basketball.

16-Year-Old Records 298

Ray Olson, a 16-year-old Prospect High School student, fired a 298 game this week in a practice session at Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights.

Olson, a member of the Junior Traveling League, will be bowling against the Old Fitzgerald team on Jan. 31.

Warren Olson, Ray's father, is currently competing in the All-Star tournament in Philadelphia.

Schmidt, Pioneers Pad Leads In PCTL

Pioneer Lanes, eliminated from contention on the final Saturday evening of the first round, is apparently intent on making sure that possibility does not exist when the teams enter the second half stretch in March.

The Pioneers, with George Schmidt back in form after an injury, turned in their second successive shutout, this one over the Brass Rail Restaurant on the home lanes. The seven pointer gives the Pioneers a total of 19 — just two shy of perfect for three evening's work — and leaves them with a fairly comfortable edge over second place Bill Cook Buick.

The Buicks took second place with a 5-2 win over Casares. Country Lanes lent a hand by dropping a 5-2 match to the Concourse Sports Chalet and in the bargain dropped into third place. In the final match, Morton Pontiac vaulted from seventh to fifth with a 7-0 whitewash of Jeffery Lanes.

SCHMIDT increased his league leading average to almost four pins over teammate Pat Peterson with a 255-225-180—660. The 660 was the highest series of the evening and the 255 matched Ron Stiel's effort for game honors. Schmidt had help from Don Jacobs who finished with a strong 237 for a 639 series.

Bill Cook won big in the opener, lost big in the second and won the third by 13 pins, giving the Buicks a 17 pin edge in total pins. Al Jordan carded a 578 for the winners, but match honors went to Casares' Frank Graff. He rolled a 620.

Steil was the villain as far as Country Lanes was concerned. Ron's 633 was the only noteworthy series for the Sports, but it was enough to get them by Country Lanes. Wayne Hahn had a 564 for the losers.

John Miller rolled a 633 to pace the Pontiacs to their easy win over Jeffery on the losers lanes.

Steve's 1st Half Champ; River Rand Cops Three Points

Steve's Restaurant is the official first half champion and River Rand Bowl is off to a fast start in the second half.

That's the story this week from the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League.

Steve's was crowned the first half champion after all the makeup games had been recorded. They held a two-point margin over runnerup Morton Pontiac.

In the second half, however, River Rand has picked up seven points in two nights of competition. They gained three more points Saturday with a conquest of Morton Pontiac.

Marge Lindenberg fashioned a 562 series with games of 198 and 199 in leading River Rand to its win over Morton. Ethel Juenger, who sports a 177 average after 42 games, had a 510.

Ruthmary Baurhyte was high for Morton with a 559 that included a 208 game.

Steve's Restaurant swept four points from Country Lanes as Delores Harris paved the way with a fine 558. Maureen Nydam was high for Country Lanes with a 500.

Bill Cook Buick moved into second place with a 4-0 conquest of Owens Plastics. Kay Clark's 510 and Joanne Christensen's 504 paced Cook, and Emily Honickel had a 484 for Owens.

In makeup games from the first half Morton Pontiac took four points from River Rand and Steve's three from Owens.

The standings:

Split for Weekend

Lion Sophs Rally For 41-40 Victory

St. Viator's sophomore Lions rallied in the fourth period Saturday to nip DeLaSalle by one point and register a split for the weekend in Chicagoland Prep League basketball.

Coach Ed Wasielewski's outfit, a 66-56 victim at St. Patrick's Friday night, came from five points down in the final seven minutes and pulled out a 41-40 victory over DeLaSalle.

Guard Frank Hogan, a deadly out-shooter, spearheaded the comeback against the Meteors, but it was a free throw by Greg Pollich, his only point of the night, that proved decisive.

HOGAN, WHO had drilled 29 points at St. Pat's the previous night, didn't warm up until the fourth period Saturday, but then he was unstoppable. He drilled six baskets in the final seven minutes and five were long-range items.

Hogan's 17-footer gave the Lions a 38-37 lead and after DeLaSalle counted a free throw Dan Collins slipped in for a lay-up. Pollich's free throw came with 21 seconds remaining and gave the hosts a 41-38 advantage.

Collins was high for the winners with 17 points. Hogan added 14.

At St. Pat's the Lions got off to a slow start and although they staged a rush in the closing period it was too late. The hosts had a 38-25 lead at halftime.

Hogan had a brilliant night for the losers with ten baskets and nine free throws. He had 17 points in the first half. Collins contributed 15.

The Lions will journey to St. Joseph Friday night and entertain Holy Cross Saurday. The locals now stand 3-1 in Chicagoland basketball.

16-Year-Old Records 298

Township Government Least Known, Effective

Form Was Started In Colonial Days

by DAN BAUMANN
Staff Writer

(Editor's Note: This article is the first in a series examining the form, junctions and finances of township government.)

Do you know what township you live in, or if you even live in a township?

What does your township government do, how much money does it spend and for what?

Do you know the names of top elected officials in your township, or at least the titles of elected positions? Do you know their major duties?

No?

Move over, chum. You have company.

For townships — once probably the most important form of government — are today perhaps the least understood and least effective in northwest suburbia.

THE ANSWERS to the first series of questions help explain why township government is a blank spot in citizen understanding:

Yes, you live in a township. Even if you also live in an incorporated community which provides all your needed municipal services. Don't ask your neighbor which township it is — even if he knows the name of his township, some municipalities cut across township lines.

What your township does, how much it spends and for what depends on the township — and on the county you're in. There are basic differences in Cook and DuPage County Townships; you'll probably find more logic behind the existence of those in DuPage.

Whether you know your elected officials again probably depends on which county you live in. Supervisors in DuPage County sit on the county board and are known far more prominently than their Cook counterparts, whose main function is administering township relief.

COOK COUNTY townships have a supervisor, a clerk and three auditors who compose the board of auditors. In addition, they have an assessor, a collector and a highway commissioner, elected officials who do not sit on the town board. There are also three township school trustees, an appointed weed commissioner and a library board (in Schaumburg Township).

Addison and Bloomingdale Townships in Du Page have fewer elected officials: a supervisor, clerk and three auditors who compose the board of auditors, plus an assessor and highway commissioner. Because DuPage supervisors sit on the county board — and because townships vary in population — larger townships may have one or more assistant supervisors. Bloomingdale Township has one, Addison two. Their only function of consequence is in county government, not the township. The DuPage townships also have an appointed weed commissioner.

THE TOWNSHIP form of government came to Illinois from New York and New England, where it was established in Colonial days. This was an ideal unit of government in those sparcely settled territories.

The townships provided the most direct and personal government services — as reflected in two prime functions of town government today, poor relief and road and bridge work.

They provided these services locally, so there was closer contact between the governed and their officials.

And through the annual town meeting, they gave the people the opportunity to legislate directly on budgetary and other matters. Town meetings had no competition from television and other forms of mass entertainment in attracting the attention of residents.

UNFORTUNATELY, Illinois didn't settle for just one system of political subdivision. Southern settlers moving into central and southern Illinois brought with them a different tradition, the county commission setup. Seventeen counties are governed by commissions, 84 through the township supervisor system. Cook County uses the commission system but also maintains townships. (The eight townships in the City of Chicago no longer function.)

The township system is not static: the Blue Ballot court reform, for example, eliminated justices of the peace as township elected officials and substituted appointed magistrates of the Circuit Court.

And a more fundamental change may be coming as a result of the Supreme Court's "one-man, one-vote" decision. DuPage and most other Illinois counties may have to scuttle or seriously alter their county board setups, because of the difficulty in providing equal representation on the basis of rigid township lines.

THE COOK-DuPAGE contrasts make a big difference in their budgets. The Cook township gets 2 per cent of all taxes received through its collector in "excess commissions."

That 2 per cent can build into a large surplus of funds. Recent state laws permit the townships to dispose of surplus funds by grants to local school districts and welfare agencies. As a result, groups interested in such causes can pack an annual meeting.

(Because of lagging citizen interest, it is easy to pack a town meeting for causes good, bad or indifferent. An attendance of 500 is considered large even in Wheeling, where that is a fraction of 1 per cent of the population. Attendances of less than 50 persons are not uncommon.)

Without collectors and their 2 per cent commission, DuPage's townships have no large surpluses to distribute to outside groups.

BUT OTHER disputes over spending, construction of a new building and the like can create a once-only interest on the part of some citizens.

Township elections will be held April 6 in the seven northwest suburban townships of Addison, Bloomingdale, Elk Grove, Hanover, Palatine, Schaumburg and Wheeling. Fifty-four offices will be up for grabs.

Who is running, what will be the issues, and how much in taxpayers' money is at stake? These questions will be examined in future articles. A15

SQUARE DANCE CLUB NEWS

Dorothy Meyer CL 3-2298

BUCKS AND DOES

For a change there wasn't a thief in the crowd attending the last Elk Grovers' dance even though four normally banner-hungry clubs were represented. Square Wheels from Deerfield, North Shore Alemanders from Evanston, Teen Promenaders from Arlington Heights and Cross Trailers from Bellwood were probably just wearing company manners because there were several guests at the dance with no club affiliation nor any knowledge of local banner-snatching customs. Their host club extends a cordial invitation to come back again soon.

Bucks and Does will dance again Saturday night with Bob Lewis calling and Carl and Marie Peterson leading the round dances. Bob will square 'em up at 8 o'clock in Dempster Junior High School, Dempster and Elmhurst Roads, in Elk Grove Township. Everybody's welcome.

Club-sponsored, Lewis-led advanced workshop sessions are being held in Dempster School every Tuesday night. Thirty-four couples have signed up so far, learning the newest calls and generally advancing at a merry rate.

A phone call to 824-3870—ask for Danny—will give interested persons further information about the club and its workshop.

PALATINE SQUARES

We did it again, Because a handwritten "T" and "L" looked alike, we gave club president Harold Crittenden a wife named Lil. His wife Til is understandably concerned lest their friends think she's been discarded for a lady named Lil, or is suddenly using an alias. Neither is true. The club's printed "business" card is now a permanent part of this writer's files, it says that Harold and Til are a permanent pair, and it guarantees an end to name juggling. An embarrassed columnist is just as happy as Til to at last reunite her with Harold.

Regular guests of Palatine Squares as well as dancers looking for a club to call their own are reminded that time is running out. Now is the hour to join the Palatiners for the second half of the season; a club membership is more economic than guest "dues" and budget-minded dancers are urged to join while there's still time.

There'll be dancing again Saturday night in Pleasant Hill School, with Jim Stewart taking over the mike at 8:30 sharp and Dot and Jerry Daniels leading the rounds between tips. Everybody come!

Adding to everyone's enjoyment of the club's lsst dance was the arrival of June and Mike Bischoff. June was seriously ill early in the season, had a long recuperation from major surgery and was unable to be with the gang for many weeks. "She looked wonderful," says the club report, "and all of us were so happy to see her again."

SLOWPOKES

Members are reminded and visitors are notified that Slowpokes are changing their regular dance schedule from the second and fourth Friday nights of every month to the first and third Fridays, beginning next month. They'll finish the old schedule tomorrow night, and begin the new one Feb. 5.

Caller Gene Tidwell will square 'em up tomorrow night at 8:30 in Euclid School, Mount Prospect, with 17 couples from the club's beginners' class as special guests. Graduation of these couples takes place Jan. 27 when they will also become full-fledged members of Slowpokes.

Banner business continues brisk for the Mount Prospecters. Nine couples went to Libertyville to liberate the Saints and Swingers' banner Jan. 9. It was almost a must, since the Slowpokes banner was stolen the night before and the walls were bare. Retrieving their pennant will mean an out-of-state trip for the local club - it's in the protective custody of the Buttons and Bows of Munster, Ind., and winter weather will largely determine the date of Slowpokes' return raid. Other guests joining the Munster dancers Jan. 8 were the Little Squares of Niles.

ARLINGTON SQUARES

Prizes, a cake walk, special guests and the return of Lenny Roos will highlight tomorrow night's dance at South Junior High School Roos, a frequent and most popular guest caller of Arlington Squares, hasn't been here since Thanksgiving week and everyone's looking forward to his peppy singing calls. "Some of our guests miss dancing with Mary Lou, too," says the club report.

Guests will be members of "Tib" Tibbetts beginners' classes from Arlington Heights and Northbrook. The local group has taken the course offered by the Arlington Heights Park District and sponsored jointly by Arlington Squares and Palatine Squares. Both local and Northbrook classes were just graduated and are looking forward to using their newly-acquired talents.

Roos will activate the mike and the dancers at 8:30, immediately following the half-hour round dance workshop held regularly by Dot and Jerry Daniels. More and more dancers are coming early for the Daniels session, then super-enjoying the round dance portion of the evening's program.

South Junior High School is located at 314 S. Highland in Arlington Heights; information about the club and its programs is located at CL 5-4183. That's also one of the numbers to call to register for Illinois' first State Square Dance Convention. Read on—

STATE CONVENTION

Word has been received that plans are underway for the first state convention of square dancers in Illinois. Many states have had such super-gatherings for several years and a few local enthusiasts are among the many who now figure that it's high time Illinois gets going.

There's not much to tell yet—just the dates, May 28-29-30, and the place, the Conrad Hilton Hotel-but more information will be forthcoming. Arlington Squares are already processing the registrations of several early-bird conventioneers, and will continue to do so.

Advertising chairman of the big bash is a local boy, Bob Luebbe, who's been the mover and shaker behind more than one king-sized promotion of square dancing in the state. He needs all the help he can get to make our state's first convention the whopping success every dancer wants it to be. If you'd like to volunteer some time and effort give him a buzz, after five o'clock (in the evening, please), at CL 5-9338. Please do not call him for information about the convention—that will appear here as it develops, and non-essential phone calls will only delay the progress he must make to guarantee the success of this venture. Daley Cancels Suburban Talk

Edward Wallis, manager of WIND radio station, will replace Richard Daley as guest speaker at next Wednesday night's annual dinner meeting of the Northwest Municipal Conference.

Outgoing President John Blanke, Barrington village president, said Mayor Daley's secretary had phoned him last Friday that there had been an "unavoidable" change in the mayor's plans which would preclude his scheduled talk on the relation of the suburbs to Chicago. Blanke remarked that he had read that Daley is expected to vacation in Florida after attending inaugural activities in Washington this week.

While at WIND the past four years, Wallis has given special emphasis to a program of continuing involvement and association with Chicago's suburban communities. Many of the members of the Northwest Municipal Conference have appeared on the station on "Your Mayor Speaks" or other public affairs programs. (B10

Decrease Noted in Building

Fewer permits for both homes and apartments were issued in the Chicago metropolitan area during 1964 than in the previous year, according to the year-end new building survey of Bell Savings and Loan Association.

A weakened suburban market accounted for a decline in the total apartments, the second yearly drop since the postwar peak was reached in 1962.

Homes decreased to the lowest level in the past 17 years.

The six-county metropolitan area had a total of 18,866 single family home permits issued during the year, a decline of about four per cent from the 19,737 of the previous year.

HOMES WERE AT ABOUT the same level in the suburbs, 12,550 in 1964 as against 12,531 in 1963, but were down eight per cent in Chicago, from 2,663 in 1963 to 2,438 in 1964. Homes decreased 15 per cent in unincorporated areas, 4,543 in 1963 compared with 3,878 in 1964.

Apartments in the entire metropolitan area declined six per cent. There were 18,620 units reported against 19,777 in 1963.

In the suburbs the 24 per cent drop in apartments was the first since the uninterrupted growth of apartment construction began in the mid-1950's. It reached a peak of 12,057 in the suburbs in 1963. In Chicago, however, apartments rose 20 per cent last year, and were up 35 per cent in unincorporated areas.

The value of all building permits (residential, commercial, industrial, etc.) was $1,155,654,659. This represents a rise of seven per cent above 1963 when the value was $1,080,721,932 and is the highest level since the $1,171,890,642 reached in 1960.

THE DECEMBER SEASONALLY adjusted annual housing rate dropped 16 per cent below November. Home permits were issued at an annual rate equivalent to 31,512 housing units (14,304 homes and 17,208 apartment units.)

Among the 10 leading home builders in 1964 were Arlington Heights, which led the list with 570 permits valued at $13,893,500 and an average home cost of $24,374, and Palatine with 301 permits valued at $5,259,498 and an average home cost of $17,473.

The list of communities reporting 50 or more apartment units during 1964 included these northwest suburbs: Addison, 277 units, $3,077,000; Arlington Heights, 352 units, $4,604,000; Mount Prospect, 312 units, $3,080,000; Rolling Meadows, 124 units, $1,075,328.

Cook County, excluding Chicago, reported 1,226 units at a value of $14,545,642. DuPage County reported 623 units valued at $5,267,466.

Crowd Braves Snowstorm To Hear Loeffler's Talk

Despite heavy snow and blizzardy winds 60 some residents turned out for the Long Grove Church sponsored Community Night Jan. 15 to share the insights of Heinz Loeffler, a neighbor, whose growing recognition in the outside world has been the result of his concerns in the field of international relations.

Loeffler who has been in Russia, spoke behind the Iron Curtain in Budapest and has traveled in Yugoslavia, presented a fast-moving hour of his thoughts and observations, sprinkled generously with humour.

In his talk, "Marxmanship, Ideology and Practice," along with his references to Communist and Socialist principles, Loeffler gave a vivid account of life in Yugoslavia as lived in the market place as well as among his friends, the dignitaries.

OF COMMUNISM he remarked, "It has lost some of its luster—It has long ago stopped being a determinative policy—In the abolition of private ownership one can't avoid totalitarian results—Behind the Iron Curtain the constant demand is for improvement, not for change."

"With a glowing future dangling before them, people are led to become devout members of the Party," said Loeffler, admitting that in recent years of government "the technicians have taken over the revolutionaries."

Stating that 50 years of anti-religious indoctrination has had its effect in Communist countries, he added, "in going from icon to icon the worshipers are mostly people over 65."

Of Yugoslavia, he said he was impressed by its business acumen, its lively, vibrant economy and its philosophy of pragmatism, all assets in its struggle for better living conditions.

Calling himself "an incorrigible optimist," his talk from beginning to end was a heartening message, his only deviation a reference to Red China as a possible future threat.

"We have a wonderful country to defend," he told his friends. "Where else in the world can one work himself up from the bottom? In return we ought to feel more dedication and less of the "what's-in-it-for-me philosophy."

DURING THE refreshment hour, hosted by the evening Women's Guild circle, people were able to examine a collection of articles the speaker had brought from Yugoslavia, along with a doll and bolster contributed by Mrs. Joseph Young. Refreshment hostesses were Mrs. Fred Dahlberg, Mrs. Kenneth Hartman and Mrs. David Edmunds. Village President Robert Coffin introduced the speaker, setting the relaxed neighborly mood of the evening.

Notice was given at Thursday night's village board meeting of a proposed amendment to the village zoning ordinance to be presented for consideration at a public hearing in the near future. Definite date has not been set. The proposal, affecting the Crossroads, was drawn up by the plan commission who utilized the services of Tech Search Co. of Evanston.

Trustees gave the plan commission authority to spend up to $600 to bring its maps up to date.

It was announced that the village has hired the engineering firm of Bleck and Associates of Waukegan to conduct a preliminary survey of its Crossroads sewage situation and come up with some recommended plans.

Mutual agreement was reached between the village and its consulting engineer of road work, Mr. Woodman of Baxter and Woodman, Crystal Lake, to terminate his services. Announcement was made following Woodman's financial end-of-the-year report.

LOCAL HIGH schoolers are building up an enthusiastic momentum at Ela-Vernon prepares to present the famed Chad Mitchell Trio in a special evening concert Jan. 28. The program, featuring folk songs, satire and ballads, is being sponsored by the school's newspaper staff and the National Honor Society, whose members have worked for months on ticket sales. Penne Decker and Kathy Jungbluth of this area have been most avid ticket promoters.

Profit on the Kildeer Book Fair held Nov. 12 was $286.66. After book purchases and prize and gift books have been deducted, amount deposited in the library fund is $74.65.

Mrs. Charles Parson, business manager of the Kildeer Players' "Command Performance," reports a total profit of $1300 on the two-night attraction. Of this amount $673 was cleared on the show. The rest, amounting to $634.28, came in through donations and from the guarantors.

NOW IS THE time for families to consider the possibilities of housing or shall we say "adopting" the International Student for 1965-66 as part of the AFS program at Ela-Vernon. For more information, call the William Salzmans, 438-3171.

Church school leaders who attended the quarterly preview Jan. 12 at the Arlington Heights United Church of Christ were Rev. Alfred Williams, Craig Anderson, Mrs. Orville Held, Mrs. Franklin Bivins, Mrs. Whitford Kuhn, Mrs. Chris Jenkins, Mrs. Fred Dahlberg, Mrs. John Roberts and Pat Hartman.

Call Mrs. Harold Turner if you have some time to give toward putting the church library in order? Typing ability isn't a necessity to qualify.

The Rev. Williams' seminary paper on "New Forms of the Church in Suburbia" provided the main reason for the gathering the Frank Hurleys hosted at their home recently. In on the discussion were the Alfred Williams, Gale Livengoods, Robert Coffins, Anton Bergs and the Orville Helds.

AT THE Jan. 13 meeting of Mrs. Robert Coffin's morning guild, the members who gathered at Mrs. Jay Neubauer's home became so engrossed in their discussion of the Biblical Isaiah they ran over-time. Discussion leader was Mrs. Charles Johnson.

Participants in the "Rearing Children of Goodwill" workshop held at the church social room last fall will be interested to know Miss Harriet White and others of its leaders may be heard on FM radio on Jan. 26, Feb. 2, Feb. 9 and the 16th. Discussion will be on the "Psychology of Prejudice."

In response to inquiries a review of Long Grove's workshop plus evaluation will be held at the church on Feb. 23 at 8 p.m. You are welcome to come for an evening's condensed re-run of the series. Mrs. Ronald Crawford has attended an instruction school and will be conducting a workshop in Wayne the next few weeks.

WATCHING pictures of the beautiful gardens at Xochimilco, Mexico, or the ancient Mayan ruins near Chicken Itza, fifth graders at Half Day School were excited over their schoolroom tour of Mexico and the Honduras on Jan. 18. Colored slides were shown by William Ernsting of the Ernstings' trip a few years ago.

Making it a family send-off at O'Hare's Seven Continents Room on Jan. 16, the Joe Youngs and Peggy waved Jacque off to Kansas City, where she'll attend a 14-week school in preparation for her position as airline stewardess.

Equally enthused is Joan Held who has begun classes at Northwestern.

Among recent bridge gatherings was the one for eight Mardan Woods and Estates residents hosted by Mrs. Robert Russell.

The Frank Hurleys entertained at a family party Jan. 15. Daughter Lynn and husband, the Berent Faulds, Berent's parents, the George Faulds of Arlington Heights, and their daughter and her husband made up the gathering. Occasion was in honor of Berent's sister and her husband, the honored man being on leave from government service in Germany.

Daniel Park is expected home on leave the 27th of this month.

William Park has been attending a convention sponsored by Quaker Maid Kitchen Cabinets held at Reading, Pa.

Mary Jo Korbelik's 15th birthday was toasted at the family party Jan. 19 at the home of Misses Emily and Mae Korbelik of Berwyn.

WEST PALM Beach provided the scene for Mrs. Bea Whitney's recent Floridian rest. Before coming home she was joined by her son, Richard, also her sister, Mrs. Ann Sloser of Chicago, whose winter home is in Miami. Dick Whitney's most exciting times were spent surf board riding.

From Cedar Falls, Iowa, came Mrs. Jay Neubauer's brother, Amond and wife, to visit at the Neubauers for a few days. Sharing the pleasure was Lois's mother, Mrs. Fay Fiscus.

Twelve girlish forms whizzing around on ice provided a lively scene at the Edwin Bradshaws' pond one day last week. Son Art and wife, who have assumed responsibility as houseparents for a group from the Park Ridge School for Girls, brought out a car load of skaters.

The Ed Bradshaws are looking forward to the season's Morton Arboretum evening lecture shows, the first one on Yosemite, the second on Alaska. They report a profusion of juncoes, hairy and downey woodpeckers and nut hatches at their feeding station this year, with thus far only one cardinal.

WORD FROM the Harold Evanses tells they are loafing in their trailer at Riviera Beach, Fla., dividing their hours between shuffle board and fishing.

More than 20 local and out-of-town friends were invited to the Arthur Potts' home Jan. 11 for a plastic party, demonstrated by Mrs. Phyllis Jacobs of Lake Zurich.

The Chateau Louise near Dundee provided a rustic scene for Mrs. Andrew Sim's birthday dinner celebration on Jan. 9. Escorts were the two Andys in her life.

Also birthday wishes go to Verdell Weber, Dinny Paine and Keenie Schauffler, Jan. 23; Kurt Dahlberg, 24th; Gene Robinson and Verne Opsal, 26th; to Ralph Opsal, 27th.

Township Government Least Known, Effective

Form Was Started In Colonial Days

by DAN BAUMANN
Staff Writer

(Editor's Note: This article is the first in a series examining the form, functions and finances of township government.)

Do you know what township you live in, or if you even live in a township?

What does your township government do, how much money does it spend and for what?

Do you know the names of top elected officials in your township, or at least the titles of elected positions? Do you know their major duties?

No?

Move over, chum. You have company.

For townships — once probably the most important form of government — are today perhaps the least understood and least effective in northwest suburbia.

THE ANSWERS to the first series of questions help explain why township government is a blank spot in citizen understanding:

Yes, you live in a township. Even if you also live in an incorporated community which provides all your needed municipal services. Don't ask your neighbor which township it is — even if he knows the name of his township, some municipalities cut across township lines.

What your township does, how much it spends and for what depends on the township — and on the county you're in. There are basic differences in Cook and DuPage County Townships; you'll probably find more logic behind the existence of those in DuPage.

Whether you know your elected officials again probably depends on which county you live in. Supervisors in DuPage County sit on the county board and are known far more prominently than their Cook counterparts, whose main function is administering township relief.

COOK COUNTY townships have a supervisor, a clerk and three auditors who compose the board of auditors. In addition, they have an assessor, a collector and a highway commissioner, elected officials who do not sit on the town board. There are also three township school trustees, an appointed weed commissioner and a library board (in Schaumburg Township).

Addison and Bloomingdale Townships in Du Page have fewer elected officials: a supervisor, clerk and three auditors who compose the board of auditors, plus an assessor and highway commissioner. Because DuPage supervisors sit on the county board — and because townships vary in population — larger townships may have one or more assistant supervisors. Bloomingdale Township has one, Addison two. Their only function of consequence is in county government, not the township. The DuPage townships also have an appointed weed commissioner.

THE TOWNSHIP form of government came to Illinois from New York and New England, where it was established in Colonial days. This was an ideal unit of government in those sparcely settled territories.

The townships provided the most direct and personal government services — as reflected in two prime functions of town government today, poor relief and road and bridge work.

They provided these services locally, so there was closer contact between the governed and their officials.

And through the annual town meeting, they gave the people the opportunity to legislate directly on budgetary and other matters. Town meetings had no competition from television and other forms of mass entertainment in attracting the attention of residents.

UNFORTUNATELY, Illinois didn't settle for just one system of political subdivision. Southern settlers moving into central and southern Illinois brought with them a different tradition, the county commission setup. Seventeen counties are governed by commissions, 84 through the township supervisor system. Cook County uses the commission system but also maintains townships. (The eight townships in the City of Chicago no longer function.)

The township system is not static: the Blue Ballot court reform, for example, eliminated justices of the peace as township elected officials and substituted appointed magistrates of the Circuit Court.

And a more fundamental change may be coming as a result of the Supreme Court's "one-man, one-vote" decision. DuPage and most other Illinois counties may have to scuttle or seriously alter their county board setups, because of the difficulty in providing equal representation on the basis of rigid township lines.

THE COOK-DuPAGE contrasts make a big difference in their budgets. The Cook township gets 2 per cent of all taxes received through its collector in "excess commissions."

That 2 per cent can build into a large surplus of funds. Recent state laws permit the townships to dispose of surplus funds by grants to local school districts and welfare agencies. As a result, groups interested in such causes can pack an annual meeting.

(Because of lagging citizen interest, it is easy to pack a town meeting for causes good, bad or indifferent. An attendance of 500 is considered large even in Wheeling, where that is a fraction of 1 per cent of the population. Attendances of less than 50 persons are not uncommon.)

Without collectors and their 2 per cent commission, DuPage's townships have no large surpluses to distribute to outside groups.

BUT OTHER disputes over spending, construction of a new building and the like can create a once-only interest on the part of some citizens.

Township elections will be held April 6 in the seven northwest suburban townships of Addison, Bloomingdale, Elk Grove, Hanover, Palatine, Schaumburg and Wheeling. Fifty-four offices will be up for grabs.

Who is running, what will be the issues, and how much in taxpayers' money is at stake? These questions will be examined in future articles. A15

BUCKS AND DOES

For a change there wasn't a thief in the crowd attending the last Elk Grovers' dance even though four normally banner-hungry clubs were represented. Square Wheels from Deerfield, North Shore Alemanders from Evanston, Teen Promenaders from Arlington Heights and Cross Trailers from Bellwood were probably just wearing company manners because there were several guests at the dance with no club affiliation nor any knowledge of local banner-snatching customs. Their host club extends a cordial invitation to come back again soon.

Bucks and Does will dance again Saturday night with Bob Lewis calling and Carl and Marie Peterson leading the round dances. Bob will square 'em up at 8 o'clock in Dempster Junior High School, Dempster and Elmhurst Roads, in Elk Grove Township. Everybody's welcome.

Club-sponsored, Lewis-led advanced workshop sessions are being held in Dempster School every Tuesday night. Thirty-four couples have signed up so far, learning the newest calls and generally advancing at a merry rate.

A phone call to 824-3870—ask for Danny—will give interested persons further information about the club and its workshop.

PALATINE SQUARES

We did it again, Because a handwritten "T" and "L" looked alike, we gave club president Harold Crittenden a wife named Lil. His wife Til is understandably concerned lest their friends think she's been discarded for a lady named Lil, or is suddenly using an alias. Neither is true. The club's printed "business" card is now a permanent part of this writer's files, it says that Harold and Til are a permanent pair, and it guarantees an end to name juggling. An embarrassed columnist is just as happy as Til to at last reunite her with Harold.

Regular guests of Palatine Squares as well as dancers looking for a club to call their own are reminded that time is running out. Now is the hour to join the Palatiners for the second half of the season; a club membership is more economic than guest "dues" and budget-minded dancers are urged to join while there's still time.

There'll be dancing again Saturday night in Pleasant Hill School, with Jim Stewart taking over the mike at 8:30 sharp and Dot and Jerry Daniels leading the rounds between tips. Everybody come!

Adding to everyone's enjoyment of the club's lsst dance was the arrival of June and Mike Bischoff. June was seriously ill early in the season, had a long recuperation from major surgery and was unable to be with the gang for many weeks. "She looked wonderful," says the club report, "and all of us were so happy to see her again."

SLOWPOKES

Members are reminded and visitors are notified that Slowpokes are changing their regular dance schedule from the second and fourth Friday nights of every month to the first and third Fridays, beginning next month. They'll finish the old schedule tomorrow night, and begin the new one Feb. 5.

Caller Gene Tidwell will square 'em up tomorrow night at 8:30 in Euclid School, Mount Prospect, with 17 couples from the club's beginners' class as special guests. Graduation of these couples takes place Jan. 27 when they will also become full-fledged members of Slowpokes.

Banner business continues brisk for the Mount Prospecters. Nine couples went to Libertyville to liberate the Saints and Swingers' banner Jan. 9. It was almost a must, since the Slowpokes banner was stolen the night before and the walls were bare. Retrieving their pennant will mean an out-of-state trip for the local club - it's in the protective custody of the Buttons and Bows of Munster, Ind., and winter weather will largely determine the date of Slowpokes' return raid. Other guests joining the Munster dancers Jan. 8 were the Little Squares of Niles.

ARLINGTON SQUARES

Prizes, a cake walk, special guests and the return of Lenny Roos will highlight tomorrow night's dance at South Junior High School Roos, a frequent and most popular guest caller of Arlington Squares, hasn't been here since Thanksgiving week and everyone's looking forward to his peppy singing calls. "Some of our guests miss dancing with Mary Lou, too," says the club report.

Guests will be members of "Tib" Tibbetts beginners' classes from Arlington Heights and Northbrook. The local group has taken the course offered by the Arlington Heights Park District and sponsored jointly by Arlington Squares and Palatine Squares. Both local and Northbrook classes were just graduated and are looking forward to using their newly-acquired talents.

Roos will activate the mike and the dancers at 8:30, immediately following the half-hour round dance workshop held regularly by Dot and Jerry Daniels. More and more dancers are coming early for the Daniels session, then super-enjoying the round dance portion of the evening's program.

South Junior High School is located at 314 S. Highland in Arlington Heights; information about the club and its programs is located at CL 5-4183. That's also one of the numbers to call to register for Illinois' first State Square Dance Convention. Read on—

STATE CONVENTION

Word has been received that plans are underway for the first state convention of square dancers in Illinois. Many states have had such super-gatherings for several years and a few local enthusiasts are among the many who now figure that it's high time Illinois gets going.

There's not much to tell yet—just the dates, May 28-29-30, and the place, the Conrad Hilton Hotel-but more information will be forthcoming. Arlington Squares are already processing the registrations of several early-bird conventioneers, and will continue to do so.

Advertising chairman of the big bash is a local boy, Bob Luebbe, who's been the mover and shaker behind more than one king-sized promotion of square dancing in the state. He needs all the help he can get to make our state's first convention the whopping success every dancer wants it to be. If you'd like to volunteer some time and effort give him a buzz, after five o'clock (in the evening, please), at CL 5-9338. Please do not call him for information about the convention—that will appear here as it develops, and non-essential phone calls will only delay the progress he must make to guarantee the success of this venture. Daley Cancels Suburban Talk

Edward Wallis, manager of WIND radio station, will re- Richard Daley as guest speaker at next Wednesday night's annual dinner meeting of the Northwest Municipal Conference.

Outgoing President John Blanke, Barrington village president, said Mayor Daley's secretary had phoned him last Friday that there had been an "unavoidable" change in the mayor's plans which would preclude his scheduled talk on the relation of the suburbs to Chicago. Blanke remarked that he had read that Daley is expected to vacation in Florida after attending inaugural activities in Washington this week.

While at WIND the past four years, Wallis has given special emphasis to a program of continuing involvement and association with Chicago's suburban communities. Many of the members of the Northwest Municipal Conference have appeared on the station on "Your Mayor Speaks" or other public affairs programs. (B10

Decrease Noted in Building

Fewer permits for both homes and apartments were issued in the Chicago metropolitan area during 1964 than in the previous year, according to the year-end new building survey of Bell Savings and Loan Association.

A weakened suburban market accounted for a decline in the total apartments, the second yearly drop since the postwar peak was reached in 1962.

Homes decreased to the lowest level in the past 17 years.

The six-county metropolitan area had a total of 18,866 single family home permits issued during the year, a decline of about four per cent from the 19,737 of the previous year.

HOMES WERE AT ABOUT the same level in the suburbs, 12,550 in 1964 as against 12,531 in 1963, but were down eight per cent in Chicago, from 2,663 in 1963 to 2,438 in 1964. Homes decreased 15 per cent in unincorporated areas, 4,543 in 1963 compared with 3,878 in 1964.

Apartments in the entire metropolitan area declined six per cent. There were 18,620 units reported against 19,777 in 1963.

In the suburbs the 24 per cent drop in apartments was the first since the uninterrupted growth of apartment construction began in the mid-1950's. It reached a peak of 12,057 in the suburbs in 1963. In Chicago, however, apartments rose 20 per cent last year, and were up 35 per cent in unincorporated areas.

The value of all building permits (residential, commercial, industrial, etc.) was $1,155,654,659. This represents a rise of seven per cent above 1963 when the value was $1,080,721,932 and is the highest level since the $1,171,890,642 reached in 1960.

THE DECEMBER SEASONALLY adjusted annual housing rate dropped 16 per cent below November. Home permits were issued at an annual rate equivalent to 31,512 housing units (14,304 homes and 17,208 apartment units.)

Among the 10 leading home builders in 1964 were Arlington Heights, which led the list with 570 permits valued at $13,893,500 and an average home cost of $24,374, and Palatine with 301 permits valued at $5,259,498 and an average home cost of $17,473.

The list of communities reporting 50 or more apartment units during 1964 included these northwest suburbs: Addison, 277 units, $3,077,000; Arlington Heights, 352 units, $4,604,000; Mount Prospect, 312 units, $3,080,000; Rolling Meadows, 124 units, $1,075,328.

Cook County, excluding Chicago, reported 1,226 units at a value of $14,545,642. DuPage County reported 623 units valued at $5,267,466.

Crowd Braves Snowstorm To Hear Loeffler's Talk

Despite heavy snow and blizzardy winds 60 some residents turned out for the Long Grove Church sponsored Community Night Jan. 15 to share the insights of Heinz Loeffler, a neighbor, whose growing recognition in the outside world has been the result of his concerns in the field of international relations.

Loeffler who has been in Russia, spoke behind the Iron Curtain in Budapest and has traveled in Yugoslavia, presented a fast-moving hour of his thoughts and observations, sprinkled generously with humour.

In his talk, "Marxmanship, Ideology and Practice," along with his references to Communist and Socialist principles, Loeffler gave a vivid account of life in Yugoslavia as lived in the market place as well as among his friends, the dignitaries.

OF COMMUNISM he remarked, "It has lost some of its luster—It has long ago stopped being a determinative policy—In the abolition of private ownership one can't avoid totalitarian results—Behind the Iron Curtain the constant demand is for improvement, not for change."

"With a glowing future dangling before them, people are led to become devout members of the Party," said Loeffler, admitting that in recent years of government "the technicians have taken over the revolutionaries."

Stating that 50 years of anti-religious indoctrination has had its effect in Communist countries, he added, "in going from icon to icon the worshipers are mostly people over 65."

Of Yugoslavia, he said he was impressed by its business acumen, its lively, vibrant economy and its philosophy of pragmatism, all assets in its struggle for better living conditions.

Calling himself "an incorrigible optimist," his talk from beginning to end was a heartening message, his only deviation a reference to Red China as a possible future threat.

"We have a wonderful country to defend," he told his friends. "Where else in the world can one work himself up from the bottom? In return we ought to feel more dedication and less of the "what's-in - it - for - me philosophy."

DURING THE refreshment hour, hosted by the evening Women's Guild circle, people were able to examine a collection of articles the speaker had brought from Yugoslavia, along with a doll and bolster contributed by Mrs. Joseph Young. Refreshment hostesses were Mrs. Fred Dahlberg, Mrs. Kenneth Hartman and Mrs. David Edmunds. Village President Robert Coffin introduced the speaker, setting the relaxed neighborly mood of the evening.

Notice was given at Thursday night's village board meeting of a proposed amendment to the village zoning ordinance to be presented for consideration at a public hearing in the near future. Definite date has not been set. The proposal, affecting the Crossroads, was drawn up by the plan commission who utilized the services of Tech Search Co. of Evanston.

Trustees gave the plan commission authority to spend up to $600 to bring its maps up to date.

It was announced that the village has hired the engineering firm of Bleck and Associates of Waukegan to conduct a preliminary survey of its Crossroads sewage situation and come up with some recommended plans.

Mutual agreement was reached between the village and its consulting engineer of road work, Mr. Woodman of Baxter and Woodman, Crystal Lake, to terminate his services. Announcement was made following Woodman's financial end-of-the-year report.

LOCAL HIGH schoolers are building up an enthusiastic momentum at Ela-Vernon prepares to present the famed Chad Mitchell Trio in a special evening concert Jan. 28. The program, featuring folk songs, satire and ballads, is being sponsored by the school's newspaper staff and the National Honor Society, whose members have worked for months on ticket sales. Penne Decker and Kathy Jungbluth of this area have been most avid ticket promoters.

Profit on the Kildeer Book Fair held Nov. 12 was $286.66. After book purchases and prize and gift books have been deducted, amount deposited in the library fund is $74.65.

Mrs. Charles Parson, business manager of the Kildeer Players' "Command Performance," reports a total profit of $1300 on the two-night attraction. Of this amount $673 was cleared on the show. The rest, amounting to $634.28, came in through donations and from the guarantors.

NOW IS THE time for families to consider the possibilities of housing or shall we say "adopting" the International Student for 1965-66 as part of the AFS program at Ela-Vernon. For more information, call the William Salzmans, 438-3171.

Church school leaders who attended the quarterly preview Jan. 12 at the Arlington Heights United Church of Christ were Rev. Alfred Williams, Craig Anderson, Mrs. Orville Held, Mrs. Franklin Bivins, Mrs. Whitford Kuhn, Mrs. Chris Jenkins, Mrs. Fred Dahlberg, Mrs. John Roberts and Pat Hartman.

Call Mrs. Harold Turner if you have some time to give toward putting the church library in order? Typing ability isn't a necessity to qualify.

The Rev. Williams' seminary paper on "New Forms of the Church in Suburbia" provided the main reason for the gathering the Frank Hurleys hosted at their home recently. In on the discussion were the Alfred Williams, Gale Livengoods, Robert Coffins, Anton Bergs and the Orville Helds.

AT THE Jan. 13 meeting of Mrs. Robert Coffin's morning guild, the members who gathered at Mrs. Jay Neubauer's home became so engrossed in their discussion of the Biblical Isaiah they ran over-time. Discussion leader was Mrs. Charles Johnson.

Participants in the "Rearing Children of Goodwill" workshop held at the church social room last fall will be interested to know Miss Harriet White and others of its leaders may be heard on FM radio on Jan. 26, Feb. 2, Feb. 9 and the 16th. Discussion will be on the "Psychology of Prejudice."

In response to inquiries a review of Long Grove's workshop plus evaluation will be held at the church on Feb. 23 at 8 p.m. You are welcome to come for an evening's condensed re-run of the series. Mrs. Ronald Crawford has attended an instruction school and will be conducting a workshop in Wayne the next few weeks.

WATCHING pictures of the beautiful gardens at Xochimilco, Mexico, or the ancient Mayan ruins near Chicken Itza, fifth graders at Half Day School were excited over their schoolroom tour of Mexico and the Honduras on Jan. 18. Colored slides were shown by William Ernsting of the Ernstings' trip a few years ago.

Making it a family send-off at O'Hare's Seven Continents Room on Jan. 16, the Joe Youngs and Peggy waved Jacque off to Kansas City, where she'll attend a 14-week school in preparation for her position as airline stewardess.

Equally enthused is Joan Held who has begun classes at Northwestern.

Among recent bridge gatherings was the one for eight Mardan Woods and Estates residents hosted by Mrs. Robert Russell.

The Frank Hurleys entertained at a family party Jan. 15. Daughter Lynn and husband, the Berent Faulds, Berent's parents, the George Faulds of Arlington Heights, and their daughter and her husband made up the gathering. Occasion was in honor of Berent's sister and her husband, the honored man being on leave from government service in Germany.

Daniel Park is expected home on leave the 27th of this month.

William Park has been attending a convention sponsored by Quaker Maid Kitchen Cabinets held at Reading, Pa.

Mary Jo Korbelik's 15th birthday was toasted at the family party Jan. 19 at the home of Misses Emily and Mae Korbelik of Berwyn.

WEST PALM Beach provided the scene for Mrs. Bea Whitney's recent Floridian rest. Before coming home she was joined by her son, Richard, also her sister, Mrs. Ann Sloser of Chicago, whose winter home is in Miami. Dick Whitney's most exciting times were spent surf board riding.

From Cedar Falls, Iowa, came Mrs. Jay Neubauer's brother, Amond and wife, to visit at the Neubauers for a few days. Sharing the pleasure was Lois's mother, Mrs. Fay Fiscus.

Twelve girlish forms whizzing around on ice provided a lively scene at the Edwin Bradshaws' pond one day last week. Son Art and wife, who have assumed responsibility as houseparents for a group from the Park Ridge School for Girls, brought out a car load of skaters.

The Ed Bradshaws are looking forward to the season's Morton Arboretum evening lecture shows, the first one on Yosemite, the second on Alaska. They report a profusion of juncoes, hairy and downey woodpeckers and nut hatches at their feeding station this year, with thus far only one cardinal.

WORD FROM the Harold Evanses tells they are loafing in their trailer at Riviera Beach, Fla., dividing their hours between shuffle board and fishing.

More than 20 local and out-of-town friends were invited to the Arthur Potts' home Jan. 11 for a plastic party, demonstrated by Mrs. Phyllis Jacobs of Lake Zurich.

The Chateau Louise near Dundee provided a rustic scene for Mrs. Andrew Sim's birthday dinner celebration on Jan. 9. Escorts were the two Andys in her life.

Also birthday wishes go to Verdell Weber, Dinny Paine and Keenie Schauffler, Jan. 23; Kurt Dahlberg, 24th; Gene Robinson and Verne Opsal, 26th; to Ralph Opsal, 27th.

Legal Notice

RESOLUTION ESTABLISHING PREVAILING WAGES

WHEREAS, Illinois Revised Statutes, Chapter 48, 39s-1, 39s-12, Prevailing Wage Law, as amended August 8, 1961, requires that the public body awarding any contract for public work or doing the work by day labor shall ascertain the general prevailing hourly rate of wages for employees engaged on such work, and

WHEREAS, the Statutes further provide that said rate of pay be publicly posted and/or kept available for inspection by any interested party and a certified copy thereof promptly filed in the office of the Secretary of State.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights, Cook County, Illinois, that the determination of the prevailing wages as set forth in the resolution adopted on September 17, 1962 and filed in the office of the Secretary of State, still remains in full force and effect for the six-month period beginning January 1, 1965; also, that an amending resolution will be filed with the Secretary of State by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights, Cook County, State of Illinois, if and when changes are made in the Prevailing Wage Rates.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to apply to the prevailing hourly rate of wages in the locality for employment other than public works construction as defined in the Act, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Village Clerk be and is hereby authorized to file a certified copy of this Resolution with the Secretary of State.

Legal Notice

RESOLUTION ESTABLISHING PREVAILING WAGES

WHEREAS, Illinois Revised Statutes, Chapter 48, 39s-1, 39s-12, Prevailing Wage Law, as amended August 8, 1961, requires that the public body awarding any contract for public work or doing the work by day labor shall ascertain the general prevailing hourly rate of wages for employees engaged on such work, and

WHEREAS, the Statutes further provide that said rate of pay be publicly posted and/or kept available for inspection by any interested party and a certified copy thereof promptly filed in the office of the Secretary of State.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights, Cook County, Illinois, that the determination of the prevailing wages as set forth in the resolution adopted on September 17, 1962 and filed in the office of the Secretary of State, still remains in full force and effect for the six-month period beginning January 1, 1965; also, that an amending resolution will be filed with the Secretary of State by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Arlington Heights, Cook County, State of Illinois, if and when changes are made in the Prevailing Wage Rates.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that nothing herein contained shall be construed to apply to the prevailing hourly rate of wages in the locality for employment other than public works construction as defined in the Act, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Village Clerk be and is hereby authorized to file a certified copy of this Resolution with the Secretary of State.

Ordinance No. 376

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE VILLAGE OF ELK GROVE VILLAGE'S ZONING ORDINANCE RELATING TO PROPERTY OWNED BY SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 59

WHEREAS, the Board of Appeals of the Village of Elk Grove Village, sitting as a Zoning Commission at a public meeting duly called and held according to law (Appeal No. 64-26) considered the question of reclassifying the real estate hereinafter described from

R-1 to M-2 Heavy Industrial District

AND, WHEREAS, the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village, having considered the recommendation of said Zoning Board of Appeals, find and believe that the highest and best use of said real estate is that of

M-2

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village, Cook and DuPage Counties, Illinois:

Section 1. That an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to Regulate and Limit the Height and Bulk of Buildings; to Regulate and Limit the Intensity of the Use of Lot Areas, and to Regulate and Determine the Areas of Open Space Within and Surrounding Such Buildings; to Classify, Regulate and Restrict the Location of Trades and Industries and the Location of Buildings Designed for Specified Industrial Business, Residential and other uses; to Divide the Entire Village of Elk Grove Village into Districts for the Purpose of this Ordinance; to Fix Standards to Which Buildings or Structures shall Conform; to Prohibit Uses, buildings or structures Incompatible with the Character of Such Districts Respectively; and to Prevent Additions to and Alterations or Remodeling of Existing Buildings or Structures in Such a way as to Avoid the Restrictions and Limitations Lawfully Imposed Hereunder, and to Provide Penalties for Violation hereof," passed and approved July 8, 1957, known as Ordinance No. 20, as amended, be amended by reclassifying the following described real estate from

LEGAL DESCRIPTION:

Lots 1 to 11 inclusive, and Lots 16 to 34 inclusive in Steele's Higgins and Touhy Highlands, a Subdivision in the East Half of the South East Quarter of Section 26, Township 41 North, Range 11 East of the Third Principal Meridian, Cook County, Illinois;

ALSO

Vacated School Street and vacated alleys abutting and adjacent to Lots 1 to 12 both inclusive and Lots 16 to 34 both inclusive in Steele's Higgins and Touhy Highlands Subdivision aforesaid (except the East Half of that part of the vacated 20 foot alley lying West of Lot 12 in said Subdivision, and also excepting therefrom the Northerly Half of that part of the vacated 20 foot alley lying Southerly of said Lot 12 and Southerly of the Southerly line of said Lot 12 extended Westerly to the West line of the East Half of the vacated 20 foot alley lying West of said Lot 12);

EXCEPTING

From the above described real estate the following described tract of land: Beginning at the Southeasterly corner of said Lot 16 in Steele's Higgins and Touhy Highlands as aforesaid, thence Northwesterly along the Southwesterly line of said Lots 16 to 21 inclusive, and the Southwesterly line of vacated School Street and the Southwesterly line of Lots 31 to 34 inclusive to the Southwesterly corner of said Lot 34 in Steele's Higgins and Touhy Highlands, thence Northeasterly along the Northwesterly line of said Lot 34 a distance of 5.0 feet to a point, thence Southeasterly along a curved line concave to the Northeast and having a radius of 1708.35 feet to a point in the Easterly line of said Lot 16 in Steele's Higgins and Touhy Highlands which point is 8.0 feet Northeasterly of the Southeasterly corner of said Lot 16 as measured along the Southeasterly line of said Lot 16, thence Southwesterly along the Southeasterly line of said Lot 16 a distance of 8.0 feet to the point of beginning;

EXCEPTING ALSO

From the above described real estate those parts previously dedicated or now being used for Higgins Road and Touhy Avenue.

Section 2. That said real estate as reclassified shall be subject to all the limitations and conditions placed upon properties in the M-2 District, as defined in the ordinances aforementioned.

Section 3. That any person, firm or corporation who violates, disobeys, omits, neglects or refuses to comply with or who resists the enforcement of any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be fined not more than One Hundred ($100) Dollars for each offense, and each day that a violation is permitted to exist shall constitute a separate offense.

Section 4. That this ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication, according to law.

PASSED this 14th day of January, 1965.

Ordinance No. 377

AN ORDINANCE REGULATING PARKING AND STORAGE OF TRUCKS

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village, Counties of Cook and DuPage, Illinois:

Section 1. That Chapter 14 of the Municipal Code of the Village of Elk Grove Village be and is hereby amended by adding thereto the following:

"14.513 No person shall stand or park any truck, tractor, semi-trailer, or trailer, for a longer period than is necessary for the reasonably expeditious loading or unloading of such vehicle.

Any vehicle parked in violation of this Section is hereby declared to be a nuisance which may be abated by any police officer by removing such vehicle to the Village vehicle pound or to an authorized garage. All costs in connection with the removing and storage of said vehicle shall be born by the violator."

Section 2. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication according to law.

PASSED this 14th day of January, 1965.

APPROVED this 14th day of January, 1965.

Ordinance No. 376

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE VILLAGE OF ELK GROVE VILLAGE'S ZONING ORDINANCE RELATING TO PROPERTY OWNED BY SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 59

WHEREAS, the Board of Appeals of the Village of Elk Grove Village, sitting as a Zoning Commission at a public meeting duly called and held according to law (Appeal No. 64-26) considered the question of reclassifying the real estate hereinafter described from

R-1 to M-2 Heavy Industrial District

AND, WHEREAS, the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village, having considered the recommendation of said Zoning Board of Appeals, find and believe that the highest and best use of said real estate is that of

M-2

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village, Cook and DuPage Counties, Illinois:

Section 1. That an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to Regulate and Limit the Height and Bulk of Buildings; to Regulate and Limit the Intensity of the Use of Lot Areas, and to Regulate and Determine the Areas of Open Space Within and Surrounding Such Buildings; to Classify, Regulate and Restrict the Location of Trades and Industries and the Location of Buildings Designed for Specified Industrial Business, Residential and other uses; to Divide the Entire Village of Elk Grove Village into Districts for the Purpose of this Ordinance; to Fix Standards to Which Buildings or Structures shall Conform; to Prohibit Uses, buildings or structures Incompatible with the Character of Such Districts Respectively; and to Prevent Additions to and Alterations or Remodeling of Existing Buildings or Structures in Such a way as to Avoid the Restrictions and Limitations Lawfully Imposed Hereunder, and to Provide Penalties for Violation hereof," passed and approved July 8, 1957, known as Ordinance No. 20, as amended, be amended by reclassifying the following described real estate from

LEGAL DESCRIPTION:

Lots 1 to 11 inclusive, and Lots 16 to 34 inclusive in Steele's Higgins and Touhy Highlands, a Subdivision in the East Half of the South East Quarter of Section 26, Township 41 North, Range 11 East of the Third Principal Meridian, Cook County, Illinois;

ALSO

Ordinance No. 378

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE VILLAGE OF ELK GROVE VILLAGE'S ZONING ORDINANCE

WHEREAS, the Board of Appeals of the Village of Elk Grove Village, sitting as a Zoning Commission at a public meeting duly called and held according to law (Appeal No. 64-28) considered the question of reclassifying the real estate hereinafter described from

M-2 to M-1

AND, WHEREAS, the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village, having considered the recommendation of said Zoning Board of Appeals, find and believe that the highest and best use of said real estate is that of

M-1

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village, Cook and DuPage Counties, Illinois:

Section 1. That an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to Regulate and Limit the Height and Bulk of Buildings; to Regulate and Limit the Intensity of the Use of Lot Areas, and to Regulate and Determine the Areas of Open Space Within and Surrounding Such Buildings; to Classify, Regulate and Restrict the Location of Trades and Industries and the Location of Buildings Designed for Specified Industrial Business, Residential and other uses; to Divide the Entire Village of Elk Grove Village into Districts for the Purpose of this Ordinance; to Fix Standards to Which Buildings or Structures shall Conform; to Prohibit Uses, buildings or structures Incompatible with the Character of Such Districts Respectively; and to Prevent Additions to and Alterations or Remodeling of Existing Buildings or Structures in Such a Way as to Avoid the Restrictions and Limitations Lawfully Imposed Hereunder, and to Provide Penalties for Violation hereof," passed and approved July 8, 1957, known as Ordinance No. 20, as amended, be amended by reclassifying the following described real estate from

LEGAL DESCRIPTION:

Lots 45 to 48, inclusive, in Centex Industrial Park Unit No. 23, being a subdivision in Section 34, Township 41 North, Range 11, East of the 3rd Principal Meridian, in Cook County, Illinois.

Section 2. That said real estate as reclassified shall be subject to all the limitations and conditions placed upon properties in the M-1, as defined in the ordinances aforementioned.

Section 3. That any person, firm or corporation who violates, disobeys, omits, neglects or refuses to comply with or who resists the enforcement of any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be fined not more than One Hundred ($100) Dollars for each offense, and each day that a violation is permitted to exist shall constitute a separate offense.

Section 4. That this ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication, according to law.

Ordinance No. 378

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING THE VILLAGE OF ELK GROVE VILLAGE'S ZONING ORDINANCE

WHEREAS, the Board of Appeals of the Village of Elk Grove Village, sitting as a Zoning Commission at a public meeting duly called and held according to law (Appeal No. 64-28) considered the question of reclassifying the real estate hereinafter described from

M-2 to M-1

AND, WHEREAS, the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village, having considered the recommendation of said Zoning Board of Appeals, find and believe that the highest and best use of said real estate is that of

M-1

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the President and Board of Trustees of the Village of Elk Grove Village, Cook and DuPage Counties, Illinois:

Section 1. That an ordinance entitled "An Ordinance to Regulate and Limit the Height and Bulk of Buildings; to Regulate and Limit the Intensity of the Use of Lot Areas, and to Regulate and Determine the Areas of Open Space Within and Surrounding Such Buildings; to Classify, Regulate and Restrict the Location of Trades and Industries and the Location of Buildings Designed for Specified Industrial Business, Residential and other uses; to Divide the Entire Village of Elk Grove Village into Districts for the Purpose of this Ordinance; to Fix Standards to Which Buildings or Structures shall Conform; to Prohibit Uses, buildings or structures Incompatible with the Character of Such Districts Respectively; and to Prevent Additions to and Alterations or Remodeling of Existing Buildings or Structures in Such a Way as to Avoid the Restrictions and Limitations Lawfully Imposed Hereunder, and to Provide Penalties for Violation hereof," passed and approved July 8, 1957, known as Ordinance No. 20, as amended, be amended by reclassifying the following described real estate from

LEGAL DESCRIPTION:

Lots 45 to 48, inclusive, in Centex Industrial Park Unit No. 23, being a subdivision in Section 34, Township 41 North, Range 11, East of the 3rd Principal Meridian, in Cook County, Illinois.

Section 2. That said real estate as reclassified shall be subject to all the limitations and conditions placed upon properties in the M-1, as defined in the ordinances aforementioned.

Section 3. That any person, firm or corporation who violates, disobeys, omits, neglects or refuses to comply with or who resists the enforcement of any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be fined not more than One Hundred ($100) Dollars for each offense, and each day that a violation is permitted to exist shall constitute a separate offense.

Section 4. That this ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and publication, according to law.

PASSED this 14th day of January, 1965.

APPROVED this 14th day of January, 1965.

Simon Views Questions On Senate Remapping

By SEN. PAUL SIMON

Springfield — unquestionably the most ticklish matter the Illinois legislature must tackle during the coming months is that of reapportionment. Both the House and Senate must be redistricted, and there is a possibility the national House of Representative districts may have to be changed also.

This is more difficult than tackling issues, because it involves personalities. In reality we have to vote districts which eliminate some of our colleagues and in some cases pit one against the other. This is never easy.

The questions I am asked most often concern the Senate. Let me try to answer some of these briefly.

WHY DID THE Supreme Court rule that state senates must be according to population?

The federal constitution says the citizen's vote shall in no way be diminished. It would be illegal, they argue, to say that Negroes shall have one-half a vote and white men one vote. It is equally unfair to give people in one county one-half a vote and in another one vote.

Doesn't this violate our traditions?

No. The large majority of states started with both houses based on population. We gradually grew away from this tradition. Illinois is one of the states which originally had both houses on a population basis. This was true — in theory — until the 1954 vote on our state constitution. The federal constitution made an exception of this theory for the U. S. Senate.

WHY IS THERE fear of this then in Illinois?

The fear in Illinois grows out of the Cook County vs. Downstate feeling. Cook County has 51 per cent of the state's population. This could put Cook County in charge of both houses. Unlike most states, Illinois has a patronage base for its politics and through control of patronage, the head of the party in Cook County has considerable control of the vote by Cook County legislators, whether the party leader is a Democrat or a Republican. There is always fear when a large group of votes is controlled.

Will Cook County control both houses?

I doubt it. One of the Supreme Court's rulings permitted one house of the Colorado legislature to be controlled by 45 per cent of the population. The court felt this was reasonably close to the "one man, one vote" principle. I would guess that a legislature giving a slight edge in one house to Cook County and a slight edge in the other to Downstate would be constitutional.

HOW REAL IS the Cook County vs. Downstate fight?

Not as real as most people imagine. In more than 10 years in the legislature I have never seen a vote which was divided strictly Cook County vs. Downstate. In those 10 years I have heard more than 30,000 roll calls.

A second factor which should be kept in mind is that with each reapportionment and shake-up come a few more independent legislators in each party, both from Downstate and Cook County. In my opinion this is all to the good.

A third factor is that the Cook County suburban legislator tends to vote like his Downstate colleagues. And the great growth in Cook County is not in the city but in the suburbs.

All of this means that those who fear the worst out of the reapportionment of this session may be in for a pleasant surprise. (A15

Mary Chapp

Mass was said Jan. 16 for Mary Chapp, 359 LaPorte Ave., Addison, in St. Joseph Church with Rev. Fr. S. J. Mulloy officiating. Interment was in St. Adalbert Cemetery in Niles.

She died Jan. 13 in Elmhurst Memorial Hospital at the age of 82, and was preceded in death by her husband, Albert, and a daughter, Margaret.

She leaves the following children: Raymond of New Orleans, Leonard, Eugene Norbert and Sally Miller, all of Addison; six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Franklin F. Fessler

Services for Franklin F. Fessler, 109 W. Lake St., Bloomingdale, were held Jan. 18 in the Richert and Son, Roselle Chapel, with Rev. Carl E. Gaertner officiating. Interment was in St. Paul Cemetery.

He was born in Wayne Township July 13, 1900 and died Jan. 15 in St. Joseph Hospital at the age of 64.

He leaves two brothers, August J. of Bloomingdale, and Elmer of Winter Park, Fla.; and one sister, Mary Schmuggerow of West Chicago.

Brookfield L. Gates

Funeral services for Brookfield L. Gates, 238 N. Greenwood, Palatine, were held Jan. 19 in the Ahlgrim Funeral Home, Palatine, with Rev. Herbert Nagel, pastor of the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Des Plaines, officiating. Interment was in Mt. Emblem Cemetery in Elmhurst.

He was born in Cherokee, Iowa, Oct. 28, 1878 and died Jan. 17 in the Bee Dozier Nursing Home at the age of 86. His wife, Irene, preceded him in death.

He leaves his son, Walter L. of Des Plaines, and daughter, Ethel Doebber of Palatine; 13 grandchildren; and seven great-grandchildren. (B9

Harry R. Lill Sr.

Services for Harry R. Lill Sr., 1064 Old Northwest Highway, Palatine, were held Jan. 17 in Tharp Funeral Home with Rev. Gumm officiating. Interment was in Rosehill Cemetery.

He was born in Lakeview, Chicago, Nov. 19, 1879 and died Jan. 14 in his home at the age of 85.

He leaves his wife, Ruth; the following children: Harry Jr. and George of Palatine, Robert of Arlington Heights, James of Mount Prospect, Mary Ann York of Dayton, Ohio; 18 grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren. A daughter, Harriet Rundell of California, preceded him in death. (B9

John (Kwiatkoski) Kwiatt

Services will be held Thursday, Jan. 21 at 9:30 a.m. from Tharp Funeral Home in Palatine to St. Theresa Church for mass at 10 a.m. for John (Kwiatkoski) Kwiatt, 45 W. Wilson St., Palatine. Interment will be in St. Adalbert Cemetery.

He was born in Chicago Feb. 11, 1890 and died Jan. 18 in Elgin Hospital at the age of 74. He was a retired die-caster.

He leaves two daughters, Loretta Paul of Palatine and Evelyn Davis of Brooklyn, N. Y.; four grandchildren; and three sisters, Ella Zyk, Sophie Czarnecki and Catherine Janicki, all of Chicago. (B9

Springfield Report To Appear Weekly

PAUL SIMON

A weekly report from Springfield, written by State Sen. Paul Simon of Troy, will appear in all 15 suburban newspapers published by Paddock Publications, Inc.

"Springfield Sidelights" begins this week and will be a regular feature of Paddock Publications during the current state legislative session. The newspapers have published Simon's weekly legislative columns since 1957, when it was singled out by the American Political Science Association for an award "for distinguished reporting of state and local government."

"I'LL CALL THE shots as I see them," said Simon in outlining the column's approach.

A newspaperman who has served 10 years in the Illinois legislature, Simon has also [illegible] book, "Lovejoy — Martyr to Freedom," and "Lincoln's Preparation for Greatness," to be published later this year.

During his legislative service, he has several times received the Independent Voters of Illinois "best legislator" award.

A resident of Troy, near St. Louis, Simon purchased the local newspaper when he was 19, on a loan arranged by the Troy Lions Club. In a short time he found himself in a fight with professional gambling interests and was a witness before a televised hearing of the Kefauver Committee.

AT THE AGE of 25 he was elected to the Illinois House of Representatives and in 1962 was elected to the State Senate.

He met his wife, the former Jeanne Hurley, when both were serving in the House of Representatives. They became the only man and wife legislative team in Illinois history. The Simons are parents of two children.

Simon was an unsuccessful candidate for U. S. Senator in the 1962 Democratic primary campaign. The nomination went to U. S. Rep. Sidney P. Yates, who was defeated by U. S. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen.

Simon Views Questions On Senate Remapping

By SEN. PAUL SIMON

Springfield — unquestionably the most ticklish matter the Illinois legislature must tackle during the coming months is that of reapportionment. Both the House and Senate must be redistricted, and there is a possibility the national House of Representative districts may have to be changed also.

This is more difficult than tackling issues, because it involves personalities. In reality we have to vote districts which eliminate some of our colleagues and in some cases pit one against the other. This is never easy.

The questions I am asked most often concern the Senate. Let me try to answer some of these briefly.

WHY DID THE Supreme Court rule that state senates must be according to population?

The federal constitution says the citizen's vote shall in no way be diminished. It would be illegal, they argue, to say that Negroes shall have one-half a vote and white men one vote. It is equally unfair to give people in one county one-half a vote and in another one vote.

Doesn't this violate our traditions?

No. The large majority of states started with both houses based on population. We gradually grew away from this tradition. Illinois is one of the states which originally had both houses on a population basis. This was true — in theory — until the 1954 vote on our state constitution. The federal constitution made an exception of this theory for the U. S. Senate.

WHY IS THERE fear of this then in Illinois?

The fear in Illinois grows out of the Cook County vs. Downstate feeling. Cook County has 51 per cent of the state's population. This could put Cook County in charge of both houses. Unlike most states, Illinois has a patronage base for its politics and through control of patronage, the head of the party in Cook County has considerable control of the vote by Cook County legislators, whether the party leader is a Democrat or a Republican. There is always fear when a large group of votes is controlled.

Will Cook County control both houses?

I doubt it. One of the Supreme Court's rulings permitted one house of the Colorado legislature to be controlled by 45 per cent of the population. The court felt this was reasonably close to the "one man, one vote" principle. I would guess that a legislature giving a slight edge in one house to Cook County and a slight edge in the other to Downstate would be constitutional.

HOW REAL IS the Cook County vs. Downstate fight?

Not as real as most people imagine. In more than 10 years in the legislature I have never seen a vote which was divided strictly Cook County vs. Downstate. In those 10 years I have heard more than 30,000 roll calls.

A second factor which should be kept in mind is that with each reapportionment and shake-up come a few more independent legislators in each party, both from Downstate and Cook County. In my opinion this is all to the good.

A third factor is that the Cook County suburban legislator tends to vote like his Downstate colleagues. And the great growth in Cook County is not in the city but in the suburbs.

All of this means that those who fear the worst out of the reapportionment of this session may be in for a pleasant surprise. (A15

Meeting Plans Told By 5th Wheelers

The Fifth Wheelers, area organization for widowed, divorced and persons who are separated by reason of illness, will hold a pot luck supper Sunday at Trinity Lutheran Church, Wolf and Algonquin Roads, Des Plaines.

Supper will be served at 7 p.m. followed by a program of color slides and lecture on the Civil War by Don Pfeuffer.

MRS. MARY Civinelli of Mount Prospect, president, announced that the jam session planned for January has been postponed until February. Instead the group will make a tour of Chicago's "Old Town" Saturday, Jan. 30.

Those wishing to accompany the group should meet at the west parking lot of Trinity Church at 6:30 p.m.

Call Mrs. Civinelli, CL 5-5088, for further information.

Springfield Report To Appear Weekly

PAUL SIMON

A weekly report from Springfield, written by State Sen. Paul Simon of Troy, will appear in all 15 suburban newspapers published by Paddock Publications, Inc.

"Springfield Sidelights" begins this week and will be a regular feature of Paddock Publications during the current state legislative session. The newspapers have published Simon's weekly legislative columns since 1957, when it was singled out by the American Political Science Association for an award "for distinguished reporting of state and local government."

"I'LL CALL THE shots as I see them," said Simon in outlining the column's approach.

A newspaperman who has served 10 years in the Illinois legislature, Simon has also [illegible] recently book, "Lovejoy — Martyr to Freedom," and "Lincoln's Preparation for Greatness," to be published later this year.

During his legislative service, he has several times received the Independent Voters of Illinois "best legislator" award.

A resident of Troy, near St. Louis, Simon purchased the local newspaper when he was 19, on a loan arranged by the Troy Lions Club. In a short time he found himself in a fight with professional gambling interests and was a witness before a televised hearing of the Kefauver Committee.

AT THE AGE of 25 he was elected to the Illinois House of Representatives and in 1962 was elected to the State Senate.

He met his wife, the former Jeanne Hurley, when both were serving in the House of Representatives. They became the only man and wife legislative team in Illinois history. The Simons are parents of two children.

Simon was an unsuccessful candidate for U. S. Senator in the 1962 Democratic primary campaign. The nomination went to U. S. Rep. Sidney P. Yates, who was defeated by U. S. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen.

2nd Timbercrest Unit Opens in Schaumburg

Grand opening of the second unit in Timbercrest, a new 311-home community in northwest suburban Schaumburg, will continue through this coming weekend.

Timbercrest is located one mile west of Roselle Road on Schaumburg Road and is being built in a heavily wooded section of virgin timber that was known previously as Gray's Woods. Five models with three and four bedrooms and multiple baths are available on a fully improved 70-foot homesite.

"We were very pleased to have the first section of Timbercrest get off to such a fine start," said Irv Miller of the building firm.

"Being part of a progressive community like Schaumburg, with its fine schools, shopping, recreational and transportation facilities, gives us that much more to offer to the homebuyers in Timbercrest.

"The planning of the community, with safety curved streets, cul-de-sac arrangement of the houses and the two park-like areas set aside for public use was made possible only with the help and cooperation of the people of the village. We have done everything in our power to maintain the natural beauty of the area by saving most of the trees, some of which are over one hundred years old."

FACE BRICK, rough-sawn cedar and aluminum siding exteriors, attached garages and large finished family rooms are features in the five models to be built in the proposed first two units of 94 homesites.

All the homes in Timbercrest are conventional, carpenter-built and have the custom features of wall-to--wall carpeting or hardwood floors throughout, tiled baths with colored fixtures, color-toned kitchens with custom hardwood cabinets, Formica countertops, range hood and exhaust fan, paved driveways and wood windows throughout.

The homesites average 9,600 square feet with curbs, sidewalks, gutters, a complete storm and sanitary sewer system and paved lighted streets. All utilities in the area are underground, doing away with the necessity of poles and wires that would mar the view.

THE MODELS WILL be open for inspection daily and Sunday. According to Miller, financing arrangements have been made to enable qualified buyers to purchase a new home for a $990 down payment. (15BB

THE APPOINTMENT of Edward W. Kenna Jr. of Elk Grove as Chicago district sales manager of the Homewood Cabinet Top Co. was announced recently. He had previously been manager of the kitchen sales department, R. Cooper Jr., Inc. Kenna and his family live at 534 Shady Wood. (10 BB

Hull Joins Field Sales

Bobby Hull, star center of the Chicago Black Hawks, has joined Field Container Corp. of Elk Grove Village. Hull's appointment, announced by Eli Field, president of the company, is to the firm's sales staff.

In making the announcement, Field stated: "We are very pleased to have Bobby Hull with us and flattered to know that he chose our company in which to begin his business career." Plans call for Hull to undergo a comprehensive executive sales program and then to begin making sales calls on new accounts in the industries that Field is currently serving. (10BB

1964 Records Set By First Federal

Record highs set in 1964 by the First Federal Savings and Loan Associations of Chicago were revealed recently by association president E. Stanley Enlund.

Enlund reported that First Federal records were achieved for mortgage lending, earnings paid to savers, reserves, number of mortgage loans, total savings and total assets. These high marks came despite conditions which the president described as "the most competitive" the firm has experienced.

The records set by First Federal in 1964 were the $108,078,428 mortgage lending total, the savings balance of $432,276,971, the $2,853,439 in set aside reserves, the number of mortgage loans held, totaling 32,000, and the assets total of $506,796,436 which topped the half billion mark for the first time.

The outlook for the coming year, according to Enlund, was that mortgage loan rates probably would remain stable and that First Federal will continue to pay the current 4¼ per cent dividend rate on savings accounts. He added that First Federal "is facing increased competition both in mortgage lending and in attracting savings dollars, but expects to at least hold its substantial share of the local market." Fairview Gardens Homes Planned for Action Needs

"Action-planned" is the term used by Bob Bluett, builder and developer of Fairview Gardens, located on the west side of Wolf Road two blocks north of Central in the Mount Prospect area, to describe surrounding attractions and the homes, themselves, in the all-residential community.

Bluett notes, "Today's family, parents as well as kids, enjoy a wide variety of activity. Some of this is personal, concerning individual interests. Some of it is on the family level, or involves the neighborhood or community. In most cases, wider opportunity for such activity is sought and needed — at home, as well as in the immediate vicinity. And that has been a major consideration in our planning here in Fairview Gardens."

Among the opportunities for "action-planned" living in the community itself is a four-acre public play park for youngsters of all ages. There are several ball diamonds and special play areas with a variety of playground equipment. For winter fun, a section of the grounds is carefully flooded and frozen for ice skating.

IN THE GENERAL vicinity are found a number of golf courses and forest preserves and parks. Several of the latter offer special attraction for fishermen, young and old, in well-stocked lakes.

Builder Bluett also bears in mind the needs of the modern, active family when designing Fairview Gardens homes. Typical example is his "Supreme," a roomy hi-ranch home offering 2,570 square feet of well-planned space under roof.

This home has three or four bedrooms, two baths, family room, double garage and big work-utility area. Inside planning is unusually comfortable and practical.

FROM THE WIDE entrance foyer, a short flight of stairs leads immediately down to the lower level family room. On this level, too, is a corner room which may be used for a den, fourth bedroom, hobby room or other use.

At the foot of the rear stairs is the large work-utility room. This can be enclosed or open. Conveniently centered in the lower level layout, the second bath offers attractive decor, with sliding frosted glass shower doors. The two-car garage is over 20 feet wide, 25 feet long—with extra storage area at one end.

On the upper level of this hi-ranch design, a short corridor connects dining-living area and the kitchen. Rear entrance is at the landing, with sliding glass doors at grade level opening onto the patio area. The living room is almost 26 by 14 feet in size and is open to the dining room.

IN THE SLEEPING wing, the main bathroom is finished in matching tile and color-toned fixtures, with built-in vanity featuring double basin and matching mirror. The smallest of the bedrooms is 12 by 11 feet 2 inches; the master is nearly 13 by 11 feet in size. Closets are conveniently located throughout this model.

The "Supreme Hi-Ranch" and other models in Fairview Gardens are open to visitors daily from 10 a.m. till dark.

Tax Deductions? Don't Forget Auto

The Chicago Automobile Club, in a recent announcement, listed those automobile expenses which may be deducted when filing income tax returns.

According to that announcement, all motorists may deduct the following items: The five cent state tax on each gallon of gasoline purchased; casualty losses not reimbursed by insurance or other means and if not due to willful negligence; interest paid on automobile loans; personal property tax; and state and city sales taxes on automobiles, parts, accessories and supplies which is four per cent in Illinois.

If a car is used for business, then, the CMC stated, the following could also be deducted: motor club dues, state automobile license fees; municipal vehicle tax; drivers' license fees; automobile insurance premiums; depreciation; gasoline, oil and lubricating expenses; all repairs; washing and polishing expenses; anti-freeze and other winterizing services; garage rent; parking charges; and toll road fees.

A person who is self-employed or who receives no reimbusement for auto expense from his employer may take a standard deduction for car expense instead of maintaining detailed records. The standard deduction is 10c per mile for the first 15,000 miles of business driving and 7c per mile for additional business mileage.

The Chicago Motor Club also pointed out that costs incurred in driving from home to a regular place of employment and return are not deductible for income tax purposes.

Industrial Construction In Elk Grove

The 112 acre O'Hare Industrial Park in Elk Grove Village will soon undergo basic land improvements according to an announcement made last week by Wm. C. McLennan & Co.

McLennan & Co. stated that the industrial park, situated on the southwest corner of Devon Ave. and Elmhurst Road just west of O'Hare International Airport, will soon be improved by the addition of water, sewer and street facilities.

The addition of the new facilities is being made to serve those companies which have already built plants on the the O'Hare cite plus other business firms which McLennan & Co. expects to locate there under the areas M-2 zoning which allows for manufacturing, research, warehousing and general office operations.

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by Richard H. DeLano, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

Whatever happened to the old fashioned porch or veranda that spread half-way across the house? It must have been a pleasant place where neighbors could freely visit back and forth and become involved in a community or neighborhood spirit.

True modern ranch style homes don't lend themselves to these large porches, but a friendly yet semi-private living area can easily be incorporated into the front yard. According to a plan suggested by Carlton B. Lees, author and director of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, the key is in the foundation planting.

Instead of planting the evergreens directly against the house, plant at least a part of them seven to 10 feet in front of the house. Such an arrangement creates a hedge which can be joined to the house, beyond the doorway with additional plantings. This, in effect, creates an "L" shaped hedge which funnels visitors directly to your front door.

IN BACK of this hedge, you can lay the sidewalk to the front door. A small front yard patio can also be constructed here.

The Carlton B. Lees' concept of foundation planting offers all sorts of possibilities. For example, a colorful border of tulips could be planted along the inside of the "L" shaped hedge.

Although not seen from the street, this foundation planting could be observed by the gardener from his front window. Following the spring bulbs, the same area can be over-planted with annual bedding plants such as petunias and marigolds.

To carry the idea a bit further, small flowering trees could be planted just at the elbow of the "L." Trees such as the mountain ash or Sargents, bectel and sargents flowering crab can be used.

THESE SMALLER trees in the right location will provide enough shade for comfort but not enough to overshade your private flower border.

This winter while you have the time, draw up some plans on paper. See if this concept will fit your home. Instead of a stiff hedge bordering the drive, make a low informal hedge across the front of your yard to border a living area. Such a living area in your front yard invites the neighborliness of the days of the old fashioned front porch or veranda. 15BB

$45,000,000 For Rail Improvement

A $45,000,000 capital improvement for the year 1965 has been approved by the board of directors of the Chicago & North Western Railroad Co., Ben W. Heineman, chairman of the North Western, announced last Thursday.

The rail chairman said that the capital outlay is the largest in the history of the road will be spent on new equipment, improvements on existing equipment and on improvements to be made on operating property.

New equipment purchased with the alloted money will include 500 new freight cars, 10 new bi-level suburban coaches and 22 diesel locomotives. Improvements made will include the completion of a four year program of repairing and upgrading the road's 41,000 freight cars.

The installation of a centralized traffic control on the railroad's main line east of Council Bluffs, Iowa; land and track improvements to serve the new Chrysler auto plant now under construction in Belvidere; the acquisition of track work equipment and a new 5,000,000 bushel grain elevator at Superior, Wis., are among the operating property improvements to be made.

The 1965 expenditures, said Heineman, will bring the aggregate capital outlay of the company in the last ten years to approximately $267,000,000. (15BB

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by Richard H. DeLano, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

Whatever happened to the old fashioned porch or veranda that spread half-way across the house? It must have been a pleasant place where neighbors could freely visit back and forth and become involved in a community or neighborhood spirit.

True modern ranch style homes don't lend themselves to these large porches, but a friendly yet semi-private living area can easily be incorporated into the front yard. According to a plan suggested by Carlton B. Lees, author and director of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, the key is in the foundation planting.

Instead of planting the evergreens directly against the house, plant at least a part of them seven to 10 feet in front of the house. Such an arrangement creates a hedge which can be joined to the house, beyond the doorway with additional plantings. This, in effect, creates an "L" shaped hedge which funnels visitors directly to your front door.

IN BACK of this hedge, you can lay the sidewalk to the front door. A small front yard patio can also be constructed here.

The Carlton B. Lees' concept of foundation planting offers all sorts of possibilities. For example, a colorful border of tulips could be planted along the inside of the "L" shaped hedge.

Although not seen from the street, this foundation planting could be observed by the gardener from his front window. Following the spring bulbs, the same area can be over-planted with annual bedding plants such as petunias and marigolds.

To carry the idea a bit further, small flowering trees could be planted just at the elbow of the "L." Trees such as the mountain ash or Sargents, bectel and sargents flowering crab can be used.

THESE SMALLER trees in the right location will provide enough shade for comfort but not enough to overshade your private flower border.

This winter while you have the time, draw up some plans on paper. See if this concept will fit your home. Instead of a stiff hedge bordering the drive, make a low informal hedge across the front of your yard to border a living area. Such a living area in your front yard invites the neighborliness of the days of the old fashioned front porch or veranda. 15BB

$45,000,000 For Rail Improvement

A $45,000,000 capital improvement for the year 1965 has been approved by the board of directors of the Chicago & North Western Railroad Co., Ben W. Heineman, chairman of the North Western, announced last Thursday.

The rail chairman said that the capital outlay is the largest in the history of the road will be spent on new equipment, improvements on existing equipment and on improvements to be made on operating property.

New equipment purchased with the alloted money will include 500 new freight cars, 10 new bi-level suburban coaches and 22 diesel locomotives. Improvements made will include the completion of a four year program of repairing and upgrading the road's 41,000 freight cars.

The installation of a centralized traffic control on the railroad's main line east of Council Bluffs, Iowa; land and track improvements to serve the new Chrysler auto plant now under construction in Belvidere; the acquisition of track work equipment and a new 5,000,000 bushel grain elevator at Superior, Wis., are among the operating property improvements to be made.

The 1965 expenditures, said Heineman, will bring the aggregate capital outlay of the company in the last ten years to approximately $267,000,000.

Updating Insurance On Home Necessary

If fire destroyed your home today you might be in for an even ruder shock than you think.

The chances are better than ever that your insurance coverage is insufficient to replace either your home or your personal possessions.

If your home is more than three years old, in fact, it is almost certainly underinsured if you haven't updated your home insurance coverage since you moved in.

Aetna Casualty and Surety Co., a writer of homeowners policies, reports that the rise in home construction costs and personal property values in recent years has caused more than half of all insured homes in the United States to be underinsured.

Figures computed by Aetna Casualty reveal that on a national average the value of personal property items, from electric can openers to color TV sets, has jumped by 31 per cent in the last 10 years.

HOME construction costs have risen by 19 per cent in the same period, the company said.

In a fairly typical situation, it would cost a hmomeowner a tidy $4,400 of his own money today to replace a home and possessions that were fully insured 10 years ago.

That figure is based on Aetna Casualty statistical averages showing that it would cost $17,850 now to build a home that cost $15,000 to build 10 years ago, and that the family with personal property valued at $5,000 then would have $6,550 worth of such goods now.

The latter increase is attributable not only to the rise in prices of personal property items over the years, but also to the rise in their quantity and quality as a result of the general improvement in American living standards.

THE STATISTICS become progressively more dramatic the further back you take them. Home construction costs have risen by an average 103 per cent since 1945, for example, property values are up a whopping 155 per cent.

To guard against possible loss from underinsurance, periodic reviews of homeowners policies or fire coverages are recommended by Aetna Casualty. Additionally, an up-to-date inventory of personal property and its estimated values should be kept in your office or safe deposit box or elsewhere away from the home to guide you in reporting losses to your insurance company in the event of fire or other misfortune.

In view of the fact that fire damages American homes at a better than one-a-minute clip over the course of a year, that's pretty good advice.

DuPage Credit List Shows Fall in '65

A slight decline in the number of DuPage County manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers listed in the 1965 Dun & Brandstreet Reference Book was revealed in statistics released last week by E. F. Schenk, district manager of the Chicago D & B office.

Overall figures show that from a 3,835 listings total in Jan. 1964 the D & B reference book figures for DuPage have dropped to a present total of 3,813. By individual communities the reference book listings decreased from 283 to 268 in Addison, from 266 to 258 in Bensenville and from 164 to 149 in Roselle.

Schenk added that during the past year 1,948 changes were made in the D & B listings for DuPage including names added and dropped and changes in the ratings of continuing businesses.

The D & B Reference Book lists all manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit. It does not include some of the service and professional businesses such as beauty and barber shops, security dealers and real estate brokers.

Wine Art Competition Offers $500

The opening of the annual wine art competition, featuring a $500 first prize, was announced recently by the Foremost Liquor Stores.

Paintings for the contest, open to all Chicago area artists, may be in any style or medium on any theme pertaining to wine. The only restriction is that the subject matter has to be non-commercial.

In addition to the cash first prize, nine other awards will be made at the April 4 final judging to be held at the Ascot House in Chicago. The top ten paintings will be displayed for one week at the Guildhall Galleries.

DuPage Credit List Shows Fall in '65

A slight decline in the number of DuPage County manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers listed in the 1965 Dun & Brandstreet Reference Book was revealed in statistics released last week by E. F. Schenk, district manager of the Chicago D & B office.

Overall figures show that from a 3,835 listings total in Jan. 1964 the D & B reference book figures for DuPage have dropped to a present total of 3,813. By individual communities the reference book listings decreased from 283 to 268 in Addison, from 266 to 258 in Bensenville and from 164 to 149 in Roselle.

Schenk added that during the past year 1,948 changes were made in the D & B listings for DuPage including names added and dropped and changes in the ratings of continuing businesses.

The D & B Reference Book lists all manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit. It does not include some of the service and professional businesses such as beauty and barber shops, security dealers and real estate brokers.

GAS WARFARE stemming from this corner of Campbell Street and Wilke Road in Arlington Heights is now being waged in court. The village board refused to rezone the corner of Westgate Shopping Center parking lot for gas station use, based on backing of all commercial tenants in the center. But suit has been filed in Circuit Court to permit the use, and Village Atty. Jack Siegel was scheduled to file his answer today (Thursday) or tomorrow. The property is located directly opposite another gas station, but was not large enough to qualify for adequate zoning under existing village ordinances. (Staff photo)

High School Board Tackles Problem of Jury Duty Pay

Faced for the first time with a month's absence of a teacher to serve on jury duty, Arlington High School District 214 board of education launched a special committee on how to handle the financial end of the problem.

Complicating the problem was a report that another teacher had been excused only during the school term and would be called for jury duty during the summer. This would present a definite financial sacrifice on the part of the teacher according to Dr. Frank Smith, board member.

IN THE PAST, District 214 teachers have been called for duty only in state courts and have been excused. Recently Vernon Stahnke, industrial arts teacher at Wheeling High School, was excused only until summer.

The issue was raised when John Hicks, Arlington High vocal music instructor, was called to federal jury duty. In the case of the federal courts, Supt. Harold Slichenmyer told board members, teachers are not excused from jury duty.

The special committee, composed of Smith and E. C. Lockwood Jr., has not reached a recommendation to date but is expected to have a report ready for the Feb. 8 regular board meeting.

When teachers are absent for jury duty during the school term, board members appeared to agree that their regular salary should be paid. By asking to be excused and being called during school vacation, Smith stressed the teacher would not be drawing his regular school salary and would have to forego his regular summer employment or study at a personal loss. He stated that teachers should not have to bear a personal sacrifice in an effort to serve the school district.

DURING HICKS' absence, a substitute music instructor will take over three of Hick's five classes. Other members of the music department will cover the remaining two classes. Hicks will be absent for 20 school days. During this period the school will be paying for the substitute teaching.

Both Smith and Slichenmyer noted that payment for jury duty was "minimal" and was "just about enough to cover traveling to the Loop, parking and eating out."

Negro Move-ins Topic At Feb. 3 Discussion

The movement of Negro families into previously all-white neighborhoods and the housing problems involved will be discussed in Arlington Heights, Wednesday, Feb. 3, by the pastor of a Lutheran church located in an area undergoing racial change.

The Rev. W. Douglas Larson, pastor of Atonement Lutheran Church in the Englewood area on Chicago's South Side, will participate in a panel discussion at Lutheran Church of the Cross, 2024 Goebbert Road, Arlington Heights.

He will be joined on the panel by laymen who have had first-hand experience with the problem of equal housing.

THE 8 P.M. meeting will be open to the public, it was announced by the Rev. Bruce K. Benander, pastor of Church of the Cross.

"By sharing the experiences of persons actually living and working with these problems, we hope to become better prepared for the time when Negro families move into our own neighborhoods," Pastor Benander said.

WIDOW AT 65 DISCOVERS A JOB, AND A NEW WORLD

"My husband died nearly six years ago. I was then 65 years old. After expenses were met, I had $4,500 and a pension of $65 a month . . ."

Here was the crossroads of a woman's life. She could sit and whimper, as some do. She could throw herself on her children or other relatives, as many do. Or she could strike out for a new life, as few have the courage to do.

The widow quoted above decided to strike out.

"I first went to live with my son and his wife," she says. "But I had no wish to be semi-dependent on them, or on anybody else. I thought of a job. But as you know, it is almost impossible for a woman of 65 who has never worked outside her home to find employment in business. I turned to the one thing that held some promise for me—a position as a housekeeper . . ."

Such a position, she says, could mean nothing but distress to her socially conscious daughter-in-law. So she moved out of the home, and out of town, going to a city almost 1,000 miles away. She had one connection with the city: she and her husband had lived there years ago when he was attached to a nearby Army post, and she had liked it. With this slim thread, with her $4,500 and her $65 pension she reached for a new life.

"In the five years that have passed since," she continues, "I have been working as a companion-housekeeper. If I decided to retire at 72, which is only a few months from now, I will have earned in my own right Social Security of $72 a month. I will have increased my $4,500 to better than $15,000, which I have safely invested. With my pension added to these I will have a lifetime income of $185 a month, which is enough."

The widow says she is working now for $40 a week, plus room and board. Since the people she works for would normally be well-to-do, there are fringe benefits. There is frequently maid service in the house, giving her time to read and study, to play the piano. She owns a car — a legacy from a recently deceased employer.

"I am happy, and I am independent," she says. "As for my son and his family, I visit them. It's much better this way."

There are many opportunities for older widows to do what this widow did. The opportunities lie usually in the cities or in the more luxurious resort areas. They lie mainly with rich people . . . older widows left alone who do not want to leave their lovely homes and are looking for refined companionship; older couples who want to shed the responsibility of running a home and servants; younger couples with small children who want to travel or lead an active life outside their homes.

Widows setting out to capitalize on such a position—as housekeeper, companion, household manager, or whatever — would first have to overcome what pride stood in the way. A widow who had walked tall as the wife of a business or professional man would have to go through some mental changes to accept what is, in fact, a position as a domestic. But it might be better than the alternatives open to her. And it might come easier if she moved to another city to try it.

Workshop Eyes Migrants' Language Problem

Teacher Shortage Hinders Progress

by DAN PRIBILSKI
Staff Writer

Getting Mexican-American workers to learn English is no easy accomplishment.

This is one of the conclusions drawn from a Northwest Church Council for Migrant Aid workshop which was held last Sunday.

The workshop topic was "Education of the Migrant Worker."

It was the second of four workshops held by the Northwest Church Council, a Protestant organization under the auspices of the National Council of Churches.

Three speakers were featured. They were Mrs. Marjorie Stroud, former director of the American Assn. of University Women's migrant school; Robert Michalsen, principal of the Albert Einstein School in Elk Grove; and Harold Carthum, a Spanish language teacher at the Joel Wood School in Palatine.

ALL THREE were in agreement that sufficient qualified teachers were hard to obtain. And without more teachers, any program for teaching English to migrant workers will be held back.

The chief concern of the Northwest Church Council is to help Mexican-Americans who are settling permanently in the northwest suburban area.

The council intends to operate in Maine, Elk Grove, Schaumburg, Wheeling, Palatine and Barrington Townships.

The workshops are helping the council decide "what it must do to achieve its goal."

Among the items suggested in the workshop are setting up classes for pre-school children, evening classes for men and women, and having area residents become good friends of the migrants and invite them to their homes.

CARTHUM AND Michalsen both said their school districts have special classes for the young and for adults.

However, such classes are limited and because of the migratory background of the Mexican-Americans, it is hard to keep track of them and make sure that they attend school regularly.

The Northwest Council on Migrant Aid hopes to get federal funds to implement its program and keep it going, Virgil Bass, chairman of the council, said.

To achieve this, the council will seek cooperation with the Catholic Church and seek aid from the township governments.

Bass said committees will be sent to each township for discussion of the problem and possibility of getting funds.

IT WAS BROUGHT out that the men in migrant families seldom attend night classes which now exist in various areas.

They are embarrassed and since many men do speak English, they consider this sufficient to get along. They cannot read or write English, however.

But as Cathum put it, "Teaching them to read is half the battle."

Michalsen said teaching English to the Mexican-American is only part of any educational process.

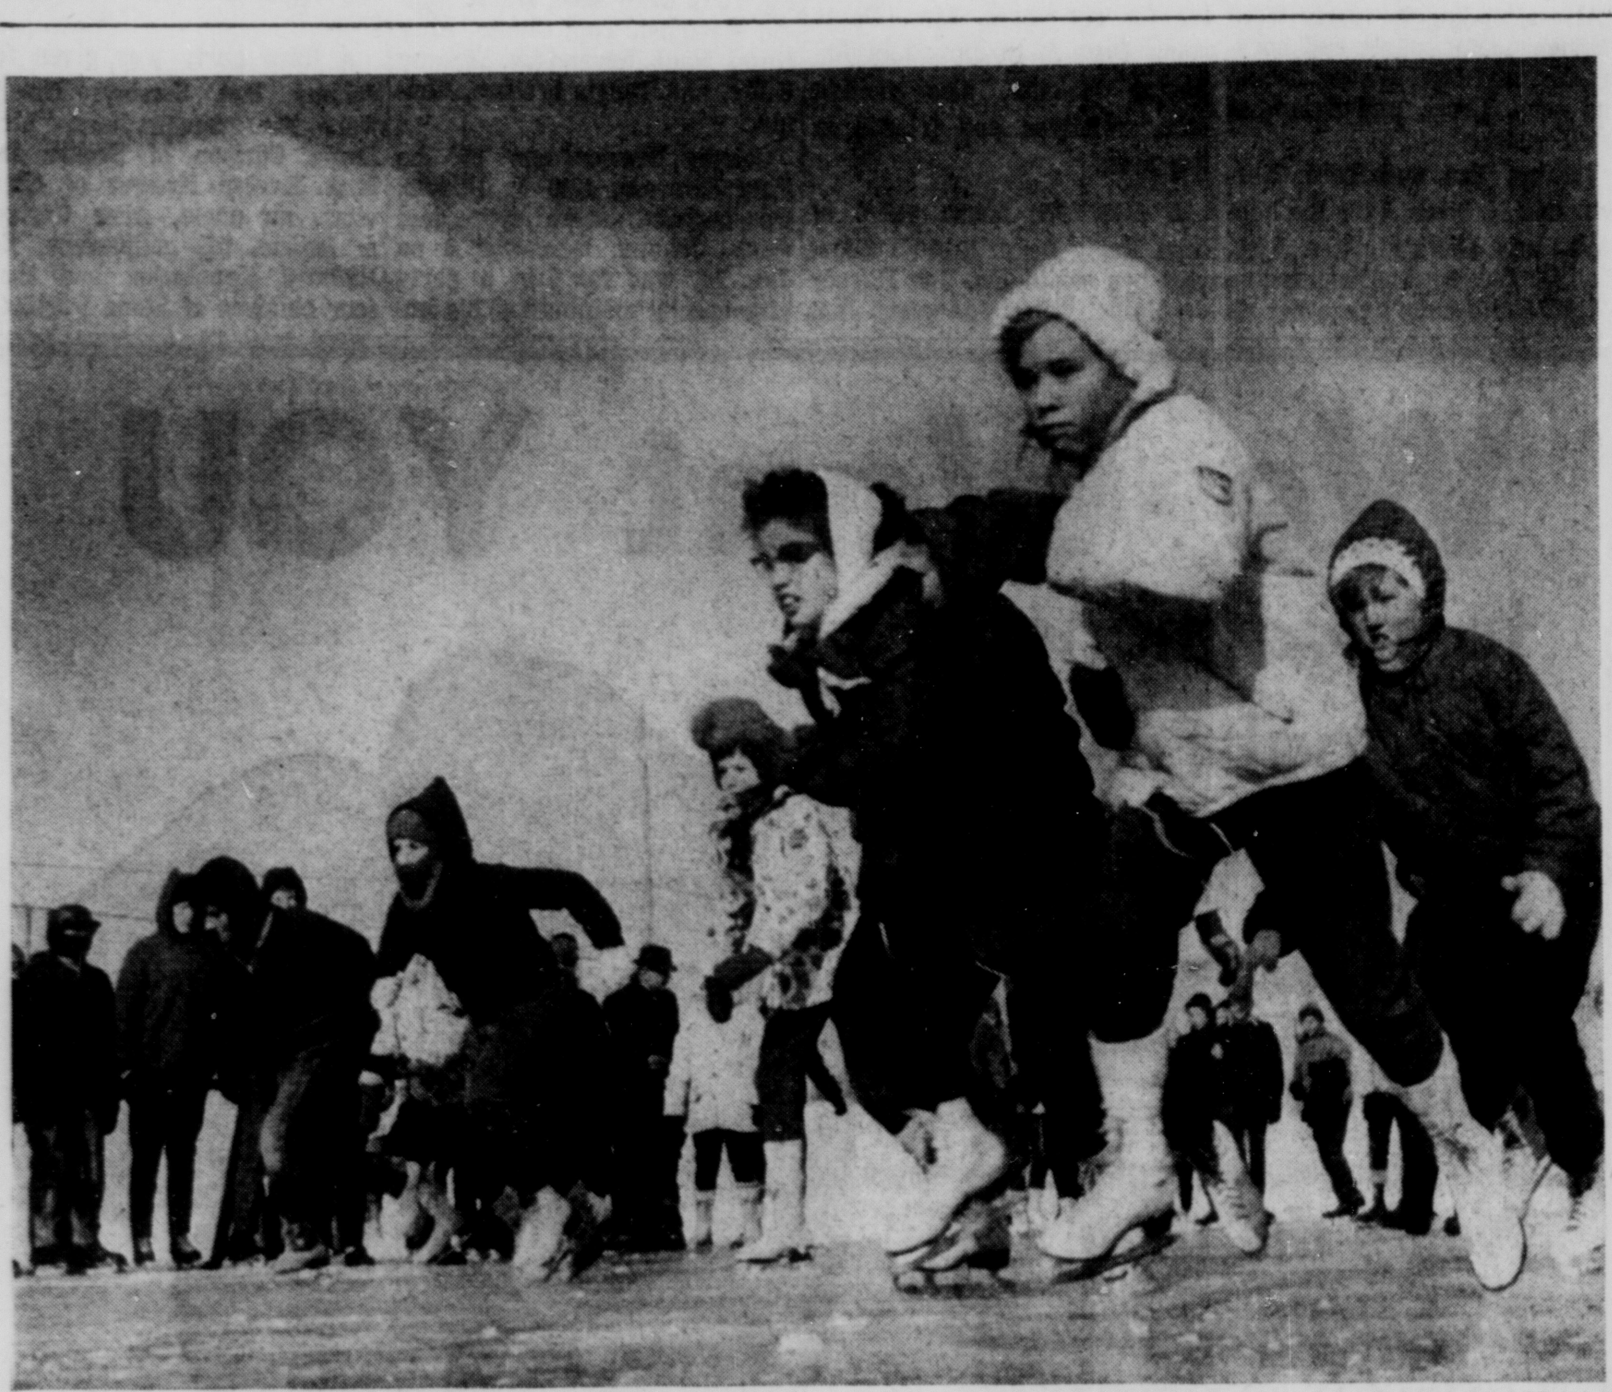
They must also be taught basic culture and economics so they can deal better with local Americans and seek rental units.

THE NUMBER of Mexican-Americans who live in the area the year around is relatively small. Their numbers swell during the summer as more come to the area to work the crops.

Under present circumstance, the schools such as in Palatine and Elk Grove have only a minimal number of classes to offer the migrant adult.

Carthum said that what is needed most is a program where classes are given three or four times a week.

The next workshop will be held Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the Congregational United Church of Christ, 1001 Kirchoff Road, Arlington Heights. The topic will be health.



VIGOROUS COMPETITION was a typical scene at the Arlington Heights Rotary Ice Carnival Saturday, Jan. 16, at the park district's retention basin skating pond, Douglas Avenue and Olive Street. This year's event was the seventh annual, sponsored jointly by the district and Arlington Heights Rotary Club. For these girls, a week's postponement to await good skating ice was well worth it. Mothers' March to Climax Dimes Drive

More than 30,000 volunteer marching mothers in Chicago and Cook, DuPage and Lake County cities and towns will be calling on friends and neighbors Tuesday for contributions to the March of Dimes.

"The Mothers' March of Dimes," said Edward P. Kelly, general chairman of the 1965 campaign, "is more than a fund-raising appeal. It is a symbol of the urgent need of more than 250,000 children born in this country each year with a significant birth defect."

"Special treatment centers such as our birth defects center at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital are aiding the victims of the 600 types of birth defects."

The Mothers' March of Dimes, climax to the month-long January campaign, traditionally raises one-third of the Metropolitan Chicago Chapter's goal. The goal for 1965 is $750,000.

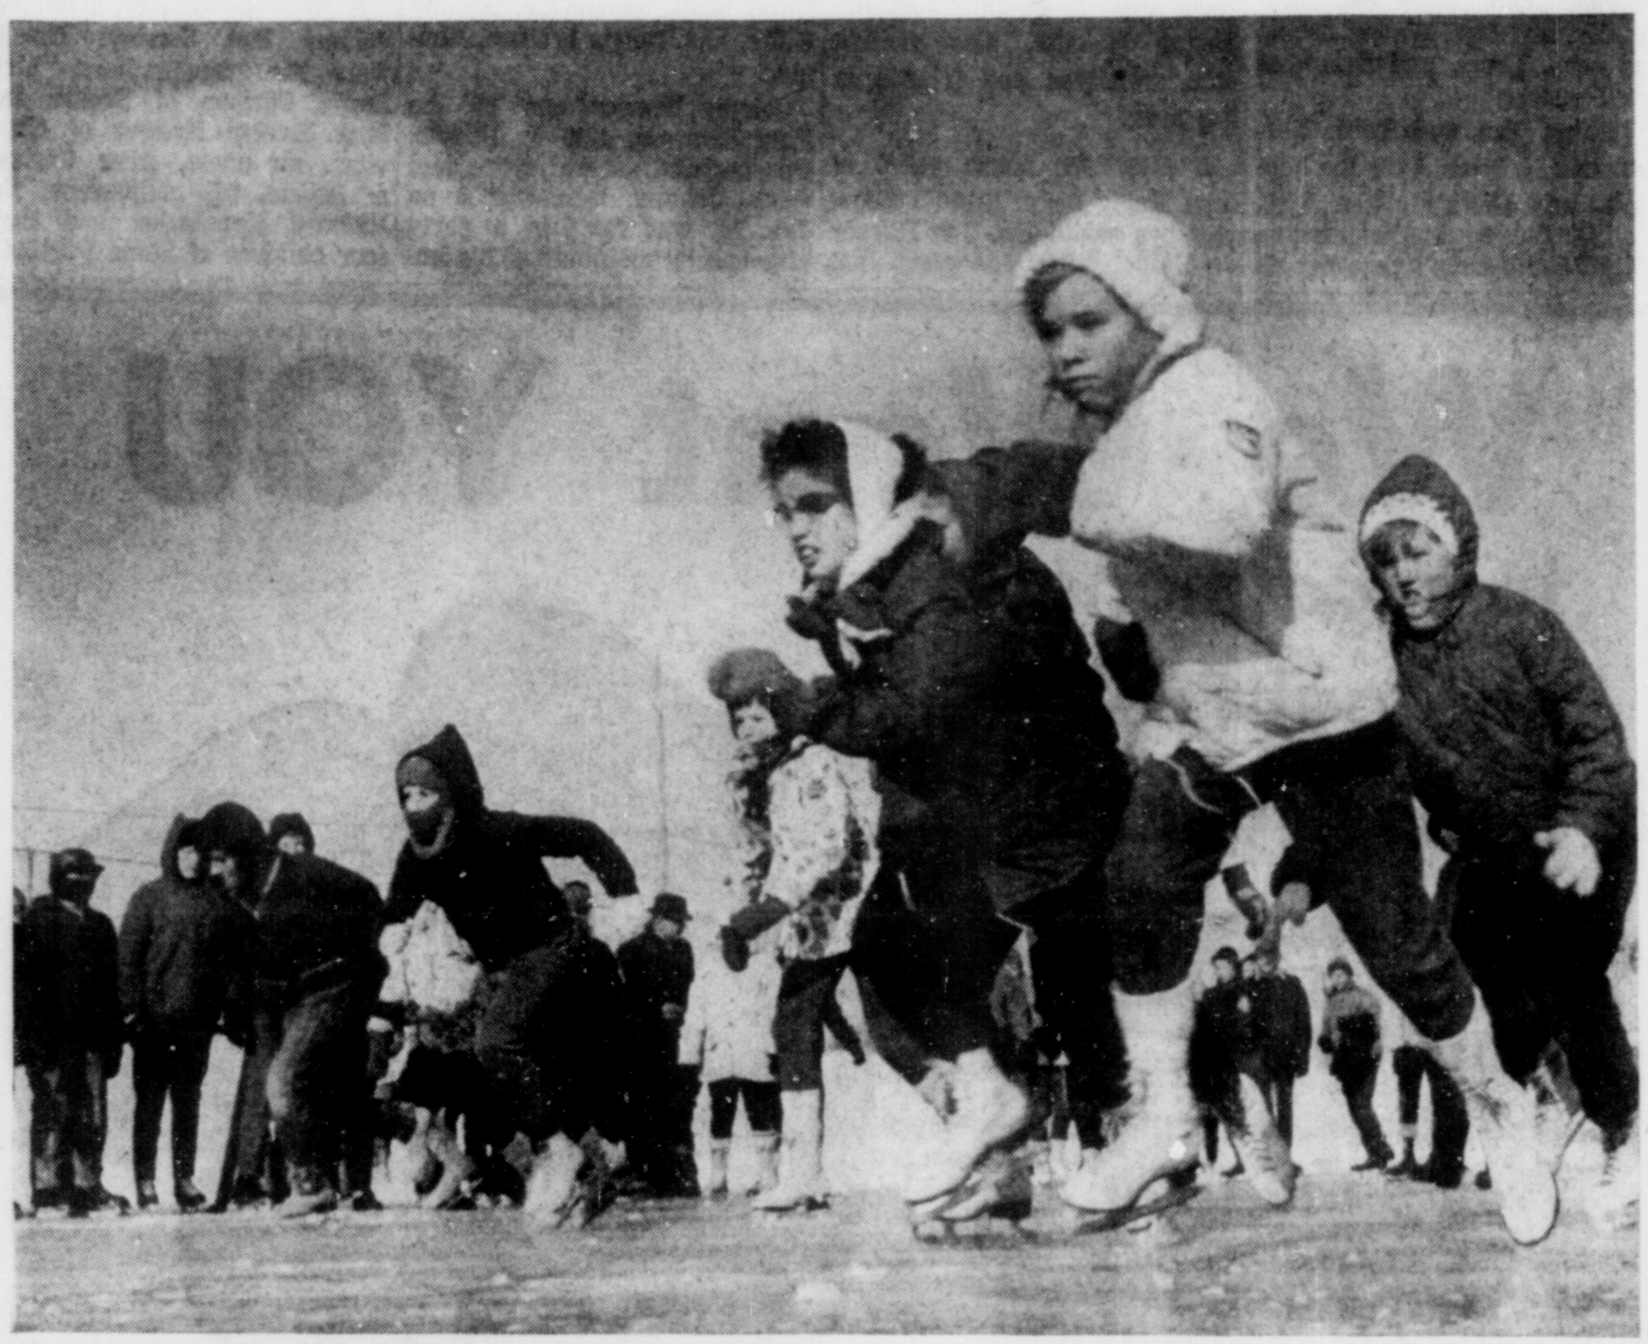
Workshop Eyes Migrants' Language Problem



VIGOROUS COMPETITION was a typical scene at the Arlington Heights Rotary Ice Carnival Saturday, Jan. 16, at the park district's retention basin skating pond, Douglas Avenue and Olive Street. This year's event was the seventh annual, sponsored jointly by the district and Arlington Heights Rotary Club. For these girls, a week's postponement to await good skating ice was well worth it. 170 Youngsters Compete In Rotary Ice Carnival

About 170 youngsters took part in the seventh annual Rotary Ice Carnival last Saturday at the Retention Basin skating rink, Douglas and Olive, Arlington Heights.

Members of Rotary International, Arlington Heights, combined with the Arlington Heights Park District staff to direct the 18-event competition.

Karen Smith proved a triple threat, winning the 220-yard dash for girls 14 and 15 years, the open figure skating competition, and the open 440-yard dash for girls.

DOUG POWERS was a double winner with victories in the 220-yard dash for boys 16 years and over and the boys' open 880-yard dash.

Bill Appleby, director of the event, noted that help from the Rotary Club was the best ever, and complimented both competitors and spectators on their conduct.

Results were as follows:

110 yard dash — girls 7 years and under: 1, Ann Lindstrom; 2, Nancy Brown; 3, Mary Beth Woehlck; 4, Barbara Longhenry; 5, Nancy Bonhhan. Winning time: 21.9.

Teacher Shortage Hinders Progress

by DAN PRIBILSKI
Staff Writer

Getting Mexican-American workers to learn English is no easy accomplishment.

This is one of the conclusions drawn from a Northwest Church Council for Migrant Aid workshop which was held last Sunday.

The workshop topic was "Education of the Migrant Worker."

It was the second of four workshops held by the Northwest Church Council, a Protestant organization under the auspices of the National Council of Churches.

Three speakers were featured. They were Mrs. Marjorie Stroud, former director of the American Assn. of University Women's migrant school; Robert Michalsen, principal of the Albert Einstein School in Elk Grove; and Harold Carthum, a Spanish language teacher at the Joel Wood School in Palatine.

ALL THREE were in agreement that sufficient qualified teachers were hard to obtain. And without more teachers, any program for teaching English to migrant workers will be held back.

The chief concern of the Northwest Church Council is to help Mexican-Americans who are settling permanently in the northwest suburban area.

The council intends to operate in Maine, Elk Grove, Schaumburg, Wheeling, Palatine and Barrington Townships.

The workshops are helping the council decide "what it must do to achieve its goal."

Among the items suggested in the workshop are setting up classes for pre-school children, evening classes for men and women, and having area residents become good friends of the migrants and invite them to their homes.

CARTHUM AND Michalsen both said their school districts have special classes for the young and for adults.

However, such classes are limited and because of the migratory background of the Mexican-Americans, it is hard to keep track of them and make sure that they attend school regularly.

The Northwest Council on Migrant Aid hopes to get federal funds to implement its program and keep it going, Virgil Bass, chairman of the council, said.

To achieve this, the council will seek cooperation with the Catholic Church and seek aid from the township governments.

Bass said committees will be sent to each township for discussion of the problem and possibility of getting funds.

IT WAS BROUGHT out that the men in migrant families seldom attend night classes which now exist in various areas.

They are embarrassed and since many men do speak English, they consider this sufficient to get along. They cannot read or write English, however.

But as Cathum put it, "Teaching them to read is half the battle."

Michalsen said teaching English to the Mexican-American is only part of any educational process.

They must also be taught basic culture and economics so they can deal better with local Americans and seek rental units.

THE NUMBER of Mexican-Americans who live in the area the year around is relatively small. Their numbers swell during the summer as more come to the area to work the crops.

Under present circumstance, the schools such as in Palatine and Elk Grove have only a minimal number of classes to offer the migrant adult.

Carthum said that what is needed most is a program where classes are given three or four times a week.

The next workshop will be held Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the Congregational United Church of Christ, 1001 Kirchoff Road, Arlington Heights. The topic will be health.

Mothers' March to Climax Dimes Drive

More than 30,000 volunteer marching mothers in Chicago and Cook, DuPage and Lake County cities and towns will be calling on friends and neighbors Tuesday for contributions to the March of Dimes.

"The Mothers' March of Dimes," said Edward P. Kelly, general chairman of the 1965 campaign, "is more than a fund-raising appeal. It is a symbol of the urgent need of more than 250,000 children born in this country each year with a significant birth defect."

"Special treatment centers such as our birth defects center at Presbyterian-St. Luke's Hospital are aiding the victims of the 600 types of birth defects."

The Mothers' March of Dimes, climax to the month-long January campaign, traditionally raises one-third of the Metropolitan Chicago Chapter's goal. The goal for 1965 is $750,000.

Morton Elected Executive VP at Arlington Federal

Donald F. Morton of 16 S. William St., Mount Prospect, has been elected executive vice president of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association, according to announcement by Paul E. Collins, president, following the annual board meeting yesterday (Wednesday).

Three other staff men also were elected to vice presidencies.

Roger A. Wahlin of Algonquin was promoted to vice president for the lending division. He has served as assistant vice president for the loan department.

Roy E. Lyngaas of Park Ridge has been named vice president for the savings division, moving from assistant treasurer and manager of teller operations, a post he held since January 1964.

GUY M. Andtrson of 1602 N. Kennicott, Arlington Heights, formerly manager of the savings and public relations department, has been elected vice president for the business development division. He joined the staff in December, 1962.

Mrs. Elinore Peterson of 730 N. Pine, Arlington Heights, has been appointed assistant treasurer and teller supervisor for the savings division.

Prior to his election as executive vice president, Morton was vice president and manager of the loan department and a member of the board of directors. He joined Arlington Heights Federal in November 1955 as assistant secretary and was promoted to vice president in January 1958.

Morton has been an active member of many industry and civic organizations since joining the savings institution. He is a past president of the Fox Valley Savings and Loan Council, and holds an American Savings and Loan graduate diploma and a graduate key from the Graduate School of Savings and Loan.

Earlier this month he was installed as president of Chicago Chapter No. 64. American Savings and Loan Institute. He is also a member of the board of governors of that organization.

IN ADDITION, Morton is retiring president of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce, and remains as a member of the Board of Directors. He is active in Rotary International and the village ACTION committees.

He and his wife, Ruby, have two children, Gary and Marcia. (A

Savings Assets Up 15 Per Cent in '64

Paul E. Collins, president of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association, reports savings assets reached $30,723,672 during 1964.

This represents an increase of 15 per cent or $3,825,946 during the year. Total assets for the association Dec. 31 stood at $34,886,358.

"Our determination to make Arlington Heights Federal Savings a safe and convenient place to save was certainly part of the reason we were successful in attracting 1,100 new savings account customers," Collins said. The association now serves 18,850 savers.

COLLINS ALSO said that during the year just ended more than 400 mortgage loans were made in Arlington Heights and surrounding areas for a total of $8,052,770.

Arlington Heights Federal paid $1,143,000 in earnings to savings customers in '64. This is a record high and represents the 23rd and 24th consecutive semi-annual earnings distribution. (A

Charm Class Registration Continues

Registration continues for the Arlington Heights Park District's "tween and teen charmer" course, and the initial class has been postponed one week.

This beginning charm course is open to girls in sixth through ninth grades. The first class will meet Feb. 3 and following Wednesday afternoons from 3:30 to 5.

Emphasis in the class is on basic skin and hair care, visual poise, social graces, posture exercises and basic wardrobe.

LECTURES, discussions and individual guidance will be directed and presented by Mrs. Mary Monti and Mrs. Ruth Platt.

Interested pre-teens and teenagers may register by calling the park district office, CL-3-0620, at Pioneer Park, where the classes will be held.

VIRGINIA TERRACE

On Jan. 13 Dean and Virginia Arnold, 1410 N. Race, attended the National Housewares Banquet at the Palmer House. Red Buttons entertained the group and dancing followed the banquet.

Last Saturday Bill and Freya Jones and children, Mara and Matthew, 1227 N. Illinois, attended the wedding of Bill's sister, Judy Jones, and Gordon Ross at Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church, Chicago. Seven-year-old Mara was a member of her aunt's wedding party.

Jeffrey Scott, son of the James Balmers, 1216 N. Yale, was baptized on Jan. 17 in St. Thomas of Villanova Catholic Church in Palatine. Rev. Francis Waldron officiated at the 2 p.m. ceremony. Sponsors were cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Longrie of Milwaukee.

A party was hosted after the services by the Balmers for relatives and friends.

CANDY CARDINELL, daughter of the Bill Cardinells, 1711 W. Olive, was 11 on Jan. 5. On her birthday Candy enjoyed a family celebration attended by her grandparents, the Robert Cardinells of Chicago, her parents and brother, Bill. Candy's grandmother also celebrated her Jan. 6 birthday that night.

On Jan. 8 Candy hosted a bowling party for 14 of her friends.

Celebrating her fifth birthday on Jan. 9 was Beth Martin, daughter of the Jack Martins, 1337 N. Chicago. Party guests included Lisa and Marty Singer, Suzanne Von Ebers, Donna Kirstein, Dawn Olson, Jimmy and Jeannie Charleston, Tracy Calderwood, and Beth's sister and brother, Lori and Doug.

THREE BIRTHDAYS were celebrated in the Dale Kruse family recently. Sue Kruse was 6 on Jan. 7 and celebrated her birthday with a party on Jan. 9. Party-goers included Janine Krewer, Kim Merckx, Barbara Schmidt, Cindy Kilby, Jo Ann Ninneman, April Krug, Beth Doyle, and Linda Steiner.

A ballerina theme was carried out in the cake and party decorations.

Last Sunday a family party was given to mark Russell Kruse's third birthday of Jan. 19 and his father's Jan. 13.

Attending the celebration were Russell's grandparents, the Franklin Ullreys of Des Plaines, his aunt, uncle and cousins, the Richard Steiners of Mount Prospect; aunt and uncle, the Richard Renches of Arlington Heights; his aunt, Shirleen Ullrey of Des Plaines; and her friend, Jim Robbins, also of Des Plaines.

Robert and Sue Kruse and their mother were also present to help Russell and his father celebrate at their home at 1518 Clarendon.

The Terrace bids farewell to Roger and Judy Goodheart and their son, Kenny, who moved on Jan. 16 from 1408 N. Yale to 532 S. Belmont.

THREE TERRACE students attending Northern Illinois University arrived home this week to spend the between-semesters vacation with their families. Enjoying the rest of January in Arlington Heights are Jean Guderley, Ann Schmitt, and Ken Petrucci.

Ken Furner, 1401 N. Illinois, arrived home this week from Sault Ste. Marie, Canada, where he had spent two weeks on a business trip for McCormick and Company.

Both Ricky and Donna Kirstein, children of the Richard Kirsteins, 1310 Jo Lane, celebrated birthdays in the last week.

Ricky was 11 on Jan. 16 and was guest of honor last Friday at a dinner party attended by Stephen Balow, Scott Jacobsen, and Marty Singer. Later the boys attended the wrestling matches at the high school. Stephen Balow returned to stay over night at the Kirsteins.

DONNA KIRSTEIN was 9 on Jan. 17. She celebrated with an afternoon party on Jan. 16 with guests, Lori and Beth Martin, Linda Gustke, Debbie Bang, Cathy Cocker, and Leslie Stevens.

Last Sunday Ricky and Donna's aunt and uncle, the Delmar Jordons of Waukegan, came for dinner to help both children celebrate their birthdays.

Billy Sommerfield, son of the William Sommerfields, 1223 N. Race, was 5 on Jan. 16. Joining him for a birthday party were Kim Merckx, Peter Jessen, Laurie and Danny Bartel, and Billy's sister, Lisa. Also present was Billy's grandmother, Mrs. Anne Dahland of Chicago.

A TRIPLE BIRTHDAY celebration was held at the Bill Balow residence, 1424 N. Illinois, last Sunday. Celebrating birthdays were Stephen Balow, son of the Bill Balows, and Stephen's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Lecki of Evanston.

Stephen will be 11 on Jan. 27, his grandfather's birthday was Dec. 25, and his grandmother will celebrate her date on Jan. 26.

Also attending the party were Stephen's aunt, uncle and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Leckie and sons, Bruce and Brian, of the Terrace.

Visiting Ted and Edith Larson, 1202 N. Race, over the holidays, was Edith's sister, Mrs. Phyllis Davis of Albuquerque, N. M. Edith hadn't seen her sister for six years. Mrs. Davis spent Dec. 24 to Jan. 9 in Arlington Heights, also visiting other relatives and friends in the area.

A RECENT house guest of Mrs. Daisy Dodd, 1211 N. Race, was her son-in-law, Joe Harper of Alamo, Tenn. Joe spent Jan. 15-20 in Arlington Heights.

On Jan. 15, Tony Roberts, son of the Haldon Robertses, 1256 N. Chicago, was 8, and celebrated at a party Sunday. Joining Tony were Scott Wara, Donald Marquist, Tom Clinite, Billy Ross, Paul Baranosky, Jimmy Kilby, and Tony's brother, Ronnie.

Johnny Krewer, son of the Paul Krewers, 1256 N. Illinois, was honored several times last week. Johnny, who was 4 on Jan. 14, was feted at a party attended by members of his immediate family, then on Saturday, two of his friends, Jonathan Zare and Jimmy Good, and his sisters, Julie, Janine, and Jo Anne, wished him happy birthday again at a second celebration.

A third party was given for Johnny last Sunday. Guests were his grandmothers, Mrs. Erma Carlson of Skokie and Mrs. Evelyn Krewer of Glenview, an uncle, Arne Carlson of Skokie, his godparents, the Richard Kapolneks, and their four children of Stone Park. (A

Savings Assets Up 15 Per Cent in '64

Paul E. Collins, president of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association, reports savings assets reached $30,723,672 during 1964.

This represents an increase of 15 per cent or $3,825,946 during the year. Total assets for the association Dec. 31 stood at $34,886,358.

"Our determination to make Arlington Heights Federal Savings a safe and convenient place to save was certainly part of the reason we were successful in attracting 1,100 new savings account customers," Collins said. The association now serves 18,850 savers.

COLLINS ALSO said that during the year just ended more than 400 mortgage loans were made in Arlington Heights and surrounding areas for a total of $8,052,770.

Arlington Heights Federal paid $1,143,000 in earnings to savings customers in '64. This is a record high and represents the 23rd and 24th consecutive semi-annual earnings distribution. (A

VIRGINIA TERRACE

On Jan. 13 Dean and Virginia Arnold, 1410 N. Race, attended the National Housewares Banquet at the Palmer House. Red Buttons entertained the group and dancing followed the banquet.

Last Saturday Bill and Freya Jones and children, Mara and Matthew, 1227 N. Illinois, attended the wedding of Bill's sister, Judy Jones, and Gordon Ross at Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church, Chicago. Seven-year-old Mara was a member of her aunt's wedding party.

Jeffrey Scott, son of the James Balmers, 1216 N. Yale, was baptized on Jan. 17 in St. Thomas of Villanova Catholic Church in Palatine. Rev. Francis Waldron officiated at the 2 p.m. ceremony. Sponsors were cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Longrie of Milwaukee.

A party was hosted after the services by the Balmers for relatives and friends.

CANDY CARDINELL, daughter of the Bill Cardinells, 1711 W. Olive, was 11 on Jan. 5. On her birthday Candy enjoyed a family celebration attended by her grandparents, the Robert Cardinells of Chicago, her parents and brother, Bill. Candy's grandmother also celebrated her Jan. 6 birthday that night.

On Jan. 8 Candy hosted a bowling party for 14 of her friends.

Celebrating her fifth birthday on Jan. 9 was Beth Martin, daughter of the Jack Martins, 1337 N. Chicago. Party guests included Lisa and Marty Singer, Suzanne Von Ebers, Donna Kirstein, Dawn Olson, Jimmy and Jeannie Charleston, Tracy Calderwood, and Beth's sister and brother, Lori and Doug.

THREE BIRTHDAYS were celebrated in the Dale Kruse family recently. Sue Kruse was 6 on Jan. 7 and celebrated her birthday with a party on Jan. 9. Party-goers included Janine Krewer, Kim Merckx, Barbara Schmidt, Cindy Kilby, Jo Ann Ninneman, April Krug, Beth Doyle, and Linda Steiner.

A ballerina theme was carried out in the cake and party decorations.

Last Sunday a family party was given to mark Russell Kruse's third birthday of Jan. 19 and his father's Jan. 13.

Attending the celebration were Russell's grandparents, the Franklin Ullreys of Des Plaines, his aunt, uncle and cousins, the Richard Steiners of Mount Prospect; aunt and uncle, the Richard Renches of Arlington Heights; his aunt, Shirleen Ullrey of Des Plaines; and her friend, Jim Robbins, also of Des Plaines.

Robert and Sue Kruse and their mother were also present to help Russell and his father celebrate at their home at 1518 Clarendon.

The Terrace bids farewell to Roger and Judy Goodheart and their son, Kenny, who moved on Jan. 16 from 1408 N. Yale to 532 S. Belmont.

THREE TERRACE students attending Northern Illinois University arrived home this week to spend the between-semesters vacation with their families. Enjoying the rest of January in Arlington Heights are Jean Guderley, Ann Schmitt, and Ken Petrucci.

Ken Furner, 1401 N. Illinois, arrived home this week from Sault Ste. Marie, Canada, where he had spent two weeks on a business trip for McCormick and Company.

Both Ricky and Donna Kirstein, children of the Richard Kirsteins, 1310 Jo Lane, celebrated birthdays in the last week.

Ricky was 11 on Jan. 16 and was guest of honor last Friday at a dinner party attended by Stephen Balow, Scott Jacobsen, and Marty Singer. Later the boys attended the wrestling matches at the high school. Stephen Balow returned to stay over night at the Kirsteins.

DONNA KIRSTEIN was 9 on Jan. 17. She celebrated with an afternoon party on Jan. 16 with guests, Lori and Beth Martin, Linda Gustke, Debbie Bang, Cathy Cocker, and Leslie Stevens.

Last Sunday Ricky and Donna's aunt and uncle, the Delmar Jordons of Waukegan, came for dinner to help both children celebrate their birthdays.

Billy Sommerfield, son of the William Sommerfields, 1223 N. Race, was 5 on Jan. 16. Joining him for a birthday party were Kim Merckx, Peter Jessen, Laurie and Danny Bartel, and Billy's sister, Lisa. Also present was Billy's grandmother, Mrs. Anne Dahland of Chicago.

A TRIPLE BIRTHDAY celebration was held at the Bill Balow residence, 1424 N. Illinois, last Sunday. Celebrating birthdays were Stephen Balow, son of the Bill Balows, and Stephen's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Lecki of Evanston.

Stephen will be 11 on Jan. 27, his grandfather's birthday was Dec. 25, and his grandmother will celebrate her date on Jan. 26.

Also attending the party were Stephen's aunt, uncle and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Leckie and sons, Bruce and Brian, of the Terrace.

Visiting Ted and Edith Larson, 1202 N. Race, over the holidays, was Edith's sister, Mrs. Phyllis Davis of Albuquerque, N. M. Edith hadn't seen her sister for six years. Mrs. Davis spent Dec. 24 to Jan. 9 in Arlington Heights, also visiting other relatives and friends in the area.

A RECENT house guest of Mrs. Daisy Dodd, 1211 N. Race, was her son-in-law, Joe Harper of Alamo, Tenn. Joe spent Jan. 15-20 in Arlington Heights.

On Jan. 15, Tony Roberts, son of the Haldon Robertses, 1256 N. Chicago, was 8, and celebrated at a party Sunday. Joining Tony were Scott Wara, Donald Marquist, Tom Clinite, Billy Ross, Paul Baranosky, Jimmy Kilby, and Tony's brother, Ronnie.

Johnny Krewer, son of the Paul Krewers, 1256 N. Illinois, was honored several times last week. Johnny, who was 4 on Jan. 14, was feted at a party attended by members of his immediate family, then on Saturday, two of his friends, Jonathan Zare and Jimmy Good, and his sisters, Julie, Janine, and Jo Anne, wished him happy birthday again at a second celebration.

A third party was given for Johnny last Sunday. Guests were his grandmothers, Mrs. Erma Carlson of Skokie and Mrs. Evelyn Krewer of Glenview, an uncle, Arne Carlson of Skokie, his godparents, the Richard Kapolneks, and their four children of Stone Park. (A

Double Bathroom Facilities

Here's an easy way to double your pleasure without even having to chew gum. Smart homeowners have found a way to greatly increase home bathroom facilities in less than half the space required for a regular bath.

It's done with a powder room — and all it takes is 14 square feet of space. That's about the size of the average hall closet in an older home. Essentially a bathroom minus a tub, a powder room increases the value of any home — especially to the occupants. The cost is incidental compared to the multiplied convenience for the entire family.

FOR FOLKS thinking of converting a closet or unused area into a practical powder room, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau offers these helpful suggestions:

1. If possible, plan for a minimum area of two and one half feet wide, by five and one half feet long. Place the toilet on one short wall, the lavatory on the other.
2. To save space, consider using a sliding door.
3. In a confined area like a powder room, surfaces are likely to get splashed. Be sure to protect floors and walls with decorative waterproof coverings.
4. Plan to provide an electric ventilator for any windowless powder room. It has been found that mechanical ventilation is often more dependable than natural, so it's no "second best" measure.
5. The best place for storage is under the lavatory. Today's popular vanity or countertop lavatories are perfect for this, since they already come with shelves and cabinets built right in.

Alexian Auxiliary Will Elect

Thursday, Jan. 21, is the date of the annual election of officers of the Alexian Brothers Hospital Auxiliary.

The election is set for 8:15 p.m. in Itasca Village Hall; all members are asked to attend as no absentee voting will be allowed.

Climaxing a January membership drive, a festive tea for new and prospective members of the auxiliary is planned this Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Maitre d' Restaurant, Elk Grove Village.

ASSISTING the chairman, Mrs. Richard Dowdle, are Mrs. Charles Schultz and past president, Mrs. Richard McGrenera. Mrs .Dowdle may be contacted for additional details at 437-0449, or any of the following membership chairmen: Joan Cruz, Palatine, 358-6036; Emily Wlodkowski, Wood Dale and Itasca, 773-0459; or Elizabeth Leider, 766-1619, Bensenville.

GIVING MONEY does not end responsibility for church women, Mrs. Porter Heaps of the Department of Christian Ministries of the Chicago Diocese tells St. Philip's Episcopal Church members in Palatine, explaining the "mutual responsibility and interdependence" necessary. Mission work has to involve love and should be a cooperative venture with response from those who receive aid, she explains. Discussion at this meeting Monday shows a broadening concept in women's response to the missionary field. (Staff photo)

Training Programs Needed

Hospitals Short of Personnel

A Chicago hospital administrator has warned that critical shortages of all types of trained hospital personnel, already in existence, will become even more acute in the coming 25 years.

Speaking to a graduating class of hospital ward clerks at the Marion Business College, 153 N. Michigan Avenue, Carl Heinze, assistant administrator of University of Illinois hospitals, emphasized the need for more developmental programs to train all types of hospital personnel.

Such a pilot program is under way at Marion Business College, in conjunction with the Illinois Employment Service, and under auspices of the Manpower Training and Development Act.

"THERE IS NO question but what more programs such as this are needed," said Heinze, "but even with them we cannot hope to totally cope with the problem."

Referring to the fact that today, 1,700,000 hospital workers handle more than 27,000,000 Americans, Heinze predicted that hospital ward clerks and others may some day be asked to perform many of the duties now assigned to other persons.

"Studies show," he said, "that nurses are expected to handle many responsibilities which do not require nursing skills, per se.

"This means that more people will have to be better trained and be more adaptable."

"HEALTH care," he added, "is and will continue to be one of the major issues in this country, particularly because our current population (approximately 195,000,000) is expected to swell to 325,000,000 before the end of this century."

"The problem is that there are just not enough qualified candidates. Too many people, though willing, are simply unemployable or 'underemployed' because their skills are inadequate to meet the rapidly increasingly and quick changing demands imposed on hospital personnel," Heinze said.

"Because of this," he warned, "there is no room in any type of hospital work for those unwilling to take a 'team' approach.

"To work with the sick, a person must think of more than himself. The total attitude must be one of giving—not getting—and a total spirit of complete dedication has to exist."

HEINZE also urged the graduates to continue with the learning process.

"Don't stop your training just because you have a diploma," he said. "The motivations and opportunities are there if you will only make use of them."

"Those of us in the hospital field cannot help but urge you on and wish you luck," he concluded, "because our total success depends directly on yours."

According to Celious Henderson, director of the College, all of the graduates have already been hired by hospitals throughout the Chicagoland metropolitan area.

Don't Mix Bleach, Cleaning Agents

Mount Prospect Fire Chief Edwin Haberkamp has passed along the following warnings about use of household cleaning agents which should be heeded by all homemakers.

The information is a reprint of an article from the "Targets for Safety" bulletin published by the Greater New York Safety Council, Inc.

Recently a peculiar type of accident struck two housewives undertaking a household chore in separate locations but under similar circumstances. Both were using an ordinary toilet bowl cleaner. Dissatisfied with the way stains were being removed, each decided to add a household bleach and stirred the mixture with a brush. As a result, one died quickly, the other spent a long, long time in the hospital.

Another example — according to a government medical newsletter, 20 people were overcome a short time ago by toxic gases released from a do-it-yourself cleaner, a witches brew of cleaner, chlorine bleach and ammonia.

WHAT OCCURRED in each of these cases was the generation of a poisonous gas when the users decided to combine two or more cleaning agents commonly found in almost every household. The addition of the familiar chlorine bleach (a sodium hyochlorite solution) to an acid or acid-producing substance, such as a toilet bowl cleanser or just plain vinegar, will suddenly release a quantity of toxic chlorine gas.

Similarly, when it is mixed with other alkaline matter — ammonia or lye — the chemical action liberates a highly irritating gas. If inhaled, these fumes can cause serious injury and possibly death.

Don't make the mistake of thinking because certain household products are good and useful a combination will do a better job. On the contrary this may be not only a waste of time and effort by producing poorer results through neutralizing or diluting one another, but may prove disastrous.

Stick to the safe rule: read the label carefully and follow the manufacturer's direction exactly. Keep in mind that modern scouring powders often contain chlorine bleach.

ECONOMICALLY, it's unsound to use hypochlorite (chlorine) bleach in toilet bowls, sinks and bathtubs or on electrical appliances. This will, in time, dull and roughen the fine smooth porcelain surface which is attractive as well as utilitarian.

Don't mix bleaching agents and toilet bowl cleansers and ammonia and lye and rust remover and vinegar and oven cleaner.

In short — never mix bleaching agents with any other cleaning components.

La Leche Will Meet

Monday, Jan. 25 will begin a new series of meetings for the Roselle group of La Leche League International. The first meeting deals with the advantages of breastfeeding to mother and baby.

Anyone interested is welcome. Mrs. Roy Richard, 624 Spring St., Roselle, is hostess for the group, which plans to meet at 8:45 p.m.

For further information please phone Mrs. Richard at LA 9-5187.

Low Calorie Nibbles For 'Social Eaters'

"Social eating" is a pitfall many weight-watchers encounter, says Tyne Elizabeth Brown, home economics extension agent at Rutgers University.

Entertainment usually involves calories, especially in hors d' ouevres and desserts; or nibbling might be a problem.

But there are many individual food items which are high in nutritive value not concentrated in calories, and these foods are found primarily in the vegetable group.

They include asparagus, beans (green or waxed) beet greens, broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower, celery, chard, chicory, cucumber, eggplant, endive, escarole, kale, lettuce, mushrooms, mustard greens, okra, parsley, peppers, pimento, radish, sauerkraut, spinach, squash, tomato, turnip greens, watercress, zucchini.

MANY CAN BE adapted to party use. Celery stalks stuffed with cottage cheese, radish roses, stuffed tomatoes with dill, and skewered mushrooms, green pepper, radish and celery are but a few low-calorie nibblers.

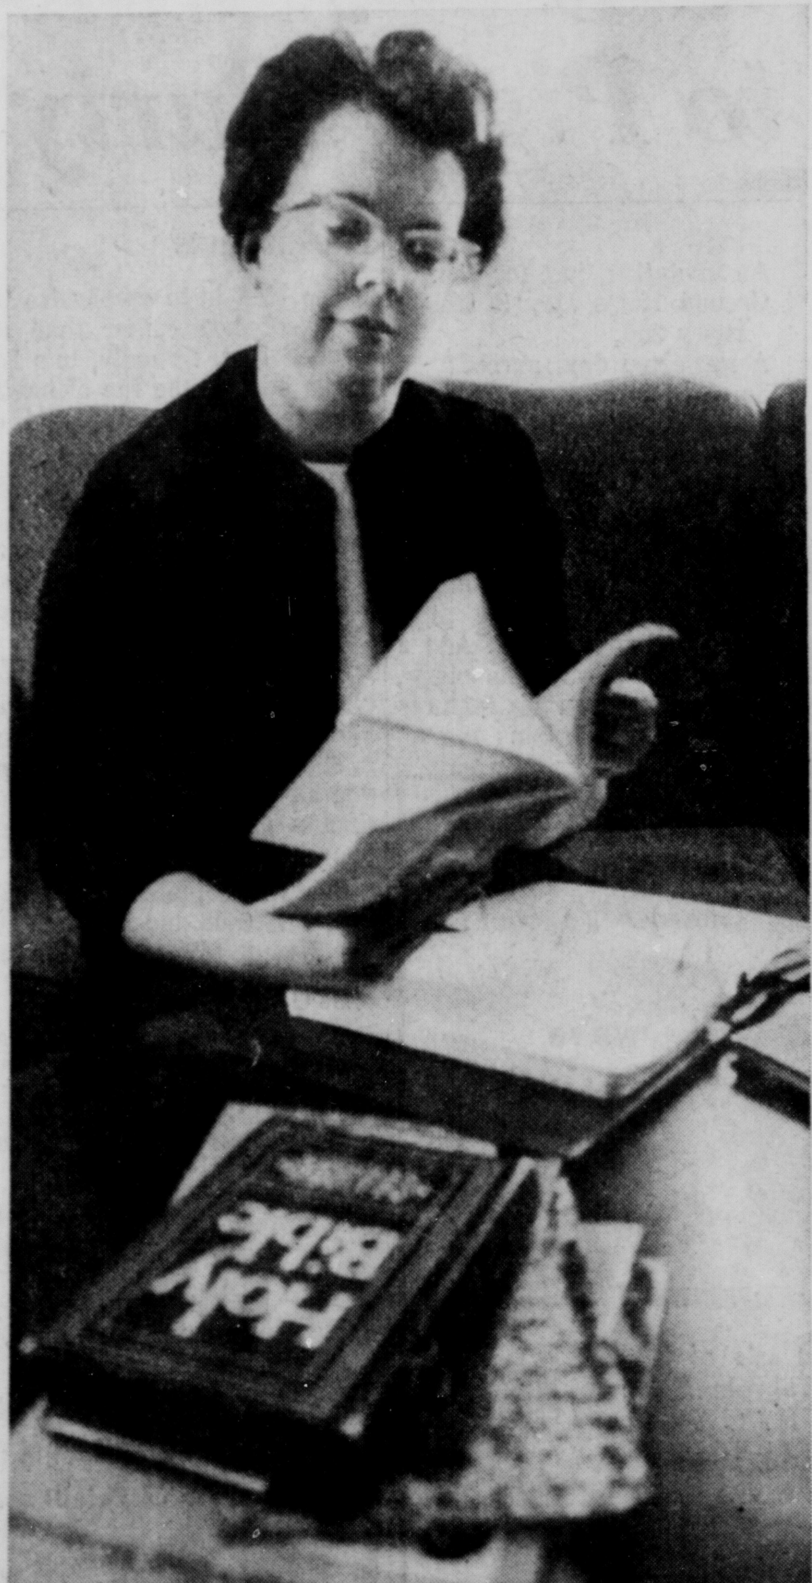
Appetizers add zest to any meal and can be filling without being fattening. Prepare some of the suggested snacks and taste-test them before serving guests, advises Miss Brown.

Water Heaters Are Expanding

Bathing, showering, shaving, laundering, dishwashing, housecleaning — they all require hot water.

Because of the steadily growing demand for hot water in the home, sizes of water heaters currently being sold are much greater than those which were commonly installed a few years ago.

The Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau reports that today a 30-gallon capacity heater is regarded as minimum in size.



ADMINISTRATIVE DUTIES for the women's group of the First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights keep the president, Mrs. Oliver Burrows Jr., 625 S. Evergreen St., Arlington Heights, busy. But as one of the new breed of women active in church groups, Mrs. Burrows also has served in the community with activities ranging from membership on citizen "fact finding" committees for Arlington High School District 214 to Republican politics to being a Cub Scout den mother. She has been an officer in the League of Women Voters and an area co-chairman for a cancer fund drive. (Staff photo)

Direct Activities To Today's World

by JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

The church "ladies aid society" is on the way to becoming as obsolete as the quilting bee of old.

The traditional homebody is emerging from her kitchen.

The change is slow. As one woman said, "It's taken me 10 years to get out of the kitchen as far as my minister and church are concerned." But changes are coming as the church evaluates itself in the light of today's world.

The Germanic idea that women's place is with kirche, kuche, and kinder—church, kitchen, and children — is no longer adequate.

Research by the Church Federation of Greater Chicago showed women might be more active in church organizations but more men held leadership positions.

BUT A WOMAN is serving on the finance committee-considered a male bailiwick of a Protestant Arlington Heights church; women for the first time are playing a small role in the ceremony of the Mass in an Elk Grove Village Catholic church; and a woman recently was appointed by the consistory of a Bensenville Protestant church to fill a vacancy on its church governing board.

One church women's group president who asked not to be named believes "the kitchen is the iron curtain and some women do not want to stretch to evaluate new ideas and take new responsibilities." They believe it is holy and righteous to serve the church in the traditional limited ways.

Peggy Way of the Chicago City Missionary Society mentions this problem in an article in "Renewal" magazine evaluating women and the church. Many women's groups can easily be caricatured, she said but "most women in the church are not only sincerely motivated but are doing precisely that which church leadership over the past 50 years has encouraged and provided opportunities for them to do."

She believes "the real question is whether church women are helped to go out into secular society, strengthened by those understandings of feminine and Christian identity, sexuality, commitment, and personhood which are part of the church's heritage—and whether they can carry the ministry of the church beyond itself into the world where it rightfully belongs."

WOMEN ALSO must question the purposes of various home and foreign mission programs, Miss Way said.

Pastor Ed Goltz of Peace United Church of Christ in Bensenville said his denomination is calling for rethinking on the role of church women. This rethinking only now is beginning to filter to the local church level.

As part of this trend, he said, he has tried to take a women's group more seriously. "A number of women and men are interested in a deeper level of life and commitment," he noted.

"Women have been relegated to a lesser role and their potential has not been used," Pastor Goltz admitted. "The church is beginning to take them more seriously — as they are being taken in the world generally."

THIS IS part of a change in outlook by church leadership that suggests the church has become ingrown and self centered and must change to be of service and a growing force in the community and world.

A few women seeking deeper commitment have gone to help with the Oakbrook Shopping Center mission; some have made a religious survey in the community; and others have worked with the Chicago Missionary Society.

In making the changes, many ministers are openly reluctant to criticize the work of their church women. As one put it, "I try to criticize privately, praise publicly." They explain they must convince their women they are not writing off their years of service in encouraging a new outlook on their activities.

Not all ministers see the changes that might bring women more power as a trend to welcome. Some admit they fear their church becoming a matriarchy.

As a minister of a newly formed congregation he does not have this problem, but the Rev. Robert Long of the Elk Grove United Presbyterian Church agrees that one of the fears in a Protestant church is that the women will become so dominant that men will equate membership and work in the church as unmasculine. Men write church off as for old ladies and children and not in tune with the hurly burly of the world as it is.

"Christianity is thought as irrelevant to life as it is," a false belief, Rev. Long said.

PRESBYTERIAN women are seeking the relevancy of Christianity to the world, according to Rev. Long. He pointed to their study of youth in a troubled world when they explored juvenile delinquency. Presbyterian women have studied the problems of Spanish-speaking people in the culture and some women are actively working with groups helping migrant workers.

Some churches are eliminating the role of women in their church as the perennial fundraisers, holding bazaars and bake sales. Vicar Samuel Keyes of St. Simon's Episcopal Church in Arlington Heights said he does not care if his female parishioners ever raise money.

"Church suppers and all that hokum don't mean much in the life of women," he commented.

Fr. Keyes said he encourages the women to get involved in the community. Women at St. Simon's have worked closely with a program for American Indians in Chicago. He cited their volunteer help at various hospitals and schools for the mentally retarded such as Little City in Palatine Township.

WOMAN-power has not been touched, Fr. Keyes said.

Many women because fo their Judeo - Christian commitment turn to activities in the community to further some of these beliefs. Sally Pazzol of Elk Grove Village, a member of Beth Tikvah Synogogue in Hoffman Estates, for example, was one of the initiators of an Elk Grove Human Relations Committee.

She believes every person in the community owes a kind of allegiance to his or her church and to the community. "How active you are often depends on your children's ages and how outgoing you are," she said.

One of the committees of the Beth Tikvah Sisterhood is a social action committee, explained Rabbi Hillel Gamoran. This committee is interested in things of an action nature such as founding of human relations groups or working toward brotherhood.

He encourages the women to be active in organizations in their community. The women do not get into the Inner City to do volunteer work and learn about social welfare needs, but neither do the men, Rabbi Gamoran said. Suburbanites don't get into Chicago.

THIS IS ONE of the criticisms Miss Way has of women studying problems in the mission field when there are demanding ones near at hand.

The Rev. Robert Klepper of the Prospect Heights Community Church agrees that women as well as men could be more aware of social problems and react to them as a result of their theological commitment. He and his wife, for example, spent two weeks in Mississippi last summer building a church; none of his congregation followed suit.

The Prospect Heights Community Church is unique in that it has an associate minister who is a woman, the Rev. Olga Kleeper. She preaches one Sunday a quarter.

IN ADDITION to seeking more meaningful activities, women are seeking leadership roles in the church. Many churches have no written rule barring women from their governing councils, but the "unwritten tradition" prohibits them.

Denominations such as the Methodist Church have reevaluated women's roles in the church structure. One example of a resultant change is that the duplicate general board and a woman's board overseeing missionary work are abolished and one board will be set up.

Rethinking of the role of the women in their church may call for more qualified women, an added responsibility.

Referring to the fact that today, 1,700,000 hospital workers handle more than 27,000,000 Americans, Heinze predicted that hospital ward clerks and others may some day be asked to perform many of the duties now assigned to other persons.

"Studies show," he said, "that nurses are expected to handle many responsibilities which do not require nursing skills, per se.

"This means that more people will have to be better trained and be more adaptable."

"HEALTH care," he added, "is and will continue to be one of the major issues in this country, particularly because our current population (approximately 195,000,000) is expected to swell to 325,000,000 before the end of this century."

"The problem is that there are just not enough qualified candidates. Too many people, though willing, are simply unemployable or 'underemployed' because their skills are inadequate to meet the rapidly increasingly and quick changing demands imposed on hospital personnel," Heinze said.

"Because of this," he warned, "there is no room in any type of hospital work for those unwilling to take a 'team' approach.

"To work with the sick, a person must think of more than himself. The total attitude must be one of giving—not getting—and a total spirit of complete dedication has to exist."

HEINZE also urged the graduates to continue with the learning process.

"Don't stop your training just because you have a diploma," he said. "The motivations and opportunities are there if you will only make use of them."

"Those of us in the hospital field cannot help but urge you on and wish you luck," he concluded, "because our total success depends directly on yours."

According to Celious Henderson, director of the College, all of the graduates have already been hired by hospitals throughout the Chicagoland metropolitan area.

Don't Mix Bleach, Cleaning Agents

Mount Prospect Fire Chief Edwin Haberkamp has passed along the following warnings about use of household cleaning agents which should be heeded by all homemakers.

The information is a reprint of an article from the "Targets for Safety" bulletin published by the Greater New York Safety Council, Inc.

Recently a peculiar type of accident struck two housewives undertaking a household chore in separate locations but under similar circumstances. Both were using an ordinary toilet bowl cleaner. Dissatisfied with the way stains were being removed, each decided to add a household bleach and stirred the mixture with a brush. As a result, one died quickly, the other spent a long, long time in the hospital.

Another example — according to a government medical newsletter, 20 people were overcome a short time ago by toxic gases released from a do-it-yourself cleaner, a witches brew of cleaner, chlorine bleach and ammonia.

WHAT OCCURRED in each of these cases was the generation of a poisonous gas when the users decided to combine two or more cleaning agents commonly found in almost every household. The addition of the familiar chlorine bleach (a sodium hyochlorite solution) to an acid or acid-producing substance, such as a toilet bowl cleanser or just plain vinegar, will suddenly release a quantity of toxic chlorine gas.

Similarly, when it is mixed with other alkaline matter — ammonia or lye — the chemical action liberates a highly irritating gas. If inhaled, these fumes can cause serious injury and possibly death.

Don't make the mistake of thinking because certain household products are good and useful a combination will do a better job. On the contrary this may be not only a waste of time and effort by producing poorer results through neutralizing or diluting one another, but may prove disastrous.

Stick to the safe rule: read the label carefully and follow the manufacturer's direction exactly. Keep in mind that modern scouring powders often contain chlorine bleach.

ECONOMICALLY, it's unsound to use hypochlorite (chlorine) bleach in toilet bowls, sinks and bathtubs or on electrical appliances. This will, in time, dull and roughen the fine smooth porcelain surface which is attractive as well as utilitarian.

Don't mix bleaching agents and toilet bowl cleansers and ammonia and lye and rust remover and vinegar and oven cleaner.

In short — never mix bleaching agents with any other cleaning components.

La Leche Will Meet

Monday, Jan. 25 will begin a new series of meetings for the Roselle group of La Leche League International. The first meeting deals with the advantages of breastfeeding to mother and baby.

Anyone interested is welcome. Mrs. Roy Richard, 624 Spring St., Roselle, is hostess for the group, which plans to meet at 8:45 p.m.

For further information please phone Mrs. Richard at LA 9-5187.

ADMINISTRATIVE DUTIES for the women's group of the First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights keep the president, Mrs. Oliver Burrows Jr., 625 S. Evergreen St., Arlington Heights, busy. But as one of the new breed of women active in church groups, Mrs. Burrows also has served in the community with activities ranging from membership on citizen "fact finding" committees for Arlington High School District 214 to Republican politics to being a Cub Scout den mother. She has been an officer in the League of Women Voters and an area co-chairman for a cancer fund drive. (Staff photo)

Direct Activities To Today's World

by JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

The church "ladies aid society" is on the way to becoming as obsolete as the quilting bee of old.

The traditional homebody is emerging from her kitchen.

The change is slow. As one woman said, "It's taken me 10 years to get out of the kitchen as far as my minister and church are concerned." But changes are coming as the church evaluates itself in the light of today's world.

The Germanic idea that women's place is with kirche, kuche, and kinder—church, kitchen, and children — is no longer adequate.

Research by the Church Federation of Greater Chicago showed women might be more active in church organizations but more men held leadership positions.

BUT A WOMAN is serving on the finance committee-considered a male bailiwick of a Protestant Arlington Heights church; women for the first time are playing a small role in the ceremony of the Mass in an Elk Grove Village Catholic church; and a woman recently was appointed by the consistory of a Bensenville Protestant church to fill a vacancy on its church governing board.

One church women's group president who asked not to be named believes "the kitchen is the iron curtain and some women do not want to stretch to evaluate new ideas and take new responsibilities." They believe it is holy and righteous to serve the church in the traditional limited ways.

Peggy Way of the Chicago City Missionary Society mentions this problem in an article in "Renewal" magazine evaluating women and the church. Many women's groups can easily be caricatured, she said but "most women in the church are not only sincerely motivated but are doing precisely that which church leadership over the past 50 years has encouraged and provided opportunities for them to do."

She believes "the real question is whether church women are helped to go out into secular society, strengthened by those understandings of feminine and Christian identity, sexuality, commitment, and personhood which are part of the church's heritage—and whether they can carry the ministry of the church beyond itself into the world where it rightfully belongs."

WOMEN ALSO must question the purposes of various home and foreign mission programs, Miss Way said.

Pastor Ed Goltz of Peace United Church of Christ in Bensenville said his denomination is calling for rethinking on the role of church women. This rethinking only now is beginning to filter to the local church level.

As part of this trend, he said, he has tried to take a women's group more seriously. "A number of women and men are interested in a deeper level of life and commitment," he noted.

"Women have been relegated to a lesser role and their potential has not been used," Pastor Goltz admitted. "The church is beginning to take them more seriously — as they are being taken in the world generally."

THIS IS part of a change in outlook by church leadership that suggests the church has become ingrown and self centered and must change to be of service and a growing force in the community and world.

A few women seeking deeper commitment have gone to help with the Oakbrook Shopping Center mission; some have made a religious survey in the community; and others have worked with the Chicago Missionary Society.

In making the changes, many ministers are openly reluctant to criticize the work of their church women. As one put it, "I try to criticize privately, praise publicly." They explain they must convince their women they are not writing off their years of service in encouraging a new outlook on their activities.

Not all ministers see the changes that might bring women more power as a trend to welcome. Some admit they fear their church becoming a matriarchy.

As a minister of a newly formed congregation he does not have this problem, but the Rev. Robert Long of the Elk Grove United Presbyterian Church agrees that one of the fears in a Protestant church is that the women will become so dominant that men will equate membership and work in the church as unmasculine. Men write church off as for old ladies and children and not in tune with the hurly burly of the world as it is.

"Christianity is thought as irrelevant to life as it is," a false belief, Rev. Long said.

PRESBYTERIAN women are seeking the relevancy of Christianity to the world, according to Rev. Long. He pointed to their study of youth in a troubled world when they explored juvenile delinquency. Presbyterian women have studied the problems of Spanish-speaking people in the culture and some women are actively working with groups helping migrant workers.

Some churches are eliminating the role of women in their church as the perennial fund-raisers, holding bazaars and bake sales. Vicar Samuel Keyes of St. Simon's Episcopal Church in Arlington Heights said he does not care if his female parishioners ever raise money.

"Church suppers and all that hokum don't mean much in the life of women," he commented.

Fr. Keyes said he encourages the women to get involved in the community. Women at St. Simon's have worked closely with a program for American Indians in Chicago. He cited their volunteer help at various hospitals and schools for the mentally retarded such as Little City in Palatine Township.

WOMAN-power has not been touched, Fr. Keyes said.

Many women because fo their Judeo - Christian commitment turn to activities in the community to further some of these beliefs. Sally Pazzol of Elk Grove Village, a member of Beth Tikvah Synogogue in Hoffman Estates, for example, was one of the initiators of an Elk Grove Human Relations Committee.

She beleves every person in the community owes a kind of allegiance to his or her church and to the community. "How active you are often depends on your children's ages and how outgoing you are," she said.

One of the committees of the Beth Tikvah Sisterhood is a social action committee, explained Rabbi Hillel Gamoran. This committee is interested in things of an action nature such as founding of human relations groups or working toward brotherhood.

He encourages the women to be active in organizations in their community. The women do not get into the Inner City to do volunteer work and learn about social welfare needs, but neither do the men, Rabbi Gamoran said. Suburbanites don't get into Chicago.

THIS IS ONE of the criticisms Miss Way has of women studying problems in the mission field when there are demanding ones near at hand.

The Rev. Robert Klepper of the Prospect Heights Community Church agrees that women as well as men could be more aware of social problems and react to them as a result of their theological commitment. He and his wife, for example, spent two weeks in Mississippi last summer building a church; none of his congregation followed suit.

The Prospect Heights Community Church is unique in that it has an associate minister who is a woman, the Rev. Olga Kleeper. She preaches one Sunday a quarter.

IN ADDITION to seeking more meaningful activities, women are seeking leadership roles in the church. Many churches have no written rule barring women from their governing councils, but the "unwritten tradition" prohibits them.

Denominations such as the Methodist Church have reevaluated women's roles in the church structure. One example of a resultant change is that the duplicate general board and a woman's board overseeing missionary work are abolished and one board will be set up.

Rethinking of the role of the women in their church may call for more qualified women, an added responsibility.

Canary Makes Good House Pet for Suburban Family

By BETTY AINSLIE

Look for a flat top crew cut arrangement of head feathers if you want a good canary bird. At least breeders feel a slanted, cropped looking head is important in selecting a good bird.

Parakeets, for a spell, were kings of the bird world and the wanted pets of bird buyers. Their variegated colors, saucy ways and tameability appealed to the person seeking a stay-in-one-place type of pet.

Betty Ainslie

"Canaries are back making a close run for first place again," said a pet shop owner. "Parakeets are cheaper but many people now feel they enjoy singing rather than so much chattering."

THERE'S A new look in canaries. Colors are lovely—deep reds and brilliant orange, pale salmon and almost pink—these new hues are taking the place of the standard yellow canary. So bright and gay they look like they've just had a Lady Clairol color bath— the drab and dull plumage has disappeared.

"People aren't buying birds for song any more," the agreeable shop owner continued. "We sell them by color now, about five of the red tones to one of the yellow. The yellow fellow isn't as popular as his red brother."

I remember my first childhood allowance was earned by cleaning the cages of the three canary members of the family. Mother raised birds at one time and our finished attic bristled with big breeding cages hung with wire nests, and the noise of the caged tenants was terrific. Seems though there was always marital troubles among the newlyweds and many a father bird deserted his wife and children and wouldn't feed the mother as she sat cozily on the eggs.

BUT THERE was one dark fathered canary mother would then press into service. So while the real father pruned, sang and ate—the brown canary saw to it that the mamma was fed until the marital crisis passed. This bird was the Dutch uncle to many of the birds born that season, and as he also had a trilling, lively song he was generally selected to teach the youngsters to sing.

I believe Mother went out of the bird raising business when most of the baby birds proved to be female—big eaters and no singers as the male is the Caruso of the family.

We called this bird Brigham Young appropriate as he had so many wives.

NOW BACK in those days, birds were bought for their song and a Roller canary was preferred over a Chopper. A Roller had a high, sustained, slurred note while the Chopper seemed to bite off the high notes.

A canary in those days would not be seen in any other than yellow or yellow and black and brown feathers. But just a few years back these singers suddenly appeared with orange or red feathers. Now many of these had been fed a coloring food—so imagine the new owners surprise when he discovered after a few months ownership that his new red canary was actually a yellow variety and going back to yellow when he wasn't fed the color food.

Now though, the canaries are mated for special color and the hues are permanent.

"ALTHOUGH a few drops of color food are mixed with the seed during molting season in the summer months. The colored canaries will lose a lot of their bright feathers and the new ones will be milder in color unless he is fed the color food," declared the pet shop owner as he handed me my new bird. "They'll just sorta tone down, but color food will perk up the original red and orange tones."

Take plenty of time if you're selecting a bird pet. The shop owner won't hurry you and you can look over all the birds. Watch particularly for one with bright eyes and listen to see if he will sing. Most birds are guaranteed to sing after a special length of time, but pick one that looks alert and livey.

Canaries are a bit more expensive then Parakeets and breeders often pay up into the three figures for a special color or kind.

THERE ARE some 27 distinct breeds named for localities. The Norwich has bright plumage and inferior song while the Manchester canary can grow to eight inches in length which is a big bird for one who was an original member of the finch family.

The Hartz Mountain canaries are famous for their radio appearance and are still considered the best singers. In those mountains of Germany the birds are raised in nearly every cottage as a thriving industry.

So if you're considering a pet, remember a canary. He is lively company for that person who lives alone, requires little care but would also love the attention of a famliy. They also add fresh color to a dull room and pleasant music to a too quiet home. Those little fellows are always so happy they're bound to start your own day off with a song.

No Sitter Shortage Expected For AAUW's Bridge Luncheon

BIDDING FAREWELL to her 2-year-old daughter, Courtney, and babysitter, Anne Berne, Mrs. Paul Davis of Palatine illustrates the most important feature about the upcoming AAUW bridge luncheon. It will take place Monday, Jan. 25, when there is no school and teenage sitters should be available. Tickets for the luncheon, to begin at 12:15 p. m. in Long Grove Country Club, may be purchased from Mrs. Davis, chairman. (Staff Photo)

The babysitter shortage shouldn't keep anyone from attending the American Association of University Women's benefit bridge luncheon Monday, Jan. 25, at Long Grove Country Club.

Arlington Heights AAUW branch deliberately chose for its bridge benefit day a day in which there will be no school. With all the high schools out, there should be plenty of teenagers available to sit, members reasoned.

Tickets for the bridge luncheon, given to benefit the AAUW fellowships fund, are still available. Members and non-members may purchase them by calling the chairman, Mrs. Paul Davis of Palatine, at 358-5643.

THE LUNCHEON menu, Mrs. Davis said, will include Chicken Eugenie, featuring boned chicken breast with a cheese sauce, and hot spiced peaches, princess salad, cinnamon ice cream, rolls and beverage. Table prizes will be candle and flower arrangements from the Sunshine Florists in Long Grove.

The AAUW fellowships fund, for which the bridge luncheon is being given, is used to underwrite advanced work by women scholars in science, social studies and the arts. Many American women doing pre-doctoral or post-doctoral work use the AAUW grants, while international fellowships make it possible for women from other countries to study here.

The bridge benefit is one of two projects planned by the Arlington Heights branch this year to raise funds for a fellowship grant bearing the name of the local group. Their initial goal of $500 was more than matched when the first project, a Used Book Fair Nov. 20-21 at Randhurst, netted $650.

Mrs. Charles Toot, Arlington Heights AAUW branch president, and five other members of the branch attended AAUW state division meetings Friday and Saturday, Jan. 15 and 16, in Chicago.

FOUR NEW study topics selected for American Association of University Women study and action during 1965-67 were announced, Mrs. Toot said. The new topics, selected from 3,000 issues suggested by branches across the United States, will be "The Law and the Citizen," "Revolution in Modern China," "Education: An Antidote to Poverty," and "Science: A Creative Discipline."

Four AAUW study groups will have meetings next week. "The Artist as a Social Critic" will be the topic at the art study group meeting Tuesday, Jan. 26, at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Merritt Paxton, 721 N. Kaspar, Arlington Heights. Modern English composers will be discussed by Mrs. T. A. Meyer at a music group meeting Wednesday, Jan. 27, at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Howard H. Rice, 143 Bernard Drive, Buffalo Grove.

Mrs. Francis Kahanic, 508 S. Rammer, Arlington Heights, will be hostess to the India study group Thursday, Jan. 28, at 8:15 p.m., while the bridge group will meet at 8 p.m. that same evening in the home of Miss Coretta Emmett, 105 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights.

A study group on AAUW goals and procedures will discuss "The Role of the Individual Member" at 8 p.m. tonight (Thursday, Jan. 21) in the home of Mrs. Jack Englick, 500 S. Dryden, Arlington Heights. (S

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

Ground Hog Day Gives Theme to Piggy Party

A friend of mine gave her Secret Pal a gift on Ground Hog's Day—pork sausage. I thought this was so clever that it seemed right and proper to have a party for that poor little feller who gets hollered at for the weather, Mr. Ground Hog.

INVITATIONS

Cut out a little pig from double fold pink or peach construction paper, hinging the back so that you may write the following inside:

This is a funny little pig,
A messenger, it's true.
He's come to oink a greeting—
An invitation, just for you.
Ground Hog's Day is February 2nd,
A neglected day, agreed?
So come on over, we'll have fun
On ground-hog we will feed.

State time, place and finish off the invitation by adding a pipe cleaner tail to the piggy. Curl it by twisting the pipecleaner around a pencil. Add a bright green bow to the piggy, and of course draw his features in marker or black ink.

DECORATIONS

The idea is to emphasize the piggy or hog rather than the Ground Hog. Actually, this is a party just for the fun of having a party, which, I might add, oft time takes courage.

Use a large piggy for the centerpiece and make duplicates of the invitation, finishing them off on both sides and letting them stand by each plate as placecards.

Set the table with a black cloth and if possible focus a spot light on the centerpiece to cast a shadow. If anyone questions you as to why the Piggy rather than a Ground Hog, tell them you couldn't dig one up.

Use white plates and bright green napkins and a center circle of white felt, edged in green.

MENU

These are the cutest sandwiches I've seen in a long time. Buy oblong hard rolls from the bakery. Cut them in half, scoop out and fill with—ground hog — ham salad, that is. Replace the top and place olive slice for the nose, cloves for the eyes and carrot curl for the tail. Cut bows of green pepper and place on neck.

Use carrot shaving for the ears, cutting them one inch long, thicker at the bottom so they may be fastened with toothpicks and let the top hang forward and down as ears.

Serve with relishes and potato chips and end the meal with cupcakes topped with tiny plastic pigs, available at the dime store.

ENTERTAINMENT

Plan on a card game using tallies, scorecards and match covers covered with the same piggy used on the placecards and invitations and sport one on top of each prize. Prizes may be piggy-shaped wooden cutting boards.

Don't worry about the weather for this party, just have a sunny time without a shadow of a doubt you can depend on a Ground Hog Party. You have to admit, it's DIFFERENT. (S

BIDDING FAREWELL to her 2-year-old daughter, Courtney, and babysitter, Anne Berne, Mrs. Paul Davis of Palatine illustrates the most important feature about the upcoming AAUW bridge luncheon. It will take place Monday, Jan. 25, when there is no school and teenage sitters should be available. Tickets for the luncheon, to begin at 12:15 p. m. in Long Grove Country Club, may be purchased from Mrs. Davis, chairman. (Staff Photo)

The babysitter shortage shouldn't keep anyone from attending the American Association of University Women's benefit bridge luncheon Monday, Jan. 25, at Long Grove Country Club.

Arlington Heights AAUW branch deliberately chose for its bridge benefit day a day in which there will be no school. With all the high schools out, there should be plenty of teenagers available to sit, members reasoned.

Tickets for the bridge luncheon, given to benefit the AAUW fellowships fund, are still available. Members and non-members may purchase them by calling the chairman, Mrs. Paul Davis of Palatine, at 358-5643.

THE LUNCHEON menu, Mrs. Davis said, will include Chicken Eugenie, featuring boned chicken breast with a cheese sauce, and hot spiced peaches, princess salad, cinnamon ice cream, rolls and beverage. Table prizes will be candle and flower arrangements from the Sunshine Florists in Long Grove.

The AAUW fellowships fund, for which the bridge luncheon is being given, is used to underwrite advanced work by women scholars in science, social studies and the arts. Many American women doing pre-doctoral or post-doctoral work use the AAUW grants, while international fellowships make it possible for women from other countries to study here.

The bridge benefit is one of two projects planned by the Arlington Heights branch this year to raise funds for a fellowship grant bearing the name of the local group. Their initial goal of $500 was more than matched when the first project, a Used Book Fair Nov. 20-21 at Randhurst, netted $650.

Mrs. Charles Toot, Arlington Heights AAUW branch president, and five other members of the branch attended AAUW state division meetings Friday and Saturday, Jan. 15 and 16, in Chicago.

FOUR NEW study topics selected for American Association of University Women study and action during 1965-67 were announced, Mrs. Toot said. The new topics, selected from 3,000 issues suggested by branches across the United States, will be "The Law and the Citizen," "Revolution in Modern China," "Education: An Antidote to Poverty," and "Science: A Creative Discipline."

Four AAUW study groups will have meetings next week. "The Artist as a Social Critic" will be the topic at the art study group meeting Tuesday, Jan. 26, at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Merritt Paxton, 721 N. Kaspar, Arlington Heights. Modern English composers will be discussed by Mrs. T. A. Meyer at a music group meeting Wednesday, Jan. 27, at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Howard H. Rice, 143 Bernard Drive, Buffalo Grove.

Mrs. Francis Kahanic, 508 S. Rammer, Arlington Heights, will be hostess to the India study group Thursday, Jan. 28, at 8:15 p.m., while the bridge group will meet at 8 p.m. that same evening in the home of Miss Coretta Emmett, 105 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights.

A study group on AAUW goals and procedures will discuss "The Role of the Individual Member" at 8 p.m. tonight (Thursday, Jan. 21) in the home of Mrs. Jack Englick, 500 S. Dryden, Arlington Heights. (S

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

Ground Hog Day Gives Theme to Piggy Party

A friend of mine gave her Secret Pal a gift on Ground Hog's Day—pork sausage. I thought this was so clever that it seemed right and proper to have a party for that poor little feller who gets hollered at for the weather, Mr. Ground Hog.

INVITATIONS

Cut out a little pig from double fold pink or peach construction paper, hinging the back so that you may write the following inside:

This is a funny little pig,
A messenger, it's true.
He's come to oink a greeting—
An invitation, just for you.
Ground Hog's Day is February 2nd,
A neglected day, agreed?
So come on over, we'll have fun
On ground-hog we will feed.

State time, place and finish off the invitation by adding a pipe cleaner tail to the piggy. Curl it by twisting the pipecleaner around a pencil. Add a bright green bow to the piggy, and of course draw his features in marker or black ink.

DECORATIONS

The idea is to emphasize the piggy or hog rather than the Ground Hog. Actually, this is a party just for the fun of having a party, which, I might add, oft time takes courage.

Use a large piggy for the centerpiece and make duplicates of the invitation, finishing them off on both sides and letting them stand by each plate as placecards.

Set the table with a black cloth and if possible focus a spot light on the centerpiece to cast a shadow. If anyone questions you as to why the Piggy rather than a Ground Hog, tell them you couldn't dig one up.

Use white plates and bright green napkins and a center circle of white felt, edged in green.

MENU

These are the cutest sandwiches I've seen in a long time. Buy oblong hard rolls from the bakery. Cut them in half, scoop out and fill with—ground hog —ham salad, that is. Replace the top and place olive slice for the nose, cloves for the eyes and carrot curl for the tail. Cut bows of green pepper and place on neck.

Use carrot shaving for the ears, cutting them one inch long, thicker at the bottom so they may be fastened with toothpicks and let the top hang forward and down as ears.

Serve with relishes and potato chips and end the meal with cupcakes topped with tiny plastic pigs, available at the dime store.

Plan on a card game using tallies, scorecards and match covers covered with the same piggy used on the placecards and invitations and sport one on top of each prize. Prizes may be piggy-shaped wooden cutting boards.

Don't worry about the weather for this party, just have a sunny time without a shadow of a doubt you can depend on a Ground Hog Party. You have to admit, it's DIFFERENT. (S

Roger Rumrey Takes Bride In Christmastime Service

In the midst of Christmastime decor and a striking color scheme of red and white, Miss Carolyn Sue Krug and Roger Rumrey exchanged wedding rings and vows on Dec. 26 in Salem Lutheran Church.

For the 2 p.m. ceremony the day after Christmas, the church was adorned with white flocked trees trimmed with red lights, and candelabra and poinsettias, which flanked the altar. Carrying out the holiday theme, white bells and satin bows served as markers for the pews.

Rev. Jacob Esslinger officiated the wedding, which was followed by a reception in the church hall, Here, the same color scheme prevailed; red and white accents were used for all decorations, including the bride and groom's table.

BEFORE THE bride's walk to the altar Mrs. George Brown sang "Because" and "O Perfect Love." She was accompanied at the organ by the bride's uncle, William Bauman.

Mr. Rumrey is the son of former Rolling Meadows residents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Rumrey, now of Argenta, Ill., and his bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Krug of Salem, Ill. The pair honeymooned in Florida and are now at home in Carbondale.

For her winter rites Miss Krug was attired in a white gown of delustered satin, designed with a scoop neckline and long, pointed sleeves. Appliques of chantilly lace framed the neckline and the controlled skirt, and panels of lace enhanced the Watteau back, which flowed into a court train. The shoulder-length veil was attached to a crown of pearl tear drop cyrstals, and white roses and stephanotis, placed on a white Bible, fashioned the bridal bouquet.

MISS MARILYN Krug, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Carol Appel of Salem took the role of bridesmaid. Both wore red taffeta gowns with matching pillbox hats and shoes, and carried white muffs and red poinsettias.

White roses made up the corsages of both mothers. Mrs. Krug was attired in a green and blue dress with green accessories, and a turquoise and gold dress with gold hat and turquoise shoes were chosen by the groom's mother.

Serving as best man was William Klouthis Jr. of Carbondale; groomsman was Al Andrews, Dubois, Ill.; and ushers, Dwight and Willis McCarter of Mount Prospect, cousins of the groom.

THE NEWLYWEDS are in their senior year at Southern Illinois University. The bride is majoring in primary education and the groom, a 1960 graduate of Arlington High School, in technology.

Kansas Girl Is Christmastime Bride of John Hunter Hicks

The A. Hunter Hicks family of 1826 W. Atkinson Road, Inverness, traveled to Kansas City, Mo. during the holidays for the Dec. 22 wedding of their son, John Hunter Hicks, and Wendy Thomas of Shawnee Mission, Kan. The marriage took place at 4:30 in the afternoon in Second Presbyterian Church, Kansas City, with Dr. William Hage officiating.

Later the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Thomas, hosted a buffet dinner and reception for 250 guests in Mission Hills Country Club, Million Hills, Kan.

A LARGE wedding party attended the couple, with the bride's sister, Pamela Thomas, as maid of honor and the groom's brother, Stephen Burdsall Hicks, as best man.

Also preceding the bride down the church aisle were four bridesmaids, Macia Hannon and Mrs. Jerrold McPherron of Kansas City, Mrs. Philip Sharp of Richmond, Va., and Mrs. G. S. Turner III of Oshkosh, Wis.

Ushering the guests were the bride's brother, Phillip Thomas; the groom's cousin, Thomas Hicks Jr. of Inverness; Lloyd Roberts Jr. of Minneapolis, formerly of Inverness; William Coates of Inverness; Richard Finnerty of Waban, Mass., and Guilford S. Turner of Oshkosh.

THE BRIDE'S attendants were all gowned alike in street-length dresses of emerald green corded silk with oval neckline, short sleeves and bell skirt. They wore matching headpieces and carried white feathered carnations with red holly berries and foliage.

The chancel steps were flanked with candelabras and large holly branches, and white stock and holly adorned the altar for the Christmastime rites. The aisle was also lined with pew candelabras holding white tapers.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride wore a light ivory silk peau de soie and alencon lace dress with empire bodice entirely of the lace. The bell-shaped skirt of peau was sprinkled with appliques of the lace and the back swept into a chapel train. The bride's full length mantilla veil of French illusion was also bordered with lace appliques.

She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, white Sweetheart roses and ivy.

HER MOTHER chose a deep turquoise velvet-on-satin brocade dress for the afternoon ceremony and had a corsage of white Duchess roses pinned to her turquoise satin clutch purse. Mrs. Hicks wore a beige brocade suit and carried a muted gold purse. Her corsage was of beige cymbidium orchids.

The groom will be graduated this month from Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H., and after a honeymoon at Half-Moon Hotel in Montego Bay, Jamaica, the newlyweds went to the college town for the temporary stay.

The bride attended Barstow School for Girls and received her degree from Sweet Briar College last year.

Mt. Prospect Juniors Donate $700 to Clearbrook School

A check for $700 was recently presented by the Mount Prospect Junior Woman's Club to Byrn Witt, executive director of the Clearbrook School for Retarded Children. The money is to be used to purchase new gym equipment for one of the new rooms of the school being built this spring on Campbell St. near Salt Creek in Rolling Meadows. The property was donaged by Kimball Hill.

Clearbrook School, now located in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights, has a daily attendance of 30 area children, ranging in age from 3 to 15 years of age. Three and four-year-olds are in a pre-school kindergarten class, and the children from 5 through 15 are in TMH classes. The new building will consist of six rooms, including a gym and a speech therapy lounge.

SUNDAY, JAN. 24, at 2 p.m. Mount Prospect Juniors will hold a tea for the 11 new members and two transfers who were iniatiated at their recent regular monthly meeting.

New members will be welcomed by President Mrs. Jack Bornhoeft, and greeted by representatives from the Seventh District and State Board. All committee chairmen, officers and department chairmen will be present to answer questions regarding the club's activities during the year as well as explain each individual's part in making the club successful.

Mt. Prospect Juniors are affiliated with the Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs and the General Federation of Women's Clubs. As a federated club we are able to extend our interests to a broader area than would be possible by an individual club," according to the club's vice president, Mrs. M. Levers.

The Juniors meet the second Wednesday of the month at 8:15 p.m. in the Mount Prospect Community Center. Women interested in joining may call Mrs. R. Peterson, CL 9-3174 for more information.

Juniors to Hold Winter Meeting Tonight, Jan. 21

Mrs. George Young, junior director of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, will address the winter meeting of the Seventh District Juniors Thursday, Jan. 21, at the Bank of Rolling Meadows, 3350 Kirchoff Road, Rolling Meadows. Mrs. Harold A. Thompson, Seventh District Junior Director, will preside at the meeting scheduled for 8:15 p.m. The Junior Woman's Clubs of Rolling Meadows, Wheeling and Atise will serve as co-hostesses.

In addition to Mrs. Young's address, a humorous slide talk, wistfully entitled "Something Old, Something New" will be presented by Joe and Els McCloy. Mr. and Mrs. McCloy have traveled widely throughout the country and the world and have presented numerous programs on varied themes in the northwest suburban area.

Representatives of the eight junior clubs in the area, Arlington Heights, Atise, Des Plaines, Elk Grove Village, Mount Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Schaumburg and Wheeling will then have a sneak preview of the newest in spring bonnets created by The Flair Shop, Des Plaines. Modeled by members of the ways and means committee, under the direction of Mrs. Ben Kalaway, Elk Grove Village, chairman, the hats are but the briefest introduction to the hundreds to be shown and purchased at the February Flair, the District Juniors' sole fund-raising project.

BPW Hears Panel Of Key Officials

Problems, as well as the potential of the northwest suburban communities, presented an interesting format for the Mount Prospect Business and Professional Women's Club on Jan. 14.

BPW ladies met that evening at Old Orchard Country Club to hear an all-male panel of top municipal leaders arranged by the club's civic participation committee, under the direction of Mrs. C. O. Schlaver.

Moderating the discussion which included such topics as population, industry, expansion, annexation and taxes, was C. O. Schlaver, village president of Mount Prospect.

OTHER OFFICIALS on the panel were A.R. McIntyre of Wheeling and John S. Wood, Arlington Heights, village presidents of their respective towns; and the mayor of Rolling Meadows, J. J. Woods.

One of the questions posed before the panel by a BPW member concerned women's places in government.

The panel agreed there is room for women in city government, not only coping with the problems of welfare in the community, but sharing the obligations of their spouses engaged in work on the local government levels.

It was agreed that the main obligations of the persons who hold these key positions "provide services to benefit all people in both business and home life, and efficiently handle growth and change as time demands it."

Inheritance Tax Is Jarecki Topic

John Jarecki, chief of the Inheritance Tax Division, a part of the Attorney General's Office, will speak on "Illinois Inheritance Tax" Tuesday, Jan. 26, before members of the Women's Democratic Organization of Wheeling Township. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the Democratic Headquarters, 111 E. Davis, Arlington Heights. All interested members of the township are invited.

The business portion of the meeting will call for yearly reports from all officers and committee chairmen. Election of officers will be held as well as a discussion of the card party that will take place Friday, Jan. 29, at Pioneer Park, in Arlington Heights. The card party, an annual fund raising event, has been organized by Mrs. Helen Soper, chairman, and Mrs. Winnie Kilb, vice chairman. Also, plans will be made for the "Installation Dinner" to be held Feb. 23, at Gunnells', located at Rand Road and Elmhurst Road, in Mount Prospect.

THE RECENT membership drive brought in 62 new members, and winners of the membership campaign, who will receive jeweled donkey pins, at the "Installation Dinner" for their efforts include Mrs. W. E. Thiele, first place; Mrs. Frank Moskal, second place; Mrs. Mary Lou McDonald, Mrs. June Arnold, and Mrs. Daisy Simon, third place; and Mrs. Vila Marchman, Mrs. Jean Stermer, and Mrs. Laverne Gunther, fourth place.

Braised Heart Excellent Food for Budget-Minded

A MAIN DISH that's the answer to budget doldrums is the beef heart, stuffed with a savory bread mixture. The variety meat is tops in nutritional value.

Are you in an economy-minded mood?

This is the time for most food budgets to come in for a bit of a trimming, but appetite-appeal must stay high or the family won't eat.

Beef, pork, lamb and veal hearts are all excellent foods, whether judged from a nutritional standpoint or tastiness.

Heart is at the top of the list among variety meats as an excellent source of protein, while remaining low in calories. It also furnishes iron, thiamine, riboflavin and niacin.

BRAISED STUFFED HEART

Wash one beef heart and remove the hard parts. Fill the cavity with a bread stuffing made by combining 2 cups of soft bread crumbs with ½ teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon sage and 2 tablespoons chopped onion.

Mix in ¼ cup chopped celery and 1 beaten egg. Combine thoroughly and add just enough water to make a slightly moist stuffing.

Sew or skewer the heart to hold the stuffing inside. Dredge the stuffed heart in ¼ cup flour seasoned with 1 teaspoon salt and 1/8 teaspoon pepper.

BROWN ON all sides in 2 tablespoons lard or drippings. Lastly, add ¼ cup water, cover tightly and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) 3 to 3½ hours or until tender. Add more water, if necessary.

This serves 8.

Cranberries Add Dash To Vegetables, Fruit

'Tis true, there are sauces and sauces, but for a sauce with a built-in tangy-sweet, mellow-mild flavor and pretty pink-to-red color, try a cranberry sauce.

Whether you're concentrating on a dish with fish, meat, or poultry, fruit or vegetables, pastries, puddings or ice cream, there's a zippy little cranberry sauce to make your dish taste better.

Try this fresh cranberry sour cream dressing, served hot over cooked vegetables or chilled and used as a topping for fruits.

CRANBERRY FRUIT OR VEGETABLE SAUCE

(Makes about 2½ cups)

2 cups fresh cranberries
½ cup sugar
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon dill seed
½ cup chopped celery
1 cup sour cream

Combine cranberries, sugar and water in saucepan; bring to a boil. Simmer for 5 minutes, or until cranberries are tender. Stir in dill seed, celery and sour cream. Reheat slightly but do not boil.

Spoon over hot, cooked vegetables. Or chill and serve as a topping for fruit salads.

CRANBERRY SALAD DRESSING

(Makes about 1½ cups)

2/3 cup cranberry juice cocktail
¼ cup lime juice
2/3 cup salad oil
½ teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
Few drops tabasco

Combine all ingredients in a jar with a tight-fitting lid. Shake until well blended. Serve with crisp salad greens or with fruit salads.

Recipes are from test kitchens of Ocean Spray Cranberry Co. (SH

From Day-Old Bread-Orange Honey Cubes

You've read about quick breads but this simple recipe produces a delicious, really quick quick bread! When time doesn't permit your whipping up your favorite morning coffee cake or afternoon tea bread, try quickie Orange Honey Cubes.

Cut a loaf of day-old unsliced white bread as directed. Combine fresh-frozen Florida orange juice concentrate with sugar, cinnamon, honey, butter and chopped nuts, pour the mixture over the cut loaf, and bake for 10 to 15 minutes. Easy and delicious!

ORANGE HONEY CUBES

1 loaf unsliced day-old white bread
¼ cup light brown sugar
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons honey
2 tablespoons frozen Florida orange juice concentrate, thawed and undiluted
¼ cup melted butter
¼ cup coarsely chopped nuts

Cut crust with top and sides of bread. Cut bread lengthwise almost through to bottom crust, then cut crosswise to form 8 cubes.

Combine sugar, cinnamon, honey, orange juice concentrate, melted butter and nuts; stir until well blended.

POUR MIXTURE over bread, letting some run down into cubes and over top. Tie loosely with string. Place on cookie sheet and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 10-15 minutes. Remove string and serve warm.

Yield: 6 servings. (SH

Sausage Links In Supper Trio

When sausage is mentioned, fresh pork sausage links probably first come to mind. Although there are countless sausage vaiations, the spicy little links still are near the top of the popularity list.

But, when do you serve them? You're missing wonderful meals if sausage links only appear on your breakfast table. Quite intriguing variations can enhance brunch, lunch or supper menus.

FOR INSTANCE, this Sausage-Apple-Noodle trio is a winter supper idea combining sausage links in a casserole dish with noodles, applesauce and a topping of grated cheese.

Nutmeg, cinnamon and lemon juice and add extra taste.

SAUSAGE-APPLE-NOODLE TRIO

1 pound pork sausage links
2 tablespoons cold water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 can (16 ounces) apple sauce
1 teaspoon salt
4 ounces noodles, cooked
1/3 cup grated cheddar cheese

Grease a 1½-quart casserole. Place sausage links and water in cold frying-pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly for 5 minutes. Remove cover.

Pour off drippings and lightly brown links. Add lemon juice, nutmeg and cinnamon to the apple sauce. Add salt to cooked noodles.

ARRANGE HALF of the noodles in casserole. Place half of the sausage links on noodles, then half the apple sauce mixture. Repeat layers. Top with grated cheese.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes. Four servings. (SH

Lamb Shanks Are Fruited

A new meat entree at this time of year will pep up the family's interest in food. This is especially true when that main dish stars lamb shanks.

Lamb shanks are attractive, meaty individual servings, advises meat authority, Reba Staggs. They're tender and delicious when braised or cooked in liquid.

HERE'S A RECIPE that needs little attention during the cooking period. Dried fruits add an elegant touch to this economy cut.

FRUITED LAMB SHANKS

6 lamb shanks
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
½ cup water
1 cup dried, pitted prunes
1 cup dried apricots

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge lamb shanks in seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add water, prunes and apricots.

Cover tightly and simmer until done, about 2 hours. Six servings. (SH

Braised Heart Excellent Food for Budget-Minded

Are you in an economy-minded mood?

This is the time for most food budgets to come in for a bit of a trimming, but appetite-appeal must stay high or the family won't eat.

Beef, pork, lamb and veal hearts are all excellent foods, whether judged from a nutritional standpoint or tastiness.

Heart is at the top of the list among variety meats as an excellent source of protein, while remaining low in calories. It also furnishes iron, thiamine, riboflavin and niacin.

A MAIN DISH that's the answer to budget doldrums is the beef heart, stuffed with a savory bread mixture. The variety meat is tops in nutritional value.

BRAISED STUFFED HEART

Wash one beef heart and remove the hard parts. Fill the cavity with a bread stuffing made by combining 2 cups of soft bread crumbs with ½ teaspoon salt, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon sage and 2 tablespoons chopped onion.

Mix in ¼ cup chopped celery and 1 beaten egg. Combine thoroughly and add just enough water to make a slightly moist stuffing.

Sew or skewer the heart to hold the stuffing inside. Dredge the stuffed heart in ¼ cup flour seasoned with 1 teaspoon salt and 1/8 teaspoon pepper.

BROWN ON all sides in 2 tablespoons lard or drippings. Lastly, add ¼ cup water, cover tightly and bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) 3 to 3½ hours or until tender. Add more water, if necessary.

This serves 8.

Try this fresh cranberry sour cream dressing, served hot over cooked vegetables or chilled and used as a topping for fruits.

CRANBERRY FRUIT OR VEGETABLE SAUCE

(Makes about 2½ cups)

2 cups fresh cranberries
½ cup sugar
¼ cup water
1 teaspoon dill seed
½ cup chopped celery
1 cup sour cream

Combine cranberries, sugar and water in saucepan; bring to a boil. Simmer for 5 minutes, or until cranberries are tender. Stir in dill seed, celery and sour cream. Reheat slightly but do not boil.

Spoon over hot, cooked vegetables. Or chill and serve as a topping for fruit salads.

CRANBERRY SALAD DRESSING

(Makes about 1½ cups)

2/3 cup cranberry juice cocktail
¼ cup lime juice
2/3 cup salad oil
½ teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
Few drops tabasco

Combine all ingredients in a jar with a tight-fitting lid. Shake until well blended. Serve with crisp salad greens or with fruit salads.

Red, White Theme Enhances Prospect Heights Nuptials

(Times Candid

Arrangements of poinsettia plants decorated the altar of Prospect Heights Community Church Dec. 12 for the wedding of Miss Linda Lee Kottke and George William Wolf III, which was predominantly red and white.

In a double ring ceremony at 5 p.m., Rev. Robert Klepper united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick M. Kottke of 107 Dale Ave., Prospect Heights, and the son of the George William Wolf Juniors of Barrington.

A BOUQUET of carnations and greenery enhanced the white satin bridal gown, detailed with lace flower appliques and back bustle. Miss Kottke's double-tiered veil was outlined in pearls and fastened to a pearl flower cluster crown.

Contrasting her gown were the red velvet dresses with bell sleeves worn by Misses Tena Kottke of Arlington Heights, maid of honor; and bridesmaids, Patricia Kottke, of Prospect Heights; and Rose Ann Kottke of Roselle. White fur muffs and fur headpieces with small veils completed their outfits.

Valerie June Kottke, 8, served her sister as flower girl wearing a long, white satin dress with red cummerbund and hoop skirt. She carried a red and white carnation bouquet and was escorted to the altar by Danny Wolf, 9, of Barrington.

MRS. KOTTKE chose a blue satin and lace dress for her daughter's rites. She wore a white gardenia corsage as did Mrs. Wolf, attired in a beige brocade ensemble.

The newlyweds hosted a reception for 100 guests in the church hall following the nuptials. Among them were other members of the bridal party—Donald Wolf, best man; and ushers, Lawrence Kottke, Bensenville; Gary Wolf, and Fredrick Kottke, Des Plaines.

After a four-day honeymoon in the Dells in Wisconsin, the bridal couple made their first residence at 1114 W. Hawthorne, Arlington Heights.

The bride was graduated from Prospect High School and is employed at Charles Bruning in Mount Prospect. The groom, a former student of Barrington High School and The School of Electronics in Memphis, served six months in the Naval Reserve and is now with Muntz TV in Wheeling.

Variety Acts to Entertain All Day at 'Y' Pancake Day

Beatle impersonators, boy folk singers from Arlington High School, organists and singers from Arlington Barbershoppers will be among the featured entertainment Saturday, Jan. 30, for the annual Aunt Jemima Pancake Day at Northwest Suburban YMCA.

Serving will begin at 8:30 a.m. and continue until 8:30 p.m. Beginning at 9:15 a.m., a combo of freshman boys from Maine West will start off the morning entertainment. Party Perfect Cake Pleases Young, Old Alike

Sherbet, Ice Cream Form Frozen Treat

by LOIS SEILER

Although in appearance the elegant dessert we are featuring today resembles a cake, it is made entirely of sherbet and ice cream.

Called a Sherbet Cream Cake, this unique recipe has been shared with readers by Mrs. Richard L. Wilt of Arlington Heights.

Assembled in a tube pan, the dessert consists of layers of whipped vanilla ice cream, alternated with scoops of raspberry and orange sherbet and pistachio ice cream, shaved chocolate and chopped pecans.

Frozen until ready to use (this dessert can be made a couple of weeks in advance), the cake is unmolded and frosted with whipped cream. Fresh strawberries may be used as a garnish, if desired.

High and handsome, this festive dessert is cut into slices which are as pretty and colorful to look at as they are delicious to taste.

A perfect party dessert, it is nonetheless easy to prepare and is certain to cause comment whether served with a dinner or for a late evening refreshment.

"The recipe can easily be cut in half for serving the family or a smaller group," Mrs. Wilt explained. "However, if the full-size recipe is prepared, any leftovers can be stored in the freezer and will keep nicely.

ANOTHER recipe which Mrs. Wilt's family especially enjoys is an old fashioned hot potato salad.

This salad is a "meal-in-one," for it contains sliced frankfurters and bacon as well as cooked potatoes. Chopped green pepper, parsley and hard-cooked eggs add color, while minced onion and a zesty, thick sweet-sour sauce give this salad lots of flavor appeal.

"I like to serve it hot, accompanied by French or rye bread, sliced tomatoes and relishes," Dolores Wilt commented. It can be served all year 'round, but because it is hearty and nourishing, this meal will especially satisfy hungry winter appetites.

If your family likes German potato salad, they are certain to enjoy the nippy flavor of this moist and delicious hot potato salad.

The Wilt family moved from Orlando, Fla., to their home at 705 S. Highland in Arlington Heights four years ago. They have four children: Steven, 7; Julie, 6; Greg, 4, and Michael, one year old.

Mrs. Wilt is a member of Kappa Delta Alumnae Club and the PTA.

SHERBET CREAM CAKE

1½ pints raspberry sherbet
1½ pints orange sherbet
1½ pints pistachio ice cream
3 quarts vanilla ice cream
2 cups chopped pecans
2 cups shaved baking chocolate or chopped chocolate morsels
1 pint heavy cream
Little green food coloring
1 pint fresh strawberries (optional)

Chill in freezer in a 10-inch tube pan.

With an ice cream scoop make eight balls each from the raspberry and orange sherbets and pistachio ice cream (24 balls in all.) Place on a chilled cookie sheet and freeze until firm.

In a large bowl with an electric beater or wooden spoon beat 1½ quarts of vanilla ice cream until the consistency of a heavy batter. Stir in 1 cup chopped pecans and 1 cup of the chopped chocolate. Spoon this softened vanilla into the chilled cake pan to a depth of one inch. Quickly arrange half of the sherbet and pistachio balls on top of this in a pleasing color arrangement. On top of this, spoon remainder of softened ice cream. Return to freezer.

THEN REPEAT THIS WHOLE procedure one more time. Return to freezer. This part may be frozen a week or two in advance if stored covered with foil.

The day of serving, cover a piece of cardboard with foil to fit your cake. Unmold ice cream cake onto this and place on a plate. Return to freezer.

A few hours before serving, whip cream and add a few drops of green food coloring to make a delicate green. Frost whole cake with whipped cream. Return to freezer until ready to serve. (Dream whip may be used in place of whipped cream.)

Garnish plate on which cake is served with strawberries, if desired. Slice as a regular cake. Serves 10 to 12.

OLD FASHIONED HOT POTATO SALAD

2 pounds unpared small, white potatoes
¼ pound sliced bacon
½ pound frankfurters, sliced ⅜ inch thick on an angle
½ cup minced onion
1½ teaspoons flour
1 tablespoon granulated sugar
3½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1/3 cup vinegar
1/3 cup water
¼ cup minced onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon parsley
1 teaspoon celery seed
4 shelled, hard-cooked eggs

Cook potatoes. Meanwhile, saute bacon in skillet until crisp and drain bacon on absorbent paper.

Saute frankfurters in bacon drippings until brown; remove. Drain off all but 2 tablespoons of the bacon fat. In these two tablespoons of fat, saute the ½ cup minced onion until tender.

Mix together the flour, sugar, salt and pepper. Add vinegar and water and stir until blended. Stir into the sauteed onions and simmer until thickened.

Into the dressing, slice hot, peeled potatoes. Add the ¼ cup minced onion, green pepper, parsley and celery seed and toss all together.

In a salad bowl, arrange layers of potato salad, franks, eggs and crumbled bacon, ending with the franks, eggs and bacon on top. Serve warm. Serves 6.

Smaller, Stouter

Lumber manufacturers have developed a new engineered 2x4 for some construction which is smaller than the old 2x4, yet combines engineered and technical research to do a better job.

It will soon be on the market.

Glue Lam

Glue laminated beams and trusses make ideal timbers for long spans. They will cover an extra-wide living room and look beautiful while they are doing a heavy load bearing job.

Douglas fir is the principal wood that glue laminators use in the western states and it is shipped nationwide.

IT IS EVIDENT from the expressions on the faces of Steven, Julie and Greg Wilt that their mother's elegant sherbet cream cake is a dessert treat that appeals to children as well as adults! Mrs. Richard L. Wilt of Arlington Heights makes this handsome "cake" entirely of sherbet and ice cream, frosts it with whipped cream and serves it for a festive occasion. (SH

Hot Food Favored In French Market

Late, late at night in New Orleans, after parties or the night shift, people head for the coffee stalls in the famous French Market, as they've done since 1813 when the market opened.

When you drink coffee there, you know that coffee is the great common denominator. People in evening clothes share counter space with dungareed fishermen.

At the French Market coffee stalls, fluffy square doughnuts called Beignets are almost as famous as the colorful old shopping center. Actually, Beignets are delicious north or south. Try them at your next kaffee klatsch.

And when you do, "dunk" them the way the New Orleanians do.

NEW ORLEANS BEIGNETS

¼ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup very warm water
(110 to 115 degrees)
1 egg, beaten
3 cups sifted flour (about)

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and shortening; cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast into very warm water; stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk mixture, egg and half the flour. Beat well with mixer or spoon for one minute.

Add remaining flour and more if needed to make soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured surface; knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl; cover and let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled, about 1 hour.

PUNCH DOWN and let rise again about ½ hour. Roll out into square a scant ½-inch thick. Cut into 2½ to 3 inch squares. Place on greased baking sheet; let rise until light, about 1 hour.

Do not handle while rising or they will fall. Fry in deep fat, heated to 375 degrees, for 2 minutes or until brown on each side; drain on absorbent paper. Serve piping hot, sprinkled generously with confectioners sugar.

Makes about 2 dozen. (SH

Party Perfect Cake Pleases Young, Old Alike

Sherbet, Ice Cream Form Frozen Treat

by LOIS SEILER

Although in appearance the elegant dessert we are featuring today resembles a cake, it is made entirely of sherbet and ice cream.

Called a Sherbet Cream Cake, this unique recipe has been shared with readers by Mrs. Richard L. Wilt of Arlington Heights.

Assembled in a tube pan, the dessert consists of layers of whipped vanilla ice cream, alternated with scoops of raspberry and orange sherbet and pistachio ice cream, shaved chocolate and chopped pecans.

Frozen until ready to use (this dessert can be made a couple of weeks in advance), the cake is unmolded and frosted with whipped cream. Fresh strawberries may be used as a garnish, if desired.

High and handsome, this festive dessert is cut into slices which are as pretty and colorful to look at as they are delicious to taste.

A perfect party dessert, it is nonetheless easy to prepare and is certain to cause comment whether served with a dinner or for a late evening refreshment.

"The recipe can easily be cut in half for serving the family or a smaller group," Mrs. Wilt explained. "However, if the full-size recipe is prepared, any leftovers can be stored in the freezer and will keep nicely.

ANOTHER recipe which Mrs. Wilt's family especially enjoys is an old fashioned hot potato salad.

This salad is a "meal-in-one," for it contains sliced frankfurters and bacon as well as cooked potatoes. Chopped green pepper, parsley and hard-cooked eggs add color, while minced onion and a zesty, thick sweet-sour sauce give this salad lots of flavor appeal.

"I like to serve it hot, accompanied by French or rye bread, sliced tomatoes and relishes," Dolores Wilt commented. It can be served all year 'round, but because it is hearty and nourishing, this meal will especially satisfy hungry winter appetites.

If your family likes German potato salad, they are certain to enjoy the nippy flavor of this moist and delicious hot potato salad.

The Wilt family moved from Orlando, Fla., to their home at 705 S. Highland in Arlington Heights four years ago. They have four children: Steven, 7; Julie, 6; Greg, 4, and Michael, one year old.

Mrs. Wilt is a member of Kappa Delta Alumnae Club and the PTA.

IT IS EVIDENT from the expressions on the faces of Steven, Julie and Greg Wilt that their mother's elegant sherbet cream cake is a dessert treat that appeals to children as well as adults! Mrs. Richard L. Wilt of Arlington Heights makes this handsome "cake" entirely of sherbet and ice cream, frosts it with whipped cream and serves it for a festive occasion.

(SH

SHERBET CREAM CAKE

1½ pints raspberry sherbet
1½ pints orange sherbet
1½ pints pistachio ice cream
3 quarts vanilla ice cream
2 cups chopped pecans
2 cups shaved baking chocolate or chopped chocolate morsels
1 pint heavy cream
Little green food coloring
1 pint fresh strawberries (optional)

Chill in freezer in a 10-inch tube pan.

With an ice cream scoop make eight balls each from the raspberry and orange sherbets and pistachio ice cream (24 balls in all.) Place on a chilled cookie sheet and freeze until firm.

In a large bowl with an electric beater or wooden spoon beat 1½ quarts of vanilla ice cream until the consistency of a heavy batter. Stir in 1 cup chopped pecans and 1 cup of the chopped chocolate. Spoon this softened vanilla into the chilled cake pan to a depth of one inch. Quickly arrange half of the sherbet and pistachio balls on top of this in a pleasing color arrangement. On top of this, spoon remainder of softened ice cream. Return to freezer.

THEN REPEAT THIS WHOLE procedure one more time. Return to freezer. This part may be frozen a week or two in advance if stored covered with foil.

The day of serving, cover a piece of cardboard with foil to fit your cake. Unmold ice cream cake onto this and place on a plate. Return to freezer.

A few hours before serving, whip cream and add a few drops of green food coloring to make a delicate green. Frost whole cake with whipped cream. Return to freezer until ready to serve. (Dream whip may be used in place of whipped cream.)

Garnish plate on which cake is served with strawberries, if desired. Slice as a regular cake. Serves 10 to 12.

OLD FASHIONED HOT POTATO SALAD

2 pounds unpared small, white potatoes
¼ pound sliced bacon
½ pound frankfurters, sliced ⅜ inch thick on an angle
½ cup minced onion
1½ teaspoons flour
1 tablespoon granulated sugar
3½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1/3 cup vinegar
1/3 cup water
¼ cup minced onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon parsley
1 teaspoon celery seed
4 shelled, hard-cooked eggs

Cook potatoes. Meanwhile, saute bacon in skillet until crisp and drain bacon on absorbent paper.

Saute frankfurters in bacon drippings until brown; remove. Drain off all but 2 tablespoons of the bacon fat. In these two tablespoons of fat, saute the ½ cup minced onion until tender.

Mix together the flour, sugar, salt and pepper. Add vinegar and water and stir until blended. Stir into the sauteed onions and simmer until thickened.

Into the dressing, slice hot, peeled potatoes. Add the ¼ cup minced onion, green pepper, parsley and celery seed and toss all together.

In a salad bowl, arrange layers of potato salad, franks, eggs and crumbled bacon, ending with the franks, eggs and bacon on top. Serve warm. Serves 6.

Smaller, Stouter

Lumber manufacturers have developed a new engineered 2x4 for some construction which is smaller than the old 2x4, yet combines engineered and technical research to do a better job.

It will soon be on the market.

Glue Lam

Glue laminated beams and trusses make ideal timbers for long spans. They will cover an extra-wide living room and look beautiful while they are doing a heavy load bearing job.

Douglas fir is the principal wood that glue laminators use in the western states and it is shipped nationwide.

Hot Food Favored In French Market

Late, late at night in New Orleans, after parties or the night shift, people head for the coffee stalls in the famous French Market, as they've done since 1813 when the market opened.

When you drink coffee there, you know that coffee is the great common denominator. People in evening clothes share counter space with dungareed fishermen.

At the French Market coffee stalls, fluffy square doughnuts called Beignets are almost as famous as the colorful old shopping center. Actually, Beignets are delicious north or south. Try them at your next kaffee klatsch.

And when you do, "dunk" them the way the New Orleanians do.

NEW ORLEANS BEIGNETS

¼ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup very warm water
(110 to 115 degrees)
1 egg, beaten
3 cups sifted flour (about)

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and shortening; cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast into very warm water; stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk mixture, egg and half the flour. Beat well with mixer or spoon for one minute.

Add remaining flour and more if needed to make soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured surface; knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl; cover and let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled, about 1 hour.

PUNCH DOWN and let rise again about ½ hour. Roll out into square a scant ½-inch thick. Cut into 2½ to 3 inch squares. Place on greased baking sheet; let rise until light, about 1 hour.

Do not handle while rising or they will fall. Fry in deep fat, heated to 375 degrees, for 2 minutes or until brown on each side; drain on absorbent paper. Serve piping hot, sprinkled generously with confectioners sugar.

Makes about 2 dozen. (SH

Champagne Brunch to Feature Reviewer Stuart Brent of TV

DELTA GAMMA

Eleven-thirty, Tuesday morning, Feb. 9, will find Northwest Suburban Delta Gamma alumnae and guests at Old Orchard Country Club where they will hold a champagne brunch and hear Stuart Brent, Chicago book reviewer, writer, teacher, philosopher and TV personality.

STUART BRENT

Mr. Brent appeared on WBKB for seven years on his own TV program, "Books and Brent." Author of "The Seven Stairs" and a children's story, "The Strange Disappearance of Mr. Toast," he has given regular book reviews in the Chicago Tribune Sunday Book Section. A graduate of the University of Chicago, he has his own book and record store on N. Michigan Ave., Chicago.

Tickets for the Feb. 9 brunch may be purchased from any Delta Gamma alumnae or by contacting the brunch chairman, Mrs. Harry Jenkins, CL 5-0583.

KAPPA DELTA

Carol Sieben of Des Plaines will be hostess for the Northwest Suburban Kappa Delta's opening meeting of 1965 on Jan. 25. The meeting will consist mainly of business and work on the centerpieces for the national convention to be held in Chicago during July.

Jan Arentsen, chairman of the Kappa Delta's annual card party to be held in May, is asking all members to start saving and turning in their books of trading stamps. There is always an opening in the afternoon or evening bridge groups and those wishing to join can contact Pat Peterson at 392-5969.

Members planning to attend the meeting are asked to call Dolores Wilt CL 9-0038.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA . . . .

Northwest Suburban Alumnae Association of Kappa Kappa Gamma will celebrate its annual "Husband's Night" at 7 p.m. Friday, Jan. 22, at the Park Ridge VFW, Canfield and Higgins Road.

This year the theme of the party is "What's Your Problem?" Anyone who has not been contacted and would like more information, may call Mrs. Glenn Schmid at 358-5335.

GAMMA PHI BETA

Although you would have a hard time convincing many husbands of it, playing bridge does have some benefits. Gamma Phi Beta alumnae in the northwest suburbs plan to prove this by opening their homes to their card-playing friends and neighbors one week in February.

Mentally retarded children in this area will reap the benefits, and winning players will be awarded cash prizes at the end of the week after the high scores from each house are compared. In addition, all players will be eligible for a "travelling prize" provided by each hostess.

Co-chairmen of the benefit are Mrs. Richard Mueller of Palatine and Mrs. Richard Simon of Chicago, who are actual sisters as well as sorority sisters. They will discuss final plans with the alumnae when the group meets at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 27, in the home of Mrs. Jerome Parlee, 2236 N. Champlain St., Arlington Heights.

All Gamma Phis residing between Park Ridge and Barrington are welcome and may call the co-hostess, Mrs. Gordon Heggem, at FL 9-0676 for more information. (S

Secretaries Initiate 31 High Schoolers

Park-Plaines Chapter of The National Secretaries Association (International) held initiation ceremonies for 31 seniors and juniors of Forest View Chapter of the Future Secretaries Association Jan. 18, at the Forest View High School, Arlington Heights.

The Future Secretaries Association is sponsored by The National Secretaries Association (International) for the purpose of stimulating interest in the secretarial profession, developing a better understanding of modern secretarial work and providing competent secretaries of the future. Park-Plaines Chapter of NSA will continue to work closely with members of the Forest View FSA Chapter in attaining these goals.

New officers of Forest View FSA chapter installed are:

President, Bonnie Nelson, Des Plaines; vice president, Carole Hahn, Mount Prospect; secretary, Joy Sundhaim, Des Plaines; and treasurer, Chris Ryba, Rolling Meadows.

SENIORS INSTALLED include, Sandy Bozee, Janet Coan, Jeri Espeset, Kathy Koperny, Terree Krause, Judy Hotton, Donna Nelson, Cathy Pirrom and Beverly Walker of Rolling Meadows; Kathy Chrabot, Arlene Gruber, Paula Scherra and Sandy Workman of Elk Grove Village; and Chris Garrett and Marsha Morecki of Mount Prospect.

Juniors installed include Diane Byron, Sue Jacobsen, Judy Loeding, Jan Slanenka and Penny Soderberg of Rolling Meadows; Judy Forton and Jane Tagge of Arlington Heights; Carole MacKenzie of Elk Grove Village; and Gretchen Spreitzer of Mount Prospect.

Mrs. Helen R. Graves of Arlington Heights is faculty advisor to the Forest View FSA Chapter.

PARK-PLAINES Chapter invites all local secretaries to attend its regular dinner meeting Wednesday, Feb. 3, at Glenview Country House, where cocktails will be served at 6 p.m. followed by dinner at 6:30.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Ruth M. Schmidt, assistant manager, Social Security Administration District Office, Evanston, whose subject will be, "What Social Security Means to the Secretary."

"Because of the current interest in our social security system, secretaries will find Mrs. Schmidt's presentation both opportune and educational. She will clarify changes already in effect in social security and others to come out of the new Congress," commented Mrs. Louise Kitto, an Arlington Heights member of the club.

All secretaries living or working in this area are invited and may make their reservations before Jan. 25 by calling Mrs. Kitto at CL 3-2673. (S

Homemakers Meet Today

When area members of Cook County Homemakers Extension Association meet Thursday, Jan. 21, at the Martinique Restaurant in Evergreen Park, they will hear Bill Kerchenfaut tell of his experiences in Turkey and Mrs. Marguerite B. Lynch talk on "Creative Leisure." Also, a humorous talk, "Everybody Wants to Write a Book," will be given by Mrs. Charles O. Aschman.

Just one week later, Jan. 28, members of the Arlington Heights Homemakers will have a lesson on "Doing It the Easy Way" by Mrs. Frank Zac and Mrs. J. B. Abbs. This meeting will be held in Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Building at 1 p.m., where the speakers, along with Mrs. Virgil Horath, will serve as hostesses. Installation of officers will also take place at this meeting. (S

For Newcomers

Luncheon Affects 'June in January'

"June in January" arrived at Old Orchard Country Club Jan. 13 at a luncheon hosted by the Arlington Heights Newcomers.

The feeling of summer and its glorious blooms was evident in the floral atmosphere created by Mrs. Robert Engelhardt and her committee.

Arrangements of mixed chrysanthemums and snapdragons graced the table designated for the officers, and potted kalenchoe and primula formed attractive centerpieces for the table of the membership and guests alike.

THIS MONTH 37 newcomers were welcomed from other cities, including Atlanta, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, and Vancouver, British Columbia.

Presiding over a short business meeting was president, Mrs. Robert Cuff. Announcing the club's up-coming charity event, a Las Vegas party in March, was Mrs. Jack Wabschall. The charity will benefit The Little City of Palatine.

Bridge winners for the afternoon were Mrs. Lester Cordes, Mrs. Jack Bittner and Mrs. Charles Hebard; top canasta winners were Mrs. Clement Cernosek and Mrs. Robert Kurrasch; pinochle wins went to Mrs. Edward Dudek and Mrs. B. William Lowe; claiming the "early bird" win was Mrs. Kurrasch.

New residents in the Arlington Heights area may contact Mrs. James Sanders, membership chairman, at 392-1043, for further information. (S

Area Bethel Plans Dinner, Bake Sale

Serving will be from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Friday, Feb. 5, when members of Job's Daughters, Bethel 107, Palatine, hold their spaghetti dinner and bake sale at the Masonic Temple, 1 N. Plum Grove Road.

Members of the bethel helped to serve refreshments Jan. 14 when the Royal Arch Masons held their installation.

Elk Grove Juniors Have Meat Lesson

"Using an ordinary household kitchen knife, I will show you how to utilize cuts of meat most women almost never buy," said Walter Matthey, meat manager of the new Elk Grove Village Jewel store at the January meeting of the Elk Grove Village Junior Woman's Club at Salt Creek School.

Mr. Matthey proceeded to tell the women that most shoppers buy meat for one meal only and that this can be a costly mistake when, with a little know-how, they can enjoy top quality cuts at economy prices. He showed how to get a variety of meals from one large piece of meat by cutting it into several smaller pieces.

FOR EXAMPLE, he cut a rib end pork roast into spareribs, butterfly pork chops and a rolled boneless roast; boneless steaks from a blade cut of pot roast and swiss steak and stew meat from a round bone pot roast. "Carving a standing rib roast can be easy and any meat is more tender and juicy when cooked at a low temperature (300 degrees)," said Mr. Matthey.

In conclusion Mr. Matthey pointed out that preferences in meat is an individual matter and recommended that the women buy and serve the cuts their families enjoyed most.

During the regular business meeting, plans were announced for the Feb. 12 Husband's Night and the seventh District, Illinois Federation of Women's Club's sewing contest to be held in March. (S

Champagne Brunch to Feature Reviewer Stuart Brent of TV

DELTA GAMMA

Eleven-thirty, Tuesday morning, Feb. 9, will find Northwest Suburban Delta Gamma alumnae and guests at Old Orchard Country Club where they will hold a champagne brunch and hear Stuart Brent, Chicago book reviewer, writer, teacher, philosopher and TV personality.

STUART BRENT

Mr. Brent appeared on WBKB for seven years on his own TV program, "Books and Brent." Author of "The Seven Stairs" and a children's story, "The Strange Disappearance of Mr. Toast," he has given regular book reviews in the Chicago Tribune Sunday Book Section. A graduate of the University of Chicago, he has his own book and record store on N. Michigan Ave., Chicago.

Tickets for the Feb. 9 brunch may be purchased from any Delta Gamma alumnae or by contacting the brunch chairman, Mrs. Harry Jenkins, CL 5-0583.

KAPPA DELTA

Carol Sieben of Des Plaines will be hostess for the Northwest Suburban Kappa Delta's opening meeting of 1965 on Jan. 25. The meeting will consist mainly of business and work on the centerpieces for the national convention to be held in Chicago during July.

Jan Arentsen, chairman of the Kappa Delta's annual card party to be held in May, is asking all members to start saving and turning in their books of trading stamps. There is always an opening in the afternoon or evening bridge groups and those wishing to join can contact Pat Peterson at 392-5969.

Members planning to attend the meeting are asked to call Dolores Wilt CL 9-0038.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

Northwest Suburban Alumnae Association of Kappa Kappa Gamma will celebrate its annual "Husband's Night" at 7 p.m. Friday, Jan. 22, at the Park Ridge VFW, Canfield and Higgins Road.

This year the theme of the party is "What's Your Problem?" Anyone who has not been contacted and would like more information, may call Mrs. Glenn Schmid at 358-5335.

GAMMA PHI BETA

Although you would have a hard time convincing many husbands of it, playing bridge does have some benefits. Gamma Phi Beta alumnae in the northwest suburbs plan to prove this by opening their homes to their card-playing friends and neighbors one week in February.

Mentally retarded children in this area will reap the benefits, and winning players will be awarded cash prizes at the end of the week after the high scores from each house are compared. In addition, all players will be eligible for a "travelling prize" provided by each hostess.

Co-chairmen of the benefit are Mrs. Richard Mueller of Palatine and Mrs. Richard Simon of Chicago, who are actual sisters as well as sorority sisters. They will discuss final plans with the alumnae when the group meets at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 27, in the home of Mrs. Jerome Parlee, 2236 N. Champlain St., Arlington Heights.

All Gamma Phis residing between Park Ridge and Barrington are welcome and may call the co-hostess, Mrs. Gordon Heggem, at FL 9-0676 for more information. (S

Homemakers Meet Today

When area members of Cook County Homemakers Extension Association meet Thursday, Jan. 21, at the Martinique Restaurant in Evergreen Park, they will hear Bill Kerchenfaut tell of his experiences in Turkey and Mrs. Marguerite B. Lynch talk on "Creative Leisure." Also, a humorous talk, "Everybody Wants to Write a Book," will be given by Mrs. Charles O. Aschman.

Just one week later, Jan. 28, members of the Arlington Heights Homemakers will have a lesson on "Doing It the Easy Way" by Mrs. Frank Zac and Mrs. J. B. Abbs. This meeting will be held in Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Building at 1 p.m., where the speakers, along with Mrs. Virgil Horath, will serve as hostesses. Installation of officers will also take place at this meeting. (S

Park-Plaines Chapter of The National Secretaries Association (International) held initiation ceremonies for 31 seniors and juniors of Forest View Chapter of the Future Secretaries Association Jan. 18, at the Forest View High School, Arlington Heights.

The Future Secretaries Association is sponsored by The National Secretaries Association (International) for the purpose of stimulating interest in the secretarial profession, developing a better understanding of modern secretarial work and providing competent secretaries of the future. Park-Plaines Chapter of NSA will continue to work closely with members of the Forest View FSA Chapter in attaining these goals.

New officers of Forest View FSA chapter installed are:

President, Bonnie Nelson, Des Plaines; vice president, Carole Hahn, Mount Prospect; secretary, Joy Sundhaim, Des Plaines; and treasurer, Chris Ryba, Rolling Meadows.

SENIORS INSTALLED include, Sandy Bozee, Janet Coan, Jeri Espeset, Kathy Koperny, Terree Krause, Judy Hotton, Donna Nelson, Cathy Pirrom and Beverly Walker of Rolling Meadows; Kathy Chrabot, Arlene Gruber, Paula Scherra and Sandy Workman of Elk Grove Village; and Chris Garrett and Marsha Morecki of Mount Prospect.

Juniors installed include Diane Byron, Sue Jacobsen, Judy Loeding, Jan Slanenka and Penny Soderberg of Rolling Meadows; Judy Forton and Jane Tagge of Arlington Heights; Carole MacKenzie of Elk Grove Village; and Gretchen Spreitzer of Mount Prospect.

Mrs. Helen R. Graves of Arlington Heights is faculty advisor to the Forest View FSA Chapter.

PARK-PLAINES Chapter invites all local secretaries to attend its regular dinner meeting Wednesday, Feb. 3, at Glenview Country House, where cocktails will be served at 6 p.m. followed by dinner at 6:30.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Ruth M. Schmidt, assistant manager, Social Security Administration District Office, Evanston, whose subject will be, "What Social Security Means to the Secretary."

"Because of the current interest in our social security system, secretaries will find Mrs. Schmidt's presentation both opportune and educational. She will clarify changes already in effect in social security and others to come out of the new Congress," commented Mrs. Louise Kitto, an Arlington Heights member of the club.

All secretaries living or working in this area are invited and may make their reservations before Jan. 25 by calling Mrs. Kitto at CL 3-2673. (S

For Newcomers

Luncheon Affects 'June in January'

"June in January" arrived at Old Orchard Country Club Jan. 13 at a luncheon hosted by the Arlington Heights Newcomers.

The feeling of summer and its glorious blooms was evident in the floral atmosphere created by Mrs. Robert Engelhardt and her committee.

Arrangements of mixed chrysanthemums and snapdragons graced the table designated for the officers, and potted kalenchoe and primula formed attractive centerpieces for the table of the membership and guests alike.

THIS MONTH 37 newcomers were welcomed from other cities, including Atlanta, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, and Vancouver, British Columbia.

Presiding over a short business meeting was president, Mrs. Robert Cuff. Announcing the club's up-coming charity event, a Las Vegas party in March, was Mrs. Jack Wabschall. The charity will benefit The Little City of Palatine.

Bridge winners for the afternoon were Mrs. Lester Cordes, Mrs. Jack Bittner and Mrs. Charles Hebard; top canasta winners were Mrs. Clement Cernosek and Mrs. Robert Kurrasch; pinochle wins went to Mrs. Edward Dudek and Mrs. B. William Lowe; claiming the "early bird" win was Mrs. Kurrasch.

New residents in the Arlington Heights area may contact Mrs. James Sanders, membership chairman, at 392-1043, for further information. (S

Young America Bakes-- Cheddar Bread Sticks

ADD NIPPY FLAVOR to yeast rolls by adding cheese. Here, cheddar bread sticks are a crispy accompaniment for luncheon or dinner fare.

Cheeses and breads are a time-honored combination, both foods being almost as old as man himself. Evidence found in Egyptian tombs tells us that the ancients were skilled yeast bakers and that cheese-making, too, was a highly developed art.

References show that breads and cheeses were served at emperors' feasts as far back as 2,000 B.C.

Breads and cheeses have been mealtime staples down through the ages, and still serve as the popular noon meal in many countries. Even today, the favorite Continental snack is a wedge of crusty French bread with cheese and fresh fruit.

Here, for a change of pace, the cheese is added to French bread dough and shaped into rolled "sticks."

Sprinkled with coarse salt or caraway seeds and baked until golden brown, cheddar bread sticks are a nippy accompaniment for fruit salads, soups, stews or casseroles.

CHEDDAR BREAD STICKS

1¼ cups warm water (105-115 degrees F.)
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
1 tablespoon sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
½ cup finely shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
3 cups unsifted flour (about)
Melted margarine
1 egg white
1 tablespoon water
Coarse salt or caraway seeds

Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Add sugar, salt, cheese and enough flour to make soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top.

Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 35 minutes. Punch down; turn out on lightly floured board, and cut in half. Roll each half into an oblong 9 x 12 inches.

Cut into 12 3-inch squares. Brush lightly with melted margarine. Roll up, jelly-roll fashion. Place on greased baking sheet. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 30 minutes.

Brush with egg white that has been beaten lightly with 1 tablespoon water; sprinkle with coarse salt or caraway seeds. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes, or until golden brown.

Makes 2 dozen. From Fleischmann Yeast Co. (SH

Merry Pop-Ins

Mary Poppins, that perennial childhood favorite, had the happy ability to fly. Merry Pop-Ins, a most modern version of popovers, can't fly—but they are so fluffy they seem lighter than air.

They owe their lightness to a beater, beat together soft margarine, which spreads right from the refrigerator or even the freezer.

Used in popovers, it blends readily with eggs and makes it simple to coat the custard cups, too. Try Merry Pop-Ins—for the best popovers ever.

MERRY POP-INS

6 tablespoons Chiffon margarine
7 eggs (1½ cups)
2 cups milk
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt

With electric mixer or rotary baeter, beat together soft margarine and eggs in large bowl until margarine is well dispersed and eggs are foamy. Add milk, flour, and salt; beat until very well blended (it is almost impossible to overbeat the batter).

Lightly but evenly coat the inside of 10 to 12 custard cups with soft margarine; fill with popover batter to within ¼ inch of tops. Place cups in shallow baking pan.

Bake in 375 degree oven 1 hour, until tops are firm, crisp and brown. Remove immediately from cups and place on rack or across top of cups so that the bottoms will not steam and become soft.

Serve immediately or keep piping hot and crisp in a warm oven. Yield: 10 to 12 giant popovers. (SH

Hang-Tag Habit For Clothing

One of the best habits to get into these days is that of saving the manufacturer's hang-tags that come with your clothing.

With the complicated world of fabrics today, no homemaker can be expected to keep all the specialized information in her head. It's much better to collect it in a recipe file box or post it on a bulletin board on the inside of your closet door, or even keep the tag on a certain hanger which would be assigned to a specific garment.

These are ideal ways to keep laundering instructions of garments at your fingertips, suggests the American Institute of Laundering.

Cuisine from Polynesia— Pineapple, Steak Entree

BRING A TOUCH of the warm, sunny tropics to mid-winter dining by serving a Polynesian skewer supper. Pineapple predominates this South Seas favorite which teams fruit with water chestnuts and steak strips wrapped in chicken livers.

Food fashion forecasters predict pineapple and meat entrees will be high style for winter and early spring entertaining. Canned pineapple comes in many cuts — slices, chunks, tidbits, crushed, and juice — and its classic refreshment never goes out of style.

The Polynesian skewer supper served with fluffy rice reflects pineapple's romantic tropical heritage. There's a South Seas flavor in the traditional teriyaki marinade for the steak strips, as well as in the curried butter for the skewered pineapple chunks and water chestnuts.

POLYNESIAN SKEWER SUPPER

Both the savory teriyaki steak skewers and the curried pineapple kabobs can be assembled before guests arrive. They take about 10 minutes broiling to finish them. Toss a crisp green salad with light creamy type of dressing to go with this fruit 'n' meat entree.

1½ pounds boneless round steak, ¼-inch thick
Unseasoned meat tenderizer
1 (1-pound 4½-ounce) can pineapple chunks
¼ cup soy sauce
¼ cup cooking oil
1 teaspoon grated fresh ginger OR
1 tablespoon minced preserved ginger
1 crushed clove garlic
1 teaspoon red wine vinegar
6 chicken livers
Butter or margarine
Salt
6 chopped green onions
Sliced water chestnuts
Curry powder
Hot cooked rice

Sprinkle steak with tenderizer according to label directions. Mix 3 tablespoons syrup from pineapple with soy sauce, oil, ginger, garlic, and vinegar. Pour over steak; marinate 3 to 4 hours, turning occasionally.

Shortly before serving, saute chicken livers briefly in 1 tablespoon butter; season lightly with salt. Cut steaks into 10 strips 1-inch wide and about 6 inches long.

Sprinkle each with onions and roll tightly around a piece of chicken liver. Pierce through with metal skewers, stringing two rolls on each skewer.

BROIL UNTIL browned on each side, 4 to 5 minutes each, basting with soy marinade. String pineapple chunks and water chestnuts on metal or bamboo skewers. Brush with melted butter; sprinkle with curry powder.

Broil until hot and tinged with brown. Heap hot rice on serving platter. Top with steak rolls and broiled pineapple and water chestnuts. Makes 5 servings.

Ham Slice Has Cashew Topper

An inch-thick slice of ham gives an elegant meal with just broiling, but if you want to give it a deluxe topping for a special dinner, that's easy, too.

Orange marmalade and cashew nuts give a golden, textured topping for a ham slice. Baking (roasting) the ham slice is advised by meat authority, Reba Staggs. The sweet mixture cooks evenly and requires little or no watching when cooked in this way.

HAM SLICE WITH ORANGE CRUNCH TOPPING

1 smoked ham slice, cut 1-inch thick
½ cup orange marmalade
¼ cup chopped cashew nuts

Place ham slice on a rack in an open roasting pan. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) 45 minutes. Spread orange marmalade over ham slice. Sprinkle with cashew nuts.

Continue baking 15 minutes longer. Four to 6 servings. (SH

Young America Bakes-- Cheddar Bread Sticks

ADD NIPPY FLAVOR to yeast rolls by adding cheese. Here, cheddar bread sticks are a crispy accompaniment for luncheon or dinner fare.

Cheeses and breads are a time-honored combination, both foods being almost as old as man himself. Evidence found in Egyptian tombs tells us that the ancients were skilled yeast bakers and that cheese-making, too, was a highiy developed art.

References show that breads and cheeses were served at emperors' feasts as far back as 2,000 B.C.

Breads and cheeses have been mealtime staples down through the ages, and still serve as the popular noon meal in many countries. Even today, the favorite Continental snack is a wedge of crusty French bread with cheese and fresh fruit.

Here, for a change of pace, the cheese is added to French bread dough and shaped into rolled "sticks."

Sprinkled with coarse salt or caraway seeds and baked until golden brown, cheddar bread sticks are a nippy accompaniment for fruit salads, soups, stews or casseroles.

CHEDDAR BREAD STICKS

1¼ cups warm water (105-115 degrees F.)
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
1 tablespoon sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
½ cup finely shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
3 cups unsifted flour (about)
Melted margarine
1 egg white
1 tablespoon water
Coarse salt or caraway seeds

Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Add sugar, salt, cheese and enough flour to make soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top.

Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 35 minutes. Punch down; turn out on lightly floured board, and cut in half. Roll each half into an oblong 9 x 12 inches.

Cut into 12 3-inch squares. Brush lightly with melted margarine. Roll up, jelly-roll fashion. Place on greased baking sheet. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 30 minutes.

Brush with egg white that has been beaten lightly with 1 tablespoon water; sprinkle with coarse salt or caraway seeds. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes, or until golden brown.

Makes 2 dozen. From Fleischmann Yeast Co. (SH

Merry Pop-Ins

Mary Poppins, that perennial childhood favorite, had the happy ability to fly. Merry Pop-Ins, a most modern version of popovers, can't fly—but they are so fluffy they seem lighter than air.

They owe their lightness to a beater, beat together soft margarine, which spreads right from the refrigerator or even the freezer.

Used in popovers, it blends readily with eggs and makes it simple to coat the custard cups, too. Try Merry Pop-Ins—for the best popovers ever.

MERRY POP-INS

6 tablespoons Chiffon margarine
7 eggs (1½ cups)
2 cups milk
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt

With electric mixer or rotary baeter, beat together soft margarine and eggs in large bowl until margarine is well dispersed and eggs are foamy. Add milk, flour, and salt; beat until very well blended (it is almost impossible to overbeat the batter).

Lightly but evenly coat the inside of 10 to 12 custard cups with soft margarine; fill with popover batter to within ¼ inch of tops. Place cups in shallow baking pan.

Bake in 375 degree oven 1 hour, until tops are firm, crisp and brown. Remove immediately from cups and place on rack or across top of cups so that the bottoms will not steam and become soft.

Serve immediately or keep piping hot and crisp in a warm oven. Yield: 10 to 12 giant popovers. (SH

Hang-Tag Habit For Clothing

One of the best habits to get into these days is that of saving the manufacturer's hang-tags that come with your clothing.

With the complicated world of fabrics today, no homemaker can be expected to keep all the specialized information in her head. It's much better to collect it in a recipe file box or post it on a bulletin board on the inside of your closet door, or even keep the tag on a certain hanger which would be assigned to a specific garment.

These are ideal ways to keep laundering instructions of garments at your fingertips, suggests the American Institute of Laundering.

Cuisine from Polynesia– Pineapple, Steak Entree

BRING A TOUCH of the warm, sunny tropics to mid-winter dining by serving a Polynesian skewer supper. Pineapple predominates this South Seas favorite which teams fruit with water chestnuts and steak strips wrapped in chicken livers.

Smorgasbord Extravaganza To Feed 1200 February 6th

For the 11th successive year, the Women's Society of Palatine Methodist Church will present its annual culinary extravaganza, the Smorgasbord, to be held Saturday, Feb. 6, in the William Fremd High School, S. Quentin Road, Palatine.

Using last year's attendance as a guide, 1,200 guests are expected to attend this festive buffet. Much of the credit for the success of this event is given to members of Danish, Norwegian, and Swedish descent whose guidance over the years has helped others in the organization prepare a great variety of authentic dishes. Delicacies like miniature meatballs, pickled herring, Gotenburg sausage, decorated salmons, turkey, hams, brown beans, and fancy molded fish and fruit salads will appear in eye catching mouth-watering abundance.

For the first time, fresh fruit pies will be on the menu. Cherry and apple pies are now being prepared and frozen for baking on that big day.

THE DECORATING committee is baking, too. Under the direction of Mrs. Paul Jung, claybake ornaments are in the making for the applestake trees which will decorate the tables. These stylized trees, topped by a sheaf of wheat, are traditionally used at festive dinners in Sweden. To further enhance the setting, all hostesses and waitresses will be attired in colorful Swedish costumes.

There will be two indentical servings, 5 to 6:15 and 6:30 to 8 p.m. Tickets are available on a first come first serve basis and must be purchased in advance. They are on sale from ticket chairmen, Mrs. Frank Bonheim, 8-2433 and Mrs. Clarence Steeves, FL 9-0287.

"Three chiefs of staff, Mrs. Marshall Brooke, Mrs. Herbert Chidley, and Mrs. Andrew Nelson begin months in advance for preparing a dinner of this magnitude. There is much pride and attention to detail so that Feb. 6th's Smorgasbord will be another success," commented the Society's president.

"Parents with small children who attend may enjoy a truly leisure night of dining out as baby sitting facilities will be offered at the school for a small charge," the president added.

FRESH FRUIT PIES will be on the menu for the first time when Palatine Methodist church women present their 11th annual smorgasbord extravaganza Saturday, Feb. 6, in Fremd High School. Mrs. Harold Pratt, Mrs. G. W. Blanchard and Mrs. Norman Robey are already preparing cherry and apple pies which are being frozen for baking on the day of the affair. The women are expecting 1,200 persons to dine on their gourmet dishes, which will include authentic recipes from Denmark, Norway and Sweden. (S

Elks Auxiliary Meets Thursday

Womens' Auxiliary Members from Arlington Heights Lodge, BPOE 2048, are planning a dinner meeting for 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 21.

The meeting will be held at the Elk Lodge on Wilke Road, where sirloin of beef will be served. All present and prospective members are urged to attend and meet the new board members. Cards will follow the meeting. (S

Hoffman Bridge Tourney Is Set

A $100 first prize is the highlight of the second bridge tournament sponsored by the Hoffman Estates Woman's Club Bridge Group. This special 2-session event will be held at 8 p.m. first two Thursday nights in February, Feb. 4 and 11, at the Hoffman Estates Bowling Lanes.

Bridge Chairman Mrs. Robert Pellegrino urges early registration as the tournament will be limited to 22 tables or a total of 44 partnerships. Tickets will cover both nights of play as well as refreshments.

According to Mrs. Pellegrino, first to register for this tournament were Mrs. Paul Sinnott and Mrs. James Sheehy, first place winners of the October tournament. Reservations or further information may be obtained by calling LA 9-1843 or LA 9-9390. (S

A&R Society Sets Jan. 23 Card Party

"Queen's Spree," annual card party sponsored by the Altar and Rosary Society of Queen of the Rosary Church, Elk Grove Village, will be held Saturday, Jan. 23.

Festivities will start with a social hour at 11:30 a.m. followed by luncheon at 12:30, which will feature Chinese mandarin beef. Card playing is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. at Nordic Hills Country Club on Route 53 in Itasca.

Hanover Club Plans Social

A full social evening is planned for the Wednesday, Jan. 27, meeting of Hanover Township Democratic Women's Auxiliary. The meeting is scheduled at 8 p.m. in the Streamwood Fire Hall, Bartlett Road. Prospective members are invited. (S

County Budget Is Subject for AAUW

Cook County's proposed $90,000,000 budget will be explained to Arlington Heights League of Women Voter members at unit meetings Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

In charge of the program at the three unit meetings will be Mrs. Bruce Bremberg of Mount Prospect, local League delegate to the Cook County Council of Leagues of Women Voters. Assisting her will be a committee that includes Mrs. Ralph Waterhouse of Mount Prospect, Mrs. Herbert Anderson of Wheeling and Mrs. Edward Venetianer of Buffalo Grove.

The Arlington Heights League's newest unit, an afternoon unit that will be meeting in the home of Mrs. Bremberg, 1111 Greenwood Drive, Mount Prospect, will have its first regular meeting at 1 p.m. Monday, Jan. 25.

MRS. ROBERT B. Bishop, 1035 S. Chestnut, Arlington Heights, will be hostess to an evening unit meeting at 8 Tuesday, Jan. 26. The morning unit will meet at 9:30 Wednesday, Jan. 27, in the home of Mrs. Hal G. Cress, 926 N. Yale, Arlington Heights. Babysitting for the morning unit will be available in the home of Mrs. R. J. Schlott, 1010 N. Princeton, Arlington Heights.

Guests are always welcome at League meetings. Arrangements to attend may be made by calling Mrs. Paul Richardson, membership chairman, at CL 9-2658. (S

Tax Dollar, Newcomers Panel Topic

Mount Prospect Newcomers Club will hold its first regularly scheduled meeting of the new year at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 27 at the Mount Prospect Community Center.

Mrs. Robert C. Wornick, program chairman, has announced that the program for the evening will feature a panel discussion on "What Your Tax Dollar Buys." The program arrangements and speakers are being provided through the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Ralph O. Waterhouse, treasurer of the League, will be moderator. Participating on the panel will be Mrs. Majorie Annen Carter, Tax Collector of Wheeling Township, Arnold Scharringhausen, Tax Collector of Elk Grove Township, and a representative of the Village of Mount Prospect. (S

No Extra Inches For Newcomers

The Welcome Wagon Club members from Wheeling and Buffalo Grove will have a chance to work off the extra inches on the waist line that were put on from holiday feasting.

The next meeting, to be held at 8 p.m. Thurs., Jan. 28, at Adam's Hartman House, Milwaukee Avenue, Wheeling, will be an informal get-together featuring exercises for the girls. (S

Villanova Card Party

All women and men in the northwest area are invited to attend a card party being planned by the Catholic Women's Club of St. Thomas of Villanova Parish, Palatine.

Various cards and games are on the program for the event to be held Friday, Jan. 29 at 8:15 p.m. in the church hall. Refreshments are also slated.

Tickets are selling for $1.25 per person, announce Mrs. Donald Dupont and Mrs. David Yeats, co-chairmen.

All-Guild Party At St. Mary's

The Altar and Rosary Society of St. Mary's parish, Buffalo Grove, will hold its annual all-guild Card party Sunday evening at 8:30 in the school hall.

This social event is sponsored by the entire membership of the society, with Mrs. Donald Thompson, president, in charge. She will be assisted by the other officers and the 10 guild leaders.

Winter Safety

Moistened salt rubbed on the car windshield and windows prevents an icy glaze from forming in freezing weather.

Furniture Tip

A thin paste of salt and olive oil removes marks on furniture made by hot dishes. Let stand for about one hour, then remove.

WITH THEIR DUTIES ahead, Mrs. James Mason, new president of Arlington Heights Chapter of Infant Welfare, and Mrs. Sam Clark, secretary, take time out to relax at the chapter's couple's party held Jan. 9. The group will again sponsor its June Post and Paddock Party as well as join other chapters in the Chicago area in presenting a performance of the Royal Tatoo. (S

YOUNGSTERS WILL BE kept busy using their hands and imaginations while making these figures. Here's the whole family—Ma, Pa and Baby Pun'kin Head. Cast-off clothing, straw, paint and pumpkins are the sole materials.

ELATED OVER the Infant Welfare's part in America's first appearance of England's Royal Tatoo, Mrs. John Otzen has the enthusiastic attention of Mrs. William Brinkworth and James McDonald. The threesome were among guests attending recent post-holiday party sponsored by the Infant Welfare's Arlington Heights Chapter. Although the Royal Tatoo's appearance here is still month's away, the group is already anticipating the extravaganza of marchers, bagpipes, horses, motorcycles and drums. (S

"Three chiefs of staff, Mrs. Marshall Brooke, Mrs. Herbert Chidley, and Mrs. Andrew Nelson begin months in advance for preparing a dinner of this magnitude. There is much pride and attention to detail so that Feb. 6th's Smorgasbord will be another success," commented the Society's president.

"Parents with small children who attend may enjoy a truly leisure night of dining out as baby sitting facilities will be offered at the school for a small charge," the president added.

FRESH FRUIT PIES will be on the menu for the first time when Palatine Methodist church women present their 11th annual smorgasbord extravaganza Saturday, Feb. 6, in Fremd High School. Mrs. Harold Pratt, Mrs. G. W. Blanchard and Mrs. Norman Robey are already preparing cherry and apple pies which are being frozen for baking on the day of the affair. The women are expecting 1,200 persons to dine on their gourmet dishes, which will include authentic recipes from Denmark, Norway and Sweden. (S

Elks Auxiliary Meets Thursday

Womens' Auxiliary Members from Arlington Heights Lodge, BPOE 2048, are planning a dinner meeting for 7 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 21.

The meeting will be held at the Elk Lodge on Wilke Road, where sirloin of beef will be served. All present and prospective members are urged to attend and meet the new board members. Cards will follow the meeting. (S

County Budget Is Subject for AAUW

Cook County's proposed $90,000,000 budget will be explained to Arlington Heights League of Women Voter members at unit meetings Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

In charge of the program at the three unit meetings will be Mrs. Bruce Bremberg of Mount Prospect, local League delegate to the Cook County Council of Leagues of Women Voters. Assisting her will be a committee that includes Mrs. Ralph Waterhouse of Mount Prospect, Mrs. Herbert Anderson of Wheeling and Mrs. Edward Venetianer of Buffalo Grove.

The Arlington Heights League's newest unit, an afternoon unit that will be meeting in the home of Mrs. Bremberg, 1111 Greenwood Drive, Mount Prospect, will have its first regular meeting at 1 p.m. Monday, Jan. 25.

MRS. ROBERT B. Bishop, 1035 S. Chestnut, Arlington Heights, will be hostess to an evening unit meeting at 8 Tuesday, Jan. 26. The morning unit will meet at 9:30 Wednesday, Jan. 27, in the home of Mrs. Hal G. Cress, 926 N. Yale, Arlington Heights. Babysitting for the morning unit will be available in the home of Mrs. R. J. Schlott, 1010 N. Princeton, Arlington Heights.

Guests are always welcome at League meetings. Arrangements to attend may be made by calling Mrs. Paul Richardson, membership chairman, at CL 9-2658. (S

WITH THEIR DUTIES ahead, Mrs. James Mason, new president of Arlington Heights Chapter of Infant Welfare, and Mrs. Sam Clark, secretary, take time out to relax at the chapter's couple's party held Jan. 9. The group will again sponsor its June Post and Paddock Party as well as join other chapters in the Chicago area in presenting a performance of the Royal Tatoo. (S

Tax Dollar, Newcomers Panel Topic

Mount Prospect Newcomers Club will hold its first regularly scheduled meeting of the new year at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 27 at the Mount Prospect Community Center.

Mrs. Robert C. Wornick, program chairman, has announced that the program for the evening will feature a panel discussion on "What Your Tax Dollar Buys." The program arrangements and speakers are being provided through the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Ralph O. Waterhouse, treasurer of the League, will be moderator. Participating on the panel will be Mrs. Majorie Annen Carter, Tax Collector of Wheeling Township, Arnold Scharringhausen, Tax Collector of Elk Grove Township, and a representative of the Village of Mount Prospect. (S

No Extra Inches For Newcomers

The Welcome Wagon Club members from Wheeling and Buffalo Grove will have a chance to work off the extra inches on the waist line that were put on from holiday feasting.

The next meeting, to be held at 8 p.m. Thurs., Jan. 28, at Adam's Hartman House, Milwaukee Avenue, Wheeling, will be an informal get-together featuring exercises for the girls. (S

Villanova Card Party

All women and men in the northwest area are invited to attend a card party being planned by the Catholic Women's Club of St. Thomas of Villanova Parish, Palatine.

Various cards and games are on the program for the event to be held Friday, Jan. 29 at 8:15 p.m. in the church hall. Refreshments are also slated.

Tickets are selling for $1.25 per person, announce Mrs. Donald Dupont and Mrs. David Yeats, co-chairmen.

All-Guild Party At St. Mary's

The Altar and Rosary Society of St. Mary's parish, Buffalo Grove, will hold its annual all-guild Card party Sunday evening at 8:30 in the school hall.

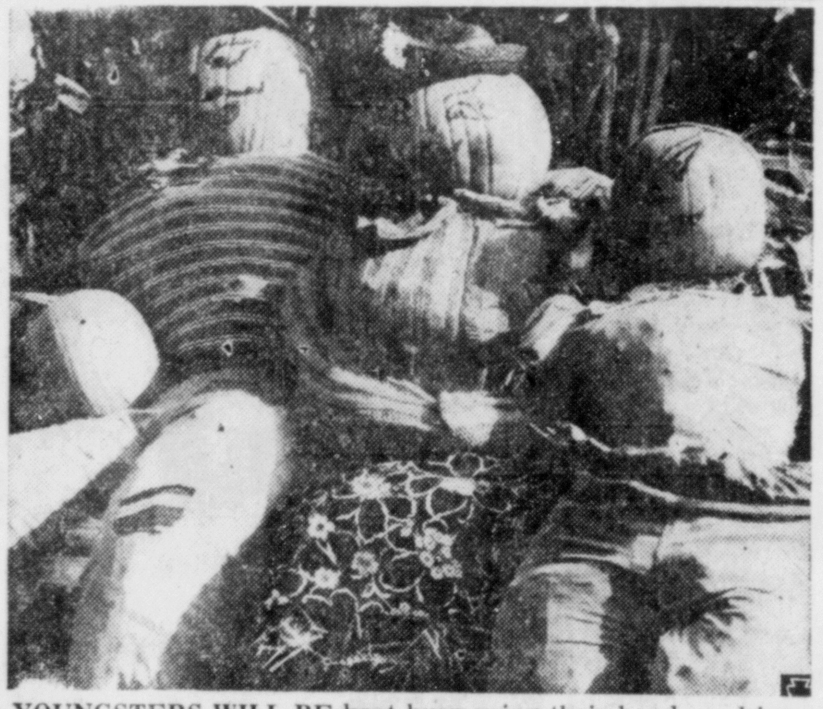
This social event is sponsored by the entire membership of the society, with Mrs. Donald Thompson, president, in charge. She will be assisted by the other officers and the 10 guild leaders.

Winter Safety

Moistened salt rubbed on the car windshield and windows prevents an icy glaze from forming in freezing weather.

Furniture Tip

A thin paste of salt and olive oil removes marks on furniture made by hot dishes. Let stand for about one hour, then remove.



YOUNGSTERS WILL BE kept busy using their hands and imaginations while making these figures. Here's the whole family—Ma, Pa and Baby Pun'kin Head. Cast-off clothing, straw, paint and pumpkins are the sole materials.

ELATED OVER the Infant Welfare's part in America's first appearance of England's Royal Tatoo, Mrs. John Otzen has the enthusiastic attention of Mrs. William Brinkworth and James McDonald. The threesome were among guests attending recent post-holiday party sponsored by the Infant Welfare's Arlington Heights Chapter. Although the Royal Tatoo's appearance here is still month's away, the group is already anticipating the extravaganza of marchers, bagpipes, horses, motorcycles and drums. (S

Hoffman Bridge Tourney Is Set

A $100 first prize is the highlight of the second bridge tournament sponsored by the Hoffman Estates Woman's Club Bridge Group. This special 2-session event will be held at 8 p.m. first two Thursday nights in February, Feb. 4 and 11, at the Hoffman Estates Bowling Lanes.

Bridge Chairman Mrs. Robert Pellegrino urges early registration as the tournament will be limited to 22 tables or a total of 44 partnerships. Tickets will cover both nights of play as well as refreshments.

According to Mrs. Pellegrino, first to register for this tournament were Mrs. Paul Sinnott and Mrs. James Sheehy, first place winners of the October tournament. Reservations or further information may be obtained by calling LA 9-1843 or LA 9-9390. (S

"Queen's Spree," annual card party sponsored by the Altar and Rosary Society of Queen of the Rosary Church, Elk Grove Village, will be held Saturday, Jan. 23.

Festivities will start with a social hour at 11:30 a.m. followed by luncheon at 12:30, which will feature Chinese mandarin beef. Card playing is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. at Nordic Hills Country Club on Route 53 in Itasca.

Hanover Club Plans Social

A full social evening is planned for the Wednesday, Jan. 27, meeting of Hanover Township Democratic Women's Auxiliary. The meeting is scheduled at 8 p.m. in the Streamwood Fire Hall, Bartlett Road. Prospective members are invited. (S

Lessons in English

Q. If a hostess is talking with a group of persons at a large party in her home, and a new guest arrives, is it necessary that she excuse herself and leave to greet the new arrival?

A. Always. She should excuse herself, greet the new guest and see to his comfort, then return to her other guests and resume the conversation. All this can be done very smoothly, and the hostess needn't feel embarrassed about interrupting a conversation for this reason—her guests expect it of her.

Q. When someone to whom you've just been introduced says, "I'm so glad to have met you," isn't a smile of acknowledgment sufficient?

A. Just a wordless smile would seem to have a condescending air about it. I think it is better to accompany the smile with a pleasant "Thank you."

Q. If a small paper cup of applesauce is served on one's dinner plate, is it all right to empty the contents into the dinner plate?

A. Yes. Scoop out the contents with your fork, then put the empty paper cup on the dinner plate to one side, out of your way.

A MESSAGE TO CLASSIFIED USERS

Before you call an ad-visor to place your PADDOCK PUBLICATIONS AD consider this:

You are about to invest money for an ad and you are entitled to get results. To accomplish this it is necessary for you to TELL ALL about the details of your offer. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that prevent results:

1. DON'T OMIT THE ADDRESS
Many out-of-town readers will write you, but will not spend money for a long distance call.

2. DON'T OMIT THE PHONE NUMBER
Many readers will call you but do not find it convenient to come to your home.

3. DON'T USE BLIND BOX NUMBERS
Avoid them if at all possible. They are difficult to answer and many people are suspicious of them.

4. DON'T CONCEAL THE PRICE DESIRED
Surveys show that a high percentage of readers will not answer an ad unless the price is given.

5. DON'T LEAVE HOME ON THE DAYS YOU ADVERTISE
Many good prospects will not call the second time if your phone is unanswered.

6. DON'T OMIT IMPORTANT WORDS TO SAVE MONEY
Readers can't guess on important details. Remember, a well written informative ad will get results faster and amount to much less in the long run.

7. DON'T OVERLOOK OUR LOWER RATE FOR CONSECUTIVE INSERTIONS
You'll get the biggest parade of readers at the lowest price. Your Needs Satisfied thru Paddock Publications Classified.

Lessons in English

Q. If a hostess is talking with a group of persons at a large party in her home, and a new guest arrives, is it necessary that she excuse herself and leave to greet the new arrival?

A. Always. She should excuse herself, greet the new guest and see to his comfort, then return to her other guests and resume the conversation. All this can be done very smoothly, and the hostess needn't feel embarrassed about interrupting a conversation for this reason—her guests expect it of her.

Q. When someone to whom you've just been introduced says, "I'm so glad to have met you," isn't a smile of acknowledgment sufficient?

A. Just a wordless smile would seem to have a condescending air about it. I think it is better to accompany the smile with a pleasant "Thank you."

Q. If a small paper cup of applesauce is served on one's dinner plate, is it all right to empty the contents into the dinner plate?

A. Yes. Scoop out the contents with your fork, then put the empty paper cup on the dinner plate to one side, out of your way.

Before you call an ad-visor to place your PADDOCK PUBLICATIONS AD
consider this:

You are about to invest money for an ad and you are entitled to get results. To accomplish this it is necessary for you to TELL ALL about the details of your offer. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that prevent results:

1. DON'T OMIT THE ADDRESS

Many out-of-town readers will write you, but will not spend money for a long distance call.

2. DON'T OMIT THE PHONE NUMBER

Many readers will call you but do not find it convenient to come to your home.

3. DON'T USE BLIND BOX NUMBERS

Avoid them if at all possible. They are difficult to answer and many people are suspicious of them.

4. DON'T CONCEAL THE PRICE DESIRED

Surveys show that a high percentage of readers will not answer an ad unless the price is given.

5. DON'T LEAVE HOME ON THE DAYS YOU ADVERTISE

Many good prospects will not call the second time if your phone is unanswered.

6. DON'T OMIT IMPORTANT WORDS TO SAVE MONEY

Readers can't guess on important details. Remember, a well written informative ad will get results faster and amount to much less in the long run.

7. DON'T OVERLOOK OUR LOWER RATE FOR CONSECUTIVE INSERTIONS

You'll get the biggest parade of readers at the lowest price. Your Needs Satisfied thru Paddock Publications Classified.

The Way We See It

State Must Enact Rules of Conduct

Prompt attention has been promised to conflict - of - interest proposals when the Illinois State Senate reconvenes next week.

In a session marked by a great number of urgent legislative needs, the need for conflict-of-interest legislation is in the front rank.

This prominent position results partly from two indictments which have struck in the very highest circles. A former governor is being tried for income tax evasion in connection with campaign contributions, while the present governor's closest adviser is under indictment in a conflict-of-interest case.

Of course, both former Gov. Stratton and Theodore Isaacs are presumed innocent of the charges brought against them until a judge and jury find them guilty. But whatever the outcome of the legal proceedings, facts that have been made public in both cases cry aloud for remedial legislation.

Furthermore, some practices which are not illegal are, nevertheless, unsavory and should be forbidden.

Legislators and other office holders should not be allowed to use their public offices to enhance their business or professional prosperity, as some have done.

And even if fees or profits were not involved, a legislator cannot serve at one and the same time the interests of the state of Illinois and some person or corporation doing business with the state.

One of the reasons Sen. W. Russell Arrington was chosen Senate majority leader over Sen. George Drach was that Sen. Drach had been attorney for an association of road building firms for many years during which he sat in the Senate, deliberating and voting on road matters.

Sen. Drach never tried to hide this connection. It is a commentary on the excessive tolerance toward dubious situations in Springfield that Sen. Drach was never seriously challenged about this connection until this winter.

Closely connected with the conflict-of-interest question is the excessive cost of political campaigns. As an example, the recently elected secretary of state, Paul Powell, has put his campaign costs at $400,000 — several times the salary he will make during his four-year term.

When this kind of money must be raised to pay the cost of a campaign, some of it is almost sure to come from donors who expect something in return.

Illinois has had more than its share of political scandals in recent years. The public has seen enough, and expects this legislature to write strict new rules of conduct.

Built-in Buck-Passing

A most illogical situation has been revealed in connection with storm sewer construction to drain the right-of-way of Rand Road near McDonald Creek.

Massive pipes are going to collect storm water, then discharge it into McDonald Creek at greater speed and volume than the old creek can handle. Flooding will result.

The Rand Road storm sewer is a project of the Department of Public Works (Division of Highways), which says it can't do anything about the potential flooding, which falls under the jurisdiction of the Department of Public Works (Division of Waterways), which in turn is reported to lack the money and manpower to do the job.

This looks like a built-in buck-passing situation.

It should be cleared up by Francis S. Lorenz, director of the department of public works and, hence, of both its division of highways and division of waterways.

The legitimate interests of the about-to-be flooded homeowners must be considered, as well as those of the motorists, despite bureaucratic obstacles.

Tackling a Big Problem

Not too many years ago alcoholism was considered by most people as just another form of willful misbehavior.

Physicians and psychologists, however, recognized it as an illness. Over the years the public has become educated to accept this more enlightened view.

The planned groundbreaking this spring for a $750,000 alcoholism center at Lutheran General Hospital in nearby Park Ridge is evidence of the progress that has been made.

Treatment and rehabilitation work will be carried out at the new center, but in addition research and educational activities are planned to help prevent alcoholism.

All these efforts will meet a tremendous need, for alcoholism is the fourth largest health problem in the United States, according to medical authorities.

Lutheran Institute of Human Ecology, parent body of Lutheran General Hospital, deserves praise and support for its initiative in tackling this long-neglected health problem.

The Challenge Ahead

In a recent talk to a suburban group, Matthew Rockwell, director of the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission, predicted that the question of open spaces would be the biggest one that the metropolitan area must solve in the next few decades.

If this is so, a prize-winning film on the subject, produced by the Open Lands Project of the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago, is particularly appropriate.

Called "The Green City," the 16 mm, 22-minute film is available free to organizations which contact the council at 123 W. Madison St. or by phoning FR 2-6911.

Critic's Corner

Zoning Issue Is Thorniest

by HESTER KLINE
Staff Editor

Mother didn't know about zoning when she taught us that politics and religion were the trickiest subjects of conversation.

Zoning is good or bad as it affects the individual property owner. Pretty dry stuff, says the reader of a laborously written detailed review of a comprehensive zoning code which the village fathers have adopted.

But let the fellow next door put up a new garage that encroaches six inches beyond the side lot line, and he drags from the depths of his subconscious the zoning law he skimmed so lightly and next thing you know there is neighbor trouble.

PEOPLE IN suburbia have come to depend on the reliability of the zoning laws. They are smug in their confidence that their property values won't be lowered by some undesirable land use nearby. They may be overlooking a real threat, but we'll come to that in a minute after noting briefly how zoning laws came into being.

The concept of municipal zoning is really in its embryonic stages. Major municipalities throughout this country "just growed" like Topsy. Neighborhood areas that were nearly complete within themselves were developed, with homes, stores and schools.

The city stretched out until it met the boundaries of other smaller cities that didn't care to be gobbled up, which became the first suburbs.

SO THE big city is the hub of the satellites which surround it, satellites which try to benefit by the errors made in the growth of the metropolis.

One of the pitfalls the suburbs try to avoid is mixed zoning uses in a common neighborhood. In a big city it isn't hard to find seven or eight separate uses in a single block, an eighth of a mile. There may be single family homes, apartments, stores, industry in any combination.

A most unattractive picture, you'll agree, and so some unsung genius devised zoning laws, the tool by which a corporate municipality can establish a general plan to govern the use of lands within its boundaries.

A MASTER plan is laid out and new subdividers or developers are pressed to fit their plans into the established pattern. They don't always like to, because they can often see ways to turn a dollar or two by some other use.

KLINE

But generallly they come around. Major developers are not the real threat to zoning. It's the insidious small violation or deviation which can defeat the major premise, which is to give protection to the single family homeowner.

"Spot zoning" has become an epithet in suburban lingo, and zoning board members would prefer other accusations than that they had granted zoning out of keeping with the area, which might set a precedent for multiplication of the use and so be the cause of increasing blight in a neighborhood.

After all, zoning boards are challenged to maintain the character of a neighborhood—forever.

Zoning officials are coming to realize that one of the worst threats to the zoning codes written by experts in the field is the multiple occupancy of single family homes.

TWENTY YEARS ago it was the accepted thing to remodel the upstairs into an apartment after the children were grown and gone. Here was nice income for old age. Soon most of the houses on the block were divided, and the character of the quiet street changed.

The new complete towns built in recent years have a similar situation, when homes are rented to a group, maybe school teachers, pilots, or just friends. Ignoring dark hints of goings-on, the fact is such multiple occupancy is out of keeping with the strict application of the zoning code, and the advent of apartment buildings in the suburbs obviates the need.

Other municipalities are watching with interest the test case currently being fought by Des Plaines to uphold the city's restriction against unrelated people living in the same house. If the courts rule in favor of the zoning code, this practice can be stopped without further ado.

LATE MODEL zoning codes generally include a five-year amortization clause to eliminate non-conforming zoning uses, the remodeled residences included.

Someone is going to be hurt when the five-year limit is reached. Older folks who depended on that income are going to miss it. The question is whether they must suffer or the entire municipality.

I'm not sympathetic toward those non-relations who are renting houses instead of apartments, but I'm certainly glad that I don't have to blow the whistle on the old folks.

Suburbanites 'Speak Up!'

On Women in Politics

By PAT ADAM
Staff Writer

Voting for a woman for village president was endorsed by a majority of northwest suburban residents questioned about the possibility this week.

Nine out of 14 persons contacted said they definitely would vote for a woman provided she was the best candidate. One man gave rather half-hearted endorsement to the idea, saying he "would not refuse" to vote for a woman candidate. Another man conceded that a woman probably could do a good job but felt the fair sex might better put their particular talents to use in areas other than politics.

TWO PERSONS preferred not to express an opinion, saying they did not care much for politics anyway. The only individual apposed without qualification was a woman.

Those interviewed were less inclined to vote for a woman for President of the United States. Only five really favored the idea. Another five were reluctant to endorse a woman for chief executive but did not give a flat "no." Two were opposed, both women.

Mrs. Don McFarlane, 334 Lincoln, Buffalo Grove, a homemaker, said she would vote for a woman for village president "but not because she was a woman."

"SHE SHOULD have the same qualifications as a man," said Mrs. McFarlane, stipulating particularly education and experience.

The presidency of the United States she considers a "job for a man."

"The one who has that position must be cool-headed, and a woman is too emotional," she said.

"If a woman is capable, educated and civic-minded, I think it's a good idea," answered Mrs. Robert E. Druger, 206 S. Ottendorf Road, Streamwood, also a housewife, citing Clare Boothe Luce as the kind of woman she would consider qualified for a public office.

"I WOULD have to adjust my thinking about a woman for the Presidency of the United States," admitted Mrs. Druger. "I think men are better able to make decisions."

"If you can't fight them, join them" was the attitude of Thomas O. Glessner, 444 Bluebonnet Lane, Hoffman Estates.

"If a woman is capable, I would vote for her," Glessner, an accounting expert, said.

PAT ADAM

A good education and both knowledge and experience in politics would be the necessay attributes for a woman seeking the office of village president or U. S. President, in Glessner's opinion. He could see only one drawback.

"They might sit down and cry if things don't go right, but they probably would go where nobody would see them," he laughingly commented.

GEORGE Wilkinson, Bensenville pharmacist, felt some women are more capable than men to hold the office of village president and said he would vote for a woman if she were the best candidate. He mentioned family responsibilities as a possible handicap.

Wilkins expressed hesitancy about voting for a woman for President of the United States.

"That is a tough job, and a woman would be too emotional. She would be inclined to take things too personally," he said.

"If a woman can take care of her home and is well-informed and able, I think she is as entitled as a man to run for village president," replied Mrs. Ralph E. Wells, 6N121 Hillcrest Drive, Medinah, who said she would give her vote to a woman candidate. "She ought to have honesty and integrity of person, the same qualifications I look for in a man."

SHE WAS not so sure about voting for a woman for President.

"It would depend upon the opposition," she said. "Psychologically I would turn toa man, but if there were a difference in political philosophy, I would vote for the woman."

Louise Greinke, office manager for an insurance firm in Mount Prospect, was "definitely for" a woman as village president.

"More women should seek public office, she said, "They have more time, and all women are becoming more aware of what they want."

"In some fields, like educations, welfare and health, they are better qualified than men."

MRS. GREINKE felt a woman seeking public office should have had experience in some kind of civic or club work first. She also favored a woman President but thought people had to get "more used to the idea."

A woman who tried unsuccessfully herself for public office, Mrs. Helen Macior of Rolling Meadows, said she would vote "yes" for a qualified woman candidate for village president.

"But heaven help the woman who runs," she added.

She cited women's interest in schools as one special area in which they would contribute, adding that she thought them just as capable as men in budgetary matters.

WHILE FAVORING a woman as chief executive, Mrs. Macior commented, "I don't think people are ready for that, and I don't think we will see one in our generawill."

AN EMPHATIC "no" to voting for a woman in either office was voiced by Mrs. Alvin Holtzman, 251 Fern, Elk Grove Village.

"Women aren't the type to make major decisions. They are more emotional and not as level-headed as men," she stated.

Cummins Comments on . . .

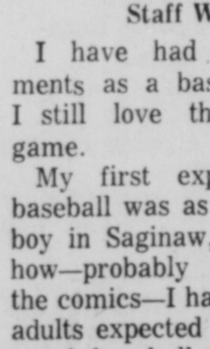
A New Look in Baseball

by BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

I have had many disapments as a baseball fan but I still love the grand old game.

My first experience with baseball was as a very young boy in Saginaw, Mich. Somehow—probably from reading the comics—I had learned that adults expected young boys to watch baseball games through a knothole in a fence.

Saginaw, in those good old days, had a team in the Michigan - Ontario League, fondly known as the Mint League. So one hot summer afternoon I dutifully trudged across town to the ball park and applied my eye to a knothole in the fence.



CUMMINS

Nothing happened. Saginaw was on the road, playing in London or Port Huron or perhaps Bay City. That was my first disappointment in baseball.

THERE HAVE been many more since, with the Tigers and with the Cubs. But now things are changing. All the wrongs are going to be righted and the sun put back in the sky. Television is taking over baseball.

Oh, I know some of the old traditions will linger for a while. Everything can't be changed overnight but changed it will be, sooner or later.

The names of the teams will have to be changed. Dodgers and Tigers and A's and Orioles. How can you merchandise items like that? Before long, I predict, we will have the San Francisco Soapers and the Kansas City Cornflakes and the St. Louis Suds Sippers. Then watch that merchandise start to move!

ANOTHER VERY old fashioned custom has been the way the teams are chosen to play in the World Series. As most of you readers know, all the teams play 162 games between April and October and the team that wins the most in the American League plays the team that wins the most in the National League. When television completes its takeover, the Nielsen organization or some other rating group will run a test in September and the teams with the right audience appeal will be selected for the World Series.

Another serious problem has been what to do with players who aren't wanted. For decades and decades baseball teams have followed the practice of asking waivers on unwanted players and giving them their unconditional release if no one claims them. What a wasteful and barbarous practice!

I see the day coming when such players will be given away as prizes on "The Price Is Right." Then at least they'll be assured of a good home. Maybe the entire Washington Senator team will be given away.

I'M SURE television can do a lot to present the psychological problems of baseball players, much as it revealed the psyches of cowboys and gunmen. Lots of second basemen have had real Oedipus complexes, but you'd never know it from reading John Carmichael.

Baseball managers have been a disappointing lot, too. Most of them sit deep in the shadows of the dugout, making wig-wag signals with a scorecard in between weary trips to the mound.

This is intolerable for television, which will spend anything to give its viewers the best. Watch out, Al Lopez and Walt Alston and Johnny Keane! On your toes! or the next all-star teams will be managed by Art Linkletter and Garfield Goose. Baseball is on the march!

One of the pitfalls the suburbs try to avoid is mixed zoning uses in a common neighborhood. In a big city it isn't hard to find seven or eight separate uses in a single block, an eighth of a mile. There may be single family homes, apartments, stores, industry in any combination.

A most unattractive picture, you'll agree, and so some unsung genius devised zoning laws, the tool by which a corporate municipality can establish a general plan to govern the use of lands within its boundaries.

A MASTER plan is laid out and new subdividers or developers are pressed to fit their plans into the established pattern. They don't always like to, because they can often see ways to turn a dollar or two by some other use.

But generallly they come around. Major developers are not the real threat to zoning. It's the insidious small violation or deviation which can defeat the major premise, which is to give protection to the single family homeowner.

KLINE

"Spot zoning" has become an epithet in suburban lingo, and zoning board members would prefer other accusations than that they had granted zoning out of keeping with the area, which might set a precedent for multiplication of the use and so be the cause of increasing blight in a neighborhood.

After all, zoning boards are challenged to maintain the character of a neighborhood—forever.

Zoning officials are coming to realize that one of the worst threats to the zoning codes written by experts in the field is the multiple occupancy of single family homes.

TWENTY YEARS ago it was the accepted thing to remodel the upstairs into an apartment after the children were grown and gone. Here was nice income for old age. Soon most of the houses on the block were divided, and the character of the quiet street changed.

The new complete towns built in recent years have a similar situation, when homes are rented to a group, maybe school teachers, pilots, or just friends. Ignoring dark hints of goings-on, the fact is such multiple occupancy is out of keeping with the strict application of the zoning code, and the advent of apartment buildings in the suburbs obviates the need.

Other municipalities are watching with interest the test case currently being fought by Des Plaines to uphold the city's restriction against unrelated people living in the same house. If the courts rule in favor of the zoning code, this practice can be stopped without further ado.

LATE MODEL zoning codes generally include a five-year amortization clause to eliminate non-conforming zoning uses, the remodeled residences included.

Someone is going to be hurt when the five-year limit is reached. Older folks who depended on that income are going to miss it. The question is whether they must suffer or the entire municipality.

I'm not sympathetic toward those non-relations who are renting houses instead of apartments, but I'm certainly glad that I don't have to blow the whistle on the old folks.

Suburbanites 'Speak Up!'

On Women in Politics

By PAT ADAM
Staff Writer

Voting for a woman for village president was endorsed by a majority of northwest suburban residents questioned about the possibility this week.

Nine out of 14 persons contacted said they definitely would vote for a woman provided she was the best candidate. One man gave rather half-hearted endorsement to the idea, saying he "would not refuse" to vote for a woman candidate. Another man conceded that a woman probably could do a good job but felt the fair sex might better put their particular talents to use in areas other than politics.

TWO PERSONS preferred not to express an opinion, saying they did not care much for politics anyway. The only individual apposed without qualification was a woman.

Those interviewed were less inclined to vote for a woman for President of the United States. Only five really favored the idea. Another five were reluctant to endorse a woman for chief executive but did not give a flat "no." Two were opposed, both women.

Mrs. Don McFarlane, 334 Lincoln, Buffalo Grove, a homemaker, said she would vote for a woman for village president "but not because she was a woman."

"SHE SHOULD have the same qualifications as a man," said Mrs. McFarlane, stipulating particularly education and experience.

The presidency of the United States she considers a "job for a man."

"The one who has that position must be cool-headed, and a woman is too emotional," she said.

"If a woman is capable, educated and civic-minded, I think it's a good idea," answered Mrs. Robert E. Druger, 206 S. Ottendorf Road, Streamwood, also a housewife, citing Clare Boothe Luce as the kind of woman she would consider qualified for a public office.

"I WOULD have to adjust my thinking about a woman for the Presidency of the United States," admitted Mrs. Druger. "I think men are better able to make decisions."

"If you can't fight them, join them" was the attitude of Thomas O. Glessner, 444 Bluebonnet Lane, Hoffman Estates.

"If a woman is capable, I would vote for her," Glessner, an accounting expert, said.

A good education and both knowledge and experience in politics would be the necessary attributes for a woman seeking the office of village president or U. S. President, in Glessner's opinion. He could see only one drawback.

PAT ADAM

"They might sit down and cry if things don't go right, but they probably would go where nobody would see them," he laughingly commented.

GEORGE Wilkinson, Bensenville pharmacist, felt some women are more capable than men to hold the office of village president and said he would vote for a woman if she were the best candidate. He mentioned family responsibilities as a possible handicap.

Wilkins expressed hesitancy about voting for a woman for President of the United States.

"That is a tough job, and a woman would be too emotional. She would be inclined to take things too personally," he said.

"If a woman can take care of her home and is well-informed and able, I think she is as entitled as a man to run for village president," replied Mrs. Ralph E. Wells, 6N121 Hillcrest Drive, Medinah, who said she would give her vote to a woman candidate. "She ought to have honesty and integrity of person, the same qualifications I look for in a man."

SHE WAS not so sure about voting for a woman for President.

"It would depend upon the opposition," she said. "Psychologically I would turn toa man, but if there were a difference in political philosophy, I would vote for the woman."

Louise Greinke, office manager for an insurance firm in Mount Prospect, was "definitely for" a woman as village president.

"More women should seek public office, she said, "They have more time, and all women are becoming more aware of what they want."

"In some fields, like educations, welfare and health, they are better qualified than men."

MRS. GREINKE felt a woman seeking public office should have had experience in some kind of civic or club work first. She also favored a woman President but thought people had to get "more used to the idea."

A woman who tried unsuccessfully herself for public office, Mrs. Helen Macior of Rolling Meadows, said she would vote "yes" for a qualified woman candidate for village president.

"But heaven help the woman who runs," she added.

She cited women's interest in schools as one special area in which they would contribute, adding that she thought them just as capable as men in budgetary matters.

WHILE FAVORING a woman as chief executive, Mrs. Macior commented, "I don't think people are ready for that, and I don't think we will see one in our generawill."

AN EMPHATIC "no" to voting for a woman in either office was voiced by Mrs. Alvin Holtzman, 251 Fern, Elk Grove Village.

"Women aren't the type to make major decisions. They are more emotional and not as level-headed as men," she stated.

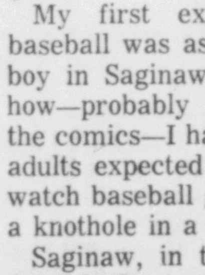
A New Look in Baseball

by BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

I have had many disappments as a baseball fan but I still love the grand old game.

My first experience with baseball was as a very young boy in Saginaw, Mich. Somehow—probably from reading the comics—I had learned that adults expected young boys to watch baseball games through a knothole in a fence.

Saginaw, in those good old days, had a team in the Michigan - Ontario League, fondly known as the Mint League. So one hot summer afternoon I dutifully trudged across town to the ball park and applied my eye to a knothole in the fence.



CUMMINS

Nothing happened. Saginaw was on the road, playing in London or Port Huron or perhaps Bay City. That was my first disappointment in baseball.

THERE HAVE been many more since, with the Tigers and with the Cubs. But now things are changing. All the wrongs are going to be righted and the sun put back in the sky. Television is taking over baseball.

Oh, I know some of the old traditions will linger for a while. Everything can't be changed overnight but changed it will be, sooner or later.

The names of the teams will have to be changed. Dodgers and Tigers and A's and Orioles. How can you merchandise items like that? Before long, I predict, we will have the San Francisco Soapers and the Kansas City Cornflakes and the St. Louis Suds Sippers. Then watch that merchandise start to move!

ANOTHER VERY old fashioned custom has been the way the teams are chosen to play in the World Series. As most of you readers know, all the teams play 162 games between April and October and the team that wins the most in the American League plays the team that wins the most in the National League. When television completes its takeover, the Nielsen organization or some other rating group will run a test in September and the teams with the right audience appeal will be selected for the World Series.

Another serious problem has been what to do with players who aren't wanted. For decades and decades baseball teams have followed the practice of asking waivers on unwanted players and giving them their unconditional release if no one claims them. What a wasteful and barbarous practice!

I see the day coming when such players will be given away as prizes on "The Price Is Right." Then at least they'll be assured of a good home. Maybe the entire Washington Senator team will be given away.

I'M SURE television can do a lot to present the psychological problems of baseball players, much as it revealed the psyches of cowboys and gunmen. Lots of second basemen have had real Oedipus complexes, but you'd never know it from reading John Carmichael.

Baseball managers have been a disappointing lot, too. Most of them sit deep in the shadows of the dugout, making wig-wag signals with a scorecard in between weary trips to the mound.

This is intolerable for television, which will spend anything to give its viewers the best. Watch out, Al Lopez and Walt Alston and Johnny Keane! On your toes! or the next all-star teams will be managed by Art Linkletter and Garfield Goose. Baseball is on the march!

Applauds Council Decision To Assess Birch Propaganda

It is rather peculiar that an article such as that of the Paddock Publication's "Birch Propaganda Must Be Answered"—Dec. 24—should raise such a hue and cry from the Birch sympathizers. When groups of the far right extremist camp, such as the Birch Society, avail themselves freely of their guaranteed constitutional rights of freedom of speech, press, etc., they must anticipate and expect retaliation.

When most of us in America are labeled "Consymps, Communist sympathizers, dupes or liberals" because we do not accept the Blue Book's definition of what a "good American" must be, is it surprising that a reaction sets in? When respected public figures like Allen Dulles, Dwight Eisenhower and the late President John F. Kennedy are accused of being conscious agents of the "Communist Conspiracy," is it any wonder Americans sit up and take a long look at the source of such libel?

Just less than three months after President Kennedy's assassination, American Opinion (a John Birch Society magazine) carried an article by Revilo P. Oliver, University of Illinois professor and a national councilor of the Society. Professor Oliver charged that President Kennedy did much for the "Communist Conspiracy." He continued, "If the international vermin succeed in completing their occupation of our country —Americans will remember Kennedy while they live, and will curse him as they face the firing squads or toil in a brutish degradation—etc."

Robert Welch Jr., founder of the Society and editor of the magazine, called this article "a superb commentary." (Chicago Daily News — Feb. 11, 1964) Is it unusual for human nature to resist such boldness —such reckless irresponsibility?

It has been argued that the membership of the Birch Society be regarded as a separate entity, apart from its leader or leaders, yet this Society is Mr. Welch's brain child, his theories, his theology, his strategy, his inspiration. Emerson once wrote, "An institution is the lengthened shadow of one man." The Society follows and obeys his leadership.

To follow this movement in all its facets and assertions is not easy. The average citizen has little time to explore all materials and has no ready access to informational sources. It is not enough to enter a Birch Society reading room (of which there are 200 newly formed ones in the United States). Nor is it enough to listen to or view one of the 7,000 right-wing radio and television broadcasts weekly in 50 states. These are prepared by groups whose officers are either acknowledged members of the Birch Society or linked with it in other ways. These groups now spend upwards of $20 million a year for such purpose.

This is but getting a one-sided look. What a lopsided debate! The Federal Communications Commission declared in a public statement July 26, 1963, that "if one viewpoint of a controversial issue of public importance is presented, the radio or television station involved is obligated to make a responsible effort to present the other opposing viewpoint or viewpoints. —it is immaterial whether a particular program or viewpoint is presented under the label of 'Americanism,' 'anti - Communism' of 'states rights' — or whether it is a paid announcement, official speech, editorial or religious broadcast." Perhaps the time has come to challenge these broadcasts and demand equal time to present the opposing viewpoint.

I, for one, applaud the National Council for Civic Responsshould take exception to the formation of such a council.

Why shouldn't we assess such movements as the Birch Society? This group is sitting in judgment upon everything that goes on in American life and attempting to confine our thinking in a specific groove—their's! Those of us who refuse to accept their program are immediately labeled (and libeled). Itdoes look to me as if Mr. Pfister is attempting to cast a dubious light upon the Council by linking it to the Council on Foreign Affairs. (Dubious, that is, if you accept the premise, upon reading between the lines, that the Council on Foreign Affairs is part of this international "Communist Conspiracty" to which the Rightists give much credence.) This National Council of Civic Responsibility is sponsored by the Public Affairs Institute. Membership includes former cabinet members, heads of unions, educators, scientists, wrietrs. Its headquarters are 65 East 55th St., New York City.

To be alert and informed American citizens in today's world is imperative. Dialogue is important on all controversial issues. Let us not smother free exchange of ideas. Let us not assume privileges we would not accord another. Above all, let us not be overawed by any individual or group which terms himself or itself "Anti-Communist" and, by wrapping themselves up in the folds of the American flag, expect to be free of censure and investigation. Nothing in American life is so sacrosanct that it cannot be investigated.

Committeeman Criticized on Forming Club

An open letter to the Democratic voter of Palatine Township:

Once again Mr. Oliver Dilks has displayed his total lack of interest in the Democratic Party. The fact that Mr. Dilks, for the present, is the Democratic Committeeman of Palatine Township, notwithstanding, I refer specifically to his forming an organization called the Democratic Club of Palatine Township. Mr. Dilks incorporated the club even though he refused to become a member of a club of the same name last November.

It is obvious that Mr. Dilks wants nothing to do with people or organizations in Palatine Township that he doesn't control.

The original Democratic Club of Palatine Township was formed to allow all Democrats in the township of Palatine an opportunity to take an active interest in Democratic politics. I am sure that the number of people who joined and expressed approval of the club's statement of principles has indicated to Mr. Dilks that the age of "bossism" and double-dealing in Democratic politics in Palatine Township are fast drawing to a close.

If Mr. Dilks thinks borrowing a name and incorporating it will make the people who oppose his brand of politics go away he is sadly mistaken.

Wake up, Mr. Dilks: make an effort to meet the democratic voters in Paltine Township. If you do, I am sure you will discover that borrowing the name of your new club will do you as much good as trying to blot out the sun by putting your hands over your eyes.

Skating Pond Management Is Criticized

As a taxpayer of this community for the past thirty years, I vigorously protest the managing of the Central Park Skating Pond. My experiences of the past week—the week of January 10th were as follows:—

On Tuesday, January 12th, with the temperature down to around 20 degrees, the Shelter House was closed to the small cildren who get out of school at 3:00 p.m. and they were compelled to leave their shoes outside and sit on the ground to put on their skates, while one of the Park District workers was raking the yard — Oh Yes — he had the key in his pocket but had orders not to unlock the door. Another man was in the building looking out of the window but would not let the children in.

The only time that these small children are able to go skating is after school and approximately 5 or 5:30 p.m. Why can't they be given just a small corner of the pond where they can learn to skate instead of permitting Hockey Games to be played on the whole pond? Certainly a hazard to them.

Wednesday — January 13th, with the temperature around 10 degrees — NO SKATING. The pond had to be flooded at an hour when the children should have been skating.

Thursday — January 14th, with the temperature right around Zero — the ice is still soft — it hasn't frozen. Just how dumb does the management think we poor taxpayers are? Skating is excellent in all the surrounding suburbs — why not Bensenville?

'Birch Society Welcomes Investigation'

Let us spend a few minutes on the subject of your Dec. 24th editorial "Birch Propaganda Must be Answered." I also agree with other letters recently in the Fence Post that the John Birch Society's position and views should be presented in your paper. Certainly no broad minded liberal would deny the freedom of speech and association to those of us who oppose atheists in the churches and communists in our government.

We can begin with the most obvious fact, which your editorial omitted of course, that is that the JBS has and still does welcome the investigation of its goals, purposes, books, information, etc. Any and all chapter meetings are open to anyone who seriously wishes to find out about the organization. It emphatically encourages study by all, members or not, of the people and events of the last 40 odd years. The Birch Society is in fact an educational organization, incorporated in Massachusetts as such and operating all over the country as such.

To help toward the education of the uninformed and the antagonistic, may I repeat a few findings from the "California Senate Factfinding subcommittee on Un-American Activities" which thoroughly investigated the John Birch Society in 1962. Quote "We find the JBS to be a Right, ANTI-communist fundamentalist organization. We have not found the Society to be either a secret or a fascist organization, nor have we found the great majority of its members in California to be mentally unstable, crackpots or hysterical about the threat of Communist subversion. Our investigation and study was requested by the Society which had been publicly charged with being a secret, fascist, subversive, un-American, anti-Semitic organization. WE HAVE NOT FOUND ANY OF THESE ACCUSATIONS TO BE SUPPORTED BY THE EVIDENCE." End of report.

Let me point our to your readers another most interesting fact. I know of NO conservative who has taken the Fifth Amendment. It is only the liberal who must hide his activity from view. It is also only the liberal who would institutionalize those who would expose his socialism, or disagree with his views.

If the Paddock papers are sincerely interested in answering "Birch propaganda," may I suggest you stop editorializing and print the enclosed portion of the Congressional Record of June 12, 1962 which clearly states the beliefs and principles of the John Birch Society. Anyone who is interested should send a card to Box 30, Mount Prospect for the time and place of the next chapter meeting closest to them.

If some Birch Society views seem extreme and unyielding, remember this. Compromise with your religious beliefs eventually ends with only ritualistic motions. Compromise with communism and socialism also end with loss of your religious and personal freedom and your material wealth. This is not speculation, this is history for any who care to investigate.

Says Small Inheritance Tax Creates 'Economic Monarchy'

A new year is beginning. New legislation will be considered by both the state and federal governments. Some of the legislation will involve taxes. I want to point out an area that should be evaluated for tax injustice. That area is the inheritance tax.

The inheritance tax is small. And the injustice of it is that it is small. It is small in relation to the other taxes. Our economic system, because of this tax, may be described as an "Economic Monarchy." The tax rate on wealth passed from generation to generation is far less than the tax rate on an earned income.

The injustice of a small inheritance tax is several-fold. First, the small tax is a corruption of our basic competitive system. It corrupts our economic system just as a political monarchy would corrupt our political system. The social evils of a political monarchy are fairly well understood. The son becomes king when the father dies. Be he competent or incompetent, kind or cruel, honest or corrupt is of no consequence. He becomes king and society benefits accordingly. And so in an economic monarchy, the heir, be he competent or incompetent, lazy or energetic, honest or corrupt, is put in a position of power and society benefits accordingly.

Second, because of the small inheritance tax rate, the government is forced to obtain money from other sources. This invariably means taxes on some sort of income. This penalizes the productful individual in society. The productful individual not only provides society with a valuable service, but a good part of his remuneration is taken away from him in the form of taxes.

Third, the small inheritance tax rate can diminish patriotism. It's a small comfort to a father who gives his life for his country knowing that while society appreciates his efforts that guarantee its well-being, the well-being of his family will suffer in the loss of a father, bread-winner, and future estate. Indeed, even in giving up his life, the father cannot pass down to his heirs any exemption of military duty.

Fourth, the small tax rate misguides the efforts and energies of parents. Understandably, the welfare of their children is paramount in their minds. And perhaps the most direct and tangible deed a parent can do is to provide financial security for their children. But it can't provide good character and happiness.

It is not my intention to suggest the elimination of inheritance, rather to point out the injustice of the small rate. I would suggest that inheritance be regarded as income and taxed accordingly.

Spouses, of course, should be exempt from this.

Lois Seiler's Recipes Missed

Four years ago we moved from Mount Prospect to Huntington, W. Va., and needless to say you cannot compare living here if you were born and raised in the big city.

We lived in Mount Prospect for eight years.

At first I just would not let go of all my ties back home, so we continued to have the Mount Prospect Herald sent to us for two years. I would still have it sent to us, but my husband felt it was time for us to get used to this way of life and forget some of the things we left behind.

I miss that paper and most of all the recipes I collected throughout the years. Outside of that, friends and neighborhoods do change and gradually you do lose some interest in the paper.

However, I suddenly got the bright idea to write and ask if you do send any section or single page, which one is interested in receiving. I would like a copy of Lois Seiler's section. Recipes! Personal recipes women from the neighboring areas donate.

It could be sent once every month or two or however you care to handle it.

Paddock Publications should have a cookbook made, from all the recipes that have been in the paper. I would be one to buy it.

On Tuesday, January 12th, with the temperature down to around 20 degrees, the Shelter House was closed to the small cildren who get out of school at 3:00 p.m. and they were compelled to leave their shoes outside and sit on the ground to put on their skates, while one of the Park District workers was raking the yard — Oh Yes — he had the key in his pocket but had orders not to unlock the door. Another man was in the building looking out of the window but would not let the children in.

The only time that these small children are able to go skating is after school and approximately 5 or 5:30 p.m. Why can't they be given just a small corner of the pond where they can learn to skate instead of permitting Hockey Games to be played on the whole pond? Ceratinly a hazard to them.

Wednesday — January 13th, with the temperature around 10 degrees — NO SKATING. The pond had to be flooded at an hour when the children should have been skating.

Thursday — January 14th, with the temperature right around Zero — the ice is still soft — it hasn't frozen. Just how dumb does the management think we poor taxpayers are? Skating is excellent in all the surrounding suburbs — why not Bensenville?

'Birch Society Welcomes Investigation'

Let us spend a few minutes on the subject of your Dec. 24th editorial "Birch Propaganda Must be Answered." I also agree with other letters recently in the Fence Post that the John Birch Society's position and views should be presented in your paper. Certainly no broad minded liberal would deny the freedom of speech and association to those of us who oppose atheists in the churches and communists in our government.

We can begin with the most obvious fact, which your editorial omitted of course, that is that the JBS has and still does welcome the investigation of its goals, purposes, books, information, etc. Any and all chapter meetings are open to anyone who seriously wishes to find out about the organization. It emphatically encourages study by all, members or not, of the people and events of the last 40 odd years. The Birch Society is in fact an educational organization, incorporated in Massachusetts as such and operating all over the country as such.

To help toward the education of the uninformed and the antagonistic, may I repeat a few findings from the "California Senate Factfinding subcommittee on Un-American Activities" which thoroughly investigated the John Birch Society in 1962. Quote "We find the JBS to be a Right, ANTI-communist fundamentalist organization. We have not found the Society to be either a secret or a fascist organization, nor have we found the great majority of its members in California to be mentally unstable, crackpots or hysterical about the threat of Communist subversion. Our investigation and study was requested by the Society which had been publicly charged with being a secret, fascist, subversive, un-American, anti-Semitic organization. WE HAVE NOT FOUND ANY OF THESE ACCUSATIONS TO BE SUPPORTED BY THE EVIDENCE." End of report.

Let me point our to your readers another most interesting fact. I know of NO conservative who has taken the Fifth Amendment. It is only the liberal who must hide his activity from view. It is also only the liberal who would institutionalize those who would expose his socialism, or disagree with his views.

If the Paddock papers are sincerely interested in answering "Birch propaganda," may I suggest you stop editorializing and print the enclosed portion of the Congressional Record of June 12, 1962 which clearly states the beliefs and principles of the John Birch Society. Anyone who is interested should send a card to Box 30, Mount Prospect for the time and place of the next chapter meeting closest to them.

If some Birch Society views seem extreme and unyielding, remember this. Compromise with your religious beliefs eventually ends with only ritualistic motions. Compromise with communism and socialism also end with loss of your religious and personal freedom and your material wealth. This is not speculation, this is history for any who care to investigate.

Says Small Inheritance Tax Creates 'Economic Monarchy'

A new year is beginning. New legislation will be considered by both the state and federal governments. Some of the legislation will involve taxes. I want to point out an area that should be evaluated for tax injustice. That area is the inheritance tax.

The inheritance tax is small. And the injustice of it is that it is small. It is small in relation to the other taxes. Our economic system, because of this tax, may be described as an "Economic Monarchy." The tax rate on wealth passed from generation to generation is far less than the tax rate on an earned income.

The injustice of a small inheritance tax is several-fold. First, the small tax is a corruption of our basic competitive system. It corrupts our economic system just as a political monarchy would corrupt our political system. The social evils of a political monarchy are fairly well understood. The son becomes king when the father dies. Be he competent or incompetent, kind or cruel, honest or corrupt is of no consequence. He becomes king and society benefits accordingly. And so in an economic monarchy, the heir, be he competent or incompetent, lazy or energetic, honest or corrupt, is put in a position of power and society benefits accordingly.

Second, because of the small inheritance tax rate, the government is forced to obtain money from other sources. This invariably means taxes on some sort of income. This penalizes the productful individual in society. The productful individual not only provides society with a valuable service, but a good part of his remuneration is taken away from him in the form of taxes.

Third, the small inheritance tax rate can diminish patriotism. It's a small comfort to a father who gives his life for his country knowing that while society appreciates his efforts that guarantee its well-being, the well-being of his family will suffer in the loss of a father, bread-winner, and future estate. Indeed, even in giving up his life, the father cannot pass down to his heirs any exemption of military duty.

Fourth, the small tax rate misguides the efforts and energies of parents. Understandably, the welfare of their children is paramount in their minds. And perhaps the most direct and tangible deed a parent can do is to provide financial security for their children. But it can't provide good character and happiness.

It is not my intention to suggest the elimination of inheritance, rather to point out the injustice of the small rate. I would suggest that inheritance be regarded as income and taxed accordingly.

Spouses, of course, should be exempt from this.

Lois Seiler's Recipes Missed

Four years ago we moved from Mount Prospect to Huntington, W. Va., and needless to say you cannot compare living here if you were born and raised in the big city.

We lived in Mount Prospect for eight years.

At first I just would not let go of all my ties back home, so we continued to have the Mount Prospect Herald sent to us for two years. I would still have it sent to us, but my husband felt it was time for us to get used to this way of life and forget some of the things we left behind.

I miss that paper and most of all the recipes I collected throughout the years. Outside of that, friends and neighborhoods do change and gradually you do lose some interest in the paper.

However, I suddenly got the bright idea to write and ask if you do send any section or single page, which one is interested in receiving. I would like a copy of Lois Seiler's section. Recipes! Personal recipes women from the neighboring areas donate.

It could be sent once every month or two or however you care to handle it.

Paddock Publications should have a cookbook made, from all the recipes that have been in the paper. I would be one to buy it.

Memo to: heads of industry in this area
Subject: the second annual Paddock Publications industrial review
From: Paddock Publications

Our second annual Industrial Review edition will be published March 18th.

As expected, it will be the most completely informative and interesting industrial round-up ever offered to the Northwest Area. It will be an area wide compilation of company stories (written by industrial people telling their own stories in their own way) and will give interesting insights about all the great industrial organizations in the area.

These stories, presented in this way, in this big Paddock once-a-year edition is an excellent opportunity for you to put your company's story and product in front of the entire Paddock reader audience . . . 15 editions reaching 37,000 homes.

Your industry is an important part of the community . . . the Paddock Industrial Review lets you do a real public relations job in your community and furthers your image, your product and your plans in your neighbor's minds. We recommend you participate in this edition for these and many additional reasons . . . but please do it soon . . . deadline date is almost here.

Call CLearbrook 3-1520 and ask for our Director of the Industrial Review. He will quickly give you the details.

Sincerely yours,
Paddock Publications

P. S. An Important Message to Retailers.

The Industrial Review will get much attention and interest from our vast readership, making it a valuable edition for tying in your product or service ad. Talk to your Paddock Ad Representative about this important issue.

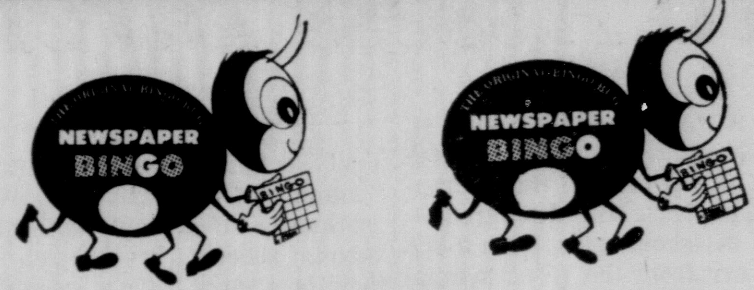
PLAY AS MANY CARDS AS YOU WISH!

WIN AS MUCH AS $300.00 THIS WEEK!

IT'S FUN AND IT'S FREE!

NEW CARDS EACH WEEK!

2 NEW GAMES EACH WEEK



THESE BUGS CAN WIN YOU $300.00

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

PICK UP FREE BINGO CARDS

Each week pick up your Free Bingo Cards from any of the sponsors (Adults only, please). Rules of the game allow the merchants to give you only one card on each store visit. You may, however, make as many visits as you wish. The more cards you play the better your chances of winning!

HOW TO PLAY

To play, merely check the ads in the Sunday Suburbanite on Sunday, or the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications. Different set of numbers each Sunday and each Thursday means two different games with the same card. Many ads contain one or more "Newspaper Bingo" numbers in the Bingo Bug (shown above). Other numbers, most of them in this symbol, will be scattered throughout the paper. On the want ad pages the numbers will be included in special type with the notation of "Newspaper Bingo Bug Sez." If you can match all 24 numbers on any one of your Bingo cards with those appearing in either the Sunday Suburbanite, or the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications (but not both), you have a "Bingo" and you are a winner.

$300 WEEKLY!!

Winners will share a weekly cash prize of $300. If there is only one winner, he gets all $300. If there is more than one winner, all winners will share equally. If there are no winners any week, the $300 weekly prize money will be added to the following week's prize fund.

CHECK EACH ISSUE OF THE PAPER

Each Sunday Suburbanite game is complete within one issue of the Sunday Suburbanite; each Paddock Thursday game is complete within one issue of the Thursday editions of Paddock Publications. You cannot use numbers from both issues for the same game. A new set of numbers will appear in the Sunday Suburbanite each Sunday, plus another new set of numbers in the Paddock Thursday editions. A new color Bingo card will be available each week at the participating stores. To be a winner, you must use a Bingo Card of the correct color for that week's games. The color card for each week's games will be announced each week in the newspaper.

IF YOU ARE A WINNER . . .

If you have a winning Bingo Card, all 24 numbers of which appear in either the Sunday Suburbanite or your Thursday edition of Paddock Publications, write your name, address, phone number and from which store you procured the card on the back, and drop in the mail to Paddock office. Envelope must be postmarked by Friday of that week; or bring your card in to the office of Paddock Publications at 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights by 9 a.m. of the following Monday morning.

RULES OF THE GAME:

NO OBLIGATION OR PURCHASE NECESSARY

There is no obligation or purchase necessary. A copy of the paper is available for playing the game at office of Paddock Publications as well as public libraries and at sponsors' stores. You can play as many cards as you wish — they're free. Get additional cards, one at a time, from the friendly sponsors listed below. (Adults only, please.)

DIFFERENT COLORED CARDS EACH WEEK

The color of the cards changes each week. To be a winner, you must use a Bingo Card of the correct color for that week. Mutilated cards will not be honored. All 24 Numbers must be covered to win.

CHANCE DETERMINES NUMBERS

Bingo numbers will be drawn at random from a Bingo Number cage at 217 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights.

Some duplication of Bingo Numbers may exist in certain sponsors' ads due to a newspaper production problem. This duplication in no way affects the total number of Bingo numbers drawn. All numbers drawn at random from our Bingo cage appear somewhere in each issue of the newspapers.

Employees of Paddock Publications and their families are not eligible to win any cash prizes.

A New Look for Arithmetic

'Modern Math' Teaching Here to Stay

Holtzee was one of the participating teachers in developing a coordinated modern math curriculum design for schools underlying Arlington High School District 214. (Staff Photo)

Modern math is here to stay.

That is the unanimous opinion of teachers, principals, superintendents and curriculum directors in public and parochial schools of northwest Cook and north Du-Page Counties.

Just how far a school system has gone "modern," how "far out" the new approach compared to traditional mathematics has taken local schools, varies greatly.

But every school has initiated modern math in place of previous traditional forms of arithmetic study.

THERE HAVE been several recent national articles which questioned whether modern math was the proper approach for all students. Further questions have arisen on whether the new mathematics is too abstract and not tied sufficiently to real-life functions and situations.

And many parents, particularly those whose children are in primary grades, are not sure that modern math is the answer. It is disconcertingto answer. It is disconcerting to try to answer a second grader's question on mathematics homework only to discover you can't read or understand the assignment.

Modern math is basically "old" mathematics coordinated and integrated into one basic unit instead of the separate "packages" in which current mathematics evolved. Instead of addition, multiplication, algebra and geometry, all mathematics facts are coordinated into a developed program ranging from kindergarten through twelfth grade.

IN THE modern math system, kindergarten children will be learning some basic geometry and the concepts of sets and one-to-one relationships. Furthermore, they will know the proper mathematical terms for what they have learned.

Instead of merely learning to count, they will learn the concepts of numbers, equal and unequal quantities, the concept of zero, and that numerals (not numbers) are the names for numbers.

The emphasis, starting at kindergarten and carrying through the senior year at high school, is on understanding of principles and comprehension of how mathematics in all phases integrates and applies to other functions and sciences.

TEACHERS emphasize that modern math makes each day's lesson different. This engenders enthusiasm on the part of both teachers and students in contrast to the old rote, over-and-over learning. In the words of Sister Judea, principal of St. James School, Arlington Heights, "Children love the new math program much more than the traditional. Children get very tired when work is the same every day — with modern math it is something new each day."

Richard Monnard, new mathematics department chairman at Palatine - Schaumburg High School District 211, explained that modern math emphasized understanding and basic ideas and teaching was through discovery and the intuitive approach. "The idea is introduced and then backed up with deductive thinking."

He added that motivation with modern math appeared to be higher — "Teachers are more enthusiastic, particularly those of remedial and average classes, because they can really teach. Before, general math and remedial math used to be review of elementary school work — drab for student and teacher. Now with the modern math discovery approach the enthusiasm of teachers rubs off on students. There is a closer feeling between teacher and student — the rapport is so much greater now."

SISTER VICTORIA of St. Alphonsus School, Prospect Heights, sees the enthusiasm coming from students back to teachers. "Many of our teachers are very enthusiastic about teaching modern math because the children are enthusiastic. The children seem very anxious to learn and we think in the end they will know their number systems much better."

Sister Judea explained that at St. James some traditional math was still taught — but with the use of modern-math techniques. "Children must get a good foundation in the fundamentals," she warned.

At St. Thomas of Villanova School, Winston Park, Palatine, Principal Sister St. Josef noted that on some achievement tests students did not appear to do as well in computation after a year's study of modern math compared with traditional arithmetic teaching. "At first, computation seemed to suffer, but in the reasoning tests — which had been very low with traditional math—modern math students scored much higher. In the long run students appear to do as well with computation and do understand the concepts much better."

ALL OF THE public and Lutheran parochial schools underlying Arlington High School District 214 have participated in developing a standardized modern math curriculum design. This gives, grade by grade, from kindergarten through ninth grade an outline of the math concepts and methods to be used. It sets a fast pace, giving primary students much of the fundamental math concepts at an earlier age plus introducing sets, geometry, quantitative relationships, fractions and mathematical abstracts.

Rod McLennan, mathematics curriculum coordinator of District 214, praised the effort in developing the curriculum design. He stressed the cooperation needed to integrate the thinking and course planning for 10 separate school units.

The coordinated program is now being used in schools of Wheeling-Buffalo Grove District 21, Palatine-Rolling Meadows District 15, Prospect Heights District 23, Arlington Heights District 25. River Trail (formerly Feehanville) District 26, Mount Prospect District 57 and Elk Grove District 59. It is also being used at St. Peter Lutheran School, Arlington Heights, and St. Paul Lutheran School, Mount Prospect.

WHILE THE elementary schools have uniformly turned to teaching modern math, the four high schools of District 214 — Arlington, Prospect, Forest View and Wheeling — have not completely changed from the traditional math format in some course. McLennan and Edward Spacapan, mathematics department chairman at Prospect High School, blamed part of the lag on the state rule which permits changing of textbooks only after a five-year period. "This is the year for new math books for most of our courses — and the change-over to modern math will be set by next fall," McLennan explained.

Don Purcell, Prospect math instructor, heads the textbook committee charged with checking the fast-growing number of high school modern math texts to determine which will be used for the coming five years—when perhaps continuing basic changes in math studies will take place.

A lack of a suitable text for the study of general mathematics brought District 214 to the writing of their one mimeographed "book" for the study of modern math for students not ready to enter the regular algebra courses. The book was written during two summer workshops by four District 214 teachers—Carl Uth, Mrs. Ellen Smith and Mrs. Janet Baltes, all of Prospect High School, and Miss Rosemary Chilstrom of Forest View.

HESITANCY to follow "fad" textbooks and a tendency to wait until a book has had some "experience in the field" is common among the many school districts surveyed.

"We would rather stay with a good, well-written traditional text and use supplementary modern math materials and teaching techniques, than buy a new modern math book which might not be satisfactory for five years we are required to keep books," McLennan explained.

Most of the Catholic elementary schools are still using supplementary workbooks and texts while waiting for a decision by the Chicago Archdiocesan School Board and the Joliet Diocesan School Board on the actual textbook series to be used.

At St. Colette Catholic School, Rolling Meadows, junior high math teacher Sister St. Laboure emphasized her anxiety to get into a regular modern math text, but stressed at St. Colette's she had been using a supplementary text recommended by the math department of Sacred Heart of Mary High School — taught by the same order of sisters.

NEXT YEAR, based on the expected designation of textbooks by the Archdiocese this February, she said the whole school — from third through eighth grades — would be formally in a modern math program in place of supplementary materials above fourth grade.

Sister Wanda, principal of St. Walter's School, Roselle, stressed that "Teaching modern math is not optional any more. Most of us feel it is here to stay, and the sooner we get acquainted with teaching it, the better."

She noted that the school was introducing modern math gradually, but that junior high students had a definite program, and that the program was being started in the lower grades. She explained that the Joliet Diocese is now investigating modern math texts and programs. "They are letting us use what we find feasible — then as this is investigated more and used more they will have actual experience before making a final decision on specific course materials."

Catholic high schools have not had the same handicap of waiting for diocese approval before swinging into the modern math program.

AT SACRED HEART of Mary Catholic Girls High School, Rolling Meadows, there has been a feeling in the past that "in a certain sense introducing modern math does tend to overload some courses." Sister St. James, chairman of the math department, explained this was because some of the students had never had modern math principles and time had to be taken to introduce them to basic concepts. She indicated this was improving with the adoption of modern math by Catholic elementary schools.

"Students do get more understanding from modern math, and students do find it more exciting," Sister St. James noted. She stated that modern math was used in all math classes at Sacred Heart. "The college entrance examinations are geared to modern math with the emphasis on structure rather than on computation. We must prepare our students to meet the college requirements," she noted.

At St. Viator High School for boys in Arlington Heights, Rev. Arnold Perham, math department head, explained that about 50 per cent of the math classes were on a modern math program. These covered the students in the top half of ability grouping. The whole school will be in a modern math program "by next year or certainly by the year after." He stressed that many of the entering students had been in modern math programs in grade schools, and that teachers who use traditional texts still used a modern math approach.

Fr. Perham emphasized, "When you offer algebra to all students, you have to find a book suitable for all abilities. We are trying to find a book for students who have less math aptitude—we have a good text for those of greater aptitude."

HIGH SCHOOL instructors in all public and parochial schools either hold masters' degrees, which assures some training in modern math teaching, or have attended special modern math summer institutes sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

McLennan noted there had been many summer institutes for high school teachers and explained that some teachers at District 214 schools had attended more than one.

Donald Holtzee, math instructor at Carl Sandburg Junior High School, Rolling Meadows, stated he had attended a NSF sponsored institute for elementary mathematics teachers. He noted that there had not been as many institutes at the elementary level, but praised the one in which he had participated. The institute included both public and parochial school teachers, including a sister from St. Alexis School, Bensenville, Holtzee said.

THE COORDINATION of elementary modern math programs with the curricula of local high school districts was praised at all of the high schools surveyed. In addition to the extensive curriculum design of High School District 214 with underlying schools, there have been a series of workshops to integrate modern math teaching at Palatine - Schaumburg High Schools with feeder schools.

Monnard said that both Palatine-Rolling Meadows District 15 and Hoffman-Schaumburg District 54 were using modern math, and that students entering high school seemed well prepared in modern math concepts. Next year the school will have completely swung into the modern math program, although they were now searching for a suitable modern math text for the general math course. "Next year we will have a four year program, with students having been put into the program on a year-to-year basis."

Based on modern math teaching, Monnard noted that a special "Honors" class of 16 seniors is taking calculus after completing the regular four-year high school program last year. Students in the accelerated math program are taking analytic geometry for a fourth year subject, he explained.

AT LAKE PARK High School in Medinah, all feeder schools are using modern math programs from kindergarten through eighth grade according to Daniel Hildebrandt, chairman of the math department. He stressed there had been a series of "in service training workshops" for teachers in public and parochial schools recognizing that mathematics is a kindergarten through twelfth grade program.

The feeder schools include public schools in Keeneyville, Bloomingdale, Roselle, Medinah and Itasca and all of the Catholic and Lutheran parochial schools there.

Hildebrandt deprecated statements that slower, non-college bound students do not benefit from modern math instruction. "In my own opinion and in statistical studies the slower learners benefit the most from modern math. For the first time they can see what is behind the reasoning and what is the structure of a problem rather than a conglomeration of unrelated facts."

FENTON HIGH School, Bensenville, has taken advantage of the change-over to modern math to introduce an advance-placement program. Students of high ability in seventh grade in Bensenville elementary schools are given a program which includes both seventh and eighth grade mathematics. At eighth grade they are given freshman high school algebra, then take plain and solid geometry, advanced algebra, analytics and college mathematics in high school.

Dr. Martin Zuckerman, superintendent of both Fenton High School and Bensenville elementary schools, stressed that modern math was used at all elementary levels at Bensenville and Wood Dale public schools which underlie Fenton High School. Modern math is also taught at all parochial schools in the high school district, Dr. Zuckerman said. Teachers from both public and parochial schools have participated in special workshops on modern math. he noted.

One of the major advantages of modern math, in the opinion of some educators is that students learn to "think logically" and this carries over to other subjects — both on the part of teachers and the students themselves.

Spacapan of Prospect High School says that the main emphasis of modern math recognizes the "need to teach students how to think." McLennan says, "The modern math pattern of thinking — the pattern of problem solving — is now being carried over into thinking by other teaching groups—in English and even, believe it or not, in art."

SISTER MARY Michaeline of St. Raymond Catholic School, Mount Prospect, stated "Modern math makes children more aware of basic principles and how they are used much more logically. It is good training for them to understand principles. Their thinking becomes more logical and this carries over into other subjects. If modern math is taught in focus, the child is taught to think in logical order and this produces the habit of thinking in a logical way—making deductions in all subject areas better."

All of the educators seem agreed that modern math is confusing to parents, although the concern and inquiries are far less at the high school level. There have been many efforts to make modern math understandable to parents — all with good response.

Both Arlington High School District 214 and Palatine High School District 211 have offered modern math courses for parents as part of their continuing education (night school) program.

AT ELK GROVE District 59, Mrs. Gloria Kinney, math consultant, explained the district is sponsoring its third workshop on modern math for parents. Registration for the curent workshop at Clearmont School, which started Tuesday night, was 130. A previous workshop at Rupley School was limited to 90 enrollment, and pressure has mounted for a repeat course. Registration was almost 100 at a combined workshop for parents of Forest View and Robert Frost Schools.

The Elk Grove workshops are a series of three meetings and are held in cooperation with PTA groups.

In Palatine and Rolling Meadows, a six-session course for parents has brought registrations ranging from about 50 to 100 at each of the junior high schools. A "second round" of workshops is being planned according to Marion Omiatek, curriculum director of District 15.

Further changes in math curriculum can be expected based on the advent of new concepts and the greater use of computers, according to James Ulrich, Arlington High School — but not as much as the present change which Ulrich called the first major change in mathematics teaching — a change from the base all the way through.

IS MODERN math really here to stay?

"Once you have taught modern math you find it is impossible to go back to traditional math teaching."

This was the comment of Prospect High's Purcell, and was quickly seconded by a large group of the high school math teachers participating in the conversation.

Most of the math educators agreed that the public expected more from students today— the experience of World War II and Sputnik pushed introduction of modern math and put new emphasis on science. They mutually felt the public would continue to expect high performance by teachers and students—there could be no retreat to the pre-modern math programs.

In the words of Sister St. Laboure of St. Colette's School, "Children have really gotten the concepts of modern math much easier—before there wasn't a scrap of meaning, just knowledge of the numbers themselves.

"And modern math sparks enthusiasm and understanding for other things. Just the other day we got into a lengthy discussion about Egyptians and Babylonians . . ."

That is a big change from two plus two equals four.

on modern math. he noted.

One of the major advantages of modern math, in the opinion of some educators is that students learn to "think logically" and this carries over to other subjects — both on the part of teachers and the students themselves.

Spacapan of Prospect High School says that the main emphasis of modern math recognizes the "need to teach students how to think." McLennan says, "The modern math pattern of thinking — the pattern of problem solving — is now being carried over into thinking by other teaching groups—in English and even, believe it or not, in art."

SISTER MARY Michaeline of St. Raymond Catholic School, Mount Prospect, stated "Modern math makes children more aware of basic principles and how they are used much more logically. It is good training for them to understand principles. Their thinking becomes more logical and this carries over into other subjects. If modern math is taught in focus, the child is taught to think in logical order and this produces the habit of thinking in a logical way—making deductions in all subject areas better."

All of the educators seem agreed that modern math is confusing to parents, although the concern and inquiries are far less at the high school level. There have been many efforts to make modern math understandable to parents — all with good response.

Both Arlington High School District 214 and Palatine High School District 211 have offered modern math courses for parents as part of their continuing education (night school) program.

AT ELK GROVE District 59, Mrs. Gloria Kinney, math consultant, explained the district is sponsoring its third workshop on modern math for parents. Registration for the curent workshop at Clearmont School, which started Tuesday night, was 130. A previous workshop at Rupley School was limited to 90 enrollment, and pressure has mounted for a repeat course. Registration was almost 100 at a combined workshop for parents of Forest View and Robert Frost Schools.

The Elk Grove workshops are a series of three meetings and are held in cooperation with PTA groups.

In Palatine and Rolling Meadows, a six-session course for parents has brought registrations ranging from about 50 to 100 at each of the junior high schools. A "second round" of workshops is being planned according to Marion Omiatek, curriculum director of District 15.

Further changes in math curriculum can be expected based on the advent of new concepts and the greater use of computers, according to James Ulrich, Arlington High School — but not as much as the present change which Ulrich called the first major change in mathematics teaching — a change from the base all the way through.

IS MODERN math really here to stay?

"Once you have taught modern math you find it is impossible to go back to traditional math teaching."

This was the comment of Prospect High's Purcell, and was quickly seconded by a large group of the high school math teachers participating in the conversation.

Most of the math educators agreed that the public expected more from students today— the experience of World War II and Sputnik pushed introduction of modern math and put new emphasis on science. They mutually felt the public would continue to expect high performance by teachers and students—there could be no retreat to the pre-modern math programs.

In the words of Sister St. Laboure of St. Colette's School, "Children have really gotten the concepts of modern math much easier—before there wasn't a scrap of meaning, just knowledge of the numbers themselves.

"And modern math sparks enthusiasm and understanding for other things. Just the other day we got into a lengthy discussion about Egyptians and Babylonians . . ."

That is a big change from two plus two equals four.

'Little Hut' Next on Country Club Stage

"The Little Hut," a French story based on the eternal triangle and laced with British humor, is the next attraction at Country Club Theatre, Rand Road and Euclid Avenue, Prospect Heights. It opens Tuesday and runs through March 7.

An unimaginative businessman is shipwrecked on a remote island with his beautiful French wife and his best friend, who have been lovers for six years.

Their temporary quarters are two huts, one large enough for two and the other roomy enough only for one. The reaction of each character to a constant shift in sleeping partners provides a humorous and unexpected twist to the play.

John Cox plays the complacent husband, Ric Riccardo the jealous lover and Faith Quabius is the wife. Norman Rice also appears in the cast. (Bill

Italian to Conduct Chicago Symphony

Carlo Maria Giulini, who was the youngest operatic conductor on the regular roster of La Scala when he was appointed there in the 1951-52 season, will be guest conductor of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra at regular subscription concerts Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 28, 29 and 30, at Orchestra Hall.

Giulini made his American debut with the Chicago Symphony at the invitation of Frtiz Reiner, then its music director, in the autumn of 1955.

For the first concerts of his current two-week engagement, he has chosen an all Mozart program—the Masonic Funeral Music (K.477); Divertimento No. 15, B flat major (K.287), and Symphony No. 41, C major ("Jupiter").

ON TUESDAY, Irwin Hoffman will conduct the second in the "C" series of youth concerts at 3 p.m. in Orchestra Hall. The program will be the same as for the "A" and "B" series: the first movement (Allegro con brio) from Beethoven's Symphony No. 5, C minor; excerpts from Respighi's Symphonic Poem, "The Pines of Rome" and Prokofieff's "Peter and the Wolf," which will be danced by the Allegro American Ballet Company.

Tickets for regular subscription concerts are on sale by mail and at the Orchestra Hall Box Office, 216 S. Michigan. Saturday night offers best seating availability. The youth concerts are virtually sold out on a subscription basis. For information, call 427-0362.

Village Theatre to Give Dinner Plays

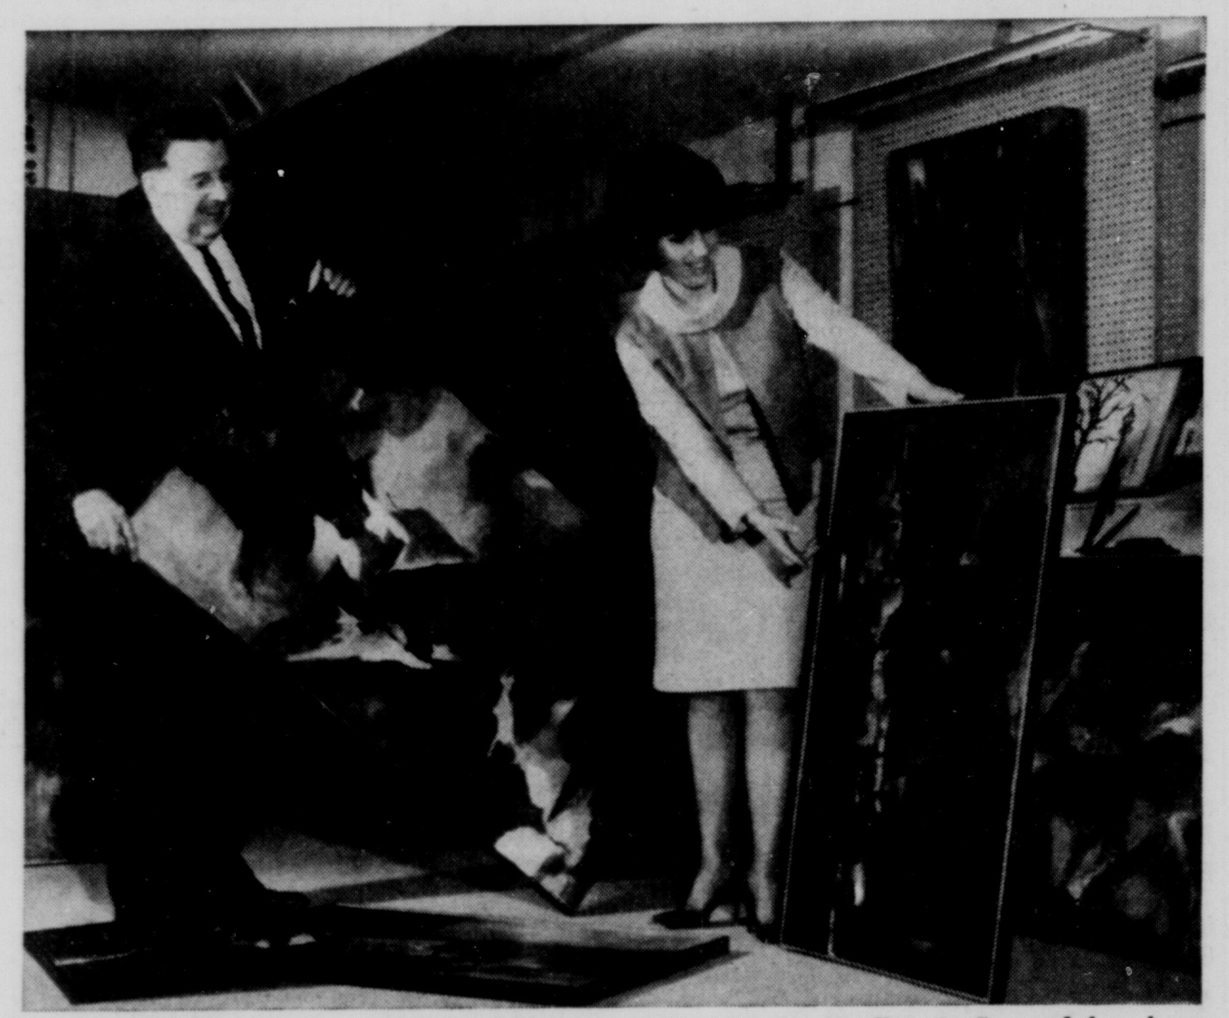
A dinner-theatre combination will soon be offered area theater lovers when Village Theatre Inc. and the Maitre D' Restaurant combine their resources in presenting after-dinner entertainment at the lounge in Elk Grove Village.

Now in its 15th season, Village Theatre is adding these performances to its regular production schedule as part of a fund raising program for the future culture center.

The Maitre D' will serve dinner in a special room from 6 to 8 p.m. with guests remaining at their tables to enjoy the performance, starting at 9 p.m.

OPENING FRIDAY, Feb. 5, the comedy, "Marriage Go-Round," will star Bob Hawley, Lois Drum, Dorothy Watkins and Floyd Collins. This first production will again be seen on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 12 and 13, and on Friday, Feb. 19. A second show, "Champagne Complex," will open on Feb. 26 and run for three additional performances. Both will be directed by Richard Tyler, resident director of Village Theatre.

Since seating will be limited, in order to maintain the atmosphere of an intimate club, reservations must be made in advance by phoning the Maitre D', 437-3800. Dinner, tax and play are included in a single price. '(Bill



KAREN KLOSE of Park Ridge, exhibiting artist at Citizens Bank & Trust Company in Park Ridge during January, helps Willis Jones, assistant vice president, arrange her exhibit of paintings. A graduate of Michigan State University, Miss Klose is an interior designer for V. Mueller & Co. and has been showing her work for the past two years. Among the paintings shown at Citizens Bank & Trust is "The Birds," which won Miss Klose a first place at the Michigan State Union Board art show in September. (BILL

Desire to Share Motivates Pianist

David Bar-Illan, guest pianist who will perform tonight (Thursday) for members of the Arlington Heights Community Concert Association, says "performing is the core of his life."

He plays "just for the sheer thrill of making music and the opportunity of sharing this wonderful musical experience with others."

Away from the keyboard, Bar-Illan is an avid student of archaeology and ancient history. Like many natives of the state of Israel, he is interested in the ancient civilizations of the Middle East.

WHILE A STUDENT at conservatories in the United States, he earned his living by teaching and lecturing about the ancient world.

He is married to a girl from Twin Falls, Idaho, also a musician, and they live in New York City with their two children.

This evening's concert is scheduled for 8:15 p.m. in the Arlington Theatre, 115 N. Evergreen. (Bill

MOS Talent Entertains

Music on Stage Talent Bank performed for the VFW Women's Auxiliary of Hoffman Estates Jan. 11.

Participating men included the president of MOS, Henry Vandenboom, Wheeling, with his interpretation of the Wazir from "Kismet." Robert Altergott of Mundelein sang "The Olive Tree" from the same show, and Jack Wassmer, Palatine, presented the vocal selection, "The Sadder But Wiser Girl," from the "Music Man."

Dancer Beth Vandenboom, Wheeling, first appeared in full flapper dress for the Charleston and returned later in the program to present an exotic Arabian adventure.

OTHER CONTRIBUTORS to the performance were Mrs. Frank Hausman and Mrs. Ray Dietrich, Prospect Heights; Mrs. Jack Wassmer and Mrs. John Lea, Palatine; Mrs. William Thrasher, Arlington Heights; Mrs. Arnold Cassel, Mount Prospect, and Mrs. Harold Daniels, Des Plaines.

All were accompanied by Mrs. William Cotsakis of Palatine. (Bill

Marx Bros. Coming to Golf Mill

As a change of pace from the first Chicagoland showings, the next attraction opening tomorrow (Friday) at the Golf Mill Theatre is a double feature of "A Night at the Opera" and "A Day at the Races" staring the Marx Brothers.

The two Marx Brothers features, considered by some the maddest movie comedies of all time, will be at the Golf Mill for one week only.

On Thursday, Feb. 11, the Golf Mill will present the exclusive northwest suburban showing of Walt Disney's "Mary Poppins."

Italian to Conduct Chicago Symphony

Carlo Maria Giulini, who was the youngest operatic conductor on the regular roster of La Scala when he was appointed there in the 1951-52 season, will be guest conductor of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra at regular subscription concerts Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 28, 29 and 30, at Orchestra Hall.

Giulini made his American debut with the Chicago Symphony at the invitation of Frtiz Reiner, then its music director, in the autumn of 1955.

For the first concerts of his current two-week engagement, he has chosen an all Mozart program—the Masonic Funeral Music (K.477); Divertimento No. 15, B flat major (K.287), and Symphony No. 41, C major ("Jupiter").

ON TUESDAY, Irwin Hoffman will conduct the second in the "C" series of youth concerts at 3 p.m. in Orchestra Hall. The program will be the same as for the "A" and "B" series: the first movement (Allegro con brio) from Beethoven's Symphony No. 5, C minor; excerpts from Respighi's Symphonic Poem, "The Pines of Rome" and Prokofieff's "Peter and the Wolf," which will be danced by the Allegro American Ballet Company.

Tickets for regular subscription concerts are on sale by mail and at the Orchestra Hall Box Office, 216 S. Michigan. Saturday night offers best seating availability. The youth concerts are virtually sold out on a subscription basis. For information, call 427-0362.

Village Theatre to Give Dinner Plays

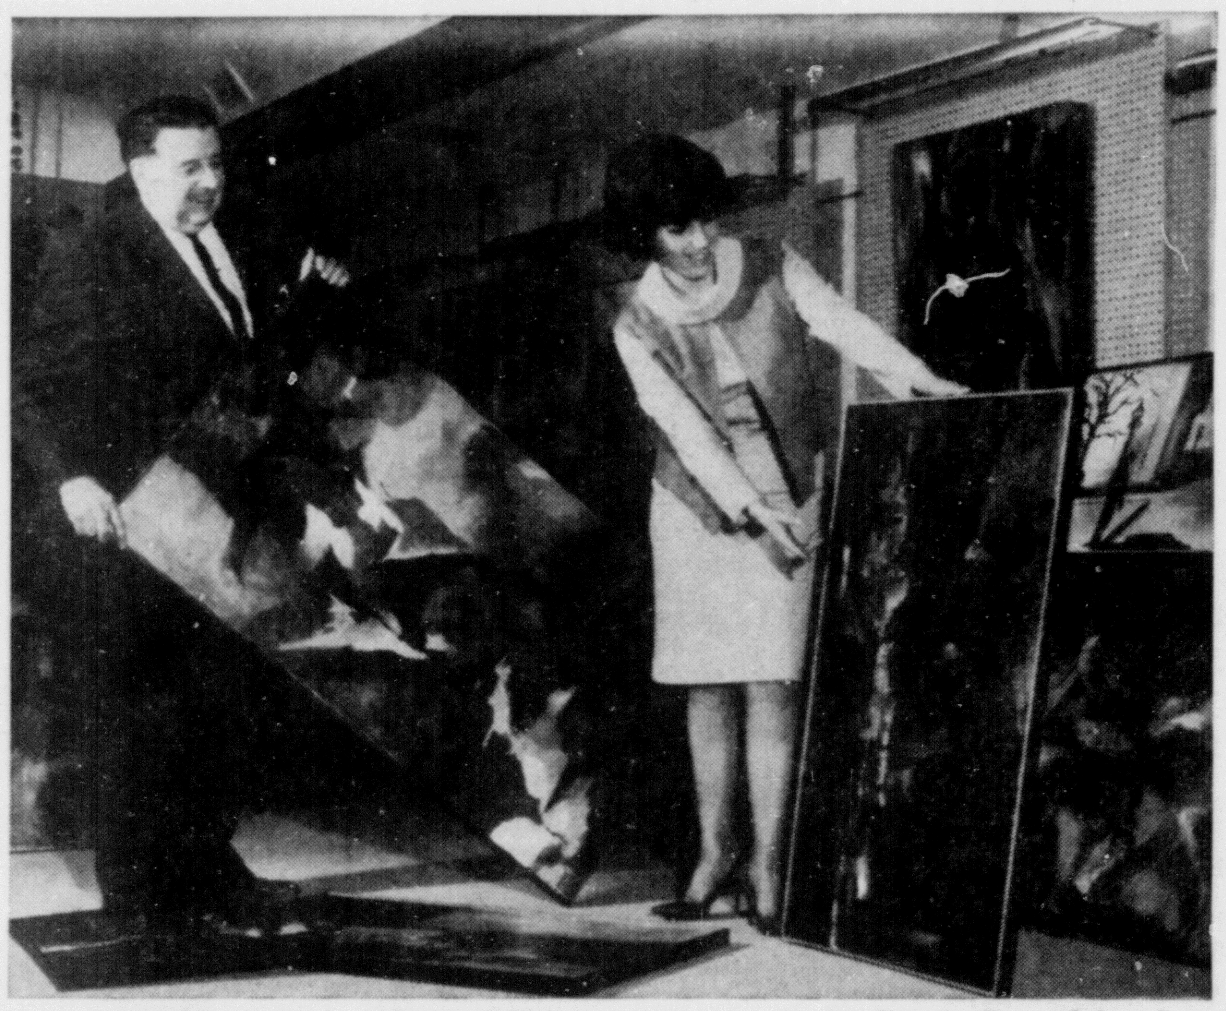
A dinner-theatre combination will soon be offered area theater lovers when Village Theatre Inc. and the Maitre D' Restaurant combine their resources in presenting after-dinner entertainment at the lounge in Elk Grove Village.

Now in its 15th season, Village Theatre is adding these performances to its regular production schedule as part of a fund raising program for the future culture center.

The Maitre D' will serve dinner in a special room from 6 to 8 p.m. with guests remaining at their tables to enjoy the performance, starting at 9 p.m.

OPENING FRIDAY, Feb. 5, the comedy, "Marriage Go-Round," will star Bob Hawley, Lois Drum, Dorothy Watkins and Floyd Collins. This first production will again be seen on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 12 and 13, and on Friday, Feb. 19. A second show, "Champagne Complex," will open on Feb. 26 and run for three additional performances. Both will be directed by Richard Tyler, resident director of Village Theatre.

Since seating will be limited, in order to maintain the atmosphere of an intimate club, reservations must be made in advance by phoning the Maitre D', 437-3800. Dinner, tax and play are included in a single price. '(Bill



KAREN KLOSE of Park Ridge, exhibiting artist at Citizens Bank & Trust Company in Park Ridge during January, helps Willis Jones, assistant vice president, arrange her exhibit of paintings. A graduate of Michigan State University, Miss Klose is an interior designer for V. Mueller & Co. and has been showing her work for the past two years. Among the paintings shown at Citizens Bank & Trust is "The Birds," which won Miss Klose a first place at the Michigan State Union Board art show in September. (BILL

Desire to Share Motivates Pianist

David Bar-Illan, guest pianist who will perform tonight (Thursday) for members of the Arlington Heights Community Concert Association, says "performing is the core of his life."

He plays "just for the sheer thrill of making music and the opportunity of sharing this wonderful musical experience with others."

Away from the keyboard, Bar-Illan is an avid student of archaeology and ancient history. Like many natives of the state of Israel, he is interested in the ancient civilizations of the Middle East.

WHILE A STUDENT at conservatories in the United States, he earned his living by teaching and lecturing about the ancient world.

He is married to a girl from Twin Falls, Idaho, also a musician, and they live in New York City with their two children.

This evening's concert is scheduled for 8:15 p.m. in the Arlington Theatre, 115 N. Evergreen. (Bill

MOS Talent Entertains

Music on Stage Talent Bank performed for the VFW Women's Auxiliary of Hoffman Estates Jan. 11.

Participating men included the president of MOS, Henry Vandenboom, Wheeling, with his interpretation of the Wazir from "Kismet." Robert Altergott of Mundelein sang "The Olive Tree" from the same show, and Jack Wassmer, Palatine, presented the vocal selection, "The Sadder But Wiser Girl," from the "Music Man."

Dancer Beth Vandenboom, Wheeling, first appeared in full flapper dress for the Charleston and returned later in the program to present an exotic Arabian adventure.

OTHER CONTRIBUTORS to the performance were Mrs. Frank Hausman and Mrs. Ray Dietrich, Prospect Heights; Mrs. Jack Wassmer and Mrs. John Lea, Palatine; Mrs. William Thrasher, Arlington Heights; Mrs. Arnold Cassel, Mount Prospect, and Mrs. Harold Daniels, Des Plaines.

All were accompanied by Mrs. William Cotsakis of Palatine. (Bill

Marx Bros. Coming to Golf Mill

As a change of pace from the first Chicagoland showings, the next attraction opening tomorrow (Friday) at the Golf Mill Theatre is a double feature of "A Night at the Opera" and "A Day at the Races" staring the Marx Brothers.

The two Marx Brothers features, considered by some the maddest movie comedies of all time, will be at the Golf Mill for one week only.

On Thursday, Feb. 11, the Golf Mill will present the exclusive northwest suburban showing of Walt Disney's "Mary Poppins."

WANT AD INFORMATION

DEADLINES

Classified advertising now appearing in Thursday editions can also be scheduled in Sunday Suburbanite at the same time at advantageous discount. No classified advertising will be accepted for just the Sunday Suburbanite, without also appearing in the Thursday editions.

Tuesday at 3 p.m. for Thursday editions, and for Thursday-Sunday combination. Ads received until 10 a.m. Wednesday will appear in "Too late to Classify" section of Thursday edition. Thursday at Noon for Sunday Suburbanite for Sunday-Thursday insertions.

RATES

Reader classified rates: 20c a word first insertion, 17c a word repeated consecutive insertions. Minimum charge for any ad $2.00.

Display classified rates: $4.90 per col. inch first insertion, $4.20 per col. inch repeated consecutive insertions.

We also offer a contract rate to display classified advertisers. Special introductory offer, for limited time only, 50% discount on classified advertising appearing in the Sunday Suburbanite in addition to the Thursday editions.

BLIND ADS

A $1 service charge will be made for all ads when replies are to be received through this newspaper.

ADJUSTMENTS

If your ad appears incorrectly, notify us immediately. We accept responsibility for the first incorrect insertion only. Such responsibility is limited to such a proportion of the entire cost of the advertisement as the space occupied by the error bears to the entire space of the advertisement.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Ads will be taken over the telephone on a charge basis if the advertiser is listed in the phone book, or a subscriber to one of our newspapers. All ads appearing under "Situations Wanted" classification must be paid in advance.

THIS ONE WILL GET YOU
Here's what our salesperson says, "This is the kind of 3 bedroom ranch home you love to show. Newly decorated inside and out, it just indicates the meticulous care and devotion given the property." Excellent location in a good community where city fathers have kept taxes realistic. Sure! the carpeting in the living room and hall come with the $15,900 price. Garage too! I don't really want to bet. Rather show you the house. Dial me at CL 5-6320.
